TWO KILLED AND MANY HURT IN FALLING BUILDING

Terrible Catastrophe in Toronto Which Gives Firemen Police and Hospitals Work

Toronto, May 4.—When the south wall of the Neilson Ice Cream Company's factory on Gladstone avenue, south of College, collapsed at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, two people were killed instantly and twelve others were seriously injured by being buried beneath the debris.

The wall bulged at the southeast corner and the first two storeys forced the rest down. There were about 30 girls working in that section of the building, ten on each flat, all of whom had narrow escapes from death.

The collapse came without a second's warning. The girls who were working in the candy department on the second and the box department on the first floor in that section of the building heard a crash. Before they could rise from their seats both ends of the south wall buckled towards the centre, and bricks and all kind of debris buried them. Those who were on the top floors of the building were hurled down with the dusty mass, landing in the basement. Scores were completely buried beneath the wreckage and all but those who were killed and injured managed to crawl from beneath the debris.

Policeman Saw Collapse.

Policeman Collins (76), who was standing at the corner of Dundas street and Brock avenue, saw the wall collapse. He heard a crash and looked toward the Neilson building. The wall was just crumbling to the ground. He at once pulled the fire alarm on the corner, and then telephoned to the police headquarters to have all the ambulances available rushed to the scene. It took hi several minutes to get in touch with the police central station as he was using a private telephone. It was too far for him to run to the regular patrol signal box several blocks away.

Immediately after giving the alarm he rushed up Gladstone avenue and arrived a few seconds after the firemen from Brock avenue station.

The immense cloud of dust prevented him and the firemen from seeing exactly what had happened, but the gaping hole in the south wall, extending the entire length of the building, told the story. Knowing that there were several hundred employees in the building, he at once took charge and with the assistance of the firemen commenced the work of removing the debris from those men and women who had been buried beneath it. At first it looked as if there were 20 or 30 people beneath the bricks, mortar and splintered beams. Groans and screams told that some of the victims still were alive, and all haste was made to get them out. More firemen had arrived by this time, and the rescue work was carried on in great haste. Collins and the firemen worked until their hands were lacerated by the bricks and their efforts were hastened by the cries, "Oh, My God, get me out of here."

Almost Instantly Killed.

Mrs. Anderson, who was married only a few weeks ago, was the first to be rescued. She was almost gone when she was taken out, and died in a few minutes. Mrs. Thompson was pinned beneath a pile of bricks a few feet away from where Mrs. Anderson was found.

CANADIAN CLUB ELECT NEW OFFICERS

On Friday night the local Canadian Club held their last meeting for this season in the Y.M.C.A. building. Messrs. Coleman Bros, the George street caterers, provided for the requirements of the inner man, with their usual ability. It might be mentioned here, that The Times, as is customary with all newspapers in the world, had an "advance" notice of this meeting written up. In this notice we remarked that Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, of Toronto, had delivered an address. Now Mr. Johnston was to have spoken. The Times relying on advance news given by members of the Canadian Club, had written up the fact that he had spoken. Unfortunately Mr. Johnston was on the delayed train and did not arrive in time to speak. Well, "Quien Sabe?" says a Spaniard, "Who knows?" says a Canuck. Such a mistake might happen in a revised edition of Webster's dictionary! The meeting, as before noted, went off most auspiciously.

The officers for 1912, as recommended by the nominating committee in its report, that was adopted, are as follows:

President—Mr. W. R. Morris.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mr. G. C. Wainwright.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. D. Walker.
Sec'y-Treas.—Mr. W. H. Munrot
Executive Committee—Judge
Executive Com.—Judge Huycke, Rev. F. J. Sawers, Messrs. A. Stratton, A. J. Grant, Basel Hall, Keith Lech, Claude Rogers, A. Mowatt, W. H. Dunsford.
Executive ex-officio — Messrs. F. D. Kerr, H. R. H. Kenner, O. O'Connal, Dr. Cameron and E. L. Goodwill.

A vote of thanks was tendered the Y.M.C.A. for the use of the Assembly Hall, on the motion of Dr. Cameron, seconded by Mr. F. D. Kerr.

AN UNFORTUNATE COMPARISON

A most unfortunate comparison is made by Rev. Father Minehan between the heroism of those who perished with the Titanic and those who went down in the French liner Burgoyne, on July 4, 1898, says The Sentinel. He speaks in the most contemptuous way of the ship's orchestra which played "Nearer My God to Thee" as the vessel foundered. "A discordant piece of stage play" is the phrase he uses in writing in the Catholic Register of the occasion. And proceeds to emphasize the impressiveness of the picture of a priest on the Burgoyne giving absolution to those on the deck as the ship sank beneath the waves.

The Titanic was a ship officered and manned almost entirely by Protestants. The Burgoyne was in the hands of Roman Catholics exclusively. And what a contrast! On the French liner it was every man for himself, as male passengers and crew fought with knives to get possession of the boats. Only one woman was saved from the horrible melee of frantic cowards each striving for his own life. The picture painted by the survivors remains still as almost without a parallel in the annals of the sea. Doubtless there were some brave men aboard, including the priest. But they were the few exceptions in a shipful of people whose training had left them little better than the brutes which fight for life regardless of the weaker ones.

How different is the story of the Titanic. The "heretics" who formed the ship's company gave their lives to save the women and children. No craven fear made them fight for their own safety. They did not trample women and children to death in a mad rush for the boats. Order prevailed. Discipline was maintained. The best traditions of the sea were observed, as Mr. Asquith said in the British House of Commons. That grand hymn, which brings the soul nearer to its God answered at least as well as the absolving utterances of a priest in the last dread hour. To call it a "discordant piece of stage play" is unworthy of the priest who penned it, and for the use of such language we hope he feels regret as he reviews the circumstances.

GETS $30,000 BY WILL

Baltimore, Md., May 4.

A NICE little fortune to be left Miss Dorothy Bateman, 19 years old, of Newport, is left $300,000 by the terms of a codicil to the will of Ross R. Winans, of this city, who died recently. The will was filed to-day.

Miss Bateman is the daughter of a Newport hotelkeeper, at whose house Mr. Winans spent last summer. He was in poor health, and she is said to have won his regard by her kindness and attention to him.

Winans had known Miss Bateman since she was a small child.

The heirs to the residue of the estate, the full value of which is estimated at $4,000,000, are Ross W. Whistler, a brother-in-law, and Geo. Revillon, step-brother of Mr. Winan's mother.

Neither Mr. Winan's son-in-law the Prince De Bearn, who sued the testator in connection with his wife's estate nor the prince's children, are mentioned in the will.

To his son, Thomas George Winans, who married a Spanish dancer, and with whom the father was estranged because of the marriage, the testator left $200,000 in trust. To his "old and cherished friends" Margaret M. Smith and Louisa M. Butts, he left $50,000 each.

NO WORD YET THAT TAIT IS PRESIDENT

Montreal, May 4.—No notification of the appointment of Sir Thomas Tait to the presidency of the Grand Trunk has yet been received in Montreal.

At the Grand Trunk offices this morning, It was officially stated that no notification of the appointment had been received. Grand Trunk officials appear to doubt the accuracy of the report.

"There will be no official announcement until Mr. Smithers arrives," one official declared.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

The German Crown Prince is 30 Years Of Age To-day, Monday, May 6.

There is a theory that the faces of all men bear a resemblance to some of the lower animals. Accepting this as gospel, I should say, as one privileged with a distant glimpse of Friedrich Wilhelm, Crown Prince of Germany, that he has the long, lean, intelligent head of a jackus. Popular proverbs to the contrary, the mule and the ass are among the most intellectual of beasts. The animal that made Missouri famous knows when to be docile and when to be stubborn. He is a Fabian, awaiting his opportunity to wreak vengeance on his master and when he strikes he strikes hard. But this is not a natural history of the mule, but a biography of the youngster who may be more to be feared than any other living man the German Crown Prince, born thirty years ago to-day, in the palace at Potsdam.

Let the friends of peace pray that Emperor William may live to a ripe old age, for he is a man of peace compared with the youngster who will be his successor. Conservative Germans, reflecting on the public utterances and actions of Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, mutter feelingly over their beer mugs of the devil and the deep blue sea. Between the red war of the heir to the throne and the red peace of Herr Bebel they scarce know which to hope for.

Despite parental protest, the Crown Prince has let no opportunity pass to air his adherence to the policy of war at any price. He has publicly hinted that the passing of the aged Franz Joseph should result in adding the Austrian states and Hungary to the Empire of the Hohenzollerns. Holland he considers the natural prey of Germany. War for its own bloody sake he wants with France, or England, or both.

The Crown Prince is the real war lord of Europe, but, for all that, he has shown little enthusiasm for the dreary drudgery of army life. He has often been charged with neglect of military duties, and the records show that the Colonel of the Death's Head Hussars spends little time with his command. In fact, he had spent little time at Danzig until he was "detained" there by order of the Emperor, as a punishment for his jingo outburst in the Reichstag. This is strange for the skull and crossbones that are his regimental crest should

MEXICANS WILL RESIST

Volunteer Corps Organise at Capital and Students are Enthusiastic.

Mexico City, May 4

YOUNG Mexico is intensely aroused by the talk of intervention, shown by the spontaneous movement in this city to organize volunteer corps solely to resist foreign invasion.

At a meeting held yesterday, resolutions were adopted declaring that the students recognize the imminent possibility of an international conflict and asserting their readiness to sacrifice their lives for the country if necessary. They demand that military instruction be made obligatory in the schools, with the understanding that the services of the students for military purposes would be available only in case of intervention.

Professional and workingmen, as well as students, and even school girls, have become imbued with this bellicose spirit. The students of the engineering school are already engaged in artillery drill. A body of 200 at a meeting in the School of arts, appointed a committee to organize military companies. Male teachers in these schools have also decided to form a defence corps.

Thirty rifles, which were seized by the police yesterday in the American colony were returned to Ambassador Wilson last night without explanation. Mr. Wilson has taken the matter up with the governor of the federal district.

San Diego, Cal., April 30.—It is reported here that the cruiser Maryland will leave port Wednesday, but her destination is a secret. It is said she has taken on more supplies than would be required for a voyage up the coast.

PETERBOROUGH TO GET EARLIER PAPERS

Peterborough, in the years gone by, has been rather side-tracked for papers in the early morning. The Peterborough Times has been the only paper to reach the residents of our city before the Toronto papers come. Beginning, this week, The Times will appear, just a little earlier, and not only just a little better, but a different paper. We will have a new heading, showing the Lift Lock, and the news columns will contain matter of interest never before shown in its columns.

Still this is not what this article started out to explain. What we began to show is

Earlier Papers Here.

A new C.P.R. train has been put on from Toronto, whereby the Toronto Mail, Globe and World will be delivered in the city at 10.30 a.m. instead of 11.34, as heretofore. Mr. Jas. Edgar, the Postmaster is pulling wires that will undoubtedly result in Peterborough getting its Toronto morning papers an hour earlier than heretofore.

In the meantime have the Morning Times on your breakfast table, even if porridge and bacon is served as early as 7.15 a.m.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

IS THERE METHOD IN ITS MADNESS?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Mr. Stratton's organ, in its madness, tries to inform the people of Peterborough that if they do not live harmoniously (that is in religious matters) that we will never be successful in securing industries. Now. I wonder if that was the down fall of the Shovel factory, the Cordage Works, the Central Milling Co., and other defunct industries in the city. Now, would any citizen believe that any industry would come to this city purely and simply for religious purposes. If a manufacturer is looking for a location, he looks at the dollars and cents side of the question, viz: the railways, the shipping facilities, the cost of power, etc., and the business inducements held out by the town or city. Not at the religious belief of the people.

MORGUE SHIP MINIA IS BRINGING MORE OF THE DEAD

A Wireless Message Says She Will Probably Arrive at Halifax This Afternoon

New York, May 4.—A wireless message from the steamship Minia, sent to the White Star Agent at Halifax and telegraphed to the offices in this city to-day, give a complete list of those picked up by the second morgue ship sent out to recover bodies of the Titanic victims. The list follows:

"Expect arrive Halifax Monday afternoon."

The message was signed by Capt. De Carteret. It was wirelessed to P. V. G. Mitchell, Halifax agent, who sent an additional note:

"Owing to difficulties with excavation, burials to-day totalled 15. Suitable service, with one large wreath from each denomination, reading 'In memoriam, White Star Line.'"

DOG GIVES WARNING OF FIRE WHICH RESULTED IN BIG LOSS

Toronto, May 4.—The lumber yard of the Robert Laidlaw Company, between St. Lawrence street and the Don Esplanade, which passed unscathed through the memorable conflagration of six weeks ago, when the Toronto railway barns and eight nearby factories were completely wiped out, was swept by fire at an early hour this morning, damage amounting to $50,000, partially covered by insurance, being done before the blaze was placed under control.

How the fire started still remains a mystery, despite the theory advanced this morning that tramps were responsible.

The flames were first discovered by Nightwatchman William Drury, who at 12.05 this morning was eating his lunch in one of the mills and was warned by the prolonged barking of his dog that something was amiss. He went to investigate and saw the flames shooting from a G.T.R. box car, which standing empty on the siding in the southwest portion of the yard.

15,000 WOMEN MARCH IN NEW YORK SUFFRAGETTE PARADE

New York, May 4.—The weather man provided a warm sun and a cloudless sky to-day for the biggest woman's suffrage demonstration in the history of New York City. For nearly a year preparations for the big parade have been under way and there was little for Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch and her assistants to do to-day except to marshall the various divisions of their forces for the big parade at 5 o'clock and the mass meeting in Carnegie Hall at 6.

The 15,000 women—and men, too—who had asked for places in the parade received a last word of exhortation from Mrs. Blatch during the morning.

"Remember," she said, through a printed card with which each would-be parader was provided, "you march for the mightiest reform the world has ever seen. The orderly appearance of our procession depends upon each individual marcher. The procession will start at five o'clock and not one minute later. Remember, the public will judge, quite illogically, of course, but not less strictly, your qualification as a voter by your promptness."

Roosevelt Declined to Lead.

The men marchers, a host which Mrs. Blatch thought might reach 3,000 in number, were disappointed to learn that Colonel Roosevelt had declined the invitation to lead their division. The Colonel explained that he had several important engagements in Maryland, and therefore would not be able to accept. His place was taken by R. C. Beadle, secretary of the Men's League for Women's Suffrage.

The program of the parade provided for a procession made up of 11 divisions, led by an equestrian squad of 100 riders, a band, and a company of outdoor suffragette orators, each carrying her little green platform slung like a knapsack over her shoulder.

Mrs. Belmont is There.

The eleventh division, bringing up the rear of the parade, was assigned to Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's organization of department store clerks, preceded by the newly organized baby carriage brigade. In order that Mrs. Belmont's followers might feel no hesitation at appearing in their work day clothes, she announced that she would wear a white suit "three years old," and a 39 cent parade hat, which was officially selected by the suffrage leaders a few weeks ago.

MISSISSIPPI MAKES THOUSANDS HOMELESS

New Orleans, May 4.—Flood conditions in the Lower Mississippi valley continue to-day to grow worse. No one, not even those who have dealt with similar problems, will forecast the outcome of the passing of the greatest volume of water ever recorded in the great stream. At New Orleans to-day the former record was buried by almost a foot.

The water at Torras, La., is pouring through the levee crevasse with an ever-widening gap and another breach is threatened there.

Reports from the inundated section north of the New Roads are of a gloomy character. The flood water is travelling at a rapid rate toward the Atchafalay River and is nearing the main line of the Texas and Pacific Railroad.

A telephone message from Lettisworth early to-day said the water was deep and hundreds of persons in the surrounding country are marooned in their homes, in cotton gin houses and on housetops. Motor boats have been sent to Lettisworth for rescue work.

Hungry Refugees.

A special train arrived at New Roads last night with several hundred refugees from the deluged country. Most of them were negro women and children who were picked up all along the line of the river where they had taken refuge from the flood. Some of them had been without food and water since they were driven hurriedly from their cabins.

FIFTY-EIGHT TO-DAY

Robert E. Peary, of North Pole Fame, 58 To-day.

Robert E. Peary, the discoverer of the North Pole, who is fifty-eight years old to-day, has been honored by the American Museum of Natural History, in New York, with a niche in its hall of fame, where a bust of the intrepid admiral has been placed alongside similar memorials to such distinguished scientists as Franklin, Faraday and Audubon.

DUNKELMAN PICKED GIBSON AS "SMITH"

Toronto, May 4.—The interview of Eli Dunkelman in the office of Inspector Duncan yesterday afternoon has furnished the authorities with some valuable evidence in the charge of murder and wounding which they have brought against Charles Gibson, following the death of Joseph Rosenthal. Gibson in company with four other young men, about his own age height, and something of the same appearance was taken into Inspector Duncan's office and Dunkelman was then asked if he could identify any of those as the man named Smith with whom he had dealings. After a slight hesitation he pointed to Gibson, said he was the man who left a note for him, and with whom he had dealings, believing him to be Smith. Dunkelman in the course of his statement corroborated the police theory that there were no other men with him at the time the assault was committed upon himself. He repeated his previous statements of the whole proceedings on the evening of Good Friday.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, and as a natural consequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision forsaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens is one of the most beautiful and desirable of the new residential sections to the north, wonderfully endowed by nature as the ideal homesite section, it is approximately 4¼ miles from the corner of King and Yonge Streets. The Metropolitan Radial Line takes you to the gates on Yonge Street, and a line will undoubtedly be continued up Avenue Road through Briar Hill Park to Alexandra Gardens. A further line is in contemplation which it is expected will run through the Bathurst Street Section of Alexandra Gardens.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

An old woman, white haired, and bowed beneath the weight of years, who lives only in the memories of the glorious past—such is Eugenie, former Empress of France. In a secluded villa in Nice, surrounded only by a few faithful servants, all but forgotten by a busy world, she was once the admired and adored queen of the French, is to-day passing her eighty-sixth birthday. When France echoed to the tramp of German armies and the thunder of Prussian cannon, the Second Empire crumbled into ruins, and Eugenie fled to England and the splendid and brilliant court of the Tuileries, where she had been the dictator of the world of fashion, became but a memory. Bitter recollections some of them must be, too, for it was the former Empress who promoted and advocated Maximillian's disastrous Mexican venture. Sad as has been the fate of Eugenie, it is not comparable to that of the unfortunate Charlotte, widow of Maximillan, now a mad woman who, in moments of sanity, begs to be permitted to see her husband.

The one-time idolized Empress of the French was born in the old city of Granada, Spain, May 5, 1826. Her father was a Spanish nobleman of ancient lineage, the Count de Montijo, while her mother was the daughter of a Scotchman who had been a British consul at Malaga. Beautiful, more than ordinarily intelligent and well educated, she enchanted Louis Napoleon, "the man of the people," and he immediately abandoned all projects for a royal marriage and announced that he would take to wife "a woman of the people." Pomp and splendor marked the marriage ceremony in Notre Dame, early in 1853, not long after the coup d'etat that made Louis Napoleon first the "Prince-President" and soon Emperor of France. Revelry, almost unlimited license and many scandals marked the court, and the Tuileries became a palace of frolic and folly, where the intellectual leaders of France, the poets, artists, novelists, and musicians mingled with the noble and statesmen of the new regime. In this gay company the Empress, although of them and one of them, kept her own name beyond reproach or hint of scandal.

Ambitious almost as the first Napoleon, hungering for even greater prestige than attached to the social arbiter of the world, Eugenie constantly urged her infatuated husband to the projects that led to his ruin. Not for Eugenie the Franco-Prussian war might never have been fought, and France still be an empire. But the war was declared, and a maddened mob, enraged by the disasters that followed, swarmed about the palace, crying for the blood of the Empress, demanding that her head be lopped off by the "razor of liberty" as a penalty for the ruin she had wrought. An American dentist, a Dr. Evans, was instrumental in securing the escape of the Empress to England. The former Emperor died an exile in 1873, and the only son of the imperial pair was killed by Zulus in South Africa in 1879.

For years Eugenie set the fashions in femine dress that was slavishly followed, not only in her own land, but in London and New York, in Montreal and San Francisco, and Medicine Hat. She introduced the crinoline and other modes that spread over the world. She now has residences in London and Nice, but of late years has spent three months of each year in Paris, frequently visiting the Tuileries, Versailles and other places connected with her vanished glories.

A Rare Chance for Western Land.

Now that the trend of Eastern Capital and Eastern settlers, seems definitely set towards Western Canada, the thinking man naturally stops to consider where shall I locate? In this connection, attention is drawn to Weyburn, Saskatchewan. The Province of Saskatchewan seems to be a favorite portion of our vast Western Dominion, and Weyburn, in that Province, seems to be singularly well situated. This coming metropolis is served by no less than three railways. It has every prospect of becoming the manufacturing centre of a vast distributing territory. Those seeking a location for their families, a new home for themselves, or, in the meantime, a certain investment for funds should seriously consider this town. There is every chance of quick doubling and trebling of money invested in Weyburn property and, in all human probability, no possible chance of loss. There are already seven banks established in this city, and the building permits have already reached the $1,000,000.00 mark for this year. In another part of this issue, appears the advertisement of Messrs. J. A. Kent & Co., of Winnipeg, a reliable and responsible firm, who have a small number of choice lots for sale in Weyburn. Don't let this chance slip by, if you want an investment in western property. Messrs. Kent & Co. offer a good proposition. Full particulars in their advertisement in this issue.

AMERICA'S FRENCH VISITORS.

The visit of the French delegation to America, bringing with it, as France's contribution to the Champlain memorial, a bust by the greatest living sculptor of to-day, is one of those graceful incidents with which the history of the "entente" between the sister republics is full.

Fate, or the national temperament, seems to have decreed that the influence of French discovery and conquest upon the physical world should be slight and evanescent. French colonial history, in particular, is a long history of wasted effort, of gallant and patriotic men who sowed that other nations might reap the harvest of their blood and sweat. Judged by material standards, the brave explorer whose memory the present international courtesies are commemorating, like Cartier before him, like Montcalm, Dupleix, Labourdonnais and Bougainville after him, lived and died in vain. The national pride that can find a real compensation in the offer of a bust to his memory is almost inexplicable to the more practical Anglo-Saxon mind.

It is precisely because France has chosen the realm of ideas and art as that in which her enduring victories shall be won that her influence upon the more material nations is so inevitable and so lasting. The days are probably past when the good American looked forward to an indefinite sojourn in Paris as the reward of a well-spent life on earth, but it is still true that in Paris, France, as nowhere else, the native of the United States who chooses to make his home in Europe for a space, finds a sympathetic atmosphere and respect for his national prejudices.

How Old Was the Lindsay Horse?

We note that an esteemed and bright Lindsay contemporary seems to got into a little snarl over its report of a horse deal. Mr. W. Simpson, of the hotel of that ilk, was the man unarmed, and the man who seems to have made an objection to the report. "Billy" Simpson is well known to hundreds of our local citizens. What Mr. Simpson does not know about a horse would take few pages of a dictionary. The whole gist of the article was about the age of the horse referred to. There are two matters of age that a paper must handle as carefully as it would a box of yellow fever germs, and those are the age of a horse, and the age of an advanced spinster with matrimonial aspirations.

What Local Post Office Men Get.

The Dominion Government has just issued its list of the Civil Servants of Canada. From this we learn that the Postmaster of Peterborough draws a salary of $2,200; Mr. John Corkery, described as a senior 2nd-class clerk, gets $1000 per annum; Mr. Chas. Lacheur, 4th class clerk is paid $700; Mr. H. F. White, 4th class clerk, $600; Mr. Thomas Martin stamper and sorter, $600; Mr. F. J. Jamieson, stamper and sorter $550; The letter carriers come in at $1.75 to $2.25 per diem.

Lindsay had a runaway on May 1. That town is certainly waking up.

Sawed Handcuffs Through.

Toronto, May 1.—Arthur Jarvis of Cornwall, sentenced to Central Prison for six months for theft, made a clean get-away from a provincial inspector at the corner of Queen street and Spadina avenue last night. In a chain gang of 12 prisoners Jarvis was brought to Toronto by John J. Ryan of 487 Parliament street, who is connected with the department of asylums and prisons. When the train arrived at the Union Station about 9 o'clock Ryan put his men in an express wagon in order to carry them to the prison. All wore handcuffs attached to a long chain.

Jarvis was the end man in the wagon and at the corner of Queen and Spadina he very quietly slipped off and ran along a side street. Ryan did not notice that he only had 11 men in the wagon until the vehicle had gone some distance; then he notified a constable. But Jarvis could not be found.

Jarvis broke away by means of a file, which it is believed he picked up somewhere at the Union Station. Probably he found it in the baggage-room, through which the 12 prisoners were taken to the wagon, or there is a possibility that it was surreptitiously handed to him by a local pal.

Jarvis has a bad record, having been confined in Central Prison on several occasions. He is about 25 years of age.

Turkish Vessel Wrecked.

Smyrna, May 1.—The steamer Texas, belonging to the Archipelago-American Steamship Co., struck a mine at the entrance to the Gulf of Smyrna Monday evening and sank. It is reported that 90 of the 100 passengers were rescued.

The Texas was flying the Turkish flag and was engaged in carrying mails from Constantinople to the Levant.

The Gulf of Smyrna is one of the finest harbors in the Mediterranean, and Smyrna itself is the principal seaport of Asiatic Turkey. The entrance to the gulf was extensively mined some time ago by the Turkish authorities in order to protect the port against an attack by the Italian fleet.

The Texas was a vessel of 267 tons net register, built at Newcastle, Eng., in 1878. She was at first called the Olympia, then re-christened the Marguerita, and finally received the name of the Texas.

Investigation Ends.

Goderich, Ont., May 2.—The investigation into the charges made by Michael Farr, hotelkeeper, against William Patterson, chairman of the Centre Huron license commissioners, concluded at 10.30 yesterday morning, and Commissioner Lude Saunders of Toronto will make his report to the Government after reviewing the evidence.

Andrew Porter gave an emphatic denial to Farr's statement that he had approached him and suggested putting up money to guarantee the renewal of his license. Farr, he declared, had come to him and asked him to use his influence, and he had replied that he was out of that sort of thing now, as it took all his time to run the bank. He had no knowledge of any attempt being made to hold-up hotelkeepers for money for license renewals.

John C. Martin, owner of the Colborne Hotel property, who was mentioned by Farr as one of the men whom he alleged Patterson had told him would put up money, denied any knowledge of any such proposals being made.

London, May 2.—No great political project was ever debated in the House of Commons with less display of interest on the part of the members and the general public than the home rule bill. The speeches yesterday were delivered to a half empty House. A few Irish priests were the only spectators in the galleries, who appeared particularly concerned with what was passing on the floor. Even yesterday's oratorical performances, in which Winston Churchill, who is rated as the most brilliant of the younger politicians in either party, was the star, created hardly no enthusiasm. Statesmen like Gladstone, Parnell, Chamberlain and Hartington have fought bitterly every inch of the ground and racial and party passions, and stirred to the depths, but it could not possibly be compared in lack of enthusiasm with yesterday's session.

One reason for this is the present new system, whereby the House of Lords may prolong legislation over a period of two years, which postpones the critical stage of the measure. Another is the nature of the Conservative opposition to the bill, which, except on the part of the representatives of Ulster, is getting lukewarm. Several members complained yesterday of the length of the speeches. The Speaker practically confessed himself bored and remarked:

"I am sure that the House would rather hear three speeches of twenty minutes each than one of 60 minutes." This was received with shouts of approval.

William O'Brien, leader of Liberal Nationalists, said that in his opinion the bill was one on which all sections of Irishmen could unite in supporting in its fundamental structure and principles, but it would be arrant humbug to pretend that it settled everything, except reconciliation between the two countries. However, the fact that the bill was elastic and experimental and could be improved in accordance with the lessons of practical experience, was a recommendation in its favor. Divisions in the ranks of the Nationalists, he added, could be regarded as a good augury for the future, because those associated with him would form the germ of a healthy opposition in the new Irish Parliament.

Mr. O'Brien criticized the financial provisions of the bill, which he hoped would be amended in the committee stage.

Lord Claude Hamilton, Unionist, made a bellicose speech against the bill, declaring that if it passed he and his brother would take their stand with the people of Ulster. "I should only have to go to the quayside in Liverpool and call for volunteers," he said, "to get thousands of men ready to go and succor their brethren in Ulster."

New Bank Premises at Norwood.

Arrangements have been completed between Mr. J. L. Squire, of town, and the Bank of Toronto for the erection of handsome premises for the latter at Norwood. The new premises will occupy the site to the west of Mr. Squire's store and will be built in contact with it. It will have a frontage of 32 feet and will extend 37 feet to the rear, giving a floor space of over 1,100 square feet. The elevation will consist of white stone pillars for the first storey and then brick. The office will be built in a most up-to-date design, will have every accommodation for its customers and patrons and will be used solely as a banking institution.

A DEAL IN STOCKS.

Comment of the Man Who Witnessed the Quick Transaction.

Sitting at his desk on the tenth floor of a Wall street building the man in charge of the investment department of a Stock Exchange house was discussing the bond market with a visitor. A message from the telegraph room was laid upon his desk. "Pardon me," he said to his visitor as he picked up his telephone instrument and asked for a Philadelphia connection. He immediately replaced the receiver, and the discussion of the bond market was resumed. The telephone bell rang. "Pardon me," said the investment expert again as he lifted the telephone instrument. "I'll take those fifty shares," he said into the telephone.

Evidently he got them. He broke off the connection, wrote a message for the wire and sent it off to the telegraph room by a boy. The discussion of the bond market was resumed once more and continued until another message came from the wire room. The investment expert merely glanced at it and went on with the conversation.

His visitor broke in to ask a question, "Do you mind telling me the nature of that transaction you have just concluded?" "Just then?" said the investment expert. "Why, I bought fifty shares of an investment stock in Philadelphia by telephone and sold them in Columbus, O., by our private telegraph wire. What about it?" "Oh, nothing," said the visitor, "only it occurred to me that a few years ago it might have taken four weeks instead of four minutes to do it." Then they went on with their talk about the bond market.—New York Post.

His Preference.

A distinguished eye surgeon tells a good story of his hospital days. Three other young, newly fledged oculists, and himself were chatting in their quarters in the hospital when the conversation turned, as was natural in young men, upon the beauty of different colors of eyes. One championed the superior brilliancy and sparkle of the blue eye, another the depth and fire of the brown, while the third was all for the clear, cool light of the hazel. After they had exhausted their eloquence, with the usual effect of confirming themselves in their original opinions, the fourth young sawbones suddenly broke in. "I don't care a bang about your blue eyes or your brown eyes or your gray eyes! Just give me sore eyes and plenty of 'em, and I'll be happy."—Saturday Evening Post.

London's First Directory.

How did the world do its business before the publication of directories? The huge directory of London had a first printed forerunner in a slim little volume, "A Collection of the Names of the Merchants Living In and Around the City of London," issued by Samuel Lee of Lombard street in 1677. It was the outcome most probably of the enterprise of Henry Robinson, a well known writer on commercial matters, who in 1650 opened an office in Threadneedle street, where were kept "particular registers of all manner of addresses" for the use of all who cared to pay a sixpence.—London Chronicle.

U. S War Department Has to Feed Mississippi Flood Sufferers.

Washington, May 2.—Food and shelter for 160,000 people probably will have to be provided by the War Department for another month as a result of the renewed flooding of Mississippi River territory.

As rapidly as possible the destitute are being turned over to local relief committees, but reports from the army engineers indicate that the daily average to be served with "plantation rations" by the commissary department continues to be about 160,000, and the cost is $10,000 a day.

Secretary Stimson estimates that additional appropriations of $500,000 for the commissary department and $150,000 for the quartermasters' department will be required to cover relief work expenses. To date the quartermasters have spent $277,179 for forage, tents and boats, while the commissaries have spent $236,000.

Torras, La., May 2.—Relief is being rushed to hundreds of marooned families in the flooded territory north of this place. Food depots have been fixed at points convenient for purposes of distribution.

Five thousand white persons along the Black River are in a desperate fix. The Government supplies received there are inadequate. Many families expecting the flood, built rafts, and when the water came they moved their household goods aboard. Horses, cows, pigs, chickens, dogs and cats are sharing these rafts with the farmers and their families. The rafts are anchored to trees, and that is the way they are living now.

Jerome to Oppose Thaw.

New York, May 2.—William Travers Jerome has been retained by Attorney-General Carmody to represent the people in opposition to the latest effort to obtain the release of Harry Thaw from Matteawan Asylum. As district attorney Mr. Jerome prosecuted Thaw in both his trials, and successfully fought the attempts to set the prisoner free.

A new move was made yesterday by Clarence J. Shearn, the leading counsel for Thaw, in a notice that a motion would be made that the testimony to be heard at White Plains should be before a jury, and not before Justice Keogh alone. Mr. Jerome will oppose this.

New Steamer Launched.

Collingwood, May 1.—The launching of the new Canadian Government steamer "Estivan," which is to be used in the lighthouse service on the Pacific Coast, took place at the yards of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co. here yesterday afternoon. Miss Helen Currie, daughter of Major J. A. Currie, M.P. for North Simcoe, christened the boat. Following the ceremony, a banquet was held at which Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, spoke. The banquet was tendered by the Collingwood Board of Trade in honor of the two Cabinet Ministers and Major Currie and was the most notable in the history of the town.

Hon. Mr. Hazen delivered an address on the large program before the Government in the matter of shipbuilding and ship industries, and general marine improvements. The visitors were later entertained at a civic luncheon.

THE MORNING TIMES

MONDAY, MAY 6, 1912.

THE AMERICAN PRIMARIES.

Mr. Taft cannot be elected. Mr. Roosevelt can be elected. Republicans want to nominate a man whom they can elect.

This argument fully accounts for what happened in the Massachusetts primaries. Since the election of 1910, in which the Republicans went down in defeat through a great section of the country, it has not seemed to them likely that they could re-elect Mr. Taft. The weakness of his candidacy in the popular primary states, like North Dakota, strengthened this impression.

Coupled to it has been the popular impression of the invincibility of Mr. Roosevelt, derived from the tremendous majorities which he polled in 1904, an impression not wholly dissipated by his defeat in New York in the person of Mr. Stimson in 1910. Everybody wearing a Republican label went down then, Mr. Stimson with a less heavy thud, in proportion to the size and Democratic record of New York, than almost anybody else of his party in the North.

The great majority of Republicans primarily desire the success of their party. They prefer to have Roosevelt in the White House and postoffices manned by Republicans, to having Taft nominated in response to sentiment and usage, and leave the Democrats to divide the loaves and fishes the next four years. This is the consideration that swelled Roosevelt's totals. This is the arrow that killed Cock Robin. Seasoned party leaders, moved by a high sense of propriety, might have preferred to incur the larger risks of defeat under Taft's banner, but the electorate, less pityingly, warmed up toward the more probable winner in November.

THE BEST WAY A JOINT AGREEMENT.

Chairman Alexander of the House Committee on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries seems to have the right idea of the course for the U. S. government to pursue in the wake of the Titanic disaster. His resolution for a prompt international conference for the strengthening and unification of rules relative to safety at sea should be approved by Congress. Laws or regulations of the United States alone can be of small avail, for the Stars and Stripes float over only six of the two or three hundred passenger ships in the transatlantic service.

American steamers are more numerous on the routes southward to the West Indies, the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico, but these ships seldom carry more than 100 souls all told. The crowded craft are those of transoceanic service. Foreign governments would be quick to resent American laws or rules demanding more lifeboats on foreign transatlantic ships, as increasing the cost of construction, and maintenance in a business of which the United States has no appreciable share.

If the matter of improved safeguards is left to national initiative, the result is certain to be unsatisfactory. Great Britain, the principal maritime power, has not changed her lifeboat rules since 1894. These rules provide that there must be from two boats on a vessel of one hundred tons up to fourteen on a vessel of nine thousand tons, and that sixteen boats must be carried by a vessel of ten thousand tons or upward. Thus the Titanic strictly complied with the British Board of Trade requirements, with the very letter of the law.

The French maritime law is more exacting than that of Great Britain, and so, it is stated, is the law of Germany. But this increases the cost and lessens the earning power of German and French in competition with British ships. It is not merely just, but imperative, that such requirements should be international and uniform and that they should be fixed by the very highest standards, from which there could be no possible departure.

The United States has a perfect right to take the first step toward an international agreement, for our own maritime laws and regulations as a whole are probably the most exacting of all. But even these are not adequate to meet all the obligations of humanity, of which the wreck of the Titanic is such a terrible reminder. An international conference of the best maritime experts of all countries should be called at once. Chairman Alexander's well-timed resolution should be given the right of way over all else in Washington.

Editorial Notes

Gold has been found in Pompeii. The excavations must be down to hard pan.

A co-operative restaurant has been established in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Evidently the sailors' appetites dread nought.

President Yuan has sent his first message to the Chinese Congress. But the publication of a Congressional record is not announced.

One may imagine what the American Presidential primary will be like in the matter of turmoil when it gets into full swing and the woods and prairies are swarming with candidates and all of them on the stump saying things of their rivals.

The public are now prohibited from using Canadian Post Offices as advertising bureaus. The Post Office department has issued an order to the effect that no advertisement or notice of any character will be allowed to be posted either inside or outside the buildings.

As a result of the increased cost of raw skins during the past year, owing to a limited supply in the country and a growing demand for shoes with calfskin uppers, the price of shoes will be boosted up. The price of some of the dull and patent leathers may not come up in price, however.

The brutal attack upon Mr. Bruce Ismay by the Hearst papers is in keeping with the worst traditions of American journalism. As yet the only offence, known to have been committed by Mr. Ismay is that he has remained alive. One would have supposed that even the most bloodthirsty would have been satisfied with the Titanic slaughter.

A Toronto paper, speaking editorially of conditions in that city, says:—"Toronto is in danger of becoming a city of tenement houses. The promoters of these tenements may seek to disguise them under the name of apartment houses and flats for light housekeeping, but the fact remains that many of the more recently-built apartment houses and an increasing number of those projected are in essence tenements, with all the evil features that the word implies and none of the good ones."

Let is not be thought that the Crown Prince is unpopular. Far from it. War and conquest, the policy of which he has committed himself, have not lost their glamor for the upper crust of German society. In the fatherland it is only the workingman, the Socialist, who advocates peace. Millions of the "lower classes" have come to the conclusion that a body riddled with bullets, a head torn off by a shell, a belly ripped open by a bayonet, it not so glorious a fate as those in authority would have them believe. The co-operative commonwealth on earth promised by the Socialists, appeals to them more than the heaven-which-is-to-be for all true believers who die in battle.

The Crown Prince, giving a gold piece to a workman, associating on terms of equality with an American multi-millionaire, is hailed as a democrat. At school, however, the Prince demanded that all his fellow students salute him in passing, and remain standing until he granted them permission to be seated, and he sought to have expelled an American who refused this tribute to imperial dignity. On occasion he is affable, pleasant, democratic, agreeable yes but so is a jackus.

C.P.R. IN AUSTRIA

Observation Cars to be Run by the C.P.R.—A Great Trip Arranged by the Company Which Should Attract Many.

Following closely upon the arrangement the Canadian Pacific Railway has made with the Austrian Government for the privilege of running observation cars upon their lines, with the same enterprise the C.P.R. simultaneously made provision for Around the World tickets to be good over the Trans-Siberian Railway. The traveller taking this route has various options according to the fares paid, and connection with the railway—which has never before opened its arms to any outsider—can be made by the Canadian Pacific Railway's Royal Mail Trans-Pacific Steamships at Yokohoma, Kobe, Nagasaki and Shanghia, and thence by a variety of routes in connection with the Trans-Siberian. The whole time required for the entire trip from Vladivostock or Dairen to Moscow or St. Petersburg is between nine and ten days. The distance between Vladivostock and Moscow is about 5425 miles, and between Vladivostock and St. Petersburg about 5600 miles. The journey is through most interesting country. Siberia is a land of great fertility, well wooded and watered, and along the routes are many important towns and cities, which are bound to attract the attention of the tourist. A magnificent panorama is afforded the traveller by the delightful scenery of the great lake, Baikal, consisting of 35,000 square miles, and the tunnel and loops by which the Khingan mountains are crossed possesses great interest. The trains carry sleeping and dining cars in which meals are served at reasonable rates. It must not be overlooked that all travellers in Russian territory must be provided with a passport, issued by his own Government, and bearing the signature of the Russian consul, which has to be presented to the Russian authorities on entering and leaving Russia and when staying over night at hotels in Russia.

A BLOODY DEED.

Thirty Years Ago To-day Phoenix Park Murders Took Place.

The recent introduction of a home rule bill in the British Parliament recalls that to-day, May 6th, is the thirtieth anniversary of the Phoenix Park murders, which resulted from the Irish agitation for self government. Frederick Charles, Lord Cavendish, chief secretary for Ireland, and a second son of the Duke of Devonshire, and Under-Secretary Burke, were surrounded by a mob in Phoenix Park on the day of their arrival in Dublin and assassinated.

A Remarkable Fish Story.

Delivering an address at the Surveyors' Institution in London recently, Mr. Julian C. Rogers quoted the following from Kilburne's topography of Kent, published in 1667, a copy of which was in the library:

"A monstrous fish shot himself ashore (in Thanet), where from want of water he died, as fish sometimes do under such circumstances. His roaring was heard above a mile. His length was 22 yards, his nether jaw opening 12 feet. One of his eyes was more than a cart with six horses could draw, his tongue was 15 feet, and his liver two cart-loads.

Dickens and Miss Weller.

Dickens himself was once embarrassed by one of his names. This was when he was presented to a Miss Weller, whose beauty and talent delighted him. He described to a friend his mixed feelings at finding the name he had made grotesque borne by so gracious a lady. He afterwards introduced a friend, and a marriage followed in time. On the morning after that first meeting Dickens sent to this unforeseen kind of Weller some verses in which he protested his regret that he could not hope to change her name for he was married and "Pickwick" was published.

An Isolated Colony.

The nearest neighbor of New Zealand is Australia, which is twelve hundred miles distant.

Billiard Balls.

Billiard balls are always cut from the finest ivory, but usually they are not cut from the largest size of tusks. The moderately small tusk yields the best results so far as billiard balls are concerned.

Likely Enough.

Condescending Chappie—I weally can't wemember your name, but I've an idea I've met you before.

Nervous Host—Oh, yes, very likely; it's my house.—London Sketch.

Washington and the Poacher.

Washington was a fine shot, and the waters of the Chesapeake abounded in canvasback and other ducks. Washington would not allow other people to bring down his birds. He learned that one poacher was filling his game bags at his expense. Washington determined to end his fun. Hearing a shot one day, he mounted his horse and rode in the direction of the sound. The poacher discovered his approach and, entering his canoe, pushed a few yards out into the river before the master of Mount Vernon came in view. When Washington, with anger in his eye, came in sight the poacher raised his gun, cocked it and took deliberate aim. Washington did not show the slightest fear. He walked into the water, seized the canoe and pulled it ashore. Taking the gun from the poacher, he gave him so severe a chastisement that he never again repeated his attempt upon Washington's birds.

Advice to Bride-Elect.

Lord Harris has celebrated his sixty-first birthday. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, at one time acted as Under-Secretary for War, and was Governor of Bombay for five years in the nineties. He has also been assistant adjutant-general of Imperial Yeomanry both in England and South Africa, and he was Lord-in-Waiting to Queen Victoria.

Lord Harris is keen on cricket, and one of the chief promoters of the national game in the old country. In 1874 he married the Hon. Lucy Jervis, daughter of a former Lord St. Vincent.

Lady Harris is a pretty, fair woman, with much tact and charm of manner, and during her husband's "reign" as governor of Bombay she made many friends and not a single enemy. She holds the Order of the Crown of India.

A funny story has been told as regards the apt remark made by one of Lord Harris's predecessor's. The Lord Harris in question was sent to fetch Princess Caroline of Brunswick and to act as her mentor on her voyage to England to become the wife of the then Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV.

One day he heard the royal bride-elect boast that she could dress herself entirely in ten minutes. Upon which he said: "Madam, you had better take ten hours if you wish to be happy in your new position, for your future husband is the most fastidious prince in all Europe."

Finest Office In the World.

New York, May 2.—On the last day of this month, the finest, costliest and most beautiful private office in the world will be opened on the 31st storey of the Bankers' Trust Co. building, at Wall and Nassau streets.

Its floors will be of teakwood, inland with ebony. Its surfaces and ceiling moldings will be of the same precious wood. On the walls will hang paintings by old masters of Europe. On the floors will repose the handsomest specimens of the oriental rugmakers' art.

There will be no name on the door, but it will be the office of J. Pierpont Morgan.

Connaught's Birthday.

London, May 2.—In honor of the Duke of Connaught's birthday, bells were rung and a royal salute was fired at Windsor. Flags were also flying on the Government offices in London. The Canadian Governor-General is 62 years old, having been born on May 1, 1850.

Montreal Not Affected.

Montreal, May 2.—The Ontario increase in the price of coal leaves Montreal unaffected, and dealers do not anticipate any advance in price.

Some Hope For Him.

"Do you think," asked the girl's mother, "you have succeeded at last in convincing Mr. Youngbuck that he can never have our daughter?"

"I'm afraid not. Somehow I can't help feeling that he may get her yet."

"But you told him this morning when he asked you for the seventh time that you would not give your consent."

"Yes. The trouble is that he has not threatened to carry on his campaign to the bitter end. As long as a chap refrains from referring to the bitter end there is a chance that he may win out."

Oranges Once a Prohibited Fruit.

Oranges were for some years a prohibited fruit in Holland. When the Batavian republic was established the badge and color of the stadtholder's family became so hateful to the popular party that, not satisfied with expelling their prince, they passed a law forbidding the sale of oranges and carrots and ordering all persons who grew lilies or marigolds in their gardens to pluck up the plants and destroy them. This prohibition remained in force until 1806, when Napoleon made his brother Louis king of Holland.

Hole In Titanic Model.

New York, May 2.—A large crate stands on White Star pier 61 awaiting shipment to England on the Adriatic. It contains a thirty-foot model of a giant ocean liner, and cost $16,000 to build, but it is not of any use for exhibition purposes now. It is a model of the Titanic.

This replica is an exact duplication of the sunken leviathan down to the minutest detail. It was sent to this country to be exhibited as a specimen of the unsinkable ship. There is one strange coincidence about the model. There is a large rent at the bow, from keel to uppermost deck similar to the one that sent the Titanic to the bottom. Also there are davits for twenty lifeboats, but only twelve boats are shown.

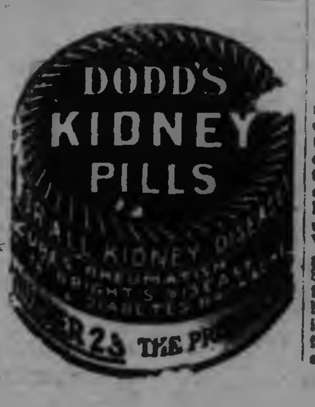
Stole Money for Sweetheart.

Chicago, May 2.—Mary Reynolds, ticket agent, employed by the Illinois Central Railroad, who told the police a story of being held up and robbed of $150 by two men in the station Tuesday night, confessed yesterday that she had concocted the story of the robbery and had given the money to her sweetheart.

"I took the money and gave it to Charles Duff," she said. "We were soon to be married and neither of us had much money. The money is hidden in a cigar box, buried at the base of a telegraph pole at Fifth avenue and Michigan avenue."

Cotton Manufacture.

The manufacture of cotton was introduced into Europe by the Arabs. Abdurahman III. about the year 930 caused it to be commenced in Spain, from which country it spread slowly to other European lands. He also established extensive manufactures of silk and leather and interested himself much in the culture of the silkworm. The Arabs were also the authors of the art of printing calicoes by wooden blocks, a great improvement on the old operation of painting by hand.



COURT DEATH AT NIAGARA.

Hunters Every Year Venture Forth on Dangerous River.

The fascination of hunting must be very great when it will lure men out onto the Niagara River in the winter to an almost certain death trap. It seems that the duck hunting is especially good but especially dangerous about a mile above the falls. Every winter adventurous duck hunters put out in small boats and dodge the ice cakes while they hunt their favorite game. As a rule, however, most of the hunters perch themselves upon a ledge of ice and hunt from it. They take a terrible risk even by this method, for the ice jam that is constantly moving down stream is at any time liable to dislodge the hunter's perch and down he goes a victim to the merciless cataract.

Not many years ago two men were observed in a duck boat trying desperately to row out of a running ice jam which had carried them down the Canadian channel from far up the river. Their terrified efforts were closely followed by a man with a spy glass, who had discovered them from the windows of one of the large shore factories on the American side. The unfortunate men had already drifted too near the first roaring cataract to admit of any possible rescue, so the watcher could only helplessly wait for their pitiful death.

In describing the incident afterward, he said: "God, what could I do to help them—what could any man do? The Almighty alone seemed to hold them in His power. One man seemed to be wrenching his shoulders from their sockets with the oars; the other stood in the stern, desperately plying a pike pole. An oar broke, and was replaced by a third. The man didn't lose a second in its replacement. Then, in a mighty stroke, the other oar went, and he fell sprawling back in the boat. He stood up, pulled the good oar from its pin, and began paddling insanely from the side.

"They made little progress. Slowly the great field of ice swept them down, down toward those snarling, angry cataracts below. I writhed in agony before the hopeless vision. Into the rapids swept the fore part of the ice jam. Then the first great wave seemed to rise up and hover hungrily over the little boat. Both men saw it and rushed toward each other. Locked in each other's arms they disappeared into the curling swell. That was the last I saw of them."

Niagara also plays the death trap to hunted as well as hunters. Hundreds of wild fowl are swept each year over the falls. During densely foggy nights strange ducks often stop to roost in the upper waters of the river. Drifting unconsciously toward the brink, they are suddenly hurled down into the abyss of plunging water. Too terrified to take wing and quickly engulfed by the spray, they plunge into the gorge, and are either killed outright or stunned, to receive wounds that keep them helplessly in the waters below for days and weeks. After the formation of the ice bridge many of these unfortunate birds are washed up on the ice, where they are quickly gathered up by the little group of souvenir sellers and saloon men who erect shacks on the path across the river. These men string lines of such ducks in front of their ramshackle stores and over the bars of their saloons. It proves both an attractive advertisement and adds slightly to their source of income, as they dispose of the ducks whenever possible.

Dance 24 Hours Without Food.

The adoption dance is one of the ceremonial dances of the Shawnees. This is quite different from any one of the festive dances. They come many miles around and camp; their faces are painted and their bodies decorated with beads.

They dance all day and night without eating. A bonfire is built in the centre of the camp and they dance around this. The fire is kept burning about the same all the time. This serves also as their light.

The adoption dance is rather quiet, more so than the other dances. The women do most of the singing and sing very low. They dance around the circle in twos. The men dance together in front, and the women together in the rear.

The two leaders in front are usually the ones who are adopting the child. They carry tin pails; in these are rubber balls, which bounce and keep time with the drummer. This is all the music they have to dance by. If a large crowd is assembled they may have two or three drums.

At these dances good order is kept. No drunkenness is allowed. The dance is in a grove, and if any one does not behave decently they tie him to a tree for the rest of the dance. After the dance they have a great feast which lasts all day, and visitors, and all others who attend the dance, are invited to partake of the feast.—Toronto Globe.

Shot Five Bears.

There is a good bear story told by General Agent Lee of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, a man who knows every inch of the North Country and can supply everything from a good fishing spot to an Indian guide. He and a tenderfoot doctor were out bear shooting. After a while, they took separate routes and in a few minutes Lee heard six shots in rapid succession. Running to find the doctor, he was discovered leaning exhausted against a tree and a big black bear laying dead on a hillock along a narrow path. Behind the animal were four good-sized cubs, also dead, and, making his escape, was father bear. The doctor had shot five out of six, but, in the excitement of his maiden shooting expedition, thought he had shot only one, for as fast as they came up the hillock the medico blazed away with eyes half shut. Lee guarantees this story, and we will let it go at that.

Canadian Woods.

Dead Men's Food In Yucatan.

From remote times the natives of Yucatan have been accustomed to making offerings to the souls of the departed, particularly a certain pie that they call "food of the soul." The crust must be of yellow corn, the interior ten or chicken and small pieces of pork. These pies are wrapped in leaves of the banana tree and baked underground between hot stones. When done, they are placed on the graves or hung from trees close by. Sometimes, after leaving them there for an hour or two, the living take home the pies and enjoy them, saying that the souls have already drawn from them all the ethereal part of the substance.

THE BASQUES.

They Trace Back Further Than Any Race in Europe.

The Basques have been the object of more contention as to their origin than any other people in Europe. The most extravagant theories have been put forward, such as that they are descendants of the builders of the tower of Babel, of the Antediluvians, the Phoenicians, and even of the legendary Atlantes. Their origin remains obscure, and all that can be said with any certainty is that they represent an older racial stratum than the peoples settled in western Europe.

George Borrow, who brought out the gospel of St. Luke in the Basque tongue, during his wanderings in the Iberian peninsula, says in his "Bible in Spain" that he considers the Basque dialect to be more closely allied to the Tartar than to the Sanskrit, and in the former classification he includes the Manchu, the Mongolian, the Calmuc and the Turkish of the Caspian Sea, and in Europe, Hungarian and Basque though not in its entirety. Not only does he find a similarity to the Tartar in the Basque language, but also in their mental characteristics. Whatever may be the truth of these conjectures, the Basques still form a race apart, dwelling in the northern and southern sides of the Pyrenees.

By far the greater number come under the suzerainty of Spain, the provinces of Guipuzcoa, Biscaye, Alava and Haute Navarre being for the greater part Basque-Guipuzcoa, alone, entirely so. While in France there are but three provinces or arrondissements which may be termed Basque, the Labourd, Basse-Navarre and La Soule. Known by the name of Vascougados in Spain, in France, among themselves they are the Euskaldunak and their tongue Escuara.

The French Basques, though fewer in number, have preserved the primitive type of the race to a greater extent than those of the southern slopes of the Pyrenees since the year 580, when they separated from their brethren in Spain, who were left to resist the invasions of the Romans and Moors.

Borrow says of the Basques that they are a singing rather than a poetical people, and he mentions a collection of songs which was printed in San Sebastian in 1826 by Juan Iztita. These songs were chiefly march tunes and illustrated the martial character of the race. Of these songs Borrow says they "consist of wild and thrilling marches to the sound of which it is believed that the ancient Basques were in the habit of descending from their mountains to combat with the Romans and subsequently the Moors. . . . We seem to hear the charges of cavalry on the sounding plain, the clash of swords and the rush of men down the gorges of hills." The words of these songs, however, are crude in the extreme and have not even originality to recommend them; in fact, the Basques have no literature; moreover their tongue is poor and they have no words by which to express abstract ideas.

Golf Balls.

The manufacture of golf balls was at one time, the end of the sixteenth and beginning of the seventeenth centuries, in the hands of the Dutch, and a heavy tax was placed upon such as were imported into Great Britain in order to give the more expensive British laborer a chance, James VI. of Scotland going so far as to give one maker a monopoly of the manufacture.

Thirty Gallons of Water a Day.

London consumed the enormous total of 223,536,884 gallons of water every day last year. This means that each of the seven million odd persons in the metropolis used 31.57 gallons a day, and that at each house 204.24 gallons were disposed of in the same period.

Unprofitable Misery.

A Boston professor comes out of his insulation and remarks that a pleasure loving woman cannot be beautiful, because suffering is essential to true beauty.

It used to be said that no woman could be a great actress until she had suffered.

And yet actresses continue to marry and divorce and undergo all sorts of humiliations and tribulations without the slightest indication of artistic improvement.

Br'er Williams and the Legislature.

"I hear tell," said Brother Williams, "dat de legislatur' won't be wid us mo'n long 'nuff ter say good mawnin' an' goodby."

"Well, that's long enough, isn't it?"

"No, suh, kaze I wuz thinkin' 'bout axin' it fer a job. I wanted ter be one er dem messengers what dey hires."

"What! And you so old?"

"Yes, suh," he said reflectively, "I knows I'm old enough to know better, but needin' de money ez I does I could even make up my mind ter go in de legislatur'!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Invest in Leather.

Everyone remembers the old time fable, wherein, to defend a city besieged, a tanner suggested leather. Now, leather is one of the commodities that will always be in demand. Canada can, and does, produce leather of a quality that the world cannot excel. The Collie Leather Co., Ltd., incorporated under the laws of Ontario, with a capital of $150,000, of which $110,000 stock is to be issued, has a proposition well worth serious consideration by everyone seeking a safe and paying investment. The Canadian tanneries are all making money and keep their stock closely tied up. The town of Aurora has voted the Collie Leather Co. a cash bonus of $10,000, with exemption from taxation for ten years. The Company now has a factory 150 ft. x 50 ft. in size, under construction. The building will be four storeys in height. The Company will handle 1800 calf skins daily, and, as shown in their advertisement in another part of this issue, will pay big profits. A limited number of shares in the Company are now offered for sale on easy terms. For full particulars, see advt., or write Messrs. W Percy, Gillespie & Co., 203-4 McKin-

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed.

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

Minister Captures Feature Event Toronto Horse Show.

Toronto, May 2.—Hon. Adam Beck was the outstanding figure at the Canadian National Horse Show yesterday. The achievement of his team of three hunters put the balance of the evening's program in the shade.

Class 46 was for the best team of three hunters, and Hon. Mr. Sifton's trio were second and Bert Cox's third. They were three extra fine teams and there was little to choose between first, second and third. Mr. Jarvis entry also ran.

The judges appeared profoundly perplexed over the problem of separating the Beck and Sifton teams, but finally gave the signal for an outburst of applause by calling the Beck team for first, and Sifton's for second. The Ennisclaire entry got third.

Hon. Adam Beck rode the world champion middleweight bay hunter, Sir Edmund, the winner of first honors in England, the United States and Canada.

The night wound up with a spectacular military class of 31 mounted N.C.O.'s and men representing different regiments.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Further bodies of victims of the Titanic disaster were identified at Halifax.

The ferry fares between the two S.S. have been reduced from ten cents each way to five.

The Spanish Senate voted an address of condolence to the families of the victims of the Titanic yesterday.

Herbie, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Agnew of Acton lost his life while playing on the bank of Fairy Lake yesterday.

Looking in the best of physical condition, after his sojourn of a month in the south, the Right Hon. R. L. Borden returned to Ottawa yesterday.

Small strikes were reported at London, Ottawa and Kingston. The Hamilton bricklayers went out, but other wise May Day was uneventful in labor circles.

Plumbers went on strike at Kingston yesterday because the bosses refused to give an increase. They are receiving $2.55 for nine hours, and ask for $3 for eight hours.

The Boy Scouts of Ottawa have divided up the city systematically and are going to do some scouting for spots wherein flies may breed with a view to extirpating the pest.

The C.P.R. fleet yesterday morning sailed from Owen Sound for Port McNicoll, the new steamship headquarters. The squadron was given a good send off, over one thousand citizens being at the dock to bid them farewell.

Following an attack of pneumonia the death occurred at Vancouver on Tuesday of James Oborne, formerly superintendent of the Toronto division of the C.P.R. and at the time of his death superintendent of the Pacific division.

Red snow is often seen in spring at the head of Alpine glaciers. Scientists used to believe that the hue was due to the presence of innumerable tiny reddish insects; but it is now known to be caused by a microspocical plant, which is pink when growing and a deep crimson when in a state of maturity.

Poets sing of the deep blue sea, but it is not always blue. Millions upon millions of microscopic algae or seaweeds and subaquatic plants give the Red sea its peculiar tint, and the Yellow sea of China is said to be colored by the floods of the great rivers which wash down vast quantities of mud. Generally speaking, the ocean is blue in ratio to its saltiness.

While the part of the American continent has had a winter second to none in its severity, Paris has enjoyed exceptionally mild weather this season, the thermometer having gone below the freezing point but once. Turn about it would seem to be fair play on the part of the weather clerk, and certainly we will not object to an "open winter" next year.

Those Yankee papers, or, at least, some of them try to twist the lion's tail on every occasion, or to intimate that the Maple Leaf of Canada is only a laugh, and of use when in an old pitcher fertilizing purposes. Just see how a New Orleans paper, the "United States" seems to go out of its way to get a crack at Canada and things Canadian. It says editorially: "On one of the Canadian railways a "train agent" is the official name of the fare collector. The train agent is said to be notable for his politeness, and to ask for a passenger's ticket with the words, 'Your ticket, please,' to wait patiently till he gets it, and then invariably say, 'Thank you.' The name 'train agent' is hardly felicitous for this Chesterfieldian conductor. It sounds too much like 'road agent,' a name which in the west has not always been associated with agreeable manners or practices."

AS TO SUNDAY LABOR.

The present session of the Legislature seems likely to end without any change in the statutes affecting the observance of the Sabbath. Few subjects are in more continuous legislative flux than this. Not fewer than nine bills were seriously urged this year. The open-air people are intent on liberalizing the law in reference to sports, while the Sabbath Protective League interests are trying to strengthen the law on its industrial side. They maintain that the amount of Sunday work in various occupations, like that of the bakery, is steadily increasing, with the result that a larger proportion of the working class are deprived of that Sunday rest to which all are theoretically entitled. The labor unions have become a valuable ally of the religious interests in this phase of Sunday protection, and it is an endeavor in which all right-thinking people, regardless of religious affiliations or the lack of them, might advantageously co-operate. The community ought to maintain the rest day, within reason, for the largest possible number of its workers.

PLANNING NEW U. S. NAVY.

One hundred years ago the U. S. Congress was considering the addition of a number of frigates and ships of the line to the comparatively small wooden navy with which this country was soon destined to humble the British men-o'-war. To-day Congress is confronted with the proposal of Secretary Stimson of the War Department that our aerial navy of six aeroplanes should be increased to a fleet of 120 machines for the use of the Signal Corps in various parts of the United States and its island possessions.

If the development of the sea fleet during the past hundred years can be considered in even a slight measure a portent of the growth of the aerial navy during the hundred years to come, the war ships of the air may displace the battleships of the sea, just as steel vessels have replaced those of wooden construction. For with the rapid progress of the aeroplane it is only reasonable to suppose that the danger from aloft will soon be too great for any nation to be willing to build battleships which can be wrecked in a second by a bomb dropped from the clouds.

If the airship age does not actually prevent war or plans for war it will probably decrease the cost of war and lower the tremendous expense of armament. When such a time comes that one aeroplane without danger to itself can destroy whole regiments and entire squadrons of battleships there will be less rivalry in the building of great fleets and the maintenance of huge standing armies.

The largest aerial navy that any one nation could conveniently control could be established at a minimum of expense and could be manned by the crews of three or four of our largest battleships or the soldiers from two or three brigades of infantry.

Editorial Notes

We see that the G.T.R. is installing a big compressed air plant in Lindsay. It is to be hoped that none of our local politicians will either steal their patent or get charged whilst visiting the works.

Under our parliamentary system, a strong and vigorous Opposition is as essential for the safe and satisfactory working out of the government of a province or of the Dominion as a governor is to the smooth and efficient running of a stationary engine.

The dust season has arrived. Municipal authorities should remit no energy in subduing this plague, made worse by modern automobiling, but happily conquered by devices which should wholly supplant the old-time water wagon.

[illegible] Coined In Bedlam.

The phrase "to sham Abraham" was coined in Bedlam, or Bethlehem hospital, where there was at one time an Abraham ward, the inmates of which upon certain days were permitted to go out as licensed beggars on behalf of the hospital. These mendicant lunatics were known as "Abraham men," and their success in invoking the pity of the charitable was such that they had many unlicensed imitators, who, when discovered, were said "to have shammed Abraham."

Distance.

"The railroad business is pretty complicated."

"Yes," replied the traveling man. "I don't suppose I ever will be able to understand why two towns that look so close together on a railway map get so far apart when they come to measure up the distance with a mileage book."

Earliest Germ of Vitality.

The microscopic dot or earliest germ of vitality is the marvel of science to-day. Everything that lives, whether the giant oak or the monster animal, has each to begin its individual growth from this microscopic dot, which actually contains all the past story of the living growth and every part in miniature of its future frame.

Cheering Her Up.

"I just dropped in to cheer you up a little," she said to the sick friend.

"Thank you so much. When one is confined to the house with an attack of appendicitis she is always glad of a cheerful visitor."

"Yes, indeed. And so many people are dying of that nowadays."

[illegible]

[illegible]

"I would [illegible] wouldn't have you think—for my coming to you with these valuables is—a—any reflection upon him, you know. His appearance [illegible] in every way"—

"Oh, that's all right," interrupted the purser. "That gentleman has been to me with his own valuables, and he says the very same thing about you."

Elevated Headgear.

During the ceremonial dances the natives of Papua, New Guinea, wear probably the tallest hats in the world, a headdress varying from six feet to eight feet in height and most gorgeous in coloring. The framework is adorned with feathers, colored fibers and shells, beaks of hornbills, plumes of the birds of paradise and sometimes even with a boar's tusk. Some of these headdresses are heirlooms handed down from father to son. They would not sell them at any rate.

The Tarantula.

The sting of the tarantula (a name derived from Taranto, a town in Italy), the most venomous of spiders, was popularly supposed to produce a disease called tarantism, which could be cured only by music or dancing, and the dance which cured it was called tarantella. You can see the peasants dance the tarantella now, but without waiting for spider bites.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

Grist of Interesting News from the Northern Townships—Bad Roads.

J. G. Hardill and C. Sherwood, representing Peterborough Companies arrived on their regular trips last evening and report roads very bad. Coming from Buckhorn to Burleigh Falls they had a little experience with trees across the road. One a large maple, held them up for an hour or two. One of the party had to walk back about a mile to borrow a crosscut saw. Ernie and Mr. Sherwood composed the sawing gang, while J. F. acted as foreman. Fortunately a farmer came along with an axe, and with his assistance got the road clear. But worse was to follow when they reached the Burleigh road and found three feet of water flowing over the road before reaching the Burleigh Hotel. Ernie says they had to roost on the back of the seats, and sometimes the water came into the carriage. But it's a pretty stiff proposition when Ernie can't get through. The new dam (they spelled it with an "n") at Burleigh, is the cause of the trouble. There are some dangerous washouts.

It looks as if we were not only to do without a railroad, but must be cut off from all communication with the front. However, we still have Coe Hill and Belleville to fall back on. There is a lot of freight at Lakefield for the Apsley merchants. Under the present condition of the roads it will be some time before it can be hauled up. The mail carrier phoned Reeve Tucker, who went down and reports that it will cost at least $1000 to repair the damages, which no doubt the Government will have to pay. And there will likely be damages of no inconsiderable amount to pay for the property submerged at Jack's Lake. Now it is not the spring freshets that is the cause, as the waters back here are not within two feet of being as high as in former years.

The post office inspector got around to our village last Wednesday the 24th, and transferred the post office. He spoke very highly of the manner in which Mr. Brown had conducted the business during his term of office. There never had been a complaint.

The river drivers are in evidence now along the 12 miles of river from Eels Lake to Apsley.

Mr. A. Windsor gave the young people a good time Friday night. Singing, dancing and music. They kept it up till near morning. Supper was served at 12. They all report having a good time.

Messrs. Bruce Coones and James Downing go to Lakefield this week to try and bring up the engine for their portable saw mill, but may have trouble on account of the roads. Everything is ready for the engine and if it were here could commence cutting at once.

Mr. Thos. J. Wilson, of Chandos, met with a painful accident last week while drawing stone on his farm. He had hitched on to a large one, and when the team started it up his foot slipped into the hole behind it, and it slid back, pinning his foot under it. He managed to get it raised a little when the chain slipped off and caught him again. The team was then out of reach and no assistance being near he had simply to dig the earth from under his foot the best way he could. Fortunately no bones were broken.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, May 1.—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market, receipts for the week ending April 27 were 750 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 1275 hogs, and 2150 calves. The offerings on the market today for sale were 700 cattle, 300 sheep and lambs, 1420 hogs and 2300 calves.

Owing to the more liberal supply of cattle there was an easier undertone to the market, but prices showed no actual change as compared with those realized on Monday. The gathering of buyers was large. The trade in cows and bulls was more active than usual and the former brought from $5.75 to $6.60 and the latter from $5.50 to $6.75 per cwt.

The undertone to the market for hogs was strong, but as the supply was ample to fill all requirements prices were unchanged. An active trade was done with sales of selected lots at $9.00 to $9.75 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

Sheep were scarce and in demand at $6 to $6.50 per cwt. for ewes. The demand for lambs was good at $4 to $6 each. The trade in calves was active at prices ranging from $1.50 to $6 each as to size and quality.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, May 1.—Cattle—Receipts, 100 head; active and strong.

The Bank of England has just dispensed with the services of the two detectives who have stood sentry at its front door for over a quarter of a century. During that period many were their odd experiences, for there are many people at large who think they own the Bank of England or part of it, and they call periodically with the idea of making an inspection of the premises. Then there is the individual who would go up to the sentry-box, tap the detective on the arm, and ask in an undertone "Which is the way to the cashier's desk? I want to change a check for a million pounds." Another would ask to be directed to the strong room, "where my large diamond collection is kept, by permission of His Majesty." Then there were the "claimants" — those who imagined they were heirs to the throne, and that the bank would be theirs as soon as they had proved their claim. Even visitors in rags would call and demand to be allowed to count over their securities!

The Brownies have captured the city basketball championship by defeating the Nemos in a good game by 25 points to 15. The checking was close and hard throughout and both teams showed good form, the shooting of Hanwell of the winners being a feature. Mr. J. J. Thompson refereed and the teams were as follows: Brownies—Hanwell, Nicholls, forwards; Dounie, centre; Darling, Irwin, backs. Nemos—Hill, Long, forwards, Gilbert centre; Rogers and Howden, backs.

An English Story Discounted.

With big "scare headings," comes the news from England that a colony of blackbirds had built nests in a coal car during the big strike in that country. Pshaw! Only a few months ago, a frame dwelling house was moved from its original location in this city, for a distance of about six blocks. During its removal those in charge of the work, found that some industrious living creatures had built nests and bred, mainly in the second or bedroom floor, to an estimated population of 173,819. They were not blackbirds, either!

Celebrated Speaker at St. Paul's

Yesterday the seventy-seventh anniversary of St. Paul's church was celebrated. This church, which is one of the oldest and contains one of the largest and wealthiest congregations of any church in the city, is to be congratulated on the choice of Rev. Dr. Barclay of Montreal as speaker, yesterday. Rev. Dr. Barclay, has not only spoken throughout many parts of Canada, but has been pastor of the celebrated St. Cuthberts Church of Edinburg. His address yesterday in St. Paul's was listened to by a large audience who sat as though spell-bound.

Bridgenorth Man is Fined.

Harold Coons, of Bridgenorth, did not answer "here" when his name was called, as a summoned man, at Saturday's police court. Coons sent a letter to License Inspector Joseph Stewart explaining why he could not be present. Coons had two charges against him, one of having been under the influence of liquor in a local option locality, and the other with having been under the influence of intoxicants while on the prohibited list. To both charges the accused pleaded guilty in his letter. On the first charge a fine and costs of $15.18 was imposed. The other charge was held over for a future date.

What is a Canadian Baby Worth?

The Times yesterday was in receipt of a letter, presumably from an Englishman. That's not the point at issue. The letter asked the question, "What is a good Canadian baby, that will be reared to maturity, worth to the community?"

In reply, whilst that young Canadian is in arms, or lisping its prattling baby words, to its parents, it is worth to them just about twice the whole of Gowganda, Porcupine, Nevada and all the rest of the sources of mineral wealth of the world. To get down to actual hard statistics, irrespective of paternal or material love, the average Canadian infant is worth a good $2100 to Canada

Y.W.C.A. Management.

Monday, 4.15—Boys' practice; 7.30—Meeting in Guild Room of all interested in tennis. A large attendance is expected.

Thursday, 8 p.m.—Choir practice for Ascension and Whitsuntide festivals, boys assemble at 7.30.

Saturday, 9 a.m.—Boys' Choir practice.

Sunday—Rogation Sunday, 8.30 a.m.—Holy Communion. Special invitation to men.

It is a pleasure to notice the presence in the choir of Mr. James Brown and Mr. Chas. Seymour, who began their singing in St. John's choir as boy choristers. Mr. Jas. Brown sang Graniers "Hosanna," finely during the offertory at Evensong.

Anniversary at St. Andrew's.

Presbyterianism in Peterborough is almost in its octogenarian year. Yesterday, the seventy-ninth anniversary of the founding of Presbyterianism in Peterborough was observed in St. Andrew's church, when Rev. Jas. Ross, D.D., of London, conducted the service. There was special music by the choir under the leadership of Mr. Herbert C. Treneer. Rev. Dr. Ross is minister of the largest Presbyterian church in London, Ont. Dr. Ross is a Scottish Canadian, and ranks among the really strong men in the Presbyterian ministry. He is an excellent lecturer and was heard to advantage yesterday. This talented orator will lecture to-night on Scottish Life and Character.

The predecessors of Mr. Rollins, the present incumbent, have averaged 11 years each in office.

A Local Sherlock Holmes.

We notice that our esteemed contemporary has a three column article on the wonderful identification by finger prints, by the police in large cities of the world of criminals. Pshaw! A lady living on Gilmour street, who has two lively boys, of eight and eleven respectively last Sunday night found a pot of gooseberry jam opened and half emptied. The jar sat on a cupboard shelf. Who could have committed the crime of stealing that gooseberry jam? On the outside of the glass receptacle was a blood mark and two finger traces. There should have been three finger marks! The lady telling her husband, a well known George street merchant, about her discovery, said: I have read about Sherlock Holmes. I knew that Jimmy (that is not his name) had a finger tied up in a rag, and I saw a little blood on the jar. I knew at once who stole the jam. Still poor little Jimmy loves gooseberry jam.

OBITUARY.

David B. Crowley.

Mr. David B. Crowley of North Monaghan, one of the best known and most generally respected farmers of that township, passed away early Saturday morning.

The late Mr. Crowley, who was a single man, is survived by one brother, who is at present residing in the States. The funeral will take place from the residence of Mr. John Lynch, corner of Park and Braidwood avenue this morning at nine o'clock a.m. and proceed to the Sacred Heart church, and from thence to St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Not a wheel was turned by the Fire Brigade yesterday.

Everyone complains that growth is very slow this spring.

Pigs and potatoes were the principal articles on Saturday's market.

Miss Rose Cullen, of Toronto gave an interesting address yesterday evening at the Y.W.C.A.

The Lift Lock will probably open on Wednesday. Any way it will open this week.

The local pros are doing good work and will doubtless do their share in bringing glory to Peterborough.

The loss by fire in Peterborough during the month of April amounted to $4230 as compared with $1587 in the same month last year.

The members of the Ladies' Aid of St. Joseph's Hospital are asked to meet in the T.A.S. rooms to-day at 2.30 to sew for the hospital.

Horsemen were very busy round the Windsor Hotel on Saturday. There must have been $10,000 worth of horses in the stables of that caravansery.

The Largest and Best Vacuum Carpet Cleaner in the city can be rented by the day. Just the thing for Spring house cleaning. For particulars Phone No. 274.

Hydro Electric power has been quoted to the town of Barrie at $33.70 per horse power, providing 700 horse power is taken. If only 500 horse power is taken the price is $36.

Some of our local farmers who have for years fought the potato bug, are now fearing the potato wart. This is an excrescence that sucks the good out of the tuber, leaving a useless empty skin.

The rose bushes, shrubs, etc., for distribution among the members of the Peterborough Horticultural Society have been received from the Connon Floral Company of Hamilton and will be delivered at once.

The Peterborough Light & Power Company's Show Room will be open on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings during May and June, from 8 to 10 p.m. for the convenience of those wishing to secure gas appliances or to arrange for gas connections.

The North American Life Assurance Co. issues policies second to none. The profits given to policyholders are equal to those of the very best. Insure your life in the North American Life Assurance Co. Office, 187 Charlotte Street. (6t-A8t19)

The Ontario Government has just issued a blue book entitled the "Feeble-minded in Ontario." This Government pamphlet did not refer to people who do not advertise in The Times, nor to the Peterborough Councillors who do not try to get crowds to Peterborough in holidays during the summer months.

DIED.

CROWLEY—David B. Crowley aged 71 years, at the residence of Mr. John Lynch, corner of Park and Braidwood avenue, on Saturday morning.

Funeral this morning at 9 o'clock to Sacred Heart church and thence to St Peter's cemetery.

TWO YEARS DEAD TO-DAY

Anniversary of King Edward's Death Will be Observed To-day — King George Rounds Out Two Years on Throne.

To-day is the second anniversary of the death of King Edward and rounds out two years of the reign of King George. There will be solemn memorial services in England in remembrance of the dead monarch but the flags will also be hoisted, the joy bells rung in the church steeples, and the customary salute of forty-one guns will be fired in St. James' Park in honor of the accession of King George. May and June are important months for the British royal family, and the people of the Empire, as besides to-day's celebration they include the birthday of Queen Mary on May 26, the anniversary of Queen Victoria's birth, celebrated as Empire Day, on May 24; the King's birthday on June 3, the birthday of the Prince of Wales on June 23; the anniversary of the accession of Victoria on June 20, and the birthdays of the Duke of Connaught on May 1, and the Empress of Russia on June 6. Beginning the third year of his reign to-day, King George is undoubtedly more popular than any other European monarch, and the prophets who predicted that he would be a failure have been themselves discredited.

Lindsay had a runaway on May 1. That town is certainly waking up.

When something holds one back, the cause is often found to be an unsuspected habit—such as tea or coffee drinking.

CAFFEINE, the drug in tea and coffee, interferes with digestion; has a destructive effect on nerves and brain and causes various ills which handicap one's physical and mental power.

If this is found true in your case, the thing to do is to quit the cause—tea or coffee—and shift to

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot.

Estimated Net Profits:

18,000 ft. per day, one-half cent per foot, $90.00, with 300 working days per year ...	$27,000.00
Less business insurance and depreciation per year	7,000.00
Or approximately 20 per cent on entire issued capital.	$20,000.00

The Company has purchased from Mr. Collis all his Tanning formula, and will issue in payment thereof One Hundred shares of fully paid up stock.

Of the total amount of shares offered for sale, the Directors have subscribed for more than one-third.

The terms are 25 per cent on application, 25 per cent in Thirty, 25 per cent in Sixty, and 25 per cent in Ninety days.

We reserve the right to allot only such applications, and for such amounts as may be approved the application lists may be closed without notice.

BIG JAPANESE COLONY TO LAND IN BRAZILIAN REPUBLIC

Sao Paudo, Brazil, May 4. — What is regarded as one of the most significant moves in the Japanese effort to colonize sections of Latin America has just become known. The government of this state has entered into a preliminary agreement with a Tokio syndicate, represented by Ikularo Toyagi, for the colonization of the entire tract lying between the Ribeira river and Pariguera, Assu' and Cananea.

The State will give the syndicate 50,000 hectares (123,550 acres), and another 50 hectares for the site of a city at a place called Posto do Registro. The government will also build a road to the nearest railroad station and to the port of Iguape. It is understood that the state will grant a bonus of $10,000,000 (about $5,500 for each group of 50 families, settled in the colonies, and futhermore will refund passage money to all immigrants definitely established within four years, as soon as 100 families are settled.

Another important clause reads that the government of Sao Paulo state will maintain an agricultural demonstration camp and a zootechnie post in the Japanese settlement and will found schools to teach the immigrants the Portuguese language.

The Tokio syndicate agrees to devide the land in lots of 25 hectares. (about 62 acres), provide it with water supply and sewage system, and build roads within the settlement and between it and the state roads. The syndicate has definitely engaged itself to settle 2,000 Japanese families within the next two years and annually will pay 7200$000 (less than $4,000) depositing 20.000$000 in the state treasury to guarantee the full payment.

When seen on board the Danube, in Santos Harbor, bound for Europe, Ikularo Toyagi said that 1,429 Japanese emibrants may be expected to land in Santos about the end of the month.

The territory granted the Japanese comprises the southern extremity of the state of San Paulo, a famous agricultural area. The land is bounded on the north and east by the Ribiera river, on the west by the state line, and on the south by the ocean. Iguape, the port, and Assu' at its headquarters, while Cananea is also situated on the sea.

SAVE THE BIRDS.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—You and I have been boys and possibly both of us robbed birds' nests of their pretty colored eggs. At least I confess to the charge. Still, even twenty years ago, the exasperating, chattering English sparrow had not, as it has now, chased most of our beautiful indigenous Canadian birds away. Whilst I would be the last to interfere with the eternal boy, still our orioles, fly-catchers, blue jays, tanajers, and many other birds are being rapidly killed out, and being replaced by the ugly, chirping English invader. Why not try and teach the boys to respect the nests of the few Canadian birds we have left. I do not mean to punish or arrest the boy, but simply awaken the good sense he, or most of him has, and persuade him not to join with the sparrows in eliminating the birds that are beautiful, tuneful and useful in both orchard and garden.

MEMORIAL SERVICE CONCERT.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I happened to see in a paper I got from Edmonton, Alberta, that Mr. F. D. Shanks, leader of the Citizens' Band of that city, is arranging to give a memorial service there as a tribute to the brave bandsmen on the Titanic, who went down to death cheering and encouraging the doomed passengers in their last desperate hour. There is no doubt but what those bandsmen aboard the Titanic will always rank among the heroes of the world. Now, Mr. Editor, eulogy and talk is cheap. It does not help to keep the widows and orphans of those heroic musicians. I think if either the 57th Regiment band or that of the Salvation Army were to give a concert in aid of those in distress, by the deaths of those bandsmen, it would be a popular movement and would net a good amount for the widows and orphans.

THREE ARE SLAIN

Baby and Negroes Killed by Sweep of Wind.

Winnsboro, La., May 6.—The toll of death from the terrific windstorm that visited the southwestern portion of this (Franklin) parish on Monday has so far received no additions beyond the list of three victims so far reported.

The baby of G. L. Ross and two negro women were killed. Twelve or more are reported to have been injured, but their names could not be learned to-night because of all telephone wires being prostrated by the storm.

Several houses were blown down, and a considerable area of high-grade timber land damaged.

The cyclone passed northwest of Winnsboro. It was a quarter of a mile wide.

THE TOMBS OF THE PHAROHS

Interesting Account of Egyptian Research

MANY VALUABLE FINDS

Mr. James R. Renault of Paris, France, Visits Peterborough and Gives The Times an Interview—Interesting Facts Regarding the Land of Pharohs.

Mr. James R. Renault, of Paris, one of the most widely travelled men alive to-day, was in the city yesterday for a few hours. Mr. Renault very kindly gave a Times' representative a few minutes interview. This gentleman's specialty and hobby is Archaeology. He has had much experience in Egypt, and whilst speaking modestly of his achievements, has unearthed many valuable finds. For some time he worked around Abydes. He also had a large gang of natives working in the ruins of Hecklos. When asked by The Times man about the heat of Egypt, Mr. Renault smiled, and said: Hot? Bien Monsieur! I have known it at 120 in the shade for days at a time. When you get that heat and have sand as hot as though right out of an oven blown, not only into your face, but right through your clothing, so that it burns, you may believe it is hot. Mr. Renault has a large number of photographs taken by himself. One of these, that he greatly prizes, is of the great Statue of Hathor, the Mother Goddess. The Monastery in which this statue is located, stands in a great rotunda of rocks with 1500 feet sheer of the cliff above. The statue is in the form of a huge cow. Anatomically, the measurements of the statue are correct in every detail. The cow is represented as rising from the water, and at its udder a [illegible] of Egyptian royalty is being divinely nourished while its horns are hung with waterlilies. In the head motherhood has been indelibly portrayed by the hand of a master.

In another tomb explored, which dated back to the year 1200 B.C., there was a table laid for thirteen guests, and was almost in as good a state of preservation as when it had been left three thousand years before. There was a loaf of bread laid for each guest with onions and nuts and some grape jam. At one side of the table were bags of provisions should the feasters run short. The chairs were seated with a sort of leather, and were exquisitely carved. A large box was set in the rock and though it had stood there for centuries of time it was still entirely dustless, and looked as though it had been polished long and carefully by a loving hand.

RICH FIELD IN VENEZUELA

Eyes of American Capitalists Turned to Possibilities There

Caracas, May 3.—A noticeable interest on the part of the Venezuelan government and of Venezuelan concessionaires to look toward the United States for capital to develop her vast resources is already apparent as a result of Mr. Knox's visit here. The representative of American bankers who is on the ground is negotiating for the taking over of a large electrical water power plant and other enterprises already started or about to be undertaken.

For many years Venezuela has looked only towards France and England for money, and it has been perfectly well understood that no American could get any concessions or franchises at all.

Since that time a favorable change of opinion has taken root and recently American capitalists have obtained a valuable concession for the exploitation of Venezuela's petroleum deposits, and they had a large corps of engineers prospecting, and have now opened up permanent offices in Caracas.

JUDGE MAYBEE'S SUCCESSOR

The passing of Judge Maybee, Chairman of the Railway Commission, leaves a vacancy in public life that will be difficult to fill. It is a position which is regarded as one of prime importance in Canada, ranking, it has been said, next to the position of a Cabinet Minister, and involving responsibilities and duties almost as heavy as those of the Premier. The Railway Commission was created by Act of Parliament in 1903, the first chairman being the late Andrew Blair, afterwards Minister of Railways. Judge Maybee was the third chairman of the Commission, following Judge Killam when the chairmanship was again made vacant by the latter's death.

As chairman of this important business tribunal, Mr. Maybee is regarded as the impersonation of abstract justice. As the Star puts it, his practice was to listen with patience, but without expression of word or feature. When the case had gone far enough for him to determine its facts, he brought forth a concise, strong-worded judgment, upon which neither side of the dispute could find a word of complaint. Little technicalities he brushed aside. Crooked logic he exposed in a word or two of plain reasoning that brought clarity to the most abstruse complication. With a power nearer akin to absolutism than anything else in the governing system of this country, Chairman Maybee, the dominant personality of the Canadian Railway Commission, exercised a wisdom and a forcefulness, a moderation and a common sense, that entitled him to a description often used—"the biggest man in Canada."

In the selection of a successor the Government has a task of the greatest importance. There is one man that has, we believe, special qualifications for the duties of the office, and would probably come nearer to the ideal than any man in Canada. We refer to Mr. John Hamden Burnham, M.P., of this city. Mr. Burnham has a dignified personality and an honesty of purpose that would guarantee perfect justice. He possesses the legal knowledge as well as the forceful personality that will successfully grapple with the many problems that come before the Board for settlement. Should Mr. Burnham receive the appointment, Peterborough will lose an able representative, and the country will gain an honest and, we believe, a thoroughly efficient public servant.

COUNCIL THINKS $85,000 SHOULD BE AMPLE FOR TWO SCHOOLS

AND PUTS ITSELF ON RECORD THAT IF MORE IS WANTED PEOPLE MUST VOTE ON IT.

May Publish Assessment Roll in City Papers—Also Analysis of Milk—A Traffic By-law Under Consideration—Ald. Duffus Says It is Dangerous to Ride on Right Side on Many Streets on Account of the Holes—Consolidation of City's By-laws to be Seriously Considered.

At last night's meeting of the City Fathers, Alderman Duncan contended that should the School Board require more than the $85,000 voted them for erecting two new ward schools they be informed that they must go to the people first for endorsation thereof.

Ald. Gillespie offered that the educational act had practically taken this matter out of Council's hands in empowering school Boards to spend what amounts are needed for school purposes, even in contradistinction to the Council's opposition thereto.

It was conceded that Council had a right to at least place itself on record in this connection, and Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Brown,—That the Council puts itself on record that it will not grant any further monies for the construction of ward schools without a by-law being first submitted to the people.—Carried.

To Publish Analysis of Milk.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Brown,—That the Sanitary Inspector meet a committee composed of the chairman of the several committees and take up the question of giving publicity to the analysis of the city's milk, and report thereon.—Carried.

May Publish Assessment Roll.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Johnston,—That the Finance Committee report on the cost of publishing the assessment roll in the city press in serial form.—Carried.

Ald. Gordon said that one newspaper publisher had suggested this scheme, which might be done to advantage at a nominal cost.

A Traffic By-law.

Ald. Gordon moved,—That the City Solicitor be instructed to prepare a traffic by-law to govern the travel and crossing of streets and turning of corners by vehicles, especially autos.—Carried.

Ald. Duffus—"That will compel keeping to the right."

The Mayor—"On what other side of a street would have a vehicle run?"

Ald. Duffus—"One has got to ride on the left in many places, as the right side is so full of holes as to be absolutely dangerous."

Ald. Gordon—"Perhaps so at a 40-mile clip!"

"That's another question for Ald. Buller," ejaculated several Aldermen at once, to which the chairman of the Board of Works submitted with good grace.

Consolidation of By-laws.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Duncan—That the chairman of the Legal Committee take up with the City Solicitor and report on the cost of consolidating the City's by-laws.—Carried.

CITY FATHERS GRANT $200 TO AID IN DECORATING CITY.

A Grant of $150 for Peterborough Summer Fair—By-laws to Provide for Purchase of Exhibition Grounds by the City Side-Tracked—Aldermen are Changing Their Views on This Proposition—The Council Places Itself on Record that $85,000 Should be Sufficient With Which to Erect Two Ward Schools, Will Oppose Expenditure of Larger Amount Without People's Consent.

The City Fathers met in regular monthly session last night. There were present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Anderson, Morgan, Graham Johnston, Brown, Gordon, Duncan, Buller, Duffus and Gillespie.

Communications.

The Licensed Plumbers petitioned that their license fee be reduced from $10 a year to $1 a year.—Referred to the Finance Committee. The license fee in Toronto is only $1.

From the City Trust Commissioners agreeing to the purchase of park lot 9 in lot 13, in the 11th concession of North Monaghan, to be used as a refuse ground for the city. The purchase price is to be $2200, and the Corporation is to pay the City Trust 4½ per cent. on the money advanced by the latter. This was received. But Council has rented property, as referred to below, in preference to purchasing the foregoing lot.

A number of other communications were referred to their respective committees, and will be dealt with subsequently.

The Summer Fair.

Mr. W. H. Moore addressed Council on behalf of the Ladies' auxiliary of the Peterborough Health Association, and asked a grant of $150 to defray the cost of advertising the summer fair to be held in the Armouries for one week commencing May 27th. The funds accruing from this fair will go toward defraying the expenses of a district nurse in connection with the campaign undertaken by the Peterborough Health Association to treat and care for poor patients suffering from tuberculosis. In aid of this warthy cause, these ladies have also raised $300 by the sale of cards and calendars. The railway companies recognize the unique attractiveness of the coming summer fair and have practically promised to arrange for special rates. Mr. Moore incidentally remarked that one out of every twelve buried in the Little Lake cemetery the past three years had died from tuberculosis. This shows the urgent need in our city for a systematic campaign against the dread "white plague."

Subsequently the grant of $150 asked for was voted.

Grant For Orangemen.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams, on behalf of the local Orange organizations, asked for a grant of $200 to defray the cost of suitably decorating Peterborough on July 12th next, when a big Orange demonstration is to be held in Peterborough. He also asked for the use and control of the Central Park on that occasion. These two concessions have always been readily granted in past years. The Orangemen undertook to see that no damage is done to the Park, and that in the refreshment booths, which will be absolutely under the control of the Order, no intoxicants are sold.

To his worship, Mr. McWilliams replied that at the last demonstration over 20,000 visitors were in attendance, and that number will be substantially increased on this occasion as the district interested has been extended to Belleville.

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by Ald. Johnston,—That the Orange Association be granted $200 to asset in defraying the cost of decorating and erecting arches on July 12th, also the use and control of the Central Park on that occasion.—Granted.

Committee's Report.

The reports of the several committees as to business transacted the past month, and heretofore published in these columns were to hand, as follows:

Ald. Buller submitted that of the Board of Works. The clause providing for a cement walk on Princess street was referred back to committee, as only two citizens would be benefitted and heavy ratepayers not to be benefitted objected to being assessed for this walk.

On motion of Ald. Morgan and Ald. Duffus, the matter of laying a cement walk on Carlisle avenue, East City, was referred to the Board of Works. Mr. Detcher's request for a cement walk on the south side of Hilliard street, between George and Water, was also referred to the Board of Works. The report was then adopted.

Ald. Brown's report of the Legal Committee was adopted as read.

Finance Minister Anderson's report of his committee was adopted as read, as also was that of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, submitted by Chairman Ald. Johnston.

Under this measure no whistling will be permitted unless danger to citizens is apparent.

Ald. Buller offered that the first case of railway accident to any citizen within the city's limits will result in successful suit for damages by reason of the prohibiting of whistling by locomotives.

The City Solicitor replied that the by-law permitted the whistling where such a warning in protection of any citizen or citizens is called for.

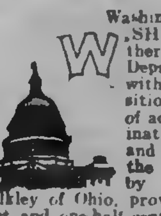
U.S. GOVERNMENT COINAGE

Their Mints May Soon Coin Half and Three Cent Pieces.



Washington, May 4.

WASHINGTON, or rather the Treasury Department, has withdrawn its opposition to the coinage of additional denominations of money, and is not opposing the bill introduced by Representative Bulkley of Ohio, providing for three cent and one-half cent pieces. George E. Robert, director of the mint, Friday declared that the Treasury is passive in the matter and will offer no objections if precautions are taken to guarantee distinctiveness in design.

The old three-cent pieces were retired because they resembled dimes too closely and until recently the treasury consistently opposed an increase in the denomination of coins.

If the bill is enacted into law the three cent pieces will be made about the size of a nickel, with either a hole in the centre or a scalloped edge. The design of one-half cent pieces will be considerably smaller than the dime, and will have a scalloped edge.

Quite a demand for the three cent pieces has come from Cleveland, where three-cent care fare has been adopted. Treasury officials forseen opposition to the bill from traction companies because of the fear that its enactment might renew agitation for the three-cent fare. The coinage of half-cent pieces is being advocated on the ground that it would result in many articles now selling for a penny being reduced one-half.

TO SETTLE ON FARMS

British Officers to Take up Land in British Columbia.

London, May 6.—Under the heading "Emigration de Luxe" the London Standard tells of a scheme now being arranged by a party of retired army officers, with Colonel H. G. Morgan, C.B., D.S.O., at the head of it, by which 13,000 acres on Nicola Lake, B.C., are to be settled entirely on a co-operative basis by emigrants drawn from retired officers of the army, navy and civil service. At present they are calling for volunteers to do the first, and naturally, roughest work of the settlement, and the rewards they offer these volunteers, apart from the free experience they will gain, are permanent positions on the administration staff of the estate when it is in full working order.

Finance, Mining and Inutrial Investments----Eastern and Western Real Estate

Investments in Toronto Real Estate are Making Fortunes for the Investors

Toronto is the second largest city in the Dominion, and is destined to be the largest, and that within a short period of time.

Toronto Keeping Pace

¶ Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of Canada's Great West and the enhancement of values which is the natural outcome of the rapid development of important centres in the West, Toronto is keeping pace with the best of them.

No Speculative Uncertainty

¶ There is not the element of speculative uncertainty for the investor in Toronto properties that there is in many of the Western Sub-Divisions, for the reason that the city's great growth comes from an actual and rapidly increasing demand for properties for home sites and commercial purposes. Toronto is growing to be a great city—its population is increasing at approximately the rate of 40,000 a year.

¶ The Juggernaut of Commerce is forcing many an old residential section into a manufacturing centre and the city has been forced to find an outlet—room for expansion, room for the "homing" of its natural growth of population and the influx from outside centres. Toronto's Building Permits for the year 1911 amounted to over $24,033,907; a great proportion of the amount was spent in the newer sections to meet the demand for new homes, and still the housing question is a serious one, and there is a cry for more houses. Permits for January and February this year amount to over $2,108,080.

Alexandra Gardens

ALEXANDRA GARDENS lie right alongside of BRIAR HILL PARK, one of the most charming properties yet added to the city's suburban districts, and vies with it for desirability of locality and natural beauty.

¶ Men of vision forsaw the future for this great section to the north of the city of Toronto as the natural outlet and relief for the congestion in the more central districts, and the wonderful development has warranted their foresight.

¶ The acquiring of such desirable suburban sections as Alexandra Gardens, Briar Hill Park and other properties, the improvement of them and the almost incredible demand for homesite lots that has obtained has amply proven the wisdom of the selection in the north.

¶ Many lots have been purchased as homesites for permanent homes of the purchasers. To-day there are in Alexandra Gardens not a few of the most handsome residences erected in and around the city, and many more are in course of erection and contemplation.

¶ A number of lots in this desirable property have been chosen by investors as safe and sure investments, and the record of actual transactions within the past few months reveals proof that many investors have in a short period made a profit of one hundred per cent. and over on the down payment.

¶ To date every investor who has desired to realize on his purchase has been able to readily do so at a handsome profit.

¶ Alexandra Gardens is one of the most beautiful and desirable of the new residential sections to the north, wonderfully endowed by nature as the ideal homesite section, it is approximately 4¼ miles from the corner of King and Yonge Streets. The Metropolitan Radial Line takes you to the gates on Yonge Street, and a line will undoubtedly be continued up Avenue Road through Briar Hill Park to Alexandra Gardens. A further line is in contemplation which it is expected will run through the Bathurst Street Section of Alexandra Gardens.

¶ Alexandra Gardens are right up-to-date in improvements—gas, water, electric light, granolithic walks are available, has one of the best laid bowling greens in Canada, has its own club house, is convenient to two golf links, and to schools, churches, stores and banks. The restrictions in the Gardens and adjoining properties are such as to assure them as high-class residential sections.

EVERYTHING POINTS TO A GREAT DEMAND FOR LOTS AND RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN GROWTH AND IMPROVEMENT, and the PERMANENCY of these BEAUTIFUL HOME SECTIONS is ASSURED.

The investment side of the Alexandra Gardens proposition, as in the Briar Hill Park property, is undoubtedly a safe and sane one, and its own history a guarantee for handsome profits to the investor. Lots are now on the Market.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, April 30.—The railways reported 85 carloads of live stock at the City Yards, comprising 1311 cattle, 1050 hogs, 105 sheep and 821 calves.

Butchers

There were cattle bought for butchers' purposes of export weights, at prices ranging from $7 to $7.30, butchers' cattle, weighing from 1000 to 1100 lbs., at $6.75 to $7; cattle, 900 to 1000 lbs., at $6.50 to $6.75; cattle, 800 to 900 lbs., at $6.25 to $6.40; cattle, 600 to 710 lbs., at $5 to $5.85; cows, $3 to $6, with some extra quality cows at $6.25 to $6.50; bulls, $4.50 to $6.

Stockers and Feeders

Feeders, 1000 to 1040 lbs., sold at $6 to $6.25; stockers, 440 lbs. to 700 lbs., sold at $4 to $5.35; cows to turn out on grass sold at $4.

Milkers and Springers

Many of the cows now being offered are misfits, or the class for which there is no really reliable demand. More cows of the good to choice classes, are wanted than are coming forward and $60 to $65 would be paid for such, or up to $70 or even higher for something fancy in the Durham or Holstein line, but few of this class are being offered, altho $75 and $80 was paid to-day, and one extra cow was sold at $100, by Fred Armstrong. The ordinary light class of light cows sell down around $40 and $45, and only inferior sell below these figures.

Veal Calves.

About 900 veal calves were on sale today. Prices ranged from $4 to $7 per cwt. for the bulk, as will be seen by sales given below.

Sheep and Lambs.

Wesley Dunn quoted sheep, ewes, at $5.00 to $6.50; rams, $4.50 to $5; yearlings at $6 to $8.50 per cwt.; spring lambs at $3 to $7 each.

Hogs.

Early in the day $8.73 was the price paid, but in the afternoon, $8.80 and $8.85 for selects fed and watered, and $8.40 to $8.50 f.o.b. cars was reported as being paid.

$2,000,000 Worth of Junk.

A statement compiled at the war department in Washington shows that from sales of scrap iron and other unused material which was left on the isthmus of Panama by the Frenchmen who did work on the canal fifteen years ago the government has already realized the sum of $2,112,000. Over 20,000 tons of metals from these abandoned plants have been shipped to the United States, and there is much work yet to be done. Some of the abandoned machinery has been put in order and is being used.—Railway Age Gazette.

Any civic employee of Belleville, found "taking a drink" in business hours, will be summarily dismissed. The supposition is that "the drink" must be something stronger than the water of the Bay of Quinte.

Downeyville is to have a new butter and cheese factory, incorporation rights having been obtained. The new establishment will be known as the Maple Leaf Butter and Cheese Company, Limited, the capital to be $2,000.

A co-operative restaurant has been established in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Evidently the sailors' appetites dread nought.

As a result of the increased cost of raw skins during the past year, owing to a limited supply in the country and a growing demand for shoes with calf-skin uppers, the price of shoes will be boosted up. The price of some of the dull and patent leathers may not come up in price, however.

One may imagine what the American Presidential primary will be like in the matter of turmoil when it gets into full swing and the woods and prairies are swarming with candidates and all of them on the stump saying things of their rivals.

CATCHING THE NOVICE

BRITISH COMMONS IS FULL OF QUEER OLD CUSTOMS.

Pitfalls and Embarrassments Await the New Member Who Is Learning the Rules—When to Wear and When to Doff One's Hat Is a Study In Itself—King's Assent Given In Norman French—The Sacred Bar.

Centuries come and centuries go, but the British Parliament remains as youthful and virile as in the far-away days when Abbott and Prior answered the summons to Westminster to help in the making of our laws; and it still observes forms and ceremonies which had their birth when Knights of the Shire rode, with escort of squire and page, to join in its deliberations.

The very language it uses recalls the time when Norman-French was the tongue of Court and Castle. Today the King's Assent, which transforms a Parliamentary Bill into a law of the land, is announced in words familiar to our earliest Edwards: "Le Roy le veult"; and "Soit fait comme il est desire"; and, if by any chance the King should think fit to refuse his assent, the fact would be delicately disclosed in the words "Le Roy s-avisera" ("The King will consider it.")

If you should chance to be in the Palace of Westminster when the Commons rise after their day's labors, your ears would be assailed with the quaint cry, "Who goes home?" shouted in stentorian tones in lobbies and corridors, just as in past centuries, when the roads leading to Westminster were the haunts of footpads and cut-throats, it was the rallying cry which brought together members whose journey home lay in the same direction, so that they might walk together for mutual safety.

Guy Fawkes has been dust for three centuries, but still, on the first day of a new session, the vaults beneath the Parliament House are explored in every corner by men carrying unlighted lanterns, in broad daylight, to make sure that no powder barrels are there to elevate our legislators to "another place."

The Speaker, too, advances to his chair with low obeisance exactly as his predecessors of centuries ago made reverent bows to the altar of St. Stephen's Chapel, in front of which for three hundred years the Commons chair stood.

And these are but few of the many customs and traditions of Parliament which have defied time through the ages, and which will probably be observed as carefully a thousand years hence as to-day.

A quaint place, truly, is our Imperial Parliament with its time-crusted rules and regulations which carry the mind back through the centuries; rules, many of which have never been reduced to words, but are none the less binding on that account. No wonder the legislative novice is driven to his wits' end by the perplexities of his new environment, or that he is reduced to despair by shouts of "Order! order!" for the breaking of rules of which he is as ignorant as a new-born infant.

"How can I learn the rules of the House?" a desperate new member once asked Parnell. "Only by breaking them," was the answer. And it is, indeed, only by this painful process that a member can learn his way through the mazes of Parliamentary etiquette. Even such an "old hand" as Mr. Gladstone was called to order more than once during the last year of his life at Westminster; and Mr. W. H. Smith, when leader of the House, actually incurred penalties of $7,500 by breaking the rule that a member, appointed to an office of profit under the crown, must not enter, much less speak, in the House without first being re-elected by his constituents.

There is probably no Chamber in England which has quite the same sacred, exclusive character as that in which the Commons hold their deliberations. Across the entrance to it runs a brass-rod, known as the "bar," raised about half an inch above the level of the floor, and over this line no foot must pass while the House is sitting, unless it be that of a member or one of a small number of officials.

Even a messenger, with a letter or telegram to deliver, may not put foot across this "rubicon." He must hand his missive to some M.P. within reach, and thus it passes from hand to hand to its destination.

It is, too, a grave breach of decorum for any legislator to pass between the Speaker and a member addressing the House. The imaginary line that links Speaker and orator is almost as sacred as the "bar" itself; and if a member, anxious to reach his seat, cannot approach it by a roundabout way, he must either wait until the speech is ended, or, at the expense of his dignity, he must, with bent body and nimble steps, cross the sacred "line" with a rush.

There is no rule of Parliament so puzzling to the neophyte as that of the hat. When he enters or leaves the Chamber he must have an uncovered head, though he may sit with hat on head as long as he will. When he addresses the House he is equally uncovered, unless he has occasion to speak while the bells are ringing for a division. At such a time, if he wishes to address the chair on a point of order, he must do so seated, and with his hat on.

It is a serious misdemeanor for one member to address or to refer to another by name during debate, except when the House is in Committee, when it is proper to address the chairman as "Mr. ——"; and no doubt the punctilious courtesy which prescribes such forms of address as "The right honorable" or "Honorable gentleman the member for ——"; adds to the dignity of the greatest legislative assembly in the world.

The Speaker has been addressed by nervous orators by a wide range of appellatives, from "Mr. Mayor" to "your reverence," but the only proper forms are "Mr. Speaker" and "Sir."

A TACTFUL VOTER.

How He Decided Upon His Ballot In an Alsatian Election.

The simple people of Alsace, who retain in their hearts a strong love for France at the same time that they are desirous not to offend their German rulers too much, frequently have a hard time of it when they go to the ballot to vote for representatives in the German parliament.

In one election in a certain Alsatian district the two candidates were Kable, an Alsatian of French sympathies, who had protested against the annexation after the war of 1870, and a German. On election day a peasant went to the polling place, which was presided over by a German official. The peasant had in one hand a ticket on which was printed the name of Kable and in the other a ticket bearing the name of the German candidate.

"Mein herr," he said to the German election official, "will you tell me which of these tickets is the better one?"

The officer looked at him. "Why, this is much preferable," said he, indicating the German's ticket.

"Ah, I thank you," answered the peasant. "I will keep it next my heart." He folded it carefully and put it inside his coat. "As for this other, then," said he, with an air of putting it away from him as an unworthy thing, "I will leave it here." And he put the Kable ticket in the ballot box.—New York Press.

ASTONISH THE SHARKS.

Aitutaki Islanders Pull Them Up by the Tail With Ropes.

The island of Aitutaki, one of the Hervey group, in the Pacific, is surrounded by islets underneath which are submarine caverns, the homes of sharks. These sharks, which are about six feet long, are esteemed a delicacy, and the natives catch them with nooses.

Arrived over the entrance to the shark cave, the fisherman leaves his canoe to the care of his companions and dives to the bottom, carrying with him a strong cord tied into a slip knot. He expects to find two or three sharks at home well satisfied and drowsy after feeding in the lagoon, with their tails toward the entrance. Selecting the largest, the diver adroitly adjusts a noose over the tail, taking care that it hangs loosely. If he has another noose he secures a second shark.

The shark catcher now, with one bound on the white, sandy bottom, rises to the surface in order to assist his friends in hauling up the fish. The astonished shark suddenly finds itself ascending tail first to the surface, when a smart blow from an ax between the eyes or on the tail ends its career.—Exchange.

A Gruesome Pun.

A foreigner who was at work shoveling ore in the bottom of a vessel which lay in the port of a city in northern Ohio jumped upon the bucket to ride out of the hold. The increased burden broke the hook by which the bucket was attached to the lifting cable. Man and bucket fell back into the hold, and the man received injuries from which he died. An administrator was appointed, who sued the hoisting company for damages. The lawyer employed for the plaintiff was in conversation one day with a friend, who remarked:

"I should think that the company, after an accident like that, would lose no time in installing stronger hoisting apparatus. It ought to be sufficient warning."

"Sufficient!" exclaimed the lawyer. "Why, man, that was only a drop in the bucket."—Philadelphia North American.

History on Coins.

The knowledge of coins and medals through the inscriptions and devices thereon is to an extent a history of the world from the date in which metals were applied to such uses, says the New Era. Events engraved upon these remain hidden in tombs or buried in the bosom of the earth, deposited there in ages long past by careful and miserly hands, only awaiting the research of the patient investigator to tell the story of their origin. Numismatic treasures are scanned as evidence of facts to substantiate statements on papyrus or stone, and dates are often supplied to define the border line between asserted tradition and positive history. Gibbon remarks, "If there were no other record of Hadrian his career would be found written upon the coins of his reign."

Waste Paper in Paris.

Paris police give strict attention to the act against throwing waste papers and refuse upon the streets. An absent-minded old gentleman carelessly dropped a hundred franc note from his waistcoat pocket, whereupon a sharp eyed policeman requested the old gentleman to give his name and address or submit to arrest. But when the offender reached into the gutter and picked up the waste paper and opened it before the policeman's eyes he was let off with an apology and a profound bow.

Sentiment.

"What is life without sentiment!" exclaimed the romantic person.

"Yes," replied Mr. Growcher, "but it doesn't always promote a square deal. Sentiment is what enables a girl to trade a lock of her hair for a $400 engagement ring."—Washington Star.

Rather Rough.

Mrs. Benham—Why do they give him such an awful name as "Bristles?"
Benham—Because he is always "on the hog."—New York Press.

Why Shoes Have Tongues.

Every one that wears lace shoes knows that there is a tongue of leather under the piece where the two sides of the shoe meet, but there is none in button shoes. Probably very few persons know that this is a comparatively modern idea and is not for the purpose of keeping the laces from hurting the instep, but is to keep out rain and snow. There would be no discomfort if the laces touched the sock, but no matter how closely a shoe may be laced up there is always a slight space which would allow rain to reach the stocking.—New York Sun.

Anniversary at St. Andrew's.

Presbyterianism in Peterborough is almost in its octogenarian year. Yesterday, the seventy-ninth anniversary of the founding of Presbyterianism in Peterborough was observed in St. Andrew's church, when Rev. Jas. Ross, D.D., of London, conducted the service. There was special music by the choir under the leadership of Mr. Herbert C. Treneer. Rev. Dr. Ross is minister of the largest Presbyterian church in London, Ont. Dr. Ross is a Scottish Canadian, and ranks among the really strong men in the Presbyterian ministry. He is an excellent lecturer and was heard to advantage yesterday. This talented orator will lecture to-night on Scottish Life and Character.

The predecessors of Mr. Rollins, the present incumbent, have averaged 11 years each in office.

THIN, FRAIL WOMEN WITH PALE CHEEKS

Now Rapidly Learning the Way to Health and Vigor by the Use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Thousands of half-dead, emaciated, worn-out women are dragging out their weary lives simply because they don't know what ails them. Nine times in ten it's indigestion, which directly leads to anaemia, poor circulation and eventually invalidism.

The first step towards relief is to flush out all wastes and unhealthy matter. Loosen the bowels—stir up the liver—stimulate the kidneys. Once this is done, Dr. Hamilton's Pills will quickly manifest their health-restoring qualities.

"The best way to correct impaired digestion, to cure constipation, headache, liver trouble, and other ailments of the stomach and bowels writes Mrs. Uriah A. Dempsey, from Woodstock, "is by the frequent use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills I didn't know what it was to enjoy a good meal for months. My stomach was sour, I belched gas, was thin, tired, pale and nervous. I simply house-cleaned my system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and have been robust and vigorous ever since."

To keep the machinery of the body in active working order, no remedy is so efficient, so mild, so curative as Dr. Hamilton's Pills—good for men, women and children, 25c. per box, at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

GOOD ROADS.

So great an authority on the financial status and future of Canada, as the Canadian Journal of Canada, devotes an article to good roads. Transportation is the question of the day. Commerce is the vital circulation of the material world, and its avenues and means of movement, the veinous and arterial system whereby it circulates. Railroads and steamboats are essential to its existence, though not a whit more so than the streets and roads, the carriages, wagons, and auto's of farmers, dealers and delivery men. Because these latter make no showing in combinations, and dividends, they are apt to be forgotten. Although with the actual land value of roadways, always added in, they represent a tremendous capitalization, which might in size compare not unfavorably with that of the railroads. Their importance is immense, for neither steamships nor railroads could exist without them. The roads are as an elementary proposition national necessities, and have always been so considered.

HITTING THE HORNET'S NEST.

The United States and Russia may have a chance to add to their large and varied assortment of anarchists when France carries out its threat of driving all members of the Red Community into exile. The spectacular battle with the automobile bandits has called attention to the fact that Paris is now the asylum for thousands of anarchists, criminals and rabid revolutionists drawn from all the countries of Europe. France is determined to tolerate this condition of affairs no longer and has practically decided that these undesirable aliens must go.

But where? Has any nation a right to pass enemies of society along to the next nation? Is it wise to organize these dangerous doctrinaires into a peripatetic brotherhood which will have a justifiable excuse to rail against the tyranny of government? If the preaching against government or government officials is an offense calling for deportation, why should it not be an offense calling for imprisonment or some other effective form of restraint?

It would seem to be a wise plan to kill or cure anarchy by subjecting its apostles to a practical demonstration. Some small Australia could be vacated in favor of the anarchists, and England's former transportation system could be adopted with the modification that the exiled anarchists would be given the freedom of their new home, and allowed to carry out their lack of ideas without interference. If all the nations were to contribute their stock of professed or suspected anarchists the new land would be densely populated.

It is surmised that within a few weeks Anarchia would develop into a despotism which would make the rule of Abdul Hamid look like a sample of Utopia, and that everybody except the czar of the realm would be begging the Powers to take them back to the freedom of modern government.

SUCCESS AND FAILURE.

The Winnipeg Telegram, in a well-written editorial, draws attention, using the Titanic disaster, as a basis, between the narrow line dividing success and failure. It says:

"Marine engineering skill wrought in the construction of the Titanic what was believed to be almost the supreme achievement in ship building. With no thought of danger, more than two thousand people took passage on this magnificent ship to cross the waters which had been crossed so often in safety. Had the Titanic completed its initial trip, with what thunder of acclaim would it have drawn to its dock in New York!

"Then designer and builder, commander and crew, owners and passengers would have come in for full share of felicitation. The Titanic would have rounded the Battery with band playing, vessels in the harbor would have whistled a noisy salute, flags would have fluttered in mark of triumph of this latest product of marine knowledge. The Titanic would have had its day of glory. Later on it would have to yield pre-eminence to an even more gigantic ship, and marine engineers would have placed a new mark to their constructive ability. Had the Titanic come safely into New York harbor the belief that ocean was man's servant rather than his master would have been largely confirmed.

"But the Titanic lies two miles deep in the salt waters of the Atlantic. The boasted skill of man was as nothing in a moment of impact with an iceberg. The seas cover hundreds of crew, the commander and his heroic lieutenants; hundreds of the light-hearted passengers of yesterday found in this palatial ship their grave. The president of the Company, living, is under a cloud which must anguish a man who can search his conscience in vain for anything self-condemnatory. A thousand communities are drawn together in mourning for the dead. The Titanic, bound for New York, found its port in Neptune's bosom.

"So, after all, how narrow the margin between success and failure! Measured, in the case of the Titanic, as the few feet between the iceberg and the steel-plated hull of the great vessel against which this sentinel of the polar seas matched the force of nature in challenge to the triumph of man's skill Measured by the few minutes of time which would have enabled the wheelsman to turn in safety from the course of danger; by, perhaps, the few inches of bulkhead thickness which would have further resisted the pressure of water from without; by the very circumstance that man has yet to learn the lesson that safety will permit of no element of chance in the navigation of the seas.

"The tragedy of the Titanic brings sharply into mind the little things of life which may spell ruin or disaster. As the lesson is heeded or neglected so this tragedy may serve for future good or evil."

Horsemen were very busy round the Windsor Hotel on Saturday. There must have been $10,000 worth of horses in the stables of that caravansery.

Editorial Notes

Canada now ranks fifth in world's production of wheat; third of oats.

Canada is the largest coal importer in the world, imports equalling production.

Crystals of sodium nitrate have been made in Paris so pure and perfectly formed that they can be used in optical instruments.

It was stated by Lord Morley that no British investigation into the wrecking of a foreign ship had ever taken place. That is not the case. In 1875 an investigation was held, when the German ship Schiller was wrecked at Scilly, with a loss of three hundred lives.

It is understood in London that Harland and Wolff, the Belfast builders, will alter the design for the new ship Gigantic of the White Star Line, so as to give her a double cellular bottom and double sides to cover the engine room and stokehold. This is similar to the precautions on the Lusitania and Mauretania.

Under severe provocation and repeated attacks from Roosevelt, President Taft refrained from replying; but at length patience became no longer a virtue and the President has hit back with a vengeance. In his Boston speech, Taft gave Roosevelt a Roland for an Oliver and the ex-president must be squirming under it yet.

Miss Italia Garibaldi, a grand daughter of General Garibaldi, the Italian liberator, is a lay delegate from the Italy Conference of the Methodist Episcopal to the coming General Conference in Minneapolis. Miss Garibaldi is head of a Methodist girls' home school for the children of the poor in Rome. Surely she is the worthy child of a worthy sire.

Some fault has been found with the ignorance of marine matters shown by those conducting the Titanic investigation at Washington. We can't all be marine experts; nor is it necessary that the members of the investigating commission should be such, in order to get at the causes of the disaster. Those causes have been pretty well cleared up by the investigation and it has therefore served its purpose.

The telephone goes on annihilating distance. It is announced that in November next there will be a thorough connection between New York and Los Angeles. The cost of this line will total at half a million dollars, and the tolls charged will be $15 or probably a little less. A telephone cable has been recently laid under the English channel and is now in successful operation, and it is now possible to hold conversations between London and the cities of Geneva, Lyons and Basle.

To the American list of divorces for seemingly trivial causes — such as "cruelty in not taking me out riding," "cruelty in requiring me to sew on buttons," etc., has now been added a divorce granted to a man who charged his wife with "cruelty in keeping cats in the house," thereby preventing him from occupying his favorite chair. On the judge's inquiring, "Why didn't you put the cats out of the house?" the man answered, "My wife is a member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and I was afraid she would have me arrested."

Methodism seems to be gaining ground in Italy most encouragingly. Miss Garibaldi, granddaughter of the Italian patriot, in an interview in New York the other day, said: "Of the American Churches in Italy the Methodist is making greatest progress. The reason is its many-sided enterprises. It enters upon education, it builds hospitals, it takes up social service. Why very few churches of the old line Catholic type have so much as Sunday Schools. Methodists are gaining steadily, and are getting hold of some of the best Italian families in all parts of the kingdom."

In England experiments have been made showing, it is said, that a vibration of sound having an amplitude of less than one-twelfth-millionth of a centimeter could still affect the sense of hearing. Such a vibration would be so short that it would have to be enlarged one hundred times before the most powerful microscope could render it visible, supposing that it were susceptibale of being seen at all. Aged persons, it is said, do not hear high notes which are audible to young people, and there is reason to believe that babies hear notes that are inaudible to their elders.

BLOOM OF YOUTH NOW EASILY ATTAINED

(From Popular Science.)

You no longer need to "doctor" that sallow, freckled, blackheaded, rough, blotchy, pimplye, or over-red skin. You can remove it, instead easily, painlessly, inexpensively. By a new scientific process, which anyone can use without assistance, the dead and near-dead surface skin, with all its imperfections, is gently, gradually absorbed—and a radiantly youthful and beautiful complexion comes forth! Go to your druggist get an ounce of pure, mercolized wax at night apply enough of this to completely cover the face; don't rub it in. Next morning remove the wax with warm water. The result after a few days is astonishing. You wonder why this secret wasn't discovered long ago.

Let the wrinkled, pouchy-cheeked, double-chinned folks also take hope. Put an ounce of powdered saxolite into a half pint witch hazel, bathe the face in the solution and — say! — there's nothing that will so effectually, so promptly, smooth out the hateful lines and draw in the sags and bags. You'll find this lotion, as well as mercolized wax, works equally well on neck and hands.

A MODERN CASE OF VOODOOISM

New Orleans, La., May 4.—Superstitious to the state of imagining that someone had poisoned him through voodooism is the case of Vandyce Johnson, a negro, aged 21, of 1521 Laharpe, who, since the early part of this week, has been confined to his bed, laboring under the opinion that he was drugged or poisoned by wine given him to drink by Emily Dennis, a negress, of 1612 New Orleans street, with whom he says he was out several nights ago.

Johnson for a time had the police busily engaged in trying to solve the problem of how Johnson was poisoned, as he stated. The negro said that while he was out with the Dennis woman she gave him some wine to drink, which made him very sick and he believed he was either drugged or poisoned. The police learned that Dr. A. Maestri, of 2322 Esplanade Ave., had attended the negro and learned from the physician that Johnson bore no symptoms of either having been drugged or poisoned and that the negro is simply laboring under the belief that he was poisoned through voodooism.

TRIVIAL QUARREL WITH 2 DEAD

Knoxville, Tenn., May 5.—At Little Cove, Sevier County, Friday afternoon, Mack Chambers, aged 35 shot and killed hi schild wife, aged 16, and later committed suicide. Chambers was holding his wife on his lap, when they quarreled over a trivial affair. Chambers slapped the woman, and when her father interfered Chambers ran to the home of the grandmother, secured a shot-gun, and returned, intending to kill his father-in law. The latter had hidden, and the enraged Chambers shot his wife, killing her almost instantly.

Returning to his grandmother's, Chambers tried to secure more cartridges, and these being refused he ran to a clump of woods near by and secured a trace chain, hanging himself. Chamber's grandmother refused to allow the body to be brought home, and it lay all night in a school house unattended Saturday husband and wife were buried, side by side.

MOB CHASED THE PASTOR

Angered Because He Appeared on Field to Stop Sunday Game—The Sheriff Also Fled From Crowd of Fans.

Hartford, Conn., May 6.—A great crowd of "fans" overflowed the stand in Electric Field in Plainville Sunday afternoon to see a ballgame between Holyoke and New Britain, of the Connecticut League. It was to be the first Sunday contest in the State this season

The teams marched on the field and in response to insistent demands from the spectators the umpire had declared the game on when the Rev. F. L. Grand, of the Plainville Reformed Church, who in his sermon that morning denounced Sunday ball, and said he would stop the game, appeared on the field.

The clergyman, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Marsh, advanced to the umpire, and told him that Marsh had warrants which would be served on each member of the team if the came was called. There was much wrangling

Suddenly the "fans" jumped from their seats and started for the field. The clergyman and the sheriff saw them coming and began a hurried departure. The crowd pursued Marsh and Mr. Grand across the field and through the gate. Marsh dodged out of sight, and the mob followed Mr. Grand to his door. Breathlessly, he darted inside and barricaded the door

The Deputy-Sheriff returned to the field and conferred with the players. They decided that as there were no spectators left to see the game, it would be foolish to defy the law.

The action of the Hartford Central Labor Union in asking for a strict interpretation of the State blue laws caused Prosecuting Attorney Frederick Fuller to stop all ball games in East Hartford, where many thousand persons had gathered.

MEETS SUDDEN DEATH.

American Naval Officer, and Former Canadian Killed.

New York, May 6.—Lieut. Ray S. McDonald, of the United States navy was killed last night in Brooklyn, while attempting to board a trolley car. The officer, who was spending his honeymoon at the Mansion House, with his wife, a bride of a month, was on his way to meet friends in Manhattan.

As an open Union Street car came along he swung himself aboard, grasping the hand rail. A lurch of the car threw him against a pillar of the elevated railroad, fracturing his skull

Bystanders summoned an ambulance from the Brooklyn Hospital, where the injured man was taken. He died a short time after his arrival there. Lieut. McDonald was born in Canada, on August 26, 1884.

Four Types of Mankind

you are digestive. By following this system, according to a surgeon theorist, of the Invalides Hospital, you would take a great step toward solving the problem of assuring a long, healthy life.

The theorist asserts that humanity can be divided into these four great classes, each of them, he says, recognizable by physical appearance. The cerebral type has a small body, without much muscle, and an abnormally developed skull; the respiratory has the middle part of the face and chest exceptionally large; the muscular is well developed all round, with harmonious proportions, and the digestive is especially prominent in the lower part of the face and trunk—that is, the jaw and stomach.

"For any of these types to attempt to do the work of another" he declares, "is as foolish as to set a racehorse to haul a dray, and only results in an enormous waste of energy."

The theory is attracting a great deal of attention, especially among army authorities, and it is expected that a classification based upon it will be adopted in assigning posts to conscripts in order to reduce the present large number of rejections on the score of physical incapacity.

The muscular type will be apportioned to the cavalry and artillery, the respiratory recruits, who require strong pure air, will be sent to the Alpine defences; the cerebrals, who only number 3 per cent of the total, will do office work. No place has yet been assigned to the digestives, but it seems probable that they will be found in the garrison kitchens.

INQUEST ON PORTER BEGUN AT MINDEN

Minden, May 4. — The people throughout the entire countryside are greatly excited over the Porter murder case, and the subsequent confession of "Heck" Ellis. The arrest of Ellis by Detective Reburn and Constable Jones caused a great deal of excitement and after the news spread about that Ellis was in the lock-up, farmers flocked to the village to hear the latest news and if possible get a glimpse of Porter's slayer. Everybody in the neighborhood and for miles around knew both Porter and Ellis, and knew that enmity existed, but they did not suppose that Ellis would go so far as to kill his brother-in-law.

The deceased Porter was regarded as the quickest rifle shot in the district, and at a tournament at Kinmount last winter made a "clean-up" He was carrying a Ballard rifle, which makes an exceptionally loud report.

The preliminary hearing or jury trial in the case opened Friday night by Coroner Pogue, and Detective Reburn, assisted by a jury.

The first witness was Porter, senior, father of the dead man, who simply corroborated his story as already told. Mr. C. Kellett confirmed the finding of the body in a hollow about 250 yards off the road.

Ellis, the confessed murderer, then told his story, claiming that Porter fired two shots at him before he Ellis, replied with his rifle.

QUEBEC CONTESTS COURTS POWER IN A MARRIAGE CASE

Ottawa, Ont., May 6.—There is very little likelihood that the marriage reference will proceed before the Supreme Court to-morrow. The judges are ready to proceed and so is the Deputy Minister of Justice, E. L. Newcombe, but it is understood that the counsel for the Provinces will ask for delay pending the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council on the points involved in the companies reference. Indeed, it is stated to-day that the counsel for the Province of Quebec have filed a factum with the judges of the Supreme Court questioning the jurisdiction of their lordships to hear the case upon a mere reference.

Both sides will be fully represented when the Supreme Court opens on Tuesday morning and the case is sure to be mentioned, but the prospect of argument proceeding at once is very small, for the reason that when the counsel for Quebec presented his objection when the case was mentioned six months ago, the chief justice intimated that if the objection were renewed when the case came up for argument, it would receive consideration, unless the Privy Council had previously given its decision in the other case.

company of another by-law— erhaps the bridge measure—to keep down expenses.

Ald. Morgan asserted that the by-law would be turned down anyway. Council should wait awhile and purchase 40 acres in East City at one-quarter the price asked for present ground. Such a measure would carry.

Ald. Duncan contended that permanent exhibition grounds should be farther west. The purchase of the present grounds would make a bad break in a valuable building section, and block expansion southward.

The Mayor did not think the present property suitable for exhibition purposes, and he was afraid the people would not endorse the by-law.

Ald. Gillespie favored submitting the by-law, as the purchase of the present property would prove a profitable transaction, even were they not retained for exhibition purposes permanently. Only one building would be permanent—the grand stand—the others could be readily moved should the city decide to dispose of the property in the future and secure exhibition grounds further out. But he knew of no other suitable grounds available.

Ald. Anderson was pleased to see the Aldermen turning to his view of the situation. At last meeting he had been the only one to oppose this scheme. The city does not propose to buy grounds on speculation, but for exhibition purposes, and much more suitable and cheaper property is available.

Ald. Gordon contended that to hope for the by-law passing it must go to the people at an early date. Should it travel in company with a hydro-electric measure involving half a million and more, a bridge by-law and a new sewerage system proposition representing the expenditure of some $200,000, each and every measure would be in danger of not carrying.

On motion of his worship and Ald. Anderson the by-law in question was side-tracked for the time being.

To Widen Streets.

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by Ald. Duncan, That the Board of Works be authorized to purchase sufficient land to widen Louis street, Babb's Lane, Sherbrooke to Patterson, and Bolivar to Sherbrooke. Also on motion of Ald. Anderson that Cricket Place, East City be extended to Mark street.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That the Board of Works be authorized to construct three approaches on south side of Simcoe street, east of Water street.—Carried.

Crossing to New Baptist Church.

In regard to constructing a cement crossing over Murray street to the new Baptist church, Ald. Gordon offered that the crossing should be laid directly opposite the church.

Ald. Buller and Ald. Duncan contended that as a business proposition this crossing should be laid in continuation with the sidewalk fronting the Armouries and Collegiate Institute. However, Ald. Buller suggested that the Council should examine the locality in question and be satisfied as a whole regarding the exact location of this crossing. Hence, he invited all the City Fathers to accompany the Board of Works on an annual tour of inspection at eight o'clock Friday morning, when judgment can be passed regarding the new Murray street crossing. This will give ample opportunity for laying the crossing in time for the opening of the church on May 27th. Ald. Buller's suggestion was agreed to.

$150 For Summer Fair.

Moved by Ald. Duncan, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That a grant of $150 be made to the ladies' auxiliary of the Peterborough Health Association in aid of advertising Peterborough's summer fair.—Carried.

Street Railway Curve.

Moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That the Radial Railway Co. be notified to change their curve at the corner of George and Smith streets, so as to give a wider roadway between the track and sidewalk on the south side of Smith. And further that the company be held liable for any damages occurring at this place.—Carried.

Who Is Liable?

The Fire, Water and Light Committee was instructed to report as to whom is to assume responsibility for the cost of laying the water main and hydrants—$1060 on that portion of Townsend street west of Park recently conveyed to the C.G.E. for building purposes. Council last night leaned to the conclusion that the C.G.E. should assume liability for the maintenance of this water main and hydrants which they contend were installed in protection of the company's property.

Romaine Street Sewer.

Council will meet next Monday evening in Committee of the whole to confer with Engineer Chipman in regard to Romaine street sewer, which is reported not to be working satisfactory.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, and as a sequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

SHIPPING OUT LOOT.

Over $10,000,000 Worth of Carlos Leaves China.

Tien Tsin, May 6.—Now that northern China is comparatively quiet again the foreigners who bought millions of dollars worth of loot from the mutinous soldiers here and at Pekin are smuggling their plunder out of the country as rapidly as possible.

Property to an enormous value was wantonly destroyed during the recent riots in Pekin and Tien Tsin, but still more was stolen by the mutineers. Whole train loads were shipped out, and unscrupulous foreigners were prompt to take advantage of the opportunity offered for purchasing these valuables at less than 5 per cent of their cost. About $10,000,000 worth of plunder passed into the hands of foreigners in this way.

DID AWFUL EXECUTION

Italian Baloons Drop Thirty Bombs on Turks.

Rome, May 6.—Despatches received for some time from Tripoli, the scene of the Turco-Italian war, have told of the use of air machines by the Italian forces with a great measure of success, but the achievement to-day of two baloons in practically destroying the Turkish camp at Azaziah is regarded as epochial.

The despatch states that dirigibles flew over the camp and dropped thirty bombs. The loss of life is reported to have been great. The Turkish troops attempted to bring down the air-ships with shells, but failed to make a single hit.

IRISH NATION IS THE IDEAL

Cardinal Logue Says the Native Language is Necessary

TO BUILD UP THE NATION

Ireland Had It, He Said, When Other Peoples Clothed Themselves in Paint—Real Object of Home Rule.

(Special to The Times)

Dublin, May 5.

THE latest telegraphic news from Ireland indicates a bitter contest over Home Rule. If the measure ever does become law, there will be sad times in the country. The attitude of the Irish Land League and other powerful organizations make it clear to all fair-minded men that the country is about to enter on a period of great unrest, if not open warfare.

To Build Up Nation.

Cardinal Logue, presiding at a meeting of the South Louth council of the Gaelic league and the clergy of the Drogheda deanery, urged the claims of the revival of the Irish language. He expressed pleasure in presiding at the meeting, and said that if the people wanted to establish real nationality and bring back the people to their primitive state of simplicity and devotion to church and country, they could not adopt better means than to restore their native tongue. Irish was a magnificent language, and Ireland had a civilization when in other countries people were running about clothed with what nature supplied and a little paint. They had schools and scholars in this country, even before St. Patrick came, and a code of laws that made modern lawyers wonder for their clear conception of legal principles.

The School System.

Much complaint is being made regarding the system of schools. In the south of Ireland these are nothing more or less than places where church catechism is taught. Under the Church it could not be otherwise, and there is little hope for better things.

At the recent national league of teachers held at Kilkenny the Very Rev. Dean Barry, one of the most notable priests in the country, said that up to now the public had not realized the fact that in many of the buildings commonly called schools in Ireland neither children nor teachers had any ordinary chance of health and the weekly teachings of hygiene must be looked on as a farce. They were thankful indeed to know that there was a vast improvement now going on and there were a large number of schools now erected, of which any country might be proud. On the other hand, schools which have been condemned continued to be used year after year, because of lack of money to build new ones, and meanwhile time was passing, and one generation after another of school children were growing up in various parts of the country anemic and delicate, poisoned by the bad air, whilst their teachers, equally poisoned, endeavored to prepare them for the work of life. On the other hand Ulster points with pride to its schools and other institutions of learning. The contrast between the two sections of Ireland, especially in regard to education, is striking.

LUMBER MILL WASTE.

Production of Alcohol on New Scale Projected.

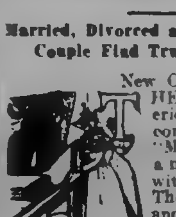
Toronto, May 6.—Plans are being prepared for the construction of a plant to utilize sawdust and other waste materials from Canadian lumber mills.

Colonel J. B. Miller, president of the Polson Iron Works Company, and Professor Wallace P. Cohoe, of Toronto, are behind the scheme which is an entirely new one in Canada, and involves the conversion of sawdust into glucose, and by the addition of yeast the production of alcohol.

TRIAL DIVORCE NOW TRIED

Married, Divorced and Re-married, a Couple Find True Happiness.

New Orleans, May 4.



THE title of an American matrimonial comedy might be, "Married, Divorced, and Remarried," with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Tucker and Judge Val J. Stentz, of the First City Court, as the principals. The Tuckers, following their second venture into matrimony will reside at 5249 Laurel street, where the groom has furnished a cozy nest for his first and second wife, who was Miss Elizabeth B. Herokender before her marriage.

The second marriage of the Tuckers was the result of a three months' "trial" divorce, Judge Ellis having sundered the matrimonial bonds of the couple last January, following nearly nine years of married life.

Mutual friends of the Tuckers, and the parents' love for their 6-year-old son, and their desire for a reunited fireside, were the factors instrumental in reuniting the couple, and Judge Stentz, as neighbor and friend was only too willing to give his services toward bringing the Tuckers together. The second wedding, while perhaps shorn of some of the show of the first, was none the less a pleasing event, as celebrated by the Magistrate Wednesday.

Neither husband nor wife were contented after the decree had been rendered, for each realized that a fatal mistake had been made, and this was made easier by the work of mutual friends in reuniting the little family.

Tucker, who is in the United States customs service, confided his troubles to U. S. Commissioner Arthur Brown and the latter used his good offices in arranging to help out the unfortunate couple. Inasmuch as the first marriage of the Tuckers had been consumated by a Catholic priest and the tenants of that faith forbid divorce, it was comparatively easy to enlist the aid of Judge Stentz in a civil marriage.

The second marriage was quietly arranged only a few of the most intimate friends of the couple being in the secret.

The witnesses were E. E. Van Dine H. H. Epperson, Thomas C. Tucker, Jr., the son and heir of the reunited couple, and Clerk Jules Albright, of the First City Court.

The final words said, the couple so strangely reunited left the courtroom arm in arm, with the bearing of true lovers and with only words of thanks for their friends' good offices.

Master Tucker brought up the rear, showing every manifestation of delight in thus obtaining two parents on the same day.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Authorized Capital: $200.000

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

BUYING A FOUNTAIN.

The Water Had to Be Considered and Then the Pipe Also.

"There are some features of the South American trade that have changed very much in recent years," said a man who used to be in that line. "For instance, when a man in one of the Latin republics wants anything nowadays he not only knows just what he wants, but he has a fair idea as to just what he should pay for it. In the good old days it was not so.

"I recall, for instance, the time when the dictator of one of the South American republics was making improvements out on the country place he owned in one of the interior provinces. It was some distance from his capital, and I doubt whether he ever went back to the place more than once a year, and then only long enough to sleep there. Anyhow, he had decided to make a show place out of it. With that in view, he instructed his agent here to order for him one of the finest little fountaise on the market. The agent came to me, and I took him around to a manufacturer of such things, and we went carefully over the stock. He chose one that was decorated with angels and such things, and the price was $250.

"'You may make out a bill for $500,' said the agent to me, and I, conversant with methods that obtained in his country, did as directed. Then a thought struck me.

"'What about water?' I suggested.

"'Water?' repeated the agent. 'I never thought of that.'

"'Of course they will need water for the fountain. How will they get it?'

"The agent said he did not know.

"'They will require water for the fountain,' I persisted. 'How far away from the general's place is the nearest water supply available?'

"The agent thought it over. Finally he said, 'I really don't believe there is any water nearer than seven miles.'

"'Then,' I suggested, 'you will need pipe.'

"'Yes,' he responded, 'we shall need pipe.'

"'Seven miles of pipe,' I continued.

"'Exactly,' he continued — 'seven miles.'

"'Any steamers running anywhere near the general's place?'

"'No.'

"'Or railroads?'

"'No.'

"'Then we shall have to saw the pipe into lengths that can be carried on muleback.'

"'Assuredly,' he said.

"And we did cut the whole seven miles of iron pipe into six foot lengths, and it made almost enough to fill a ship. The bill for the pipe was made out in the same way as that for the fountain, and the whole lot was shipped and the bill promptly paid. As a revolution broke out in that country soon afterward, I am inclined to think that that magnificent fountain and the seven miles of pipe that accompanied it are making junk to-day on the estate of the former dictator. But you can see that the agent used to get 'his'n' good and proper."

A Thoughtful Sentry.

When the sergeant of the guard came round on his visits the green sentry was nowhere to be seen. The sergeant was about to depart to make inquiries when there came a rustling noise from a heap of straw, and the sentry stood before him minus his boots and looking very sleepy. "Hello!" cried the sergeant. "Where were you when I came round just now?" "Marching round," was the sentry's reply, giving in tones of conscious virtue. "Marching round, were you? Why, you've got your boots off." "Yes, sergeant, I took 'em off so's I should not wake the 'osses."

Parnell and Thirteen.

Parnell was a believer in the thirteen superstition. There is a familiar story of his positively refusing during an election campaign with Tim Healy to occupy a bedroom numbered 13. While in Kilmainham there was submitted to him by his colleague the draft of a bill amending the Irish land act. On discovering that the clauses counted up to thirteen he threw down the manuscript with a gesture of terror and refused to have anything to do with it.

Modern Beauty.

A young man the other day said to his best girl:

"I visited that fashionable palmist this afternoon, and he told me I'd marry a blond."

The girl, who was very dark, said thoughtfully:

"Did he say when the marriage would take place?"

"Yes; in three months."

"Well, I can easily be a blond by that time, dear," said the girl with a shy smile.

Fish Surgery.

Although the fish doctor probably finds less demand for his services than the practitioner of any other branch of the medical profession, his duties are of a most important character, and his knowledge of the diseases and biology of the fish must be profound. Fish surgery is one of the least known of the various departments of surgical work. It requires a most delicate handling of instruments and a minute knowledge of the anatomy of the fish.

Two of a Kind.

"How did you ever come to marry, old man? Thought you'd determined to stay single?"

"I had, but I was introduced one day to a girl who had determined never to marry, and our thoughts seemed to harmonize so completely that—well, we married each other."

So Much For Mamma.

Papa—I hear you were a bad girl to-day and had to be whipped.

Small Daughter—Mamma is awful strict. If I'd 'a' known she used to be a schoolteacher I'd 'a' told you not to marry her.

THE AMERICAN PRIMARIES.

Mr. Taft cannot be elected. Mr. Roosevelt can be elected. Republicans want to nominate a man whom they can elect.

This argument fully accounts for what happened in the Massachusetts primaries. Since the election of 1910, in which the Republicans went down in defeat through a great section of the country, it has not seemed to them likely that they could re-elect Mr. Taft. The weakness of his candidacy in the popular primary states, like North Dakota, strengthened this impression.

Coupled to it has been the popular impression of the invincibility of Mr. Roosevelt, derived from the tremendous majorities which he polled in 1904, an impression not wholly dissipated by his defeat in New York in the person of Mr. Stimson in 1910. Everybody wearing a Republican label went down then, Mr. Stimson with a less heavy thud, in proportion to the size and Democratic record of New York, than almost anybody else of his party in the North.

The great majority of Republicans primarily desire the success of their party. They prefer to have Roosevelt in the White House and postoffices manned by Republicans, to having Taft nominated in response to sentiment and usage, and leave the Democrats to divide the loaves and fishes the next four years. This is the consideration that swelled Roosevelt's totals. This is the arrow that killed Cock Robin. Seasoned party leaders, moved by a high sense of propriety, might have preferred to incur the larger risks of defeat under Taft's banner, but the electorate, less pityingly, warmed up toward the more probable winner in November.

THE BEST WAY A JOINT AGREEMENT.

Chairman Alexander of the House Committee on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries seems to have the right idea of the course for the U. S. government to pursue in the wake of the Titanic disaster. His resolution for a prompt international conference for the strengthening and unification of rules relative to safety at sea should be approved by Congress. Laws or regulations of the United States alone can be of small avail, for the Stars and Stripes float over only six of the two or three hundred passenger ships in the transatlantic service.

American steamers are more numerous on the routes southward to the West Indies, the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico, but these ships seldom carry more than 400 souls all told. The crowded craft are those of transoceanic service. Foreign governments would be quick to resent American laws or rules demanding more lifeboats on foreign transatlantic ships, as increasing the cost of construction, and maintenance in a business of which the United States has no appreciable share.

If the matter of improved safeguards is left to national initiative, the result is certain to be unsatisfactory. Great Britain, the principal maritime power, has not changed her lifeboat rules since 1894. These rules provide that there must be from two boats on a vessel of one hundred tons up to fourteen on a vessel of nine thousand tons, and that sixteen boats must be carried by a vessel of ten thousand tons or upward. Thus the Titanic strictly complied with the British Board of Trade requirements, with the very letter of the law.

The French maritime law is more exacting than that of Great Britain, and so, it is stated, is the law of Germany. But this increases the cost and lessens the earning power of German and French in competition with British ships. It is not merely just, but imperative, that such requirements should be international and uniform and that they should be fixed by the very highest standards, from which there could be no possible departure.

The United States has a perfect right to take the first step toward an international agreement, for our own maritime laws and regulations as a whole are probably the most exacting of all. But even these are not adequate to meet all the obligations of humanity, of which the wreck of the Titanic is such a terrible reminder. An international conference of the best maritime experts of all countries should be called at once. Chairman Alexander's well-timed resolution should be given the right of way over all else in Washington.

MISSISSIPPI MAKES THOUSANDS HOMELESS

New Orleans, May 4.—Flood conditions in the Lower Mississippi valley continue to-day to grow worse. No one, not even those who have dealt with similar problems, will forecast the outcome of the passing of the greatest volume of water ever recorded in the great stream. At New Orleans to-day the former record was buried by almost a foot.

The water at Torras, La., is pouring through the levee crevasse with an ever-widening gap and another breach is threatened there.

Reports from the inundated section north of the New Roads are of a gloomy character. The flood water is travelling at a rapid rate toward the Atchafalay River and is nearing the main line of the Texas and Pacific Railroad.

A telephone message from Lettisworth early to-day said the water was deep and hundreds of persons in the surrounding country are marooned in their homes, in cotton gin houses and on housetops. Motor boats have been sent to Lettisworth for rescue work.

Hungry Refugees.

A special train arrived at New Roads last night with several hundred refugees from the deluged country. Most of them were negro women and children who were picked up all along the line of the river where they had taken refuge from the flood. Some of them had been without food and water since they were driven hurriedly from their cabins.

PETERBOROUGH TO GET EARLIER PAPERS

Peterborough, in the years gone by, has been rather side-tracked for papers in the early morning. The Peterborough Times has been the only paper to reach the residents of our city before the Toronto papers come. Beginning, this week, The Times will appear, just a little earlier, and not only just a little better, but a different paper. We will have a new heading, showing the Lift Lock, and the news columns will contain matter of interest never before shown in its columns.

Still this is not what this article started out to explain. What we began to show is

Earlier Papers Here.

A new C.P.R. train has been put on from Toronto, whereby the Toronto Mail, Globe and World will be delivered in the city at 10.30 a.m. instead of 11.34, as heretofore. Mr. Jas. Edgar, the Postmaster is pulling wires that will undoubtedly result in Peterborough getting its Toronto morning papers an hour earlier than heretofore.

In the meantime have the Morning Times on your breakfast table, even if porridge and bacon is served as early as 7.15 a.m.

Brownies are Local Champions.

The Brownies have captured the city basketball championship by defeating the Nemos in a good game by 25 points to 15. The checking was close and hard throughout and both teams showed good form, the shooting of Hanwell of the winners being a feature. Mr. J. J. Thompson refereed and the teams were as follows: Brownies—Hanwell, Nicholls, forwards, Dennie, centre; Darling, Irwin, backs. Nemos—Hill, Long, forwards; Gilbert centre; Rogers and Howden, backs.

An English Story Discounted.

With big "scare headings," comes the news from England that a colony of blackbirds had built nests in a coal car during the big strike in that country. Pshaw! Only a few months ago, a frame dwelling house was moved from its original location in this city, for a distance of about six blocks. During its removal those in charge of the work, found that some industrious living creatures had built nests and bred, mainly in the second or bedroom floor, to an estimated population of 173,819. They were not blackbirds, either!

DUNKELMAN PICKED GIBSON AS "SMITH"

Toronto, May 4.—The interview of Elt Dunkelman in the office of Inspector Duncan yesterday afternoon has furnished the authorities with some valuable evidence in the charge of murder and wounding which they have brought against Charles Gibson, following the death of Joseph Rosenthal. Gibson in company with four other young men, about his own age height, and something of the same appearance was taken into Inspector Duncan's office and Dunkelman was then asked if he could identify any of those as the man named Smith with whom he had dealings. After a slight hesitation he pointed to Gibson, said he was the man who left a note for him, and with whom he had dealings, believing him to be Smith. Dunkelman in the course of his statement corroborated the police theory that there were no other men with him at the time the assault was committed upon himself. He repeated his previous statements of the whole proceedings on the evening of The Good Friday.

Coined In Bedlam.

The phrase "to sham Abraham" was coined in Bedlam, or Bethlehem hospital, where there was at one time an Abraham ward, the inmates of which upon certain days were permitted to go out as licensed beggars on behalf of the hospital. These mendicant lunatics were known as "Abraham men," and their success in invoking the pity of the charitable was such that they had many unlicensed imitators, who, when discovered, were said "to have shammed Abraham."

Distance.

"The railroad business is pretty complicated."

"Yes," replied the traveling man. "I don't suppose I ever will be able to understand why two towns that look so close together on a railway map get so far apart when they come to measure up the distance with a mileage book."

Earliest Germ of Vitality.

The microscopic dot or earliest germ of vitality is the marvel of science today. Everything that lives, whether the giant oak or the monster animal, has each to begin its individual growth from this microscopic dot, which actually contains all the past story of the living growth and every part in miniature of its future frame.

Cheering Her Up.

"I just dropped in to cheer you up a little," she said to the sick friend.

"Thank you so much. When one is confined to the house with an attack of appendicitis she is always glad of a cheerful visitor."

"Yes, indeed. And so many people are dying of that nowadays."

Of the Same Mind.

The bishop grasped the purser's arm with a gentle ecclesiastical pressure. "I would explain to you," he began, "that I am very much pleased with my roommate. That is, I find him a gentleman in every respect and I wouldn't have you think—er—my coming to you with these valuables is—a—any reflection upon him, you know. His appearance is — er — in every way"—

"Oh, that's all right," interrupted the purser. "The gentleman has been to me with his own valuables, and he says the very same thing about you."

Elevated Headgear.

During the ceremonial dances the natives of Papua, New Guinea, wear probably the tallest hats in the world, a headdress varying from six feet to eight feet in height and most gorgeous in coloring. The framework is adorned with feathers, colored fibers and shells, beaks of hornbills, plumes of the birds of paradise and sometimes even with a boar's tusk. Some of these headdresses are heirlooms handed down from father to son. They would not sell them at any rate.

The Tarantula.

The sting of the tarantula (a name derived from Taranto, a town in Italy), the most venomous of spiders, was popularly supposed to produce a disease called tarantism, which could be cured only by music or dancing, and the dance which cured it was called tarantella. You can see the peasants dance the tarantella now, but without waiting for spider bites.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

160,000 VICTIMS.

U. S. War Department Has to Feed Mississippi Flood Sufferers.

Washington, May 2.—Food and shelter for 160,000 people probably will have to be provided by the War Department for another month as a result of the renewed flooding of Mississippi River territory.

As rapidly as possible the destitute are being turned over to local relief committees, but reports from the army engineers indicate that the daily average to be served with "plantation rations" by the commissary department continues to be about 160,000, and the cost is $10,000 a day.

Secretary Stimson estimates that additional appropriations of $500,000 for the commissary department and $150,000 for the quartermasters' department will be required to cover relief work expenses. To date the quartermasters have spent $277,179 for forage, tents and boats, while the commissaries have spent $236,000.

Torras, La., May 2.—Relief is being rushed to hundreds of marooned families in the flooded territory north of this place. Food depots have been fixed at points convenient for purposes of distribution.

Five thousand white persons along the Black River are in a desperate fix. The Government supplies received there are inadequate. Many families expecting the flood, built rafts, and when the water came they moved their household goods aboard. Horses, cows, pigs, chickens, dogs and cats are sharing these rafts with the farmers and their families. The rafts are anchored to trees, and that is the way they are living now.

Jerome to Oppose Thaw.

New York, May 2.—William Travers Jerome has been retained by Attorney-General Carmody to represent the people in opposition to the latest effort to obtain the release of Harry Thaw from Matteawan Asylum. As district attorney Mr. Jerome prosecuted Thaw in both his trials, and successfully fought the attempts to set the prisoner free.

A new move was made yesterday by Clarence J. Shearn, the leading counsel for Thaw, in a notice that a motion would be made that the testimony to be heard at White Plains should be before a jury, and not before Justice Keogh alone. Mr. Jerome will oppose this.

Washington and the Poacher.

Washington was a fine shot, and the waters of the Chesapeake abounded in canvasback and other ducks. Washington would not allow other people to bring down his birds. He learned that one poacher was filling his game bags at his expense. Washington determined to end his fun. Hearing a shot one day, he mounted his horse and rode in the direction of the sound. The poacher discovered his approach and, entering his canoe, pushed a few yards out into the river before the master of Mount Vernon came in view. When Washington, with anger in his eye, came in sight the poacher raised his gun, cocked it and took deliberate aim. Washington did not show the slightest fear. He walked into the water, seized the canoe and pulled it ashore. Taking the gun from the poacher, he gave him so severe a chastisement that he never again repeated his attempt upon Washington's birds.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, May 1.—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market, receipts for the week ending April 27, were 750 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 1375 hogs, and 2150 calves. The offerings on the market today for sale were 700 cattle, 300 sheep and lambs, 1430 hogs and 2300 calves.

Owing to the more liberal supply of cattle there was an easier undertone to the market, but prices showed no actual change as compared with those realized on Monday. The gathering of buyers was large. The trade in cows and bulls was more active than usual and the former brought from $5.75 to $6.50 and the latter from $5.25 to $6.75 per cwt.

The undertone to the market for hogs was strong, but as the supply was ample to fill all requirements prices were unchanged. An active trade was done with sales of selected lots at $9.50 to $9.75 per cwt., weighed off the cars.

Sheep were scarce and in demand at $6 to $6.50 per cwt. for ewes. The demand for lambs was good at $4 to $6 each. The trade in calves was active at prices ranging from $1.50 to $10 each as to size and quality.

The Bank of England has just dispensed with the services of the two detectives who have stood sentry at its front door for over a quarter of a century. During that period many have been their odd experiences, for there are many people at large who think they own the Bank of England or part of it, and they call periodically with the idea of making an inspection of the premises. Then there is the individual who would go up to the entry-box, tap the detective on the arm, and ask in an undertone "Which is the way to the cashier's desk? I want to change a check for a million pounds." Another would ask to be directed to the strong room, "where my large diamond collection is kept by order of His Majesty." Then there were the "claimants" — those who imagined they were heirs to [illegible]. Even visitors in rags would call and demand to be allowed to count over their securities!

Everyone complains that growth is very slow this spring.

The Lift Lock will probably open on Wednesday. Any way it will open this week.

The local pros are doing good work and will doubtless do their share in bringing glory to Peterborough.

Some of our local farmers who have for years fought the potato bug, are now fearing the potato wart. This is an excrescence that sucks the good out of the tuber, leaving a useless empty skin.

Pigs and potatoes were the principal articles on Saturday's market.

The loss by fire in Peterborough, during the month of April amounted to $1230 as compared with $1587 in the same month last year.

Horsemen were very busy round the Windsor Hotel on Saturday. There must have been $10,000 worth of horses in the stables of that caravansery.

ST. JOHN'S NOTICES.

Saturday, 9 a.m.—Boys' Choir practice.

Sunday—Rogation Sunday, 8.30 a.m.—Holy Communion. Special invitation to men.

It is a pleasure to notice the presence in the choir of Mr. James Brown and Mr. Chas. Seymour, who began their singing in St. John's choir as boy choristers. Mr. Jas. Brown sang Graniers "Hosanna," finely during the offertory at Evensong.

What is a Canadian Baby Worth ?

The Times yesterday was in receipt of a letter, presumably from an Englishman. That's not the point at issue. The letter asked the question, "What is a good Canadian baby, that will be reared to maturity, worth to the community ?"

In reply, whilst that young Canadian is in arms, or lisping its prattling baby words, to its parents, it is worth to them just about twice the whole of Gowganda, Porcupine, Nevada and all the rest of the sources of mineral wealth of the world. To get down to actual bard statistics, irrespective of paternal or material love, the average Canadian infant is worth a good $2100 to Canada.

Local P.O. Clerks Get More Pay.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., has done good service, not only for the county, but for the Post Office officials of Peterborough. The clerks of the local Post Office have received intimation from the Department in Ottawa, that their pay will be raised in the near future from ten to forty per cent.

Lecture Before Regiment Officers.

Last night Major H. V. Hordern, G. S.O., of the third divisional area, gave a most instructive lecture at the armouries to the officers of the 57th Regiment. This morning the Major will give an open-air demonstration before the officers.

Subscriptions to Titanic Fund.

The Times is in receipt of a letter from Ald. Gordon, requesting us to call attention to the fact that subscription lists, in aid of the Titanic sufferers, are in the local banks and newspaper offices. Unfortunately this commendable charity seems to have met with small response in the city. There is still time, however, to subscribe.

Died In Oregon.

The death is announced at Seuver, Oregon, of Mr. Jules Thurston, a former Lindsay miller and lumberman. Mr. Thurston had many friends in this city. He built a shingle mill at Sturgeon Point, which was destroyed by fire. The deceased married Miss Elizabeth Blanco, of Ennismore, by whom he had seven children, five of whom are now alive.

Big Year for Canoes.

Peterborough, as often noted in the Times, is possibly better known throughout the world, by her canoes, than by her lift lock or her factories. That is, judging by reports in the magazines, whether sporting or literary. (Sporting magazines please pardon the unintentional bull.) This year, it seems that the city will send abroad more canoes than in any former year.

Local Astronomers Meet.

Last night, Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, the indefatigable and talented astronomer of Springville, gave an address at the Collegiate Institute. His subject was "The Planets as Seen Through a Modern Telescope." During the evening, several questions, asked by members of the audience, were answered by the speaker. Dr. Marsh had a dozen new slides right from Lick Observatory, taken through their big telescope.

Improvements to Police Station.

A three months' long needed job is to be begun in a few days on the present police station hall. During progress of repairs, the work of the police department will be carried on in the vacant premises opposite the City Clerk's office, and adjacent to the Bank of Montreal. A number of improvisional "cages" will be placed in the temporary quarters, for the confinement of prisoners. The entrance will be from Water street.

Bermuda at Mark Street.

Last night Rev. H. M. Manning gave a most interesting address in Mark Street Church. The subject of his remarks was his recent trip to Bermuda. Rev. Mr. Manning gave a graphic and absorbing account of the scenery and life in that land of perennial summer. The address was given under auspices of the Epworth League and the choir. After the conclusion of Mr. Manning's address, the ladies served dainty refreshments.

Sisson Gets Nine Months.

The man, John Sisson, of Port Hope, who was arrested in Lindsay, after leaving his infant child unburied in his woodshed, was tried, on the serious charge before Port Hope Police Magistrate. Sisson claimed he intended to bury the child but the ground was frozen too hard. Sisson tried to persuade His Worship that he had forgotten the matter of leaving the child's body in the back woodshed. He was sentenced to nine months at hard labor in the Central.

Dead for Want of Advertising.

The Stallion Show was not an overwhelming success. To make anything go, where the public's money and attendance is wanted a few dollars in advertising is absolutely necessary. John Gouillgalland may own a stallion he intends to show, and thinks, because his few immediate friends know such a show is on, that the public is wise to the exhibition. It would surprise John to learn how many people, without advertising, even knew he was alive, or that he was going to exhibit at the show or that such a show was to be held.

The Anti-Microbe Crusade.

The new Sanitary Inspector is certainly working along modern anti-cocci, or anti-germ theories. The farmers' wives bringing butter in, must not use a common (not used as to its value) fork or spoon for butter samplers. A Smith farmer's wife got around this septic difficulty by having individual pieces of wood on which to hand samples of her butter. The fork and spoon in common use, must not be used any more. How our grand-parents ever lived to 21 is a conundrum. Still the Inspector's theory is correct.

Light and Power Co. Wins Suit.

Yesterday afternoon a case was tried before His Honor Judge Huycke wherein F. L. Snelgrove, a George street tobacconist was sued for $60.86, by the Peterborough Light and Power Co. The claim was made for power supplied defendant, for an illuminated sign. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the plaintiffs and Mr. G. N. Gordon for the defendant. His Honor after hearing the evidence on both sides, gave judgment for Peterborough Light and Power Co., for $40.00.

Rev. Dr. Ross at St. Andrew's.

Last night the anniversary service in connection with St. Andrew's Church was brought to a fitting and most enjoyable climax. As noted in yesterday's issue, Rev. James Ross, D.D., of London, was the special preacher in that church on Sunday. Last night, this eloquent Divine gave an eloquent address on Scottish life and character. The Rev. gentleman's speech was an historic document, but at the same time seasoned with wit and humor. A general social evening was spent, the ladies supplying a choice assortment of appetizing viands.

Coroner Greer Denies Rumor.

There seems to be a whole lot of unfounded excitement over the sad drowning accident, at Baxter's Creek whereby James Peters, assistant fishery inspector lost his life. The gossip even has gone the length of saying that an inquest will be asked for. The Times last night called up Coroner Dr. Greer and asked his opinion. Dr. Greer replied that he had thoroughly investigated the case and could find no reason for putting the county to a big expense. If the friends or relatives can produce the slightest evidence to show foul play, an inquest will at once be inaugurated.

Saskatoon Property for Sale.

Mr. O. G. Hale, representing Messrs. Walsh Land Co., Saskatoon, Sask., with head offices in Winnipeg, is in the city, with offices at 332 George street, next door to the G.T. R. up-town office. Mr. Hale has great faith in the future of Saskatoon. He spent six years in that city and vicinity. The Saskatoon property Mr. Hale is offering for sale, on reasonable terms, is situated right in the city limits. Mr. Hale is a breezy young westerner who evidently has faith in his proposition, the kind of man who helps to build up the west. Mr. and Mrs. Hale are making their local home at the Oriental hotel.

How To Settle the Dog Question.

There is an assessor in a neighboring county that is certainly doing business with a proper spirit. When he goes out to assess and three or four dogs meet him at the gate, he proceeds calmly to the proprietor of the farm, makes his assessment and asks how many dogs he has. If the proprietor says he has none, and that a few dogs just hang around the place Mr. Assessor just pulls out a revolver and speedily despatches the canines in sight. He says he may not be appointed assessor again, but he is going to get the dog tax of the town while he is on the job. There should be more assessors of this kind in every county.—Midland Free Press.

Big Change in Local People.

Yesterday afternoon as a Times representative walked up George street with one of the oldest and best known citizens of Peterborough, the latter remarked "I have travelled in a good many countries. Never though have I seen any town or city in which there has been such a marked change in the personnel of its people as is observable in Peterborough. Twenty years ago, I knew, at least, three out of five, if not four out of five, of the people I met on the streets. To-day I do not recognize one out of ten." This well known citizen seemed quite hurt that the younger generation have laid aside swaddling clothes, and that Peterborough's factories bring in a lot of strangers.

A Large Contribution.

Eugene R. Cox, of the Christian Science committee on application for the State of New York, with office at No. 1 Madison avenue, on April 5th forwarded to Jacob H. Schiff, treasurer of the China Famine Fund, a cheque for $2, 93.43, the proceeds of a collection taken up in the twelve Christian Science churches and societies in Greater New York. The largest contribution to the fund was made by First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Brooklyn, which is constructing a new church edifice at New York avenue and Dear street. Previous to the taking of the collection the following notice had been read in all the churches: "In time of wide-spread disaster, the great heart of humanity instinctively turns to thoughts of succor and relief. We to whom the true brotherhood of man is revealed should be among the first to manifest our recognition of such brotherhood, and because of the amplitude of our spiritual blessings give generous of material means in time of need. In a large district of China three million human beings are on the verge of starvation, because of the failure of crops. Prompt action is necessary by the world in order to alleviate the trying conditions of this famine. No people should respond more promptly than Christian Scientists whose wealth of love can flash to the antipodes as quickly as to our next-door neighbor."—Extract from New York (N.Y.) Herald.

COUNCIL BORROWING TROUBLE SAYS BOARD OF EDUCATION

Will Not Ask for More Money For New Schools---The Board Will Keep Within Their Original Estimates

The Board of Education met in regular monthly session last night. There were present Chairman John Crane, B. F. Ackerman, Col. Miller, R. Fair, Dr. Burnham, T. H. Adams, Dr. Morrison, F. M. Hays and W. H. Hill.

School Inspector Mr. Albert Leake, reported favorably on the manual training and domestic science departments of the public schools. He, however, called for several improvements and the acquisition of certain supplies. The report was referred to the Property and Supervision Committees.

Miss Mabel Runey and Miss Hislop, of the Public School staff, and Mr. A. W. Hutchinson, science master in the Collegiate Institute, resigned their positions, which resignations were accepted.

Miss Weir, teacher of moderns in the Collegiate Institute, asked for leave of absence without salary during September and October, and suggested that she be permitted to secure her own substitute. Miss Weir's request was granted.

Early Closing of Collegiate

Owing to the earlier date set for the Collegiate Institute examinations the institute will close on June 10th this year for the summer vacation.

Supplies Wanted.

Dr. Morrison—Mr. T. H. Adams.—That the supervision committee advertise for text books and supplies for the public schools, and also supplies for the Collegiate Institute.—Carried.

Industrial Committee.

Mr. T. H. Adams moved, seconded by Dr. Morrison, that the following gentlemen compose the Industrial Committee: Messrs. E. G. Patterson, Robert Anson, D. Spence, T. W. G. Denne, Thos. Barrie, John Corkery, and School Trustees, V. Eastwood, L. M. Hay, B. F. Ackerman, T. H. Adams, John Crane and Col. Miller.—Carried.

Will Not Ask for More Money

Col. Miller expressed his surprise that, judging from the action of the City Fathers on Monday night, the School Board either had asked or contemplated asking from the City Council an additional appropriation, with which to erect the two new ward schools. The Colonel asked for some light on this matter. Dr. Morrison, chairman of the Building Committee, replied that there was no intention of permitting the erection of the new East and West City schools to exceed the $85,000 originally estimated. The tenders to hand for construction work on the new East City School are so high that the Committee has decided to do considerable paring to keep within their appropriation. They had no intention whatever, of going back to the City Council for more money for these buildings.

Empire Day.

The Board will arrange for a fitting celebration of Empire Day, May 23rd, by City school children.

Report of Supervision Committee.

Dr. Morrison submitted the following:

"Gentlemen—Regarding the establishment of Evening Industrial Classes, the consideration of which was referred to your committee, we beg to recommend that an Industrial Committee be appointed by the Board to go into the matter thoroughly, obtain all possible information and decide on some definite scheme for the introduction of such classes."

The report was adopted.

Report of Property Committee.

Col. Miller submitted the following:

"Gentlemen.—As authorized, your committee advertised for tenders for the fuel required for the coming year and recommend that no action be taken at the present time.

Regarding the communication from Mr. C. A. J. Duranceau, your Committee recommend that Mr. Duranceau be charged with a work risk at the old Collegiate Institute building for one month only in connection with his contract, and that the Treasurer be authorized to refund the sum of $10.00. All of which is respectfully submitted."

The report was adopted.

JUDGE FITZPATRICK HOLDS MARRIAGE DECISION OVER

Thinks In Inadvisable to Proceed Until Privy Council Has Decided the Pending Appeal

Ottawa, Ont., May 7.—The Supreme Court of Canada declines to hear the reference made to it by the Governor-General-in-Council in regard to the power of the Dominion Parliament to pass a general marriage law until the judicial Committee of the Privy Council has decided the pending appeal in the Companies' case, which will decide the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to hear stated cases.

There was a crowded courtroom in anticipation of the argument being heard, two ladies being amongst the interested spectators. There was also a formidable array of counsel.

Ontario Backs Federal Power.

Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., and Eugene Lafleur, K.C., appeared on behalf of the Dominion Government in support of the Dominion to pass the bill introduced by E. A. Lancaster, M.P., for Lincoln, whilst Edward Bailey, K.C., appeared on behalf of the Government of Ontario in support of the right of Parliament to legislate.

Quebec Contests It.

I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., and P. B. Mignault, K.C., appeared as opposing the right of Parliament to pass such legislation, being so appointed by the Dominion Government in order that both sides might be argued, whilst R. C. Smith, K.C., and Aime Geoffrion, K.C., appeared on behalf of the Quebec Government to ask that the argument be not proceeded with on the ground that the Supreme Court had not the requisite jurisdiction.

Immediately after the delivery of judgments, the chief justice, Sir Chas Fitzpatrick, addressing Mr. Smith, said that in view of the fact that the question of jurisdiction was to be raised by the Province of Quebec and in view of the fact that a similar question was now awaiting the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council the Court had come to the conclusion not to hear the reference at the present time. But realizing the importance of the case, and appreciating the anxiety of the Government to have the question disposed of as rapidly as possible, they had decided to keep the case on the list, so that if the other case were disposed of by the Judicial Committee during the present term the argument could proceed. Their Lordships would also be ready to hear argument at any time which might be convenient, after the present term, so soon as the Judicial Committee had given its decision in the other case, without, however, infringing upon the mid-summer vacation.

Court Room Emptied

This ended the matter for the present and the court room speedily emptied, leaving their lordships and counsel to deal with four election appeals from the Province of Quebec.

The general belief in legal circles is that the case is not likely to be reached until the autumn term of the Supreme Court, but it is evident that their lordships are ready to go ahead just as soon as the judgment of the Privy Council in the other case is rendered, and that may be any day now. But some time will have to elapse after the delivery of that judgment, owing to the necessity of the Supreme Court being possessed of the official text of the judgment.

THE TIMES IMPROVED

This issue of The Times comes out under a new heading. With its proverbial interest in Peterborough's progress and advertisement abroad, we have included a cut of the Lift Lock in our front page head line. We propose to make a number of improvements in the paper, several of which are in evidence in this issue. We have been enabled to accomplish this through the support and patronage of our many friends in the City, County, and surrounding district. Our purpose is to improve the journal and build up a morning newspaper that will be eagerly looked for throughout a large part of Central and Eastern Ontario. We believe we can do this with the help of those who endorse the principles we have steadfastly maintained. We would call the special attention of the public to the "Want" page. Our intention is, in future, to make this page a feature of the paper. This will afford an easy and inexpensive means, by which employers may secure help, and the unemployed find work. It also provides opportunity for those having property or articles for sale, private boarding, etc., etc.

The Times is the only newspaper that reaches residents along the rural mail routes on the day of publication, and we are pleased to say that this advantage has induced ninety per cent of the people served by the rural carriers subscribing for The Times. Such subscribers are the people who spend money with up-to-date advertisers.

CELEBRATE THE 24th MAY

Editor Morning Times

Sir, I see that the Dominion Government has, very wisely, in my humble opinion, decided that the 24th of May shall be observed as a public holiday. Now, Mr. Editor, why not turn back the wheels of time for say 20 years. Then, a public holiday in this city was observed with calithumpithians or physiques, the fire brigade used to turn out, the regiments turned out, in short, every one who had a distinctive uniform and a big lump of patriotism turned out to make a big day. Now, why not have such a day on the 24th? It would not put the city into the Backwoods class. Peterborough is large enough now to stand for such a celebration. Should such be inaugurated and properly advertised, we could get thousands of dollars from outside the city.

LOCAL HOTEL ACCOMMODATION.

Editor Morning Times

Sir, I was glad to see in your paper, that Mr. Geo. Graham had been given an extension of a year in his lease. Peterborough, for a city of 18,000 people is altogether inadequately supplied with hotel accommodation. It is all very well for those advocating local option, to sit in their cosy parlors or on their spacious verandahs and talk about the license question. What really affects Peterborough in this respect is, how shall we handle and accommodate the travelling public. Peterborough cannot afford to be side-tracked by the commercial travellers and tourists. We cannot, like the proverbial ostrich, stick our head in the sand and trust that luck or Providence will provide for such visitors. Whether local option carries or not, we must provide for the travelling public. Now, suppose Mr. Graham does not get an extension of that lease at the expiration of the year? What is this city going to do? Are we going to ask the Y.M.C.A. and churches to furnish accommodation for tourists? No Sir! I say, Peterborough citizens who have an interest in the city's future progress and growth, must wake up and act. I would suggest that a company be formed, to erect a hotel commensurate with our city's importance to replace the then defunct Oriental.

PICTURE SHOWS MUST BE SAFE

Overcrowding Not Allowed According to Law

LAW MUST BE ENFORCED

The Times Has Had Several Complaints Regarding One of the Local Picture Houses—Will Publish the Government Regulations Regarding These Places.

Monday evening we OR some time complaints have reached the Times regarding the safety of the local moving picture houses in case of fire. On were requested to go and see for ourselves the conditions at the Red Mill. Our reporter found the lobby in front of the main entrance, where the ticket office is situated, crowded with people, while a considerable number were on the sidewalk in front of the place. We understand the law is very stringent in regard to overcorwding in such places. Should a fire break out at such a time there would probably be a great loss of life. The Times feels it to be its duty, therefore, to call the attention of Chief Thompson to the matter. We should not forget the lesson of the Iroquois fire in Chicago, where hundreds lost their lives in a theatre conflagration. Should a fire occur in a moving picture show, it would in all probability break out in operating box, where the operator is employed, which is usually situated immediately over the main entrance. This might, and probably would, cut off the principal avenue of escape.

We have been requested to publish the Government regulations regarding moving picture houses. This will be done as soon as we get a copy of them from the Department in Toronto, which we expect will be in a few days.

QUEBEC AND FREE SPEECH

How Salvation Army is Being Treated in Montreal

LEADERS ARE ARRESTED

And Fined by French Roman Catholic Magistrate — Socialists are Permitted to Parade with Red Flags and Banners, While Salvation Army is Penalized.

Poor old Quebec! Because a corps of the Salvation Army paraded in its streets the officers were arrested, and fined by the magistrate. According to The Witness the Salvation Army has had a long uphill fight for the right to parade where others parade, and to preach the Gospel in the streets, and its victory on behalf of the freedom of the individual and of freedom of speech has been welcomed by all liberty loving people. The contest for free speech has been as long drawn out and is as noble a principle as the freedom of printing established by Cromwell. It is but thirty years ago in England that the Army established finally its right there by appeal to the higher courts of the case arising out of the trouble at Weston Super-Mare. In the United States the Army has frequently had trouble, and been suppressed by local authorities, though appeal to the higher courts has always resulted in giving them the fullest liberty, for the very first amendment to the constitution of the Republic made away back in 1791 said that 'Congress shall make no law" . . . prohibiting the free exercise of religion, or abridging the freedom of speech . . . or the right of the people peaceably to assemble.'

A Striking Contrast.

A splendid example of the liberty-accorded people to parade and speak in Canada was given on May Day in Montreal, when the Socialists, who would destroy our present system of government, paraded peacefully through Montreal, led by a girl dressed in red, carrying a red flag in protest against our national flag. They were accorded the right to parade and to preach their doctrine to all who would listen on a public square. To be sure the authorities of Montreal do not always recognize the liberty of free speech, though so far as the Salvation Army is concerned, they long ago won their liberty through a season of persecution. In Quebec alone of the cities of Canada has the Army now to meet attempts at official suppression. Quebec will come around; it is only a little slow in keeping up with the progress of the world. Possibly the police authorities in Quebec are not aware that in Catholic France the Salvation Army is allowed the liberty that they deny them. In Italy, the home of the Catholic Church, the Army is allowed very large liberty. Russia—Quebec and Russia does prohibit the Army, yet in Finland, despite the law of the empire against them, the Salvationists have found a strong foothold, for the local authorities have discovered that they have nothing to do with politics and give no trouble if given their way. The spirit of the age demands the freedom of speech and of public assembly both in politics and religion, and Quebec has misread the signs of the times if she believes she can stem the rising tide. Resistance can but end in defeat

SCHOOL TRUSTEES NOT IN FAVOR OF THE BI-LINGUAL SCHOOLS

Report of the Deputation to Annual Convention in Toronto of Educational Association

Mr. W. H. Hill submitted the following to the Board of Education last night:

Gentlemen:—

The fifty-first meeting of the Ontario Educational Association was held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, April 9th, 10th and 11th, in University College, Toronto.

The attendance was large and representative and much interest was manifested in every phase of educational work.

One of the most animated discussions that took place in the Trustee Department, arose from a paper read by Mr. J. R. Lumby of Fort William on "The Strangers Within Our Gates." This raised the question of bi-lingual schools and the consensus of opinion among the trustees was not favorable to their continuance.

The Trustee Department appointed a committee to embody the desires of the trustees in a recommendation to the Advisory Council, which they hoped would be adopted by the Legislature.

The President of the Association for 1912 is a trusttee, J. H. Laughton of Parkhill. In his address at the general meeting of the Association he urged upon the home and the church not to neglect their duties, and to foist them upon the teacher, as she already has about all she can successfully attend to.

Venerable Archdeacon Cody also addressed this meeting and he urged upon the teachers the necessity of fostering a national spirit in the minds of their pupils; to teach them to glory in being citizens of a world-wide empire; to instil in their minds not only its splendid past but its high destiny in the future, as well, and in everything to teach them to realize that a nation's best product is good men and good women.

In the High School Department one important matter dealt with was the raising of the matriculation standard.

A motion was passed approving of raising the standard of entrance to the University to Senior Matriculation. This will enable pass students to complete their University course in three years and honor students in four years.

This should not seriously affect the larger High Schools and Collegiate Institutes but it will make it difficult for the smaller schools to cover the work.

The Normal School course was discussed by the Training and Inspectors' Departments. A suggestion that the course be divided into two parts with a teaching interval between received favorable comment. This plan has been successfully adopted in Manitoba. The alternative, to make the course one of two years was also discussed.

The question of having Township Boards of Trustees instead of boards for each section, received considerable attention, and the Trustee Department passed a resolution that the Trustees of each Inspectorate hold an annual meeting at same time as the teachers hold their convention.

The rural school received chief attention in the Public School Department.

In spite of increase of salaries and of the work of the Normal Schools, the rural school is still largely in the hands of uncertificated teachers and the rural pupils are not receiving the opportunity of a fair education.

The present system has to some extent broken down and some remedy will have to be found. Dr. Colquhoun the Deputy Minister, advocated still further increase in salaries, and the establishment of a pension system.

Other remedies suggested were that teachers should become civil servants with fixed minimum and maximum salaries, according to certificate held, while still another remedy suggested was the establishment of consolidated schools. Such schools are working successfully in parts of the Maritime Provinces, and their adoption would appear to be necessary in part at least, of Ontario.

In urban public schools a strong plea was made for the extension of the course in Manual Training. It was pointed out by one of the Toronto teachers that 77 per cent of the pupils of that city never pass the Entrance Examinations and 75 per cent of the boys of the public schools enter the factory, shop or building work directly after leaving the public schools. He advocated that these pupils be given at least one half hour per day in manual training work and that greater attention be given to the subjects bearing upon practical work.

The meetings of the association would indicate that an increasing interest is being taken in all matters pertaining to Education.

All of which is respectfully submitted on behalf of the Deputation.

NO BOAT DRILL ON TITANIC BRITISH ENQUIRY RENEWED

London, May 7.—The apathy of the British public, which has been one of the features thus far of the Board of Trade enquiry into the Titanic disaster, was again demonstrated by the thin attendance when the Commissioners, under the Presidency of Lord Mersey resumed their investigation this morning.

Some members of the Parliament and attorneys applied to Lord Mersey to be permitted to represent the Engineers Union and certain of passengers on the Titanic. Lord Mersey acquiesced in some of the applications, but refused others on the ground that the presence of too many counsel threatened to involve the enquiry in inextricable confusion.

The first witness called to-day was George Beauchamp, a fireman on the Titanic, who testified:

"I did not know which was my boat station. I heard a list had been put up that morning, but I did not see it. None had been put up before."

Beauchamp said he could not tell whether the passengers were travelling third or first-class. There were no light, compass, provisions nor water in the boat. Everyone looked for them.

Beauchamp testified that he had had no boat drill on the Titanic, nor had he seen any. He had been ten years at sea, and on most of the liners on which he had been engaged there was a weekly boat drill. On board the New York, boat drill was held on Sundays.

Beauchamp made the statement that a stoker took charge of boat No. 13.

Speed of the Titanic.

Quartermaster Robert Hichens testified that he was on duty on the bridge of the Titanic at eight o'clock. Second-Officer Lightoller who was in charge, sent a message to the carpenter to look out for his fresh water, for it was going to freeze. He heard Lightoller through the telephone give an order to the men in the crows nest to keep a sharp lookout for ice and growlers.

Closely questioned by Sir Rufus Isaacs on the point of the speed of the Titanic, Hichens testified that the log book showed it to have been 45 knots in two hours and there was no change up to the time the Titanic struck the berg at 11.40.

MAY PROVE SERIOUS.

German Foothold in Columbia May Lead to Serious Trouble.

The seriousness of the conditions between America and Germany is enhanced by the fact that Germany has recently secured a solid foothold in Colombia. We are perhaps a little too prone to imagine that the German navy can have nothing but ourselves in view, and to forget what the upsetting of the Monroe doctrine might mean to Germany.

The writer evidently refers to the report that was current at the beginning of March that negotiations between the German Government and Colombia had resulted in an agreement which contemplated the transfer to Germany of certain harbors on the Atlantic coast of Colombia within striking distance of the Panama Canal. The report was afterward formally denied by Senor Roberto [illegible], Colombian Charge d'Affaires, at Washington.

THE OLD PLEA.

He "Didn't Know It Was Loaded."

The tea or coffee drinker seldom realizes that tea and coffee contains the drug, caffeine, a serious poison to the heart and nerves, causing many forms of disease, noticeably dyspepsia.

"I was a lover of coffee and used it for many years and did not realize the bad effects I was suffering from its use. (Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it, too, contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.)

"At first I was troubled with indigestion. I did not attribute the trouble to the use of coffee, but thought it arose from other causes. With these attacks I had sick headache, nausea and vomiting. Finally my stomach was in such a condition I could scarcely retain any food.

"I consulted a physician; was told all my troubles came from indigestion, but was not informed what caused the indigestion. I kept on with the coffee and kept on with the trouble, too, and my case continued to grow worse from year to year until it developed into chronic diarrhoea, nausea and severe attacks of vomiting. I could keep nothing on my stomach and became a mere shadow, reduced from 159 to 128 pounds.

"A specialist informed me I had a very severe case of catarrh of the stomach which had got so bad he could do nothing for me and I became convinced my days were numbered.

"Then I chanced to see an article setting forth the good qualities of Postum and explaining how coffee injures people, so I concluded to give Postum a trial. I soon saw the good effects—my headaches were less frequent nausea and vomiting only came on at long intervals and I was soon a changed man, feeling much better.

"Then I thought I could stand coffee again, but as soon as I tried it my old troubles returned and I again turned to Postum. Would you believe it, I did this three times before I had sense enough to quit coffee for good and keep on with the Postum. I am now a well man with no more headaches, sick stomach or vomiting and have already gained back to 147 pounds." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

TALK NO. 8.

We frequently hear from persons far and near that they would not be without the eye-glasses, which they had from the Optical Institute for several their price. One lady remarked "I wouldn't take $50.00 for my glasses," another, "They're worth ten times their price to me." A gentleman says "I wear mine constantly, scarcely know they are on, but have perfect sight far and near." They are worth all they cost me and I want another pair in case of accident." J. W. Browett, Optometrist Market Block.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS.

The man and his wife, or perhaps it might be more proper these days to say the lady and her husband, had been having one of those cute little breakfast table chats wherein husband and wife twit each other about their relatives and get very personal in their observations. These things happen in the best regulated families occasionally.

The argument had grown heated and had reached the point where the wife usually makes up her mind to go home to mother when the telephone bell rang. The wife answered the telephone. A sweet voice asked over the phone:

"Are you having trouble?"

"Well, of all things!" snapped the wife in reply. "What if we are? It's none of your business."

"Oh, yes, it is some of my business. Locating trouble is the only thing I do."

"Well, you've got a nerve," replied the wife. "The idea of butting into private family matters like that"—

"If you had reported your trouble to me I would have had it attended to. One of your neighbors reported it."

"One of the neighbors? Great Scott! Could the neighbors hear it?"

"Your neighbor reported it this morning."

"Well, I'd thank my neighbors to attend to their own affairs. My husband and I settle our difficulties without help from them or from you. Who are you anyway?"

"I am calling you from the trouble department of the telephone company. The neighbor reported that there was something wrong with your phone."

"For the love of Mike!" shrieked the wife as she dropped the telephone receiver and nearly fainted away. "Caught with the goods!"—Brooklyn Eagle.

DICKENS AS AN ACTOR.

When Boz Became a Writer the Stage Lost a Star.

No one ever paid a much higher tribute to Dickens than did Kate Field. She had the soul of a poet, a discriminating taste in art and literature and wide knowledge of the world. In mentality she w fully as strong as either of her brilliant brothers, David Dudley, Stephen J. or Cyrus W., and she certainly was as good if not a better judge of character.

She once wrote an appreciation of Dickens in which she declared the world lost its greatest actor when Boz became a writer. She gave a description of one of the Dickens readings in New York that was masterly in its vividness of detail. Such versatility as she credited Dickens with displaying as he assumed the character of first one and then another of his creations, the pathos, the humor, the tragedy he put into a tone; the marvelous way in which he stirred the emotions of old and young in his audience, would appear to be a bit extravagant were it not that now and then some old man, looked upon as stern and unemotional, tells with faltering voice how he stood in line all one night to buy a ticket to one of Boz's readings and then goes on to talk just about as Miss Field wrote, only before he gets far along in his story the tears are running down his wrinkled cheeks—his old heartstrings still attune to the magic of the master as he saw him.—New York Press.

An Old Time Feminine Fad.

A century or more ago women in England were as keen for fads as they are today. In the journal of the Hon. Mrs. Charles Calvert, edited by Mrs. Warrenne Blake, we find recorded on May 4, 1808: "I begin a new science today—shoemaking. It is all the fashion. I had a master with me for two hours, and I think I shall be able to make very nice shoes. It amuses and occupies me, which at present is very useful to me." Mrs. Calvert appears to have proved a very apt pupil, for the very next day appears the triumphant entry, "I have just finished a shoe by myself!"—London Spectator.

Old Furniture.

The ordinary furniture polish, very useful when the furniture is comparatively new or well preserved, will not always fill the bill. When furniture is old and badly scratched any desired shade of wood stain mixed with equal proportions of spirits of turpentine will bring back the original shade and newness. Be careful to apply the mixture very evenly, using preferably a flat bristle brush of rather small dimension.—National Magazine.

Had His Doubts.

"Is it really a pleasure for you to have me call?" inquired the young man.

"Why, yes," answered the girl in some confusion. "Why do you ask such a question?"

Nature.

Nature imitates herself. A grain thrown into good ground brings forth fruit. A principle thrown into a good mind brings forth fruit. Everything is created and conducted by the same Master—the root, the branch, the fruits, the principles, the consequences.—Pascal.

HEAD OFFICE AND FACTORY:—AURORA, ONTARIO

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS:

T. HERBERT LENNOX, K.C., M.P.P., President The T. Sisman Shoe Co., Ltd., President.
WALTER COLLIS, ESQ., Leather Manufacturer, Toronto, Ontario, Vice-President.
W. G. FISCHER, ESQ., Commission Leather Merchant, Toronto, Ontario, Secretary-Treasurer.
WM. J. BALDWIN, ESQ., Mayor of the Town of Aurora.
W. PERCY GILLESPIE, ESQ., W. Percy Gillespie & Co., Investment Brokers, Toronto, Ont.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot.

Estimated Net Profits:
18,000 ft. per day, one-half cent per foot, $90.00, with 300 working days per year ...	$27,000.00
Less business insurance and depreciation per year ...	7,000.00
	$20,000.00

Or approximately 20 per cent on entire issued capital.

The Company has purchased from Mr. Collis all his Tanning formula, and will issue in payment thereof One Hundred shares of fully paid up stock.

Of the total amount of shares offered for sale, the Directors have subscribed for more than one-third.

The terms are 25 per cent on application, 25 per cent in Thirty, 25 per cent in Sixty, and 25 per cent in Ninety days.

We reserve the right to allot only such applications, and for such amounts as may be approved the application lists may be closed without notice.

Prospectus and application forms sent on request.

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 366 George St. directly opposite Creaman's store.

Quarter acre lots touching townsite five hundred to six hundred each, quarter cash. Island Investment Company, Limited, Vancouver.

WHILE YOU WORK AND WHILE YOU sleep.—Wage earners make money only while they work. My lot buyers make money while they sleep. Those who have bought from me during the past four years have made by increasing value of lots, more than 90 per cent per annum on the amount invested. And they are worth from $200 to $1200 to-day, because of having wisely imposed a "must" upon themselves to save a little of what they earned. Come in and let us show you a very easy way to do the same. Gardens: I know one man who planted 1 acre of onions, and sold his crop for $900 cash. Was that not making money while he slept? We can supply a few acres ploughed to men who would wish to do likewise. Also a larger place with good buildings and a large poultry plant. Immediate possession. Decide at once, and call for particulars. T. Hurley, corner Stewart and Hunter streets.

WE CAN GIVE YOU ABSOLUTE PROOF that the lots we offer inside the town limits of Edson at $40 each, on easy terms, are a money-making investment, offered below their real value; Edson is a divisional point on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific with a monthly pay roll of $40,000; Edson is the actual distributing point for the Peace River country, the Brazeau coal fields, and for two hundred miles west on the Canadian Northern. Edson is little more than a year old, and already has more than twelve hundred permanent residents; it costs you one cent to obtain illustrated booklet, and the above mentioned proof, mail us a postcard to-day. WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 1912

THE PREMIER'S LONG DISTANCE SPEECH.

Premier, the Rt. Hon. Mr. Borden, addressed a meeting of the Associated Press in New York, per telephone, from Hot Springs, Va. President Taft also spoke from Boston, where he was finishing a day's whirlwind tour. Such an event, which has already become so common as to excite comparatively little interest and less wonder, is one to make us realize the immense advancement of the last few decades. It shows the power of mankind in overcoming and utilizing the forces inherent in nature. There is seemingly nothing that man cannot do in the realm of scientific skill. We have risen out of the valley of the primitive; we have clear vision of the promised land of human achievement.

But in even a more significant way is the address of Premier Borden far reaching in its scope and inference. It's subject matter revealed a knowledge and grasp of modern economic facts and forces that make very clear the fitness of the man whom we have chosen as our political leader in the era just ahead. And of all requirements, none is more imperatively necessary than this, that we may be rightly guided in the peculiarly difficult time of the present.

Commenting upon the achievements of human ingenuity and skill, as illustrated in the character of the event, he referred to its economic side. Two facts he made clear. First, it was abundantly apparent that by reason of the new forces of modern life there was a vast increase of wealth.

Premier Borden reveals a deeper insight in his treatment of the solution of the problem. He declared that "equality of result can never be expected or attained under an individualistic system of national organization." To realize this fact, is to be upon the highway toward the better land of justice and equality. For upon this fact, which he most wisely stated, hinges all wise reform.

STILL UNDER FOREIGN THUMBS.

President Yuan's first annual message, which takes the form of an address before the Advisory Council, is a virtual acknowledgment that the new Republic of China is a vassal of foreign capital. Whether or not the new suzerain will prove to be as despotic as the Manchu dynasty remains to be seen.

The imperative need of money, coupled with the failure of the Belgian loan, which might have relaxed the grip of the Six Powers, have forced China into the humiliating position of accepting foreign advisers and submitting to the dictates of the Western financiers. The advice may be excellent and the foreign-made rules for government may be wise and just, but this dulling of the edge of freedom in the first glory of independence is certain to prove tantalizing to the Chinese and may result in international complications.

President Yuan in his message shows the brightest side of the situation and attempts to win over the people to the understanding that the coming situation, though irksome, is inevitable and that the only avenue of escape is through a long period of peace and prosperity, during which the loan can be gradually paid back to the foreign capitalists. With the double object of economy and the discouraging of military ardor, the President urges the reduction of the army, and to secure a better feeling among all classes he is prepared to guarantee religious freedom.

In order to lighten the burden of the people President Yuan recommends proper surveys for lands, a new scale of taxation, a unified currency system and the standardization of weights and measures. For this work it would be necessary to employ foreign financial experts, President Yuan declares in his message. This last step will be undoubtedly necessary if China is to compete in trade with the rest of the world.

The President does not go into details in regard to the extent of foreign supervision over the customs duties and the general governmental policy, but this is certain to be considerable. It is hoped that the Chinese will submit amicably and bend all their efforts toward the early payment of the loan as the best way out of the disagreeable situation.

TOO MUCH POWER.

Reading between the lines of the measure entitled The Government of Ireland Bill, one cannot but think that there is not only a devolution but a prostration of British authority in that Ireland. The Act goes further than any ever yet considered by the Parliament of Great Britain. Canada is a self-governing country, but has no official representation in the government of England. Ireland will be practically as much self-governing, but will have a say in Imperial affairs. The Emerald Isle will have forty-two members in the British House of Commons, of whom one quarter will go from Ulster.

AVIATION.

The now popular sport of flying, which is daily gaining new devotees, will probably enlist the interest and enthusiasm of thousands as the result of the great international exhibition to be opened in New York this week by the Aero Club of America. The great development in aviation, to be illustrated at this exhibition, should make us "umble," for it was only sixteen years ago, in May, 1896, that the whole world was roaring with laughter at the first man who really succeeded in flying in a heavier-than-air machine. That man was Prof. Samuel Pierpont Langley, who, after years of study of the entire subject of aviation, built a model aerodrome, propelled by a steam engine. The machine flew only a dozen rods or so above the Potomac River near Washington, and then collapsed. Hundreds of other men had tried to fly, but Prof. Langley's machine was the first of its kind to succeed in leaving the earth, although its progress was brief. The sneers, jokes, laughter and incredulity that greeted Prof. Langley's attempt broke his heart and doubtless were instrumental in sending him to a premature grave. Langley was an educator and a scholar, and was long secretary of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington. Leading universities of America and England recognized that he was on the right track in his flying experiments and conferred honorary degrees upon him, while learned societies throughout the world followed his work with interest. Although the general public laughed at Langley, his ideas were an inspiration to others, and in 1903 Orville Wright flew 852 feet in a motor-driven biplane at Kitty Hawk, N. C., and Langley was more than justified. Less than two years later the Wrights had so perfected their machine as to fly twenty-four miles in thirty-eight minutes, and the sobered world began wagging its head wisely and saying, "Sure, Mike, I always knew those contraptions would deliver the goods." Other great flying feats followed thick and fast. In 1907, at Paris, Henry Farman flew 1,300 yards in a biplane of his own invention. In 1909 Louis Bleriot, in a Bleriot monoplane, flew across the English channel, thirty-two miles, in thirty-seven minutes. In 1908 Wilbur Wright set an altitude record of 362 feet, and by 1910 Louis Paulhan was able to ascend 4,165 feet. Two years ago this month Glenn Curtis set a record for sustained speed by flying from New York to Albany, 137 miles, in 152 minutes, with but one stop, and all the world gasped. The last two years have been marked by even greater feats, and, say the inventors, the end is not yet. Indeed, aviation as a science is just beginning.

ANAEMIA, BAD BLOOD, HEADACHES AND LASSITUDE VERY COMMON.

Mrs. Wilkinson's Letter Gives Advice that Every Mother Can Well Follow

From her home in Newton, where she resides with her large family Mrs Wilkinson writes: "For years I was pale, anaemic and lacking in vitality. I was a constant sufferer from indigestion, and the distress and pain it caused me, coupled with ever increasing anaemia, made me weaker day by day. Constant headaches, specks before the eyes, and attacks of dizziness made me feel as if life were not worth living. My constitution was completely undermined and the constant pallor and dullness in my eyes showed what a sick woman I was. I began to take Dr. Hamilton's pills and the improvement, although slow was sure.

"I gradually got back my strength and my appetite grew much stronger and I enjoyed my meals thoroughly. I felt happier and more contented, and the sickly pallor of my face was replaced by a bright, rosy color that proved that a strong medicine was at work. In a few months Dr. Hamilton's Pills brought me from a condition of deathly pallor to robust health."

You can obtain the same results by using Dr. Hamilton's Pills—beware of the substitutor that offers you anything except Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25 cents per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Editorial Notes

It would be preferable that Canadian public men did not make speeches in the United States on international relations that need so much subsequent explanation and denial of the versions thereof that appear in the press, especially in view of recent events on both sides of the line.

Those who deprecate the Taft letter expressing the opinion that Canada would become an adjunct of the United States under reciprocity, declare that it is only the views of one man. They overlook the fact that it was the view of the United States government in broaching the reciprocity idea, and of congress in practically unanimously endorsing the agreement.—Ottawa Citizen.

At last a man has come out, over his own signature, objecting to shorter hours. This is a Mr. H. R. Holmden, of Ottawa, a civil servant, who writes a very strong letter to the Ottawa Citizen, objecting to an agitation being made by the Civil Servants for shorter hours. He says, and very properly, that the Commission now sitting to consider such matters, should be left a free hand, and that the Civil Servants affected would commit an impertinence to interfere with the Commission's duties.

RUSE THAT FAILED.

Maryland Men Refused to Pay Fines To Witness an Execution.

Chambersburg, Pa., May 8.—Denis Crilley and John Dunn, of Hagerstown, Md., are disappointed because they cannot see William Reed hanged. They got intoxicated for the purpose, were arrested, refused to pay fines and were sent to jail, where they expected to see Reed put to death next Tuesday.

"After we landed in jail," said Crilley, "we found that the prisoners couldn't see the hanging. But we didn't give up, and got after the sheriff. He told us there was no use to talk, as he wouldn't permit us to witness the hanging. We begged hard but it was no use. That settled it. I sent for father, and he paid fines and costs for both of us, and we were released."

FATHERING FARMERS

Hundreds of Ready-Made Farms are Also to be Stocked.

The company intends to select 25 farms of 160 acres each, erect buildings, stock and plant the farm, providing even the pigs and chickens, and then put suitable men in charge either as joint owners or on fixed salaries.

When the farmer has demonstrated his ability to handle the farm, he will be permitted to purchase it with the equipment at the cost price to the company, on the instalment plan.

NO BY-ELECTIONS NOW

Ottawa, May 8.—It is expected that the bye-elections in the four ridings which are now open will not be held until fall just before the next sitting of Parliament. There are four seats open, Kootenay, Macdonald, South Simcoe and Richelieu. Kootenay and South Simcoe are expectid to go by acclamation to the Government.

SIKHS WILL APPEAL TO GREAT BRITAIN

Vancouver, May 7.—Hindus of Vancouver have gone over the head of the Dominion Government and have petitioned the secretary of state for India to set aside the order recently passed by Ottawa for the deportation of two Hindu women and their children who have been held by the authorities to be illegally in Canada. This action was taken at a mass meeting of Sikhs at the Sikh Temple, Second-avenue west. In the opinion of the Sikhs imperial unity is threatened by the action of Ottawa in ordering the enforcement of immigration laws.

This is how they put the matter in a cable which the mass meeting ordered despatched to the secretary of state for India, London, yesterday:

"Kahls Dewan and United India League, Vancouver, implore your office to stop deportation ordered by the Dominion Government of the Sikh ladies and their children under wrong interpretation of the immigration laws. This is a gross breach of imperial unity by an attack on the Sikh homes."

FEAR MASSACRE MANY TROOPS

Russia Realizes That Iron Hand has Ruled Too Long

IN SIBERIAN GOLD MINES

(Special to The Times.)

St. Petersburg, May 8.—The Russian government is making energetic efforts to get some news from the Lena Goldfields, fearing that the entire detachment of troops stationed there have been massacred by the workmen in revenge for the killing of 180 and wounding of 300 strikers there two weeks ago.

The goldfields are about 1,200 miles from Irkutsk, and it would be impossible to send reinforcements there for another month, owing to the condition of the roads. There are only 350 regular soldiers there, and more than 10,000 workmen, who have made threats of vengeance for the treatment of their comrades. Many of these men are political convicts who have been in the goldfields since the rising of seven years ago.

The subject is agitating the Duma and all parties who are coming up in the national elections this summer are taking the side of the workmen.

The government is in a state of distress, not only because of the fear of a massacre of the troops, but because the Lena tragedy has turned the light on its plans for locking up all dangerous characters before the campaign was well started. Troubles on a great scale like those which led to the general strike like 1905 are spreading all over the country.

The government's plan was to arrest secretly all the more active spirits in the factory colony around St. Petersburg and Moscow, and even in the more distant districts in northern Russia, just as soon as winter began to break up. The reason for this was the government's alleged belief that the working men of the country were preparing a great uprising to protect against the attempt by the Czar and the church to make capital of the centenary celebration of the failure of Napoleon's campaign.

The police, acting under the orders of the Department of the Interior, began to seize committees of the laboring men who were working to establish a combination of the trades unions in Russia, and this work is still going on, although not so extensively, the labor men having taken warning by the Lena shooting.

When the police agents arrested a committee at Lena a genuine war was precipitated. The local governor placed the troops at the disposal of the management of the goldfields, and when a delegation of the workmen went to the manager to ask why the committee had been arrested they were met with a hail of bullets.

More than 3,000 workers had accompanied the delegation, and volley after volley was poured into the crowd by the troops. The soldiers did not cease firing until their cartridge pouches were empty.

What has transpired there since can only be conjectured. The roads are in such shape as to be impassable, and will be at least for anothtr month.

By that time, it is feared, the work men will have found a way to kill every soldier at Lena.

WAKE UP

Why didn't you buy lots in Gladstone Heights when we advised you to?

As we predicted, big developments have taken place in this locality, and, as a natural consequence, the price of lots have advanced.

Lots have been selling very rapidly this last week back in Calgary. Every lot that was left on Monday, April 22nd, was advanced $35 each.

WHY? Because the Pioneer Traction Co. have bought 40 acres near Gladstone Heights on which they will proceed immediately to erect a plant costing in the neighborhood of $250,000. This plant will be in operation this coming fall, and will at the start employ from 300 to 400 hands, and will ultimately employ from 2000 to 3000 hands.

This is the biggest plant that has up-to-date announced its intention of locating in Calgary, outside of the C.P.R. shops.

Gladstone Heights at its advanced price, is by far the cheapest property on the market near this big plant, and we feel sure that the present prices will double in the next month.

The terms are exceptionally easy, being 1-5 down and 1-5 every three months until the whole is paid.

SOFT MUSIC BRINGS MILK

Said That Low, Soft, Waltzy Tune Soothes Cows

London, May 5.—It has been said fish sometimes will be lured into the net by the soft piping of the fishermen when all other baits have failed, but Mr. Josiah Grant, of Wisconsin, has come over to show how the cow can be prevailed upon to yield more milk by playing of music that sympathize with her poetic soul.

Mr. Josiah Grant is no dreamer He believes that most of the unfortunate cows that now give no milk can be cured with just the necessary sentimental music to calm their nerves and restore their placid temperament.

"It is no sentiment," said Mr. Josiah Grant to a correspondent to whom he was anxious to explain the object of his mission to England. "It is downright business. If I get British farmers to listen to me I mean to convince them."

He says he has already convinced some experts in the United States, and he wishes to carry his benefactions to the old country.

At milking time, according to Mr. Josiah Grant, the best music is a slow, soft tune which will soothe the troubled nerves of the cows. Young cows prefer light compositions. All cows like to hear a waltz. They revel in a waltz, but care must be taken that they do not dance. And the milk turns sour if they are treated to a vulgar music hall air.

The wedding march from "Lohengrin" has been found to have a good effect on many animals and to yield milk of a very superior rich quality. Harmoniums are, as a rule, safe to excite a yield of extra special, as they say, of the "limmonade" they make at Ballyhooly. But, mind you, no orchestras. A full brass band has been known to send the cows speeding across the meadows, with swirling tails and voices raised in loud protest, and all the milk scared out of them.

The great point Mr. Josiah Grant insists upon is that the cow is a very gentle, peace-loving animal. Act accordingly.

HE LOSES HIS TEMPER

The Proprietor of the Red Mill Undertakes to Bluff the Times—Makes Threats of What He Will Do If This Journal Dares to Say Anything About Overcrowding.

Yesterday the proprietor of the Red Mill called at The Times office, in a wrathy mood and undertook to teach us how to deal with things in general, and the Red Mill in particular. This gentleman, whose name, we believe, is Clayton, informed us that he had heard The Times was going to publish something about his theater. We admitted that we had seen people standing in the premises where the law forbids them, and that we intended to say so. He then threatened to bring the influence of the two evening papers to bear and "show us where we got off". He was told that The Times had no animus against the Red Mill. He was shown how if a panic started, with his lobby crowded, or with people standing behind the seats inside the place lives would be lost. He insisted that this was a matter for the Chief of Police, not for The Times. This is a subject that The Times respectfully claims as its own prerogative, a right to see that the public is safeguarded. As far as Mr. Clayton's threats as to what the evening papers may say, we have heard of the balloons that go up during the fall fairs and know what carries them skyward. At the same time the said Mr. Clayton made two distinct libellous charges against one of The Times' staff, in his anger, that the law courts may make him prove.

DARROW WILL FIGHT BATTLE

He Will Take Part in Defending Himself

A THREE MONTHS' TRIAL

Preparations for Opening of the Great Trial Now Almost Completed—The Case Exciting Great Interest.

(Special to the Times.)

Los Angeles, Cal., May 8.—Preparations for the trial of Clarence Darrow, indicted for alleged jury bribery in connection with the McNamara case, are about completed by the District Attorney.

The attendance of Attorney John E. Harrington and Mrs Ortie E. McManigal, both of Chicago, has been arrested, and Deputy-District Attorney Keetch is now in Chicago securing some despositions to be introduced at the Darrow trial in lieu of having the persons come out here merely to give brief testimony. Keetch is also attending to the cross examination of a number of character witnesses, whose testimony concerning the integrity of Darrow will be presented in documentary form.

Much of the evidence introduced against Bert H. Franklin, confessed briber and Darrow's former detective, will be introduced by the State in the forthcoming trial, which will open on the 15th inst, the day after the Presidential Preference Primary.

Franklin, who pleaded guilty to a charge similar to that preferred against Darrow will be the star witness for the prosecution, for it will be his testimony that will form the connecting link for the McNamara talesmen who swear they were approached with corrupt intent by Franklin and his employer.

Darrow On His Own Defence.

The defence, with its numerous attorneys, has been active for the past few weeks, and the various lawyers appear in a confident mood.

Darrow will personally engage in his own defence, according to conservative estimates. The trial will likely consume two months. Some of the lawyers believe it will take three months. Owing to the small size of the court room, it is not probable that many spectators will be admitted.

As in the McNamara case, only those with passes issued by Sheriff Hammell or well known attorneys will be permitted within the railing. Especial arrangements will be made this week for the newspaper reporters. Besides the local men who will handle the trial it is expected there will be a horde of correspondents, news bureau representatives, artists, and magazine writers in attendance.

MILLIONAIRE WAS HERE.

The Millionaire, Mr. Guggenheimer, Drowned on the Titanic, a Guest At Burleigh Hotel.

The millionaire, Mr. Guggenheimer, who left over $10,000,000 in charity, besides big bunches of money for his relatives, was a guest last summer at the Burleigh Falls Hotel. He motored out with four personal friends, and thoroughly enjoyed every moment that he spent on the rock bound caravansery so well managed by Mr. Darcey. As he was leaving he handed the porter of the hotel a $10 and a $5 bill, $15 altogether. Such tips are like angels' visits, few and far between.

MORMONS ARE AT WORK

Head of Dominion Police Knows of Nothing to Prevent Them.

Ottawa, May 8.—"I know of nothing to prevent their doing that," said Col. A. P. Sherwood, head of the Dominion Police Force, when asked was there any legal reasons why Mormon missionaries should not go from door to door canvassing for converts.

Col. Sherwood explained that this matter had not been specially drawn to the attention of the police, but so far as he knew there was nothing to prevent the Mormons or people of other denominations going from door to door and seeking to get converts if they make no appeals that are illegal.

Of course polygamy is strictly illegal, but the Mormon missionaries now both contend that polygamy has been abolished, and make no reference to it in making their house to house appeals.

Clergymen of different denominations were much interested in the announcement that a definite canvas is under way to get Mormon converts here. Of course the great majority of them are opposed to this.

So far as can be ascertained no Dominion Government officials have been asked to put a stop to the canvassing. In fact there has been nothing to indicate that anything illegal is being done.

MISS EDMANDS AT WORK

Former Fiancee of Pastor Richeson Forgetting Her Troubles in Charitable Work—Feels Her Position Most Keenly—She Has Suffered Much.

New York, May 7.—Miss Violet Edmands, who was engaged to marry the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson at the time of his arrest for the murder of Miss Avis Linnell, in Boston, has been in New York for some time, and is now working among the children of the lower East Side under the direction of the Episcopal city mission society.

Although Miss Edmands for a long time remained steadfast in her devotion to the suspected minister, her faith was ended by his own confession and she immediately sought seclusion.

Through friends arrangements were made for the young woman to come to this city and she now has charge of the kindergarten classes at St. Barnabas house at 306 Mulberry street and at God's Providence House at 330 Broome street. She is known at both places as Miss Edwards

To a reporter Miss Holkins is reported to have said with reference to Miss Edmands: "Miss Edmands has suffered much from her part in that terrible case. She is trying to forget it and wants rest and peace. She feels that in her present work she can do much good and can find something to do that will help her blot from her mind the memories of the last year."

ARREST OF PRIEST

Alleged to Have Been Soliciting Funds Under False Pretences.

Washington, D. C., May 8—Dominico J. Vassely, believed to be a Sicilian, and who claims to be a duly ordained priest of the Roman Catholic Church, spent his first day here behind prison bars at the Third Precinct Police Station.

He was arrested upon complaint of Rev. W. T. Russell, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, for alleged false pretences. Vassely was soliciting funds avowedly for the schools and hospitals of one of the smaller principalities of Asia Minor.

Several days ago he was in Cleveland, Ohio, soliciting funds, and the Catholic clergy of this city was notified when he left Cleveland for Washington.

A STORY OF KITCHENER.

The Disheveled Dervish Who Was Captured in the Desert.

The following incident, involving Kitchener's ability to disguise himself, was described by one who served with the Essex regiment in a campaign against the dervishes:

"I was acting corporal of the guard over a large number of 'gentlemen of the desert' whom we had taken prisoners. In the course of my rounds a captive within the tent drew my attention, and I was surprised to hear in good English the request:

"'Corporal I wish to get out of this.'

"I of course reported the occurrence to the sergeant of the guard, only to be met with the curt reply:

"'Let the fool stay where he is!'

"I continued my rounds and was again met with the request. Again I reported the matter, and this time the reply was as curt, but a bit stronger, so I went on my rounds again. As I passed the spot this time the voice from within said:

"'Say, corporal, you are of the Essex regiment?'

"I answered that I was, and the prisoner said:

"'Well, tell Mr. B. that I want to speak to him.'

"'What name?' I asked.

"'Kitchener!' came the reply, and I at once reported accordingly to the sergeant.

"He immediately made for the prisoners' quarters, and I shall never forget that meeting. The disheveled 'dervish' was in reality the Lord Kitchener that was to be, who had been out spying among the enemy and had apparently been taken prisoner by his own troops."—London Globe.

FAMOUS FEEDERS.

Peter the Great and Louis XIV. Had Fairly Good Appetites.

Louis XIV., le Grand Monarque, could wield a lusty knife at the banqueting board. It is related of this French ruler that "he would eat at a meal four platefuls of soup, a whole pheasant, a partridge, a plateful of salad, mutton hashed with garlic, two good sized slices of ham and a dish of pastry, finishing the repast with fruits and sweetmeats"—pretty fair for a king who, we are informed by one historian, dined in public, "and the privilege of seeing him eat was eagerly sought after." No admission was charged, as far as can be learned.

In the Bodleian library at Oxford there is preserved an innkeeper's bill for breakfast eaten at Godalming, Surrey, by Peter the Great. The czar and twenty companions managed to dispose of half a sheep, a quarter of a lamb, ten pullets, three ducks, twelve chickens, eighty-four eggs, three quarts of brandy and six quarts of mulled wine, with salad in proportion. For a little snack picked up at noon Peter and his merry crew got away with a sheep, five ribs of beef, three-quarters of a lamb, fourteen pullets, fourteen rabbits and a great quantity of brandy and wine. Peter's taste in tipple ran to brandy and hot pepper, a harmless decoction for a copper riveted throat and armor plate stomach.

His Title to Fame.

There is a big hearted man editing a paper in Iowa who ever tries to say something eulogistic about every citizen of his town both during the subject's life and at his death. On one occasion he was much perplexed to know what to say in the case of a man, a resident of the town for many years and an excellent citizen. For the life of him the editor could think of nothing that his friend had done to entitle him to distinction. The following was the one fact that the writer could produce from the recesses of his memory as a climax for the eulogy that appeared in the paper:

"Mr. Jones was once prominently mentioned for the nomination as alternate delegate for the annual conclave of the Order of the Sons of America."—Harper's Magazine.

Spider Tigers.

The lycosae are tigers among spiders, and when the eggs are inclosed in their sac they attach the precious parcel to the abdomen and carry it about with them. During the season of maternity they are exceedingly fierce and consider any evidence of curiosity on the part of an observer as a direct challenge to attack. When the young are hatched they swarm out over the mother, and she carries them about with her for several days. So voracious is their appetite that she frequently falls a victim to it, for, it is said, they have no compunction whatever in devouring her.

Curious Bread Law.

There is a provision in the British bread acts of 1822 and 1836, which are still in force, to the effect that "every person who shall make for sale or sell or expose for sale any bread made wholly or partially of peas or beans or potatoes or of any sort of corn or grain other than wheat shall cause all such bread to be marked with a large Roman 'M.'"

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Authorized Capital: $200.000

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realise that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

OUR BIG GAME.

Bret Harte's Explanation That Made the Matter Quite Clear.

Bret Harte, the whimsical and brilliant chronicler of Roaring Camp and Poker Flat, used to become weary to exasperation at the foolish admirers who could not separate him from his characters and who insisted on confounding their experiences and predilections with his own.

Since he wrote of pioneer mining camps in the early days of the gold fever, his characters were often heroic only in part. Indeed, they were quite as often rogues as heroes. As he obviously could not be identified with the rougher types among them, the favorite notion seemed to be that he was, or had been, a gentleman gambler. With that idea in mind a young Englishman in London once tried hard to get him to describe and explain poker, which he referred to as "your great American game." Mr. Harte conveniently misunderstood him.

"So you say 'great game' over here?" he inquired amiably. "In the United States, now, we call it 'big game'—grizzlies, catamounts, buffalo and bighorn—don't you know. But we don't chase them with pokers. No, no! They're abundant, but they don't often come into the houses, really. It's usually necessary to go outside with a gun."

At another time he learned that a certain noted hostess, whose invitation to dine he had just accepted, had been questioning one of his intimates to learn if it were true that he was a reformed gambler.

"Not reformed," declared Mr. Harte wearily. "Tell her I am beyond reformation. Tell her that I was my own model for the gambler Oakhurst and that the scene of his suicide is pure autobiography."—Youth's Companion.

FREAKS OF DYNAMITE.

One That Was Lucky For the Men Down in the Mine Shaft.

"Not long ago," said a Leadville mining man, "there occurred one of those freaks of dynamite in one of the deep shafts of the Carbonate camp that might not happen again in a thousand years.

"Two men at the bottom of a shaft had put in five four and one-half foot holes which were to be exploded with dynamite cartridges 1½ inches in diameter. As is usual in such cases, they gave the customary signals to the hoisting engineer and after lighting the fuse stepped on the bale of the bucket and started upward. When about ten feet from the bottom one of the men had an epileptic fit and toppled out. His partner tried to reach the bell cord to stop the bucket, but it was too late. The bell cord could be reached only from the lower part of the shaft. When the engineer saw only one man come through the collar of the shaft at the surface his face blanched.

"'Where's Jim?' he asked excitedly.

"Quickly the miner related the circumstances and exhibited his hand, bloody from contact with the sharp rock in an effort to reach the bell cord before the bucket entered the timbering. The men, their hearts beating wildly, listened in suspense for the five explosions of dynamite that would tear their unfortunate comrade to pieces. They heard five faint reports, one after the other. They were simply the detonating caps of the cartridges. Every one of the charges of dynamite had missed fire—failed to explode. I have known of one or even three shots out of five missing, but I don't believe there is another case on record where five missed as providentially as in this case."—Exchange.

A Musical Rebuke.

As to the possibility of humor in music the London Telegraph says: "If composers and performers had more of the sense of humor music's appeal would be immensely wider. The truth is that musical performers are far too apt to take themselves too seriously." The solemn attitude of some musicians toward their art was humorously rebuked recently by a well known New York pianist, who remarked to his gifted wife, also a pianist, at the conclusion of a performance by the latter: "My dear, don't look so doleful! Music isn't a funeral; music is a joke!"

SAVED BY HIS BOOTS.

The Way a Writer Dodged Death in the French Revolution.

In the French revolution a feuilletonist named Schlaberndorf, who possessed considerable ability as a writer, by heartily espousing the cause of the Girondists in all that emanated from his pen rendered himself obnoxious to Robespierre and at the dictation of that fierce leader was incarcerated. When the death cart one morning came to the prison for its load of those that were that day to be butchered Schlaberndorf's name was on the list of the condemned. The jailer informed him that such was the case, and the writer dressed himself for his last ride very nonchalantly and—he was extremely fastidious as to his personal appearance—with great care. His boots, however, he could not find. Here, there, everywhere, assisted by his jailer, he looked for them to no avail.

"I am quite willing to be executed," said he to the jailer after their fruitless search, "but really I should be ashamed to go to the guillotine without my boots. Nor do I wish to detain this execution party," he added, smiling grimly. "Will it make any difference if my execution is deferred until tomorrow? By that time I shall probably succeed in finding my boots."

"I don't know that it will matter particularly when you are guillotined," responded the functionary, between whom and Schlaberndorf there had existed a sort of friendship. "Suppose we call it tomorrow, then?"

"All right." And the jailer allowed Schlaberndorf to remain, not unwillingly, as, owing to his universal good humor, he was especially liked by all the jail attendants.

The following morning when the cart drew up before the prison door for its batch of victims Schlaberndorf, dressed in his best, including the boots, that had been found, stood waiting the summons of the jailer to take his place therein. Meantime, however, a new jailer had taken the place of the old one, the latter himself having suddenly been displaced by reason of suspected disloyalty to the revolutionists, and Schlaberndorf's name was not called that morning. Nor was it called the next morning nor the morning after that nor, indeed, ever again. It was believed by all outside of his friends in the jail that he had perished on the morning originally set for him. He remained in prison until the sway of Robespierre had ended. Then he regained his liberty, as did the rest of those prisoners whose heads had not fallen beneath the bloodstained ax.—New York Press.

Twelfth Century Skating.

Skating must have been a difficult art before the introduction of steel blades, yet Londoners used to go in for it as early as the twelfth century. Fitzstephen in his "Description of London," published in 1180, records that "when the great fenne or moore (which watereth the walls of the citie on the north side) is frozen many young men play on the yce; * * * some striding as wide as they may doe slide swiftlie; some tye bones to their feete and under their heeles, and shoving themselves with a little picked staffe do slide as swiftlie as a bird flyeth in the aire or an arrow out of a crossbow."

OLD RUSSIAN PROVERB.

Born of One of the Most Tragic Episodes In Muscovite History.

The Russian peasant has a saying which invariably puzzles the foreigner, "Too polite and die like Bekovitch."

In the early spring of 1717 Prince Bekovitch Cheraski led an armed expedition consisting of 4,000 infantry and 2,000 cavalry into the then almost unknown interior of south central Asia.

His ostensible object was to open up commercial relations with the khans of Khiva and Bokhara, his real one to see if it were possible to invade India from the north.

The prince, with whom were many officers of the imperial bodyguard, a brilliant company, marched his men across the arid steppes with difficulty and on Aug. 15 halted some eighty miles from the city of Khiva.

The Khivans, ignoring his professions of friendship, attacked in force, but were easily defeated by the better armed and better disciplined soldiers of the czar.

Their khan thereupon resorted to diplomacy. He visited the Russian camp in state, explained that the attack delivered by his people was all a mistake and invited Prince Bekovitch and his principal officers to visit his capital as his guests.

Two days later, at a grand entertainment, the khan toasted his "friends the Russians" and vowed eternal friendship. He also took the opportunity of requesting Prince Bekovitch to divide his army into small detachments for entertainment in the surrounding villages, regretting the inability of his capital to entertain so many guests.

The Russian commander politely agreed to the politely preferred request, the Russian force was broken up, and the khan laughed sardonically.

His turn had come. Early next day he killed Bekovitch and forwarded his head as a gift to the khan of Bokhara. Then he annihilated the Russian army.

WHERE CUPID REIGNS.

Love Making Seems to Be a Sort of Mania In Spain.

Writes one who has traveled much in Spain: "As the majority of Andalusian girls are engaged at the age of seventeen, the senoritas do not go to many dances, for a Spaniard would as soon allow his fiancee to dance with another man as he would let her wear a harem skirt or ride a bicycle. At their parties Spanish girls get unbounded admiration, and a senor who had reached the age of nineteen and talked to a girl without trying to make love to her would be considered gauche in the extreme. The guests are given nothing to eat on these festive occasions, glasses of cold water being simply handed round when they are leaving.

"Love is an all absorbing topic in this amorous land of orange flowers and revolutions. 'In Spain we do not talk of money; we talk of love,' a Spaniard once said to me. He was right, for love is the beginning and end of every Spaniard's thoughts. On the feast days the young men play no games, preferring to stand about and see the girls pass, and in every daily newspaper you will read of duels fought for some fair senorita's favors.

"The typical senor falls in love fifty times a year with a newness and a passion that has in it something of molten lava and is about as durable. A pair of laughing eyes once seen at a window, a glimpse of a pretty face in the street, and he counts his world well lost. Spain is the most marrying country in Europe."—Chicago News.

Snuff as an Eye Opener.

Snuff was once used as an eye liniment. "The Compleat Housewife, or Accomplished Gentlewoman's Companion," which had run into sixteen editions by 1758, extols its virtues. Accomplished gentlewomen who find their sight failing with advancing years are advised to rub "the right sort of Portugal snuff into the eyes night and morning and take it also through the nose." This treatment, it is asserted, "cured Sir Edward Seymour, Sir John Houblon and Judge Ayres so that they could read without spectacles after they had used them many years."

The Opal, Child of Love.

A sunbeam lingered under a leaf in the forest at sunset, loath to leave so fair a spot, until the moon suddenly rose. Enraptured with the shimmering beauty of a moonbeam, he stood entranced and trembling and could not go. In ecstasy they met and kissed. The sun sank and left him in her arms. The opal is the child of their love. In its fair face are forever mingled the silver of the rising moon and the glory of the sunset.—Anonymous.

The Bride's Pie.

The "wedding cake" of today was formerly called the "bride pie" and in some regions was regarded as so essential an adjunct to the marriage celebration that there was no prospect of happiness without it. It was always circular in shape, covered with a strong crust and garnished with sweetmeats. It was the proper thing for the bridegroom to wait on the bride in serving the cake; hence the term "bridegroom."

Not News to Him.

"Oh, my boy, my boy! When I was your age I had never seen the inside of a theater, I had never tasted a cocktail, and I had never lost money on a bet of any kind."

"I know, dad. Grandmother says you were the runt of the family and always very backward."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Gravity.

A precocious child who had been attending one of the public kindergartens fell from a ladder. Her mother caught her up from the ground in terror, exclaiming:

"Oh, darling, how did you fall?"

"Vertically," replied the child without a second's hesitation.—Satire.

PAYING THE DUTY.

Custom House Officials Have Some Queer Experiences.

PASSING A SEALSKIN COAT.

The Way the Matter Was Fixed Up With an Appraiser and the Surprise That Awaited the Owner—A Bride, a Ring, a Husband and a Bluff.

The general impression is that the life of a customs inspector is a very dull routine of hardship, but such is not always the case.

The average person believes there is a little romance about the life and unquestionably the tang of the sea, but it almost never occurs to him that it is one of the funniest businesses in the world. The element of humor never enters into the general appreciation of the customs man, but it exists nevertheless.

There is a deputy collector now in the custom house of New York whose experiences in several years are really humorous. He is a grave, solemn looking man, thus bearing out the traditions, but that does not prevent him from enjoying the odd incidents that bob up in his line of duty. Speaking of them, he said:

"I had an odd experience the other day. A young man from an office in Wall street had gone to Europe to be married. In London he bought his wife a ring. He had put it in his declaration at a value of $1,000. He brought his bride to me, and she held out her pretty little pink hand that I might examine the ring. It flashed and sparkled beautifully, but the flashes and sparkles didn't seem quite right, so I asked to be allowed to examine it more carefully. The bride blushingly pulled the ring off and handed it to me. I showed it to an expert appraiser, who promptly declared that it was a fake piece of jewelry worth about $10.

"I sympathized with the young man, and when I got a chance I told him the truth. 'Oh, yes,' he replied, 'I know. You see, I didn't have much money with me, so I bought this for £1 6s., but I had to ring in a bluff on my wife. Don't give me away.' The poor fellow was willing to pay several times the value of the ring to make his bluff good, but we fixed it up for him without his bride knowing the truth.

"Another laughable experience, but more serious for the passenger, happened not long ago. When I boarded a big steamship from Europe I was approached by a man who introduced himself as one who had formerly been collector of one of the most important western ports. I knew him very well by reputation. He was returning from abroad with his family. He explained that he was very wealthy and did not want to evade paying all the duty necessary, but he confided in me that he had a sealskin coat, bought in Paris for his wife, which he had not included in his declaration, knowing that sealskins could not be imported. Nevertheless, just because we were both members of the same fraternity, he wanted to know if there was not some way in which he could get the coat into the country.

"I would have been glad to help him, but didn't see how it could be done. However, I told him I would put the question up to the appraiser at the pier and if the matter could be arranged I would fix it up. The appraiser looked the coat over and told me to put it on the declaration as an imitation sealskin valued at $75. The western man was delighted.

"'That's what I call clever,' he said.

"A few days later I got a letter from this man asking me to call upon him at one of the most fashionable uptown hotels. I went to see him and had luncheon with him and his family. When luncheon was over he made a little golden cone on the table. It consisted of a twenty dollar gold piece, a ten, a five, a three, a two and a half and a one, all in gold. He shoved the stack over to me.

"'Just a souvenir, a reminder of your cleverness in getting that seal coat through for me,' he said.

"I refused to take it, but he tried to press it on me and told me to give it to the appraiser, but I refused. Later, when his family left us, I asked him how much he had paid for the coat in Paris. He said he had paid $1,000. He could hardly believe it when I told him that we had not falsified the declaration, that the coat was an imitation and that $75 was its outside value. He called a bellboy then and there and sent the coat to a furrier to have it appraised. The furrier sent back word that he would sell him all he wanted just like it for $65 each."—New York Herald.

Mirror, Crystal and Sword.

The three symbols of the imperial house of Japan are the mirror, the crystal and the sword, and they are carried in front of the emperor on all state occasions. Each has its significance. "Look at the mirror and reflect thyself," or, in other words, "Know thyself," is the message of the mirror. "Be pure and shine" is the crystal's injunction, while the sword is a reminder to "Be sharp."

A Custom of the Tyrol.

In the Tyrol it is the custom for women and children to come out into the open when it is the latter's bedtime and sing. Their husbands, fathers and brothers answer them from the hills on their way home.

The injuries we do and those we suffer are seldom weighed in the same balance.—Simmons.

Coroner Greer Denies Rumor.

There seems to be a whole lot of unfounded excitement over the sad drowning accident, at Baxter's Creek whereby James Peters, assistant fishery inspector lost his life. The gossip even has gone the length of saying that an inquest will be asked for. The Times last night called up Coroner Dr. Greer and asked his opinion. Dr. Greer replied that he had thoroughly investigated the case and could find no reason for putting the county to a big expense. If the friends or relatives can produce the slightest evidence to show foul play, an inquest will at once be inaugurated.

IT ALL STARTED WITH LA GRIPPE

AND THE CURE WAS QUICK AND SURE WHEN HE USED DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Lower Abougoggin, Westmoreland Co., N.B., May 7—(Special)—"I had a severe attack of La Grippe, which developed into Diabetes and Bright's Disease, but Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. Yes, I am seventy years old, but I am in good health again and I hardly need to tell you I am well satisfied with Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Such is the story of Damien Boudreau, one of the oldest and most highly respected inhabitants of this place. It shows what a boon Dodd's Kidney Pills are to the old folks. They cure the Kidneys, clear the dregs of disease out of the blood and make the old feel young.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys. Good Kidneys mean that there can be no impurities left in the blood. And the man or woman who has good pure blood can laugh at nine out of ten of the ills to which the flesh is heir. They are the one sure cure for all diseases of the Kidneys and all diseases such as Rheumatism, Backache, Lumbago and Heart Disease, which are caused by impure blood.

To Search for Young McTaggart.

Mystery still surrounds the death of young McTaggart of Fenelon Falls who disappeared several months ago. Last December McTaggart and a couple of other young men, who were working in a mill in the vicinity of Kinmount, left for Coboconk to attend a dance. While there a brawl took place, with no serious results, but it was reported that on the way home another scrap ensued between the two young men, and that McTaggart was left on the roadside. At any rate he has never been heard of since. Sunday a search party left Fenelon Falls in a gasoline yacht and seven canoes and a careful investigation will be made.

A Hint to Local Anglers.

This is the time of year that hundreds of Peterborough fishermen are getting out their rods and tackle and thinking of bait. Now the homely angle worm is possibly the most generally used bait. Here is a hint how to capture these red wriggling recipients of a bass' attention. Take a broom handle three and a half feet long, drive it into the spot likely to be inhabited by angle worms. Leave about six inches of an end sticking up. Then take a rough board and rub it over the top of the broom handle. The rubbing will cause a vibration of the earth, and the worms, angry and disturbed, will work their way out of the ground. You may thus get a pail full of worms in a short time.

Natural Cure For Catarrh Obviates Taking Drugs

It Has Superseded the Old-fashioned Stomach dosing Remedies, and Invariably Cures Quickly

It was their inability to reach the real source of catarrh and bronchitis that caused the medical profession to drop liquid cough medicines and adopt "Catarrhozone" instead. Catarrhozone provides a method of breathing right into the lungs certain rare medicinal vapors which are so healing and comforting as to entirely banish coughs, catarrh and comforting as to entirely banish coughs, catarrh and throat trouble in a very short time.

The most wonderful thing about Catarrhozone is, that no matter where the germs of bronchitis or catarrh are hidden, Catarrhozone will reach and destroy them.

"About five years ago I took a cold in the head and Catarrh set in. It kept increasing by leaps and bounds. I kept putting off getting anything until at last I found I would have to. After trying several things I heard of your remedy, Catarrhozone, and procured a bottle and began using it. I was not long in finding out I had struck the right thing! I am recommending Catarrhozone to all who have catarrh, etc.

"(Signed) Everton L. Wasson
Blair P.O., Queen's Co., N.B.

Catarrhozone has made an astonishing record of cures. Its method is right: no drugs; just healing balsamic vapors, that bring instant relief to Catarrh and all throat, bronchial, and chest colds. Get the large size, lasts months, is sure to cure you, price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; sample or trial size, 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

MR. McCORMICK SPEAKS

President of the International Harvester Company Issues a Statement Regarding its Aims and Objects, Which Are to Secure the Best Agriculture Machinery at the Lowest Possible Price.

The International Harvester case differs radically from all the so-called "trust" cases heretofore decided under the Sherman Law. The International Harvester Company was organized in 1902 for the purpose of securing economy in the manufacture and sale of harvesting machinery and of increasing the foreign trade. It had no water in its capitalization, and it has earned only a reasonable return on its capital—less than seven per cent per annum on the average. The prices of its machines are now substantially the same as in 1902, notwithstanding an increase of 15 per cent in raw material prices and 30 per cent in wages. The Company has caused a large saving to American farmers in the cost of agricultural implements, fourfold in nine years; its foreign sales in 1911 were over $42,000,000. It has not sold cheaper abroad than at home. Its treatment of its customers, its employees, its agents, and its competitors has been in accord with the highest standard of ethics and honourable business methods. To the farmer it has given better service and better machines; to agents and dealers, a less hazardous and fluctuating business; and to its employers it has given higher wages, improved and sanitary working conditions, insurance against sickness, accident and old age, and a share of its profits.

The charge of misconduct found in the bill have been met and disproved by the Company in other cases, and they will again fail because they are untrue. The Supreme Court of Missouri, in a suit in which these charges were fully gone into, said:

"On the whole, the evidence shows that the International Harvester Company has not used its power to oppress or injure the farmers who are its customers.

And again:

"The price of harvesting machines has not increased in proportion to the increased cost of construction or the increased merit of the machines, and Respondent has brought other farm implements into trade.

"The evidence also shows that the machines manufactured by the International Harvester Company have been greatly improved in quality and the item of repair material has been reduced in price and placed within closer reach of the farmer."

The organizers of this Company have acted under the advice of able counsel, and in the sincere belief that they were violating no law. If under later decisions it should be held that the law was violated, it could only be through the creation of a power to oppress WHICH HAS NEVER BEEN EXERCISED

More than six years ago the Company asked for its investigation by the United States Government and opened all its books and records for inspection, and furnished all information requested. No suggestion of any change in its business methods has been made to it by the Government at any time. Recently, a full and frank discussion of the whole situation has been had between the representatives of the Government, and the Company, in an honest desire upon both sides to avoid litigation. Some plan may be yet found which will obviate the necessity of any protracted litigation by satisfying the claims made under the Sherman Law without seriously impairing the economic advantages and benefits secured by the organization of this Company. No form of reorganization however, was suggested by the Government, which seemed practically impossible.

The Government has been careful to avoid embarrassment to the foreign business from the litigation, the bill makes no attack upon, and seeks no change in, the export business of the Company. The filing of the bill will in no way interfere with the Company's carrying on its business as heretofore.

MANSLAUGHTER NOW CHARGED BY THE SURVIVORS OF THE TITANIC

Thomas McCormack and Bernard McCoy Say They Were Hit on the Head and Pushed into the Water.

They Endeavored to Climb Into the Boats and the Names of Alleged Assailants Not Yet Devulged.

London, May 8.—No small sensation was created at the Titanic enquiry to-day by the half disclosure of two charges of attempted manslaughter against persons yet unnamed, brought by two survivors, Thomas McCormack and Bernard McCoy, who are now in America. McCormack alleges that when swimming in the sea after leaving the Titanic and endeavouring to board two boats he was struck on the head and hands and shoved back into the sea. He might have been drowned. Another charge is of a similar nature.

Lord Mersey said: "I shall be glad to be assisted by the evidence, but don't turn me into a criminal judge to try charges of attempted manslaughter. Now do let us get on with our work. We have had enough talking."

Reported Iceberg Right Ahead.

Reginald Lee, lookout man in the crow's nest at the time of the collision, told a graphic story. He said he sighted a dark mass coming through the thick, low-hanging haze perhaps half a mile ahead. They phoned to the bridge "iceberg right ahead," and the reply came back from the bridge "thank you." The ship veered to port and it looked as if she would pass, but she struck on the starboard bow, just before the foremast. One side of the berg seemed white, the other black. It was higher than the forecastle, which was 55 feet high.

No light of any other vessel was to be seen when the Titanic struck. When in a lifeboat he saw a light ahead, but could not tell what it belonged to. It might have been the light of a steamer or a fishing vessel or even one of the Titanic's own boats. The following colloquy then took place:

Mr. Scanlan: "It is usual to slow up at night when going through a fog?"

"It has nothing to do with me."

Mr. Scanlan: "You have often been in a fog, I believe?"

The President: "He is in a fog now I think." (laughter.)

Says He Smelled the Ice.

Mr. Scanlan: "Is it usual to slacken speed when going through the ice?"

"Yes; also going through fog and haze."

Mr. Harbinson: "Had you been told there was ice about?"

"Yes, I smelt it."

The President: "You smelt it? What do you mean?"

"There are certain changes in the temperature."

Mr. Lewis: "Did the doctor test your eyes at Southampton?"

"No."

"What did he do?"

"He pleased himself, as doctors generally do." (laughter)

MR. BURNHAM DENIES AN ALLEGED AMBITION

In an evening local contemporary last night was an article intimating that Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., was, or is, an applicant for the position held by the late Judge Maybee. The Times is authorized to state most emphatically that such statement is absolutely without foundation. Mr. Burnham is not an applicant for that position.

LEGAL STATUS WHITE STAR LINE

London Times Says Company to Take Proceedings to Secure Courts Ruling

THE LEGAL LIABILITIES

The Owners of the Lost Titanic May Take Proceedings With a View to Defining Their Liability in Connection with the Disater.

London, May 8.—The Times, in a leading article, discusses the legal liabilities of the White Star Company in connection with the loss of the Titanic It says:

"It is possible that the owners of the vessel may take proceedings with a view to obtaining a declaration as to the statutory limitation of their liability.

"At common law a shipowner undertakes to use due care in carrying passengers. His duty is not quite the same as that which, if a common carrier, he contracts with respect to the carriage of goods, which is substantially to deliver the goods to his company, whatever happens. Prima facie, a shipowner who engages to carry passengers' luggage does so as a common carrier. That is virtually as an insurer, though he will not be responsible for loss by fault of the passenger himself.

"These presumptions are, in practice, of little use. Generally there are express conditions, greatly modifying this liability. Often provisions are instituted which leave the passenger without redress for the loss of luggage, whatever be the cause. There may be a question as to what the passenger assented to in the printed forms, but when it is once settled that he assented to the terms he is bound by them, though they may be exceedingly stringent and also unreasonable.

"The natural tendency of shipowners has been to insert in such documents words exempting them from all sorts of risks. To some extent the courts have arrested this tendency. For example, they have acted upon the assumption that words of general exemption from liability are not intended, unless they are very clear, to protect the owners from liability for their own misconduct or in the fault of their servants.

"The shipping companies have not lost sight of such decisions. They inserted further ambiguous words which have extended the non-liability of the companies.

"The bill of lading, with its many qualifications, has often been described as a document by which the shipowner binds himself to nothing except to receive freight, while on the passenger tickets are inserted conditions, the effect of which few realize until they seek redress."

Referring to the distinctions between a railway company and shipping companies, the Times says: "So far as the injuries to the passengers are concerned the liability of the former may be said to be unlimited, while in the case of the latter, the liability is cut down in respect of loss of life or personal injury to $55, and in respect to loss or damage to goods to $40 a ton.

"Before the Workmen's Compensation Act was passed in 1906, there were almost insuperable difficulties in the way of seamen or their representatives wishing to rely on negligence in navigation. This act was made applicable to masters, seamen and apprentices, if otherwise, 'workmen' within the meaning of the statute.

"It is important to note that under the act of 1906 any sum payable by way of compensation under this act, should be paid in full, notwithstanding section 503 of the Merchants' Shipping Act, relative to the limitation of the liability.

"We have not referred to several other possible questions, for example, the effect of provisions in the Merchants' Shipping Act as to the form of contract obligatory in the case of steerage or emigrant passengers."

FATHER BLAMELESS IN MURDER OF SON

Former Canadian Will Demand Hearing in Order to Clear His Name—Killed His Son in Order to Save His Own Life.

Muskogee, Okla., May 9.—Judge J. P. Connors, of Canada, who late Friday shot and killed his son, J. P. Connors, Jr., 27 years of age, as the latter rushed at him with an open razor, will voluntarily demand a preliminary hearing that he may be officially cleared of any charge of crime. An inquest held over the body of young Connors Friday night resulted in a verdict that the father shot in self-defense and he was held blameless.

In a statement Saturday Judge Connors said:

"The boy has been running away from home since he was fifteen, coming home only to demand money. He came home last Friday after an absence of six months and demanded $500, threatening to kill the family if he was refused. He also threatened to kidnap one of the younger children. These threats he boasted of, and the family was in terror. Friday I sat down and tried to reason with him, but he grew angry and started at me with an open razor, saying: "I have threatened to kill the whole family, and I am going to start in on you." I shot him. I believed that he would have killed me, and possibly other members of the family."

Judge Connors was a member of the State Board of Agriculture, and for the past five years he has been prominent in Democratic politics.

RUSSIAN PRISONS HOME OF HORRORS

Knout and Solitary Cells Attest Inhumanity of Administrators.

Moscow, May 8.—A prisoner of the Central Prison here succeeded in smuggling out the following letter:

"I write to let the world know that this is a house of death and torture. We are three thousand prisoners, and the ten "black holes" in the cellars are always occupied. There is nothing in fiction comparing with the terrors of a Russian 'black hole.' For the fault of a single prisoner, whole sections of the prison are often punished with the knout. The political prisoner, Gogouk, recently received a hundred stripes. The executioner, Zanomski, is a maniac on the subject of knouting. The knouting is continued until blood flows from every part of the body."

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

An eminent scientist, the other day gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poison! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill.

Then again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new, healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh, healthy tissue from below, is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorimer Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day —over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema.

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

THE GREATEST BANKING MERGER IN THE HISTORY OF CANADA

Bank of Montreal Will Absorb the Union, and Will Consolidate With Other Banks.

The Royal and Traders Will also, It Is Said, be Included in the Consolidation.

Toronto, May 8.—The greatest banking merger not only in the annals of Canadian banking, but perhaps in the history of the world, is being consummated, according to information received this morning. It is understood that provisional papers have been signed, and that only the formal ratification of the shareholders of the banks concerned is needed to give Canada the third largest bank in the world.

The first step in the big merger will be the taking over of the Union Bank by the Bank of Montreal. When this purchase is completed, the enlarged Bank of Montreal will amalgamate with the new Royal Bank (Royal and Traders). The final product will be an institution with an authorized capital of at least $39,000,000, and a paid-up capital of $32,377,920.

The authorized capital will be nearly four million dollars larger than that of the Bank of France, which now stands at 182,500,000 francs, or $35,222,500, and within four million of the Reichsbank of Germany, with a capital of 180,000,000 marks, or the equivalent of $42,857,000.

May Be Other Mergers.

The new institution will stand preeminent among Canadian banks, being head and shoulders in front of the nearest competitor, the Canadian Bank of Commerce. It is not to be expected that the latter bank will be content not to make an effort to keep up with the leaders, and may already have plans on foot to absorb some of the other Canadian institutions.

There will only be two banks in the world greater than the new Montreal-Union-Royal-Traders, namely, the Bank of England and the Reichsbank of Germany.

The new institution will be much larger than the biggest New York or Chicago banks, three of which are at present larger than the Bank of Montreal.

Enormous Circulation.

The combined circulation of the four banks concerned is $29,266,627, or nearly one-third the total note circulation of all the Canadian banks

The note circulation are distributed as follows:

Bank of Montreal	$13,806,324
Union Bank	4,494,733
Royal Bank	7,192,563
Traders Bank	3,743,017
	$29,266,627

Central Banks.

The merger gives promise of being a big step towards Canadian banking independence. The new institution will probably be in essence a central bank, holding the reserves of most of the other Canadian banks.

The tendency towards centralization of banking in Canada has probably been accelerated by the agitation for a National Reserve Association in the United States. The new Canadian institution will perform a similar function for the Canadian banks.

WILL ONTARIO BE CONQUERED?

French-Canadians Extending Scope of Influence

WILL NOT ASSIMILATE

The Orange Sentinel Has a Splendidly Written Article on the Subject Which We Publish Below in Full.

The Orange Sentinel, in a remarkably well written article, deals with the influx of French Canadians, which it regards as the most serious social and political problem that confronts the people of the Province of Ontario. If these people came with an idea of merging themselves with the English-speaking population, they would be a valuable asset. They are industrious, docile, good-tempered, and have many excellent qualities. It is true that they are backward in education. They are unprogressive in their ideas. But surrounded by an English-speaking majority their backwardness would be overcome. They would speedily take example from their neighbors, and adopt more progressive measures and cultivate more modern ideas, and thus become equal to any portion of the population.

But unfortunately the French-Canadians come to the Province of Ontario, instigated thereto by their leaders, for the purpose of extending the scope of French-Canadian influence in this Dominion. The leaders of that race have set out to conquer Ontario, as they conquered the Eastern townships. One county after another they have attacked. Already they have accomplished so much that the student of public affairs grasps the significance, and appreciates the danger that threatens the province from this influx of a race which is alien to the population of Ontario, and which is determined to remain alien.

It is this that differentiates the French-Canadians from all other immigrants. The people from central Europe are anxious to learn the English language that they may assimilate, and that their children may assimilate with the English-speaking population. But the French-Canadians, on the other hand, inspired by their leaders, refuse to assimilate. They take pains indeed to prevent it. Where it is easily possible for them to acquire a

THOROGOOD NOW ON TRIAL CHARGED WITH MURDER

Toronto, May 8.—Walter Thorogood appeared before Mr. Justice Middleton and a jury in the Assize Court this morning, charged with the murder of Joseph Sabino in a pool room at 319 Yonge St on Good Friday last.

Mr George Tate Blackstock, K.C. prosecuted for the Crown, and Mr. W. A. Henderson appeared for the defence.

Tells Different Story.

Annabello, an Italian, who worked with Sabino at the shoe shine stand in the course of his testimony expressed the opinion that witnesses who gave evidence contrary to his at the inquest were friends of the prisoner, and were trying to help him out.

"You may not believe what I say" he said, "but I am telling the truth, I saw everything happen."

"How do you account for the fact that all the other men in the pool-room tell a different story to yours?"

"They all seem to be taking his part, but they know I am telling the truth. I will swear it over and over again."

"All Lies," he Says.

"And it is not true, as these men say, that you broke one cue and your friend another?"

"It is all lies."

"And you think they told those lies to shield the prisoner?"

"Yes, because they know he has already been two years in prison."

"How do you know that?"

"I have heard from others that he is a bad man and has been in prison."

The witness denied absolutely that he had on two previous occasions had fights with men in the tobacco store.

RESTAURANT LICENSES

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—There is no doubt but what this city is short in hotel accommodation. Now the city charges all restaurant keepers $5 a year for license. Why should this tax be put on a firm who are helping feed the people and, without whose services the city could not get along? The hotels have to pay a heavy sum for their liquor licenses, but possibly the receipts justify the charge. There is a saying, "Live and let live," and I do not think the people who pay their rent and other taxes should be soaked $5 for providing necessary accommodation.

—J. C. Snelgrove

SHOULD BE ABSOLUTELY SAFE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I congratulate The Times on the stand it is taking in regard to making the moving picture shows absolutely safe in case of fire or panic. It is the duty of the press to protect the public from dangers such as this, and I am glad to see that one paper at least, is willing and able to have this matter probed, and if it is found that the law is not being enforced, that it will keep right on until absolute safety is assured.

—One Who Knows.

CABMEN'S CHARGES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The Lindsay Post, in its issue of Tuesday last, contains an article that should be noticed by the city officials here. The council of that town has revised its by-law concerning cab drivers. A schedule has been adopted whereby cab drivers, or owners, are not allowed to charge fancy prices for weddings. In this city, if a young man weds a girl, and faces the expense of married life, the first offset he gets, after handing the clergyman a $5 or a $10 bill, is a charge of $5 for each hack that takes him, his bride and the guests to the railway station. Why should $5 be charged for such service, when the hackmen are only too willing to take a similar lot of people the same distance for a quarter the amount, when the wedding bells are not ringing.

—Once Stung.

Reply—We find that, whilst it is customary to charge a fee of $5 for hack fare at weddings, the local hackmen frequently charge less than that amount.—Ed. Times.

CLERGYMAN IS ASKED TO EXPLAIN TO MAGISTRATE

The Circumstances of a Marriage Ceremony He Conducted for a Chinaman and White Girl—Question of Time Involved

Toronto, May 8.—A summons, charging that he had performed an illegal marriage was issued at noon to-day by the Morality Department against Rev. John D. Morrow, pastor of St. Mark's Presbyterian Church, and is returnable in to-morrow morning's Police Court. Rev. Mr. Morrow is the minister who the authorities allege performed the marriage ceremony between the white girl Lou Fraser, and the Chinaman, Fred Young, of Hamilton, after ten o'clock in his house, 939 Bathurst-street, on the night of April 22.

The breach of the law consists in "solemnizing the marriage during prohibited hours without unusual circumstances to warrant so doing."

This action of the police has been taken upon the statement of the girl. She had disappeared from her home and it was at first thought that another girl had lured her to the Chinaman's house, but the police state now that this was not the case. The father of the girl is greatly incensed to think that the marriage should have been performed even though the girl and the Chinaman had presented themselves during the proper hours. His daughter, who since the marriage and a couple of days' absence from home has returned to her parents, is now in a state of collapse. She was only nineteen years of age.

Rev. Mr. Morrow has stated that there is a mistake as to the hour. He remembers the ceremony, but states that it was before ten o'clock, quite within hours, and that he has witnesses who can prove this. As to the marriage itself, he stated that he believed he was acting in the best interests of the couple, that they were quite reputable in appearance, and he could see no reason why the marriage should not be performed.

REEVE OF DUMMER NOW A BENEDICT

A pretty wedding was solemnized on April 24th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Jenkins, South Dummer, when Miss Ethel Beatrice, their only daughter became the charming bride of Mr. Rork S. Ferguson, the popular Reeve of that flourishing township. As Miss Maye Humphries, a cousin of the bride rendered Mendelssohn's Wedding March, the contracting parties took their places beneath a beautiful floral arch of white carnations and ferns. The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of cream duchesse satin, trimmed with allover lace silk embroidered insertion and fringe, and wore the customary veil caught up with orange blossoms and ribbon, and carried a magnificent bouquet of white roses and maidenhair fern.

After the young couple had received hearty congratulations, the bride led the way to the dining room, where a sumptuous repast was awaiting.

The presents were many, costly and useful, evidencing the high esteem in which the young couple are held. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful pearl sunburst brooch.

After the evening's enjoyment, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson left for their new home near Warsaw.

Reeve Ferguson, who is one of the best known and enterprising of Dummer's younger generation, was tendered hearty congratulations by a host of personal friends.

Lumberman's Slang.

No other industry, perhaps, furnishes so many original, peculiar and interesting words and phrases of a technical-cum-slangy nature as the lumber industry of Canada. Timber tracts, says Canada, are divided into "limits" or "births." The growing timber on a tract is a "stand" and the contents of a "stand" are measured in "feet"—a "foot" being a board one foot square by one inch thick and not a cubic foot. To make a survey of a stand of timber is to "cruise" it, the man who does the work is a "cruiser," and his report thereon is a "cruise." Trees are "falled," and the man who "falls" them is a "sawyer." A man who works in a lumber camp is known as a "lumberjack" or "shanty man." When going up to camp he speaks of going "up to the shanties." Timber tracts that have suffered from the ill effects of forest fires are said to be "brooly," which is, of course, a corruption of "brule" (burnt).

The Glowworm.

The glowworm is not a worm, but a species of beetle, to which the common firefly or lightning bug is closely related. The true glowworm is the female and is without wings. Its short legs and long body give it a vermiform appearance, and it can withdraw its triangular head into its neck. The adult insect feeds but little. Indeed, there is reason to suppose that the adult male does not feed at all. The larva, on the other hand, is carnivorous and devours small mollusca, either dead or alive. The light given out by the glowworm comes from a yellowish substance located on the underside of the abdomen. Though this light appears to glow steadily, it is really intermittent, consisting of flashes in quick succession, about 100 to a minute. Besides the ordinary light rays, Rontgen rays are emitted.

Spiders and the Stars.

Spiders as an aid to astronomy are recognized to such an extent that certain species are cultivated solely for the fine threads they weave. No substitute for the spider's thread has yet been found for bisecting the screw of the micrometer used for determining the positions and motions of the stars. Not only because of the remarkable fineness of the threads are they valuable, but because of their durable qualities. The threads of certain spiders raised for astronomical purposes withstand changes in temperature, so that often in measuring sun spots they are uninjured when the heat is so great that the lenses of the micrometer eyepieces are cracked. These spider lines are only one-fifth to one-seventh of a thousandth of an inch in diameter, compared with which the threads of the silkworm are large and clumsy.

The Name of London.

The old name for the city of London was Lynden or Llynden, meaning "the city by the lake." An old tradition gives us to understand that London was founded by Brute, a descendant of Aeneas, and that it was first called New Troy or Troynovant. In the time of Lud it was surrounded by a wall and was then known as Lud's Town, or Caer-Lud. This latter is probably the correct version of the origin of the name of London if for no other reason because it is such an easy matter to detect a similarity between the expressions London and Lud's Town. It is claimed by some writers that there was a city on the present site of London in the year 1107 B. C., and it is known that the Romans founded a city there and called it Londinium in the year 61 A. D.

The Benevolent Butler.

A Calcutta correspondent reports "a truly horrible incident" which befell an English lady. Her butler was in the habit of calling loudly beneath her window every evening about 7. His cry suggested that he was calling either the cattle or the chickens home; but, though she had neither, the lady for some time took no notice until one evening, having the curiosity to look, she was horrified to see the butler, like a dusky pied piper, surrounded by a troop of rats.

There were quite fifty of them, from the big bandicotes to small muskrats, all being fed on the remains of her soup, meat and other bits. In a plague country this was an amusement that was speedily ended.—Times of India.

An Odd Concrete House.

A summer house of concrete in a garden in one of the suburbs of Havana is built in imitation of a log and straw hut, and it is said that the illusion remains even after a close examination. To make the illusion more complete in parts of the fictitious timber trunks the artist has imitated the work of the teredo worms, and some of the pillars appear to be bored by them.

NORSEMEN NEEDED.

New Ontario Requires the Scandinavian Peoples.

"Ontario is now obtaining a larger proportion of the right sort of men and women from the United Kingdom whom we require; this result is largely due, I think, to the good accounts that are sent 'home' by those who have settled in the most British province of the Dominion since we established headquarters in London and organized a campaign throughout Greater Britain." Mr. C. C. James, C.M.G., former Deputy Minister of Agriculture in the Ontario Government, made these remarks to a representative of the press not long ago. "Now that the superior opportunities Ontario can offer various classes of intending emigrants are becoming better appreciated, we hope to use the machinery of our agencies on this side more effectually in sending the right people to the right localities. For instance, my visit to Norway, Sweden, and Denmark has confirmed an impression I formed on my first short visit to these areas two years ago that there is a large Scandinavian population who will find in the prolific virgin soil of the newly-opened areas of Northern Ontario, climatic and other conditions similar to those in which their present persevering, intelligent hard work leaves them only a bare subsistence. While I should be very careful as to what British agriculturists I advised to settle in Northern Ontario, I think it would be difficult to make a mistake in encouraging Scandinavian emigrants to these areas, and the more of this class of foreign settlers we can get into Northern Ontario the better it will be for the province, and, indeed, for the Dominion as a whole.

"Ontario has become a great manufacturing province, by far the largest in Canada, and her growth in this regard is increasing more and more. The one thing in which Ontario has been deficient, and for which she has had to depend upon the adjoining states, is coal, but the great water powers, and the distribution of electric power will soon make the province well-nigh independent of the coal fields of Pennsylvania. That Northern Ontario also has its part to play has been shown by the recent mining developments in the Cobalt area and the Porcupine district; its local markets will in time be unexcelled. For the present we advise the British newcomer to spend a year or two in Southern Ontario before taking up land in the area more remote from conditions as to schools, neighborly intercourse, and general routine, than those he has been accustomed to in Britain. Toronto, our capital, it should always be remembered, is within seven days' reach of London, and in the centre of the most thickly populated area of all Canada. Our manufacturing industries are growing so rapidly in the area that the agriculturist is sure of his market. But speaking as Deputy Minister of Agriculture, responsible for advice to the emigrant, it is to the agriculturist, the domestic servant, and the prudent investor, that we hold out the most inducements."

As illustrating the extent of the organization of Ontario's Department of Agriculture, for the benefit alike of the new-comer and the native born, it may be mentioned that it has fifteen district representatives in various parts of the province, and there are eleven separate branches, managed by experts in dairying, live stock, fruit growing, or co-operating with farmers' institutes, agricultural societies, and women's institutes.

"The latest addition to the Agricultural Department," concluded Mr. James, "is a veterinary college, which will shortly have a new building in Toronto, and add to the opportunities afforded at Guelph, at Kingston, and Toronto, for the most practical education to be given upon reasonable terms, to the sons and daughters of those who decide to cast in their lot with the prospering Province of Ontario."

Mr. James was recently appointed a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, upon the recommendation of the Governor-General, Earl Grey, as a recognition of his general services in promoting the scientific promotion of agriculture in the Dominion.

Keeping Out Whiskey.

It was to protect the Indians from whiskey dealers from the American side of the border that the Northwest Mounted Police came into being in 1874. So well did they succeed that within a year Col. Macleod, who was stationed in a district which now forms the southwest corner of Alberta, reported that the whiskey trade had been completely stopped in that part of the country, and that drunken riots were at an end.

His first blow at the liquor traffic was the capture of a colored man named Bond, and some other Americans, who had a trading post about fifty miles from the colonel's headquarters. An Indians named "Three Bulls" informed the police that he had bartered two of his horses for a couple of gallons of whiskey. An officer, with ten men, accordingly set out, and rode down Bond and his associates after a forty mile chase, arresting the party, five in number, and seizing two wagons containing cases of whiskey and buffalo skins, which had been received from the Indians. Heavy fines were inflicted, and the first step in protecting the Indians from their worst enemies was a great success.

Influx of Americans.

"The present outlook is that there will be forty thousand more Americans enter western Canada this year than last," said Mr. W. J. White, superintendent of American immigration agencies, who was in Ottawa recently.

ONTARIO'S FRENCHMEN.

Six Members of Gallic Blood Sit in the Legislature.

There are six French-Canadians in the Ontario Legislature—quite an interesting little group. There are not enough of them to constitute a "party." Three are Conservatives and three are Liberals. Still, when it comes to French-Canadian "rights" they are one and undivided. There is among them no Horatius, either Grit or Tory, who looks as if he might jump up some day and shout to his compatriots for volunteers to stand on either hand of him to defend the bridge against any English-speaking host which would seek to wrest from French-Canadians their "liberties." The valiant three of both political faiths are ready to defend both ends of the bridge, but they don't adopt any heroic attitudes. In other words, the six French-Canadians in the Legislature are all very loyal to their nationality, but their number is so small that they find it impracticable to do much elaborate posing as the representatives of a down-trodden minority.

The three Conservative French-Canadian members are Henri Morel (Nipissing), Napoleon Champagne (East Ottawa), and Hon. Dr. J. O. Reaume (North Essex). The three Liberals are Gustave Evanturel (Prescott), Damase Racine (Russell), and Z. Mageau (Sturgeon Falls). All these men, with the exception of Dr. Reaume, were born in Quebec, or in the Eastern Townships of Ontario. Dr. Reaume's ancestors left Quebec many years ago to settle in Essex. Altogether, this little group will compare favorably, in intelligence and education, with the rank and file of the English-speaking members. Mr. Morel and Mr. Racine are practically unknown quantities. They have been heard and felt but little in the House yet. Mr. Evanturel is also as yet a quiet member, but he is considered very bright. He is a son of the late Speaker Evanturel, and has a liberal education. Dr. Reaume we all know as a good, average routine administrator in his department, and a good fellow and somewhat of a jollier in and out of the House. Messrs. Mageau and Champagne, both new members, are the most interesting of the French-Canadian group.

Mr. Mageau is said to be 47 years of age, but from the gallery he would pass for 37. He is the slight and graceful type of French-Canadian, but his life in New Ontario has given him a restraint and solidity that the average Ontario citizen does not associate with French-Canadian character, unless in exceptional cases. Mr. Mageau is a real estate and insurance man. He has been elected mayor of Sturgeon Falls several years by acclamation. He is also president of the Board of Trade in his town, and an all-round, substantial, popular citizen. He is a very effective speaker.

Mr. Napoleon Champagne belongs to another type of French-Canadian. He is big and burly, with a thick neck and a big, bellowing voice. His specialty in debate is abuse of the rousing, ironically humorous kind. When he gets on his feet things are certainly lively. Every time he delivers what he thinks is a punch that will put his opponent to the ropes he loosens his collar and takes a drink. Two or three pages are kept busy bringing him water. Then he jams his hands in his pockets and glares savagely at his foes. But Champagne can make the House and the galleries laugh.

The Nomad Farmer.

One of the most remarkable things about the western provinces of Canada is the number of nomad farmers who come in from the United States to raise flax and wheat. These farmers from the States have had wide experience; they know that from these rich Canadian lands they can make more money growing wheat and flax on a large scale than in growing feed to fatten cattle, hogs, or turkeys, or in raising eggs, poultry, butter, cream, or vegetables. They come over to Canada with gasoline plants to plow and sow and reap and thresh. They have even motor vehicles to take the wheat and flax seed to the elevators. They are 50,000 of them that have not got a hog nor a cow nor a hen on their farms. They import the eggs, poultry, butter, and bacon that they use from Quebec and Ontario, and the potatoes, vegetables and fruit from British Columbia, and if they use milk it is canned. Neither the farmer nor the help he requires for his wheat or flax want to milk cows, feed chickens, gather the eggs, or weed vegetable gardens.

But these wheat and flax farmers are nomads. They winter in Spokane, or Seattle, or Los Angeles, or Vancouver, and they come to the prairies in the spring and sow the grain crop. They watch it grow from the nearest tower, and marshal their harvesters, and when ripe they reap it, thresh the grain, and market it. Then they plow up the land for next year's crop. The farm laborers have only four months' steady employment at this kind of farming, and during the four months they earn good money, and, like their employers, they migrate to the near-by towns or cities and spend their winters. There must be 100,000 farm laborers of the nomad tribe in the Canadian prairies.—The People (London).

Metaphysical History.

It has fallen to the lot of Mr. J. H. Burnham to inject what a member of the Press Gallery termed "historical metaphysics" into the considerations of Parliament. Following Mr. A. Verville, Labor member for Maisonneuve, who was the other day criticising the increased expenditure on the Militia Departmnet, the Peterboro member gravely announced: "Ten minutes' study of history will show that if the ancient Empire of Rome had been able to defend herself we would have been two thousand years ahead of where we are now, instead of being two thousand years behind."

And accurate Hansard chronicled the utterance.

The Lift Lock will probably open on Wednesday. Any way it will open this week.

The local press are doing good work and will doubtless do their share in bringing glory to Peterborough.

Everyone complains that growth is very slow this spring.

OUR BIG GAME.

Bret Harte's Explanation That Made the Matter Quite Clear.

Bret Harte, the whimsical and brilliant chronicler of Roaring Camp and Poker Flat, used to become weary to exasperation at the foolish admirers who could not separate him from his characters and who insisted on confounding their experiences and predilections with his own.

Since he wrote of pioneer mining camps in the early days of the gold fever, his characters were often heroic only in part. Indeed, they were quite as often rogues as heroes. As he obviously could not be identified with the rougher types among them, the favorite notion seemed to be that he was, or had been, a gentleman gambler. With that idea in mind a young Englishman in London once tried hard to get him to describe and explain poker, which he referred to as "your great American game." Mr. Harte conveniently misunderstood him.

"So you say 'great game' over here?" he inquired amiably. "In the United States, now, we call it 'big game'—grizzlies, catamounts, buffalo and bighorn—don't you know. But we don't chase them with pokers. No, no! They're abundant, but they don't often come into the houses, really. It's usually necessary to go outside with a gun."

At another time he learned that a certain noted hostess, whose invitation to dine he had just accepted, had been questioning one of his intimates to learn if it were true that he was a reformed gambler.

"Not reformed," declared Mr. Harte wearily. "Tell her I am beyond reformation. Tell her that I was my own model for the gambler Oakhurst and that the scene of his suicide is pure autobiography."—Youth's Companion.

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 73c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 396 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

WHILE YOU WORK AND WHILE YOU sleep.—Wage earners make money only while they work. My lot buyers make money while they sleep. Those who have bought from me during the past four years have made by increasing value of lots, more than 50 per cent per annum on the amount invested. And they are worth from $300 to $1200 to-day, because of having wisely imposed a "must" upon themselves to save a little of what they earned. Come in and let us show you a very easy way to do the same. Gardens: I know one man who planted 1 acre of onions, and sold his crop for $800 cash. Was that not making money while he slept? We can supply a few acres ploughed to men who would wish to do likewise. Also a larger place with good buildings and a large poultry plant. Immediate possession. Decide at once, and call for particulars. T. Hurley, corner Stewart and Hunter streets.

WE CAN GIVE YOU ABSOLUTE PROOF that the lots we offer inside the town limits of Edson at $40 each, on easy terms, are a money-making investment, offered below their real value; Edson is a divisional point on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific with a monthly pay roll of $40,000; Edson is the actual distributing point for the Peace River country, the Brazeau coal fields, and for two hundred miles west on the Canadian Northern; Edson is little more than a year old, and already has more than twelve hundred permanent residents; it costs you one cent to obtain illustrated booklet, and the above mentioned proof; mail us a postcard to-day. IRELAND UNDER ROME

An old Papal decree, recently revised and re-emphasized, provides that no layman of the Church shall bring a legal action or take criminal proceedings against any Roman Catholic clergyman without ecclesiastical permission. The purpose of the edict is to prevent the hauling of prelates before the State courts. The penalty provided against members of the Church, who offend against the decree, is nothing short of excommunication. Moreover, absolution from the penalty and the withdrawal of the excommunication are reserved to the Pope himself.

In addition to penalizing those who bring ecclesiastics into the civil courts the decree penalizes in like manner those who enact "laws against the liberty or rights of the Church." Thus, it will be seen that excommunication is incurred upso facto by every member of Parliament who takes part in legislating, and by every Executive officer who takes part in promulgating a law or decree which "invades the liberty or rights of the Church of Rome."

The decree has immense significance in connection with the attempt to secure Home Rule for Ireland. As an English journal observes, "the majority vote in a Home Rule Parliament must be Roman Catholic, and the Roman Catholic Church strikes definitely and in the most authoritative manner at the liberty of that vote. The Church would stand janitor at the doors of the Parliament in College Green. The consciences of the majority in an Irish Parliament would be those of men liable to instant excommunication if they voted, or enacted, or administered, directly or indirectly, against the asserted rights of the Church or in such a manner as to come into conflict with its claims." We have always recognized the high services of the Church as a purely religious body, but its political activities cannot be justified from the standpoint of the State.

THE COAL TRADE.

Dun's Bulletin, one of the most reliable mercantile papers, in regard to the coal trade, says: "Various conditions, the chief of which was the dispute between the miners and the operators, tended to create much uncertainty in the local coal market, and business both in anthracite and bituminous has been exceedingly quiet. The probability of a strike by the railroad engineers was also a disturbing factor that was not without effect. It now appears, however, that these differences are in a fair way of being settled, and the trade generally looks for a marked revival in activity in the near future. The cessation of production has, of course, resulted in more or less depleted stocks, this condition being accentuated by the unusually backward season, and while reports are current of large supplies in storage, they receive little credence by those best informed as to the situation. This depletion in stocks does not appear to be sufficiently drastic to cause much inconvenience and with a resumption of work at the mines, the deficiency will probably be very quickly made up. The only effect therefore, that will be noticeable is likely to be a period of well-maintained prices, in which both bituminous and anthracite will share. At Pittsburgh trade is very quiet, with production at a very low point and prices extremely irregular. Most consumers have large supplies on hand, accumulated in anticipation of a strike, and until these are used up no renewal in activity is looked for. Louisville reports better conditions, demand, both at wholesale and retail, reviving with the return of prices to normal and the improvement in traffic conditions. Trade is quiet in Detroit and prices show a tendency to weakness. Both hard and soft coal is in light demand at Boston, and as stocks are fairly large some dealers are reported to be offering concessions to find purchasers. Demand is normal at Baltimore, but tonnage is coming forward freely and quotations tend downward. Buying is not very active at Chicago, but stocks are being gradually reduced, with steam varieties in most demand, and prices are somewhat firmer. Dun's Review.

THE LATE JUDGE MAYBEE

Not only the whole Dominion, but the bar of Peterborough, heard with profound regret of the passing of Judge Maybee. Many lawyers were possibly his equal in forensic ability, but few of them combined the driving force and the almost unerring instinct for quick but correct decision which qualified the dead jurist in so eminent a degree for the chairmanship of the railway commission.

The commission has administrative as well as judicial powers, and to be successfully conducted it must be accessible to the complaints of the people and free from the stiff and cumbersome procedure of the courts. Chairman Maybee found no suitor too obscure and no complaint too trivial to be considered. At the same time he despatched business rapidly. He was forceful and good-humored; he decided quickly, often peremptorily, but frequently induced disputants to settle their controversies.

Judge Maybee did much to make the railway commission popular and respected. In the continued usefulness of that tribunal his works will live after him.

Editorial Notes

Britain's drink bill last year was $810,000,000. "The tight little island!"

The Mexican diplomat Celero holds that there is no war in Mexico. Only a little armed celerity.

When Roosevelt designed the steamroller four years ago he hardly expected even to cry out against it.

If Mr. Roosevelt is the hand that feeds, the President of the United States is the dog, and the presidency is dog biscuit, apparently.

A bright and pleasant beginning for the month of May. But hardly suitable for the gauzy raiment appropriate for May queens.

If economies are being effected by these big bank mergers, maybe the merged banks will be able to pay better salaries to their clerks than have been paid.

An Ottawa dispatch states that there will be no tariff changes in the near future. That is as it should be. The existing tariff bears hardly on no class and is a great revenue producer.

How humiliating it must have been to the spirit of W. T. Stead to be reporting the circumstances of the Titanic disaster after all other newspaper men were almost through with the subject!

The suffragette movement in order to prove a reason for its existence ought to be able to show that the majority of the women really want the right to vote. If we may judge by San Francisco they do not want it, for only 25,000 women out of a possible 100,000 have registered for the primary elections in May.

No one accused Mr. Ismay of not being a brave man. It is not because he escaped death that fault has been found with him, but rather because, rightly or wrongly, it is believed he was urging the Captain to make a record trip though there was danger ahead in the shape of ice and icebergs.

The young Marconi operator on the Titanic was evidently too full of his own importance; age and experience might have cured that; but the test came too soon. To call the operator on the Frankfurt "fool" and to tell the operator on another ship to "shut up" was no indication of wisdom on the part of a man who was in a sinking ship and asking for assistance.

Even the United States press are getting ashamed of the effort to release Thaw from the Asylum. The Herald says the Thaw case is a scandal. A million of dollars spent thus far. More money to be expended if it will procure the release of this enemy of the State. Through our illogical legal procedure a probability of one being turned loose on the community who will, in the opinion of our most trained and sensible alienists, be a menace to society.

Several Canadian newspapers, in commenting upon President Taft's statement, in his letter to Mr. Roosevelt, that reciprocity would make Canada "only an adjunct of the United States," have expressed resentment at the use of such language. They appear to feel that Mr. Taft affronted Canada and the Canadians in proposing a made public. It may help to reconcile ardent Canadian advocates of reciprocity to the death and burial of the reciprocity pact. There is not much chance of its revival, and it is well that its friends should cease to waste energy in efforts to revive it.—Hamilton Herald.

Back Full of Aches Headaches and Depression

Much of Women's Suffering is Needless and Can Be Prevented by the Use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Mrs. Anna Rodrigues writes as follows from her home in Valencia: "For a long time I suffered with failing strength and nagging headaches. My condition grew steadily worse, my limbs became bloated and shaky, I was sallow and thin, felt rheumatic pains, dizziness and chills. I unfortunately didn't suspect my kidneys, and was nearly dead when I discovered the true cause of my sufferings. I read so much about the wonderful health and strength that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills that I felt sure they would help me. Such blessings of health and comfort I got from Dr. Hamilton's Pills I can't describe. They speedily put me right, and their steady use keeps me active, energetic and strong and happy. I strongly urge others to regulate and tone their system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut."

No greater medicine exists than Dr Hamilton's Pills for the cure of indigestion, constipation, flatulence, liver bladder and kidney trouble. Refuse substitutes for Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Co.

ARE WORLD'S BANKERS.

Rothchild's Regarded as Strongest Bank in World.

Paris, May 9.—The Rothschilds own houses by the ten thousands in every part of the world. In Australia they own whole cities. In Africa they own the biggest and best gold mines; the lead and zinc of Spain is theirs, so are hundreds of miles of forests in Siberia. The Rothschilds rule the rubber trade o. Brazil. They are the biggest miners in Germany, the biggest weavers and steel manufacturers in England.

The Rothschilds are so big that the Astors and Rockefellers, as millionaires, are mere "orphan boys" in comparison. They are three times as wealthy as Rockefeller and six times as wealthy as the Astors, says a financial authority.

NO ATTEMPT WAS MADE TO TEST THE ILL-FATED SHIP

New York, May 8—The American published the following:

When the Titanic left the Belfast yards of Harland and Wolff, her builders, for her short run to Southampton where she was to enter immediately into passenger service of the White Star Line, her watertight compartment doors had never been tested.

Upon the highest authority it is learned that the watertight compartment doors were not working when the ship left Southampton, and that no attempt was made to test them on her maiden voyage to this country, for fear they would stick.

On this same authority it has been learned that all doors were open when the ship struck the iceberg, and remained open until she sank.

Say Builders Remonstrated.

Harland and Wolff, he states, remonstrated with the owners of the ship. They were unwilling to turn over the Titanic unfinished, particularly in what the firm considered a highly important detail, but they were finally prevailed upon to do so, in order that the Titanic might leave on the date which had been advertised by the White Star Line.

During her run from Belfast to Southampton, it was stated, no attempt was made to test the ship's safety devices, her speed, or her seaworthiness. Nor was there any lifeboat drill or practice held with the patented davits, to see if they were working properly, and if the Titanic's crew understood their proper manipulation.

Mechanics Sailed on Ship.

These are the reasons why Thomas Andrews, Jr., who assisted in designing, and superintended the construction of Titanic, and was a member of the board of directors of Harland and Wolff, and John Bradley Cummings, another of the directors, sailed from Southampton on the Titanic, and remained aboard her when she sank, without making any effort, even when importuned by friends to do so, to escape.

Andrews and Cummings left the Belfast yards on the Titanic, accompanied by twelve master mechanics and about forty more of Harland and Wolff's employes.

Knowing that the Titanic was not completed, and feeling the seriousness of their responsibility, none the less because of their firm's action in permitting the ship to sail unfinished as to vital safety appliances and other mechanical features, Andrews and his co-directors insisted that fifty of the best mechanics in the yards be sent with them on the "shaking down" trip of the Titanic.

MISS DEACON IS ACQUITTED BY A TORONTO MAGISTRATE

Toronto, May 8.—The charge against Miss Deacon, Superintendent of the Orphans' Home, of aggravated assault on John Amey, Doig McKibbon and Walter Nevins, was dismissed by Magistrate Denison in the police court this morning. The case excited keen interest, the court room being thronged with friends of Miss Deacon, who, after the Magistrate's decision had been rendered, crowded around and shook her warmly by the hands.

Both Controllers Foster and McCarthy, who saw the lads in the Juvenile Court, testified, and in each case expressed the opinion that the bruises on little Walter Nevins appeared to be the result of severe punishment.

Mr. F. E. Hodgins, K.C., appeared for Miss Deacon.

Ten-year-old Walter Nevins, whose head was scarcely over a level with the Magistrate's desk, despite the fact that he stood on the witness box seat, told of running away from the home.

The lad, small for his years, disasked by the Crown Attorney if he played marked intelligence, and when knew what an oath was, replied that it meant he must tell the truth.

Used Small Stick.

The little chap said he was one of the trio who returned at night to the home.

"What happened then?" asked Mr. Corley.

"I got the stick across the back."

"Who gave it to you?"

"Miss Deacon. She gave it to me across the back and shoulders."

Answering Mr. Corley the lad said he did not see Miss Deacon bang any boy's head against the wall. The stick was not a big one, he said.

"And you are not a big boy," observed Mr. Corley.

"Who made the marks on your back and shoulders, which you showed the gentlemen in the City Hall?" asked the Crown Attorney.

"Miss Deacon," replied the little witness.

Dr. Struthers, who saw the lad in Judge Starr's office, described the bruises on the boys' arms and legs.

In his opinion, the whipping was excessive.

Controller Foster also thought that judging by one or two of the bruises, the whipping was too severe.

U.S. PREPARING FOR INVASION OF MEXICO

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 8.—Orders were received by the Colorado and Southern Railway to-day to seize all empty flat cars, box and stock cars, no matter to whom consigned, and send them to Fort D. A. Russell for shipping horses and equipment of the ninth cavalry, which is expecting orders to move to the Mexican border at any hour.

FIRED FIRST SHOT OF THE CIVIL WAR

Dan Carey Said to Have Been Charleston Cadet, Dies in Georgia.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 8.—A special from Dalton, Ga., says Dan Carey, who claimed to have fired the first shot of the civil war, died there last night. Mr. Carey was a member of the Charleston cadets, who volunteered their services when the State ceceded, and Mr. Carey claimed to have been on picket duty on Morris Island and fired the first shot on the Star of the West." The cadets then opened fire at this alarm and the ninth shot struck the vessel and it backed out to sea, and was thus prevented from carrying reinforcements to Fort Moultrie. This was prior to the bombardment of Fort Sumter.

Carey's active service in the lines was brief, as his experience as a gunsmith caused his transfer from the field to the shops. His strict religious and conservative life left his friends no room to doubt the truth of his claim to having fired the warning gun as the Star of the West approached Fort Sumter.

TO USE THE CANAL.

Big Ships to Pass Through the Panama Waterway.

Berlin, May 8.—Several of the North Atlantic steamship lines are understood to contemplate making use of the Panama Canal for the purpose of exploiting the resources of the Pacific slope as a field for emigration. Two German companies are in fact, credited with the intention of carrying steerage passengers from Europe to Californian ports at the same rate which they now charge to New York, plus only an amount to cover the cost of passing through the waterway.

COMPARED TO EDEN'S GARDEN

Honolulu's Climate Said to be Finest Ever

HAS VISITED HAWAII

Mr. James F. Cannon, Who Is Visiting Friends in the City, Speaks of the Wonderful Climate of the Former Little Island Kingdom.

Yesterday, a Times' representative had the pleasure of an interview with Mr. James F. Cannon, who is visiting friends in the city. This gentleman has just returned from a four months' trip to the Sandwich Islands. Mr. Cannon stated that the climate of Honolulu, in which he spent two months, is as near his conception of what the climate of the Garden of Eden was as it is possible to imagine. The islands he said, are being rapidly developed by English and American capital, the principal products being sugar cane and pineapples.

The city of Honolulu is modern and up-to-date in most respects, and has a population of about 50,000. Of these about 6,000 are English and Americans, 5,000 natives, and 15,000 each of Japanese and Chinese.

The United States is evidently preparing to defend the islands in case of invasion by any other power, and are spending large sums of money in fortifications. Twenty million dollars are being spent in fortifying Peace Harbor; Diamond Head, an outstanding extinct volcano, is being transformed into another Gibraltar, and is being tunnelled in every direction. A number of American warships are also cruising in the waters in the vicinity of the islands.

WILL ONTARIO BE CONQUERED?

knowledge of the English language many of them refuse to do so. They prefer to carry the handicap of their alien nationality rather than be submerged in the English-speaking population.

It is for those who appreciate what it means to this province to continue to be governed according to Anglo-Saxon ideals to do all that is in their power to refuse special privileges to this inflowing wave of French-Canadians. It is a patriotic duty to do that. Because if the French should ever become the majority in Ontario the laws of this province would be changed to conform with the laws of the Province of Quebec. There the Canon law of Rome is the statute law of the province. And it is because of this that Quebec is so far behind the other provinces in point of education and general administration.

That is an ideal condition, of course, for the Roman Church, which has its institutions all over the province. As long as the people can be denied a reasonable education they are not likely to rebel against carrying the burden of monasticism which is placed upon them by the ambitious prelates who rule the province as absolutely as if they sat in the seats of the members of the Cabinet. But Ontario should never be allowed to descend to that state of affairs. It is only by taking thought now, and enacting such laws as will preserve us from these activities of the French-Canadians that Ontario will be saved from the calamity of having its laws shaped according to papal ideas.

For this reason we appeal, not only to Orangemen, but to Protestants of all classes to give their attention to this question, and to use their influence upon the party politicians and public men to prevent the consummation of the French-Canadian campaign for possession of the Province of Ontario.

One step in this direction should be taken by the Whitney Government, and taken at once. It is the intention of Sir James to settle Northern Ontario. Time will justify him if he takes extraordinary steps to populate New Ontario with a strong, aggressive class of people. He should inaugurate and enforce a vigorous, comprehensive and progressive policy of immigration. He should plant in that Northern Ontario wilderness centres of good British stock—English, Irish and Scotch, and others from the northern countries of Europe—and having planted them there see that they have such encouragement as may be necessary to make them feel that their lot is an enviable one, and that the future has in store for them happiness and prosperity at the expenditure of their own strength. It is only by settling Ontario with Anglo-Saxons that the future of this province can be assured.

WHEN KENT WAS HERE

FATHER OF QUEEN VICTORIA MADE MANY FRIENDS.

Great-Grandfather of the Present Sovereign Spent Some Time In the Dominion Many Years Ago, and Was Widely Popular With All Classes—Was Very Quiet and Reserved In His Manner.

When the orders of the day were called in the House of Commons during a recent sitting, the Hon. F. Monk, Minister of Public Works, rose and said:

"Mr. Speaker, before the House proceeds with the orders of the day, I would like to announce that Her Royal Highness, the Princess Louise, has been pleased to present to Canada, through His Royal Highness, the Governor-General, for our national gallery, a valuable portrait in oil of the Duke of Kent. This painting, executed by Sir William Beechey, will form a very acceptable addition to our national gallery of art at the Victoria Memorial Museum, where it is on view. The Government, in accepting and acknowledging this welcome gift has asked His Royal Highness to convey to the donor, the Princess Louise, the thanks of the Canadian people for her generous remembrance."

This gift recalls many memories associated with persons and places that have contributed to our history. The Duke of Kent is best remembered as the father of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria. He was, therefore, grandfather of our Governor-General, and great-grandfather of our King; and for several years he was a resident of this country. The gift is from Princess Louise, now the Duchess of Argyll, and a granddaughter of the Duke of Kent, who for five years was mistress of Rideau Hall, when her husband, then Marquis of Lorne, was Governor-General of Canada.

The picture carries one back in Canadian history more than a century, to the days when Kent House had a royal master. Let us glance briefly over those far away years.

Edward Duke of Kent, the fourth son of King George III., was born at Buckingham Palace on Nov. 2, 1767—just one hundred years before Canadian Confederation.

When a boy he was sent to school on the continent under Baron Wangenheim, with whom he spent two years at Geneva. The Dictionary of National Biography says that "Wangenheim treated him with needless rigor, allowed him only a guinea a week pocket-money out of an annuity of $30,000 provided for his maintenance, and intercepted his letters home.

"In June, 1790, he came home from Geneva without leave. The King was much displeased and gave him peremptory orders to embark for Gibraltar. At Gibraltor he was put in command of the 7th Regiment of Foot, known as the Royal Fusiliers. In May, 1791, he was sent to Canada."

Then opened the chapter of his life that forms part of our history.

It was on August 11, 1791, that the Duke of Kent, with the Royal Fusiliers, arrived at Quebec from Gibraltar on the warships Ulysses and Resistance. Quebec harbor presented a brave sight on that long ago midsummer day, for besides the ships that brought the duke and his Fusiliers, there were then in port five ships-of-war belonging to Commodore Sawyers squadron and four transports filled with British regulars for service at different Canadian posts.

On the following day there was a levee, attended by the authorities, civil and military, the clergy of the city, and all the gentry.

At the levee were men whose names will ever have a place in the history of Canada. Foremost among them of course, was the Governor-General, Lord Dorchester, known a few years earlier as Sir Guy Carleton—the man who, in 1775-76, had held Quebec against Montgomery and Arnold, and who had finally driven from Canada the forces of Congress. Near Dorchester stood a tall, athletic, military man, Sir Alured Clark, who, a week after that levee, became Deputy Governor-General during Dorchester's absence in England. And around were the judges, the executive councillors, the seignors and the other lights of Quebec society.

Every tourist visiting Quebec always goes out to the Falls of Montmorency, about nine miles below the city. Close to the brink of the chasm into which the Montmorency River hurls itself there stood in 1791, as there stands to-day with some additions, a country residence of wood, two storeys in height, plainly built, and yet not without a certain air of beauty and dignity. Its builder was Gen. Sir Frederick Haldimand, Governor of Canada during the closing years of the War of the Revolution. To this building, Haldimand gave the name of "Mansion House," and here he resided during a number of years.

In December, 1791—that is, about three months after the arrival at Quebec of the Duke of Kent—the property was offered for sale, as the following advertisement reads: "For sale, the elegant villa of the late Sir Frederick Haldimand, K.B., delightfully situated near the Falls of Montmorency, with the farm house."

The property passed into the possession of the Duke of Kent, and it became his favorite summer residence It was called "Kent House," and so it is known to this day. A large wing has been added, practically doubling the capacity of the house, but most fortunately the new part is built in exactly the same style as that of the old part, so that the simple beauty of the building has not been destroyed. To-day Kent House is a place of public entertainment.

The duke's winter residence stood nearly opposite the old Quebec Court House, which was burned in 1873.

Stole Money for Sweetheart.

Chicago, May 2.—Mary Reynolds, ticket agent, employed by the Illinois Central Railroad, who told the police a story of being held up and robbed of $150 by two men in the station Tuesday night, confessed yesterday that she had concocted the story of the robbery and had given the money to her sweetheart.

"I took the money and gave it to Charles Duff," she said. "We were soon to be married and neither of us had much money. The money is hidden in a cigar box, buried at the base of a telegraph pole at Fifth avenue and Michigan avenue."

QUEEN OUTRAGED MINISTER.

Prime Minister's Stiff-Necked Standards Levelled by Royal Employer

Rome, May 8.—The German ambassador, Von Jagow, is nothing if not a thing of prejudices and etiquette. The other day he upset, or tried to upset, a reception tendered by various artists to Queen Marguerite.

Among the ladies present his excellency noticed Madame Bocklin, the widow of the famous painter.

"That woman is impossible," he decreed. "She must not go near her majesty. She is unfit to breathe the same air as her majesty, for at one time, I understand, she was a model.

While his ambassadorship was still airing his views on models, Queen Marguerite walked in. The first woman she recognized was Madame Bocklin.

"Hello, dear," she said. "I am so glad to see you."

Declined the Invitation.

A somewhat striking story dealing with the now obsolete conventional suicide, harakiri, or "happy dispatch," once common in Japan, was once told by the French Admiral Gourdon. When he was a young man he had a comrade who, having assisted in the organizing of the Japanese navy, was subsequently raised to the rank of admiral in that force. He took the part of the tycoon against the mikado in the revolutionary war and, having been captured, was tried by court martial and sentenced to death, which in those days implied harakiri. When, however, the fatal sword was presented to him he flatly refused to kill himself and declared that if he was to die somebody else must kill him. Threats and entreaties alike proved unavailing. He resolutely refused. The whole of Japan was scandalised at such immoral behavior, which, however, saved his life. The Japanese penal code had never contemplated such a contingency as a man inhuman enough to refuse the harakiri, and in the end he was banished from the country and returned to France.

The Martinet.

"The martinet never succeeds. A typical martinet was the well known one who, having ordered his men to change their shirts and then, having learned that they had no shirts to change, said in that event they must change shirts with each other. I heard yesterday of still another type of martinet."

The speaker was an old West Pointer, says the Washington Star. He continued:

"This chap, a captain, strode up to one of his men and said, with a fearful frown:

"'It was the colonel, sir,' the man replied.

"'Very well then,' said the captain sharply. 'Let it stay there. And your leave's stopped for a week, my man, for calling your colonel an idiot.'"

Roadless Russia.

Russia is a roadless land. It is inconceivable to the foreign visitor who has ever left the beaten track of the railways in Russia how a great empire can have subsisted so long and so successfully amid the competition of the rival states beyond its borders without even a pretense at roads.

The secret, of course, lies in the fact that for five or six months in the year nature herself provides roads over the greater part of the expanse of all the Russias, admirably smooth, glassy roadways over hard worn snow. The traffic is further cheapened over these roads by the substitution of a sledge runner for the wheel and axle. This brings the cost of land carriage as near the cheapness of water borne freight as possible, and it is the principal reason why Russia in the twentieth century is still a roadless land.—London Standard.

Wrong Interpretation.

A city official tells of a conversation he and a Spanish maiden had when he was a sergeant, with troops stationed on the island of Porto Rico.

"The senorita," said the official, "had become infatuated with a certain soldier named Harry, and she had learned his name. One morning she approached me and asked:

"'Where Harry?'

"He was asleep, and I laid my head on my hand and closed my eyes to tell the girl. She misunderstood the signs and, with a cry, pointed to heaven. I shook my head and pointed down. The senorita raised her hands in silent supplication. Later Harry was seen on guard, and the girl looked at me reproachfully."—Indianapolis News.

(St. Louis) on the African crusade and, finding that nothing had been accomplished and that the army was about to return in disgrace to France, refused to go, took leave of his friends, partook of the sacrament, mounted his horse fully equipped for battle and, in sight of the whole army, charged alone into the Saracen camp, where he was at once cut to pieces.

FISHERMAN IS A BARON

NOVA SCOTIAN HAS FASCINATING FAMILY HISTORY.

The Baron of Pubnico Is the Lineal Descendant of a Noble Family In Acadia, Which Resisted the Order of Expulsion—He Is Humble But Proud, and Blood Has Been Kept Unsullied.

Simply a fisherman; a toiler of the sea; a mender of nets, and yet "A High and Mighty Lord"; head of a once puissant House. He is Hilaire D'Entremont, Baron of Pubnico. In the days when early Canadian history was in the making the title which he bears was one to be conjured with, for were not the holders, owners of all the vast acres of what is now Western Nova Scotia? Times have changed since the La Tours and the D'Entremonts held sway in Acadia, and of the greatness that once was theirs but little remains. All that is left is the title: a title which is still recognized and entitles the holder to all the dignities and rights of nobility. The present baron is a humble fisherman, and the history of this kindly old gentleman and his family is deeply interesting.

It was in the year 1653 that unto Charles de St. Etienne Seigneur de la Tour was granted the Patent of Nobility which made him master of that vast tract of country that stretches from Annapolis on the east to Pubnico on the West. The precious document which conferred on his forebear that title which commanded so much obeisance and respect, is retained by the present baron and reads as follows:

The Patent.

"Was present and appeared personally the High and Mighty Lord Charles de St. Etienne, Seigneur de La Tour, Knight of the Orders of the King, and his Lieutenant-General in all the extent, towns and coasts of Acadia, Country of New France, and proprietor of the places called Pipigimiche, following and confirming to the concession which he has had at this date, January 15, 1636, received it and voluntarily recognizes and acknowledges to have these presents resigned, conferred perpetually under the title of barronage and noble fief, having high, middle and low justice holden directly from the said place in the said Acadia as a dominant fief granted to the nobleman Philippe Meuse, Ecuyer, Sieur D'Entremont, and Lady Madeleine Helis, his wife, and nobleman Pierre Ferrant and Lady Mathuerine Sicard, his wife being present and accepting for their heirs from us according to the power given by His Majesty (the King) shown in the Letters Patent dated February 20, 1650, in consideration of the particular merit of the said Lords D'Entremont and Ferrant and to their said wives in equal participation the extent called Pobomcoup (Pubnico) to be enjoyed by them and their successors, and having cause and full proprietorship, rights of justice and seigneury forever under the title of barronage and noble fief, on conditions of rendering a homage by the presentation of beaver skin and two bouquets at the anniversary of St. Jean de Baptiste, each year, according to the code of Paris. The said Lords D'Entremont and Ferrant, their heirs and successors shall have perpetual right of the chase and fishes in the waters and woods of the said lands on condition of rendering said homage to said Lord de La Tour and his successors for the land and barronage of Pubnico.

Given and passed at Fort Port Royal (Acadia), the 17th July, 1653, in the presence of the witnesses hereafter signing:

(Signed) Charles De St. Etienne.
Emmanul La Boigne de St. Mais.
Philippe Meuse D'Entremont.
Pierre Ferrant.
Madeleine Helis.
Mathuerine Sicard.
La Vierdure."

Shortly after the army that had been sent to America by Cromwell captured Acadia from the French, the two great families of La Tour and D'Entremont were joined by marriage. Two daughters of the High and Mighty Lord La Tour became the wives of Philippe Meuse D'Entremont. Soon the Nova Scotia La Tours had all died, and thus it fell that the title to the barronage vested in the D'Entremonts, in which family it has remained to this day.

Blood Still Pure.

More than two centuries have passed, but the lineage of the Barons of Pubnico has continued unsullied. No foreign blood has been mixed with theirs, it is still as pure as when the inhabitants of Pubnico first paid homage to their new lord. Directly, from son to father, Hilaire D'Entremont traces his descent from Philippe Meuse, the D'Entremont of the grant; his family is not collateral; it is the same line that flourished in the days before the Lilies of France gave way to the Roses of England, in the vast Dominions over seas. His family were makers of history, hewers of destiny, and the present baron is rightfully proud of the "glory that once was ours."

All readers of history will remember that when Acadia was ceded to the English, there was a stipulation in the treaty which exempted the French in Acadia from taking the oath of allegiance, or bearing arms against the French in that portion of Canada which still remained to France. In all the new world there was no land like this. The forests were virgin, and game abounded through miles of wonderful timber limits upon which no white man had placed a foot. Streams teemed with fish; brooklets watered the pastures; and on all sides lay productive farms. But the French had been there long years before the English, they had tilled the soil for years; and of the richest of this rich land they were

A Startling Lecture.

Mr. J. M. Barrie has given us a whimsical description of Professor Campbell Fraser, the famous author and dramatist having been at one time one of the professor's pupils. "I see him rising in a daze from his chair," says Mr. Barrie, "and putting his hands through his hair. 'Do I exist,' he said thoughtfully, 'strictly so called?' The students looked a little startled. This was a matter that had not previously disturbed them. Still, if the professor was in doubt there must be something in it. He began to argue it out, and an uncomfortable silence held the room in awe. If he did not exist the chances were that they did not exist either. It was thus a personal question. It was no wonder that the students who do not go to the bottom during their first month of metaphysics begin to give themselves airs, strictly so called. In the privacy of their room at the top of the house they pinch themselves to see if they are still there."—Pearson's Weekly.

Wonders of a Book.

There is perhaps no greater wonder than a book. By the help of little figures upon spins or paper men have been able to transmit their thoughts through thousands of years. The names and shapes of things, the deeds and sorrows that have occurred as far back as Adam, have been made known to us. Even those invisible and abstract thoughts which have no shape or substance, but which inspired the writer and have since inspired others, are all put down in the little letters and made eternal. The songs of David, the speculations of Plato, the visions of Homer, have by these means been handed down faithfully for many centuries and distributed among mankind. If there were no books our knowledge would almost be confined to the limit of sight and hearing. All that we could not see or hear would be to us like the inhabitants of the planet Saturn—a mere matter of idle conjecture.—Barry Cornwall.

Mother at Prayer.

Once, says a writer, I suddenly opened the door of my mother's room and saw her on her knees beside her chair and heard her speak my name in prayer. I quickly and quietly withdrew with a feeling of awe and reverence in my heart. Soon I went away from home to school, then to college, then into life's sterner duties. But I never forgot that one glimpse of my mother at prayer nor the one word—my own name—which I heard her utter. Well did I know that what I had seen that day was but a glimpse of what was going on every day in that sacred closet of prayer, and the consciousness strengthened me a thousand times in duty, in danger and in struggle. When death came at last and sealed those lips the sorest sense of loss I felt was the knowledge that no more would my mother be praying for me.

Court Fools.

Court jesters were either misshapen, half imbecile midgets, whose senseless remarks were welcomed with laughter; quick witted, half mad fellows or poor, merry poets who devoted themselves to the task for the income which it brought.

It was their business in medieval times to entertain kings and nobles with amusing sallies.

English jesters made use of calfskin coats, which buttoned down the back and protected them from the anger of those who were provoked at their satirical thrusts.

A fool's cap was adorned with three asses' ears and a cock's comb and worn on a shorn head. He had a wide collar, carried a scepter, and his costume and cap were decorated with bells.

Animals That Smoke.

The writer was extracting solace after the petty worries of the day from his well seasoned brier when it was suddenly revealed to him what sort of creature he really was in an extract he happened across from a work on "The Common Use of Tobacco:" "There are but three kinds of animals which generally use tobacco—the rock goat of Africa, whose stench is so insufferable that no other animal can approach it; the tobacco worm, whose intolerable visage gives to every beholder an involuntary shudder," and the third animal—which is he!—London Chronicle.

Largest Crystal of Beryl.

It remained for a Turk, wandering far from his native land, to find the largest crystal of beryl (aquamarine) ever discovered, a long distance inland in Brazil. It was dug out at a shallow depth, transported by canoe to the coast and finally sold at Bahia, bringing the finder, it is said, $25,000. According to estimates, this crystal would furnish fully 2,000,000 carats of aquamarines of various sizes.—Argonaut.

Life's Three Questions.

The three great questions of life are: "Is it right or wrong? Is it true or false? Is it beautiful or ugly?" These our education should help us to answer, and inasmuch as it fails it will lack in reaching a proper physical or moral standard.—Harper's Bazar.

Speaking English.

Almost any one who speaks English might be put down successively in half a dozen places where English is supposed to be the mother tongue and hear as many dialects spoken, not one of which he would understand until it was interpreted. An old Lancashire worthy and a London lady were one day occupants of a railway carriage. The train had been waiting long at a certain station, and there was no appearance of it starting when the worthy remarked:

"They're a gly, tanglesome lot here."

"I beg your pardon," said the lady.

"I'm sayin' they're a gey daidlin' lot here."

"I really beg your pardon, sir."

"I'm observin' they are a vera dreich lot here the nicht."

"Really I must again beg your pardon. I don't comprehend you."

"I was just tryin' to say that the train was late."

"Indeed, sir, it is—very late," agreed the lady and then collapsed.—London Tit-Bits.

Orderliness Is Big Asset.

To teach children habits of neatness, system and order is to insure some degree, at least, of success. Yet they are often brought up amid disorder and confusion, allowed to throw things down just where they use them and to form slovenly and slipshod habits. They are not taught to put things where they belong, and consequently they grow up shackled with handicaps which they can rarely throw off.

If there is any delusion in the world it is that doing "things just for now," dropping things wherever one may happen to be temporarily, saves time. On the contrary, this is a great time waster and a great demoralizer of character. A bad habit not only tends to repeat itself, but to increase the tendency in that direction.

If you were not taught the beautiful lesson of orderliness in your youth, teach it to yourself now.—Success Magazine.

Needed a Sea Turn.

Captain Lane had retired from active pursuit of his beloved calling and had turned his attention to town affairs. Having succeeded in rousing the citizens to the need of a drinking fountain and also to the need of two coats of paint on the town hall, Captain Lane felt himself a valued and important person.

One day he was asked by a sojourner in the town to give his opinion of the present administration.

"It's pretty fair," said the captain slowly. "Of course there's things that could be different and would be better so, but on the whole 'tis pretty fair. But now I'll tell ye—I'm speaking from experience, you understand—things at the seat o' gover'ment won't be run as they could be run till the people o' this country make up their minds to stop confining their votes to landlubbers!"—Youth's Companion.

A Correction.

In a town of such size that every one knows every one else it is often customary to speak of people by their first names, even when one would not do so to their faces. The butcher is known as Joe Smith, the grocer as Frank Parsons, the lawyer as Will Andrews, and no offense is meant or taken. One day a friend was helping a teacher of the industrial school to put hats and coats on forty little members of the kindergarten class. Two little tow headed girls attracted her attention, and as she tied their hoods she asked:

"Are you Charlie Porter's little girls?" Two serious little blue eyes looked up as the elder replied:

"His name was Charlie when he was a little boy. He's Mr. Porter now."—Exchange.

The Moral.

"The persistency with which children see in a fable some other moral than the one which it is intended that they shall see is often distressing," remarks a Philadelphia instructor of the young. "I had recited to one little boy the story of the wolf and the lamb and had followed it up with the remark:

"'And now you see, Tommy, that the lamb would not have been eaten by the wolf if he had been good and sensible.'

"'Yes, I understand,' said Tommy. 'If the lamb had been good and sensible we should have had him to eat!'"—Lippincott's.

A Hotel Experience.

"There are two classes of arrivals who ask you to register for them," said a hotel clerk yesterday. "One is the woman with tight gloves who really cannot write. The other is the men who arrive after 11 p. m. and who say: 'Just register (hic), old man, will you? Been carrying this grip and m' hand's so nervous I couldn't hold a pen.'"—New York Sun.

Lost Days.

"You used to say," she complained, "that you counted that day lost when you did not hear the sound of my voice."

"Yes, I know," he replied, "and I shall never cease to long for those dear lost days."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Secret Blotter.

Every foreign office of Europe acts on the theory that an army of spies is constantly on the alert to steal its secrets, and infinite precautions are taken to baffle their efforts. Very shortly after the first use of blotting paper it was discovered that it was quite possible to cause a blotting pad to give up jealously guarded secrets by simply holding it in front of a mirror. Long after all the commercial world had forgotten the existence of such a thing the British foreign office used a sand shaker to dry its important written documents. Then specially manufactured black blotting paper was used, but this was not found to be absolutely spy proof, and a return to the sand shaker was contemplated when some one suggested the simple expedient of a small absorbent roller. These rollers have since been used for drying diplomatic documents. When such a roller has been run up and down and across a document once or twice the cleverest spy in the world is at liberty to try his hand at deciphering the impressions.

It Didn't Work.

"The late Andrew Gernand of Baltimore was an inventor who devoted his life to perpetual motion, pausing by the way to invent for one son a corn reaper that brought in $1,000,000, and for another son a corn sheller that netted an almost equal fortune."

The speaker, an official of the patent office in Washington, shook his head sadly.

"Once," he resumed, "I ventured to take the brilliant Gernand to task. I told him he was wasting his time on perpetual motion. I said that there ought to be a law forbidding all perpetual motion work.

"'Do you think,' said he, 'that a law forbidding work on perpetual motion would do much good?'

"'I'm sure it would,' said I.

"'And yet you must remember,' said Mr. Gernand with a twinkle in his eye, 'that there was a law forbidding apples in the garden of Eden.'"—Los Angeles Times.

A Duplex Church.

Old Heidelberg is justly celebrated for its castle, for the great tun therein which holds 83,000 bottles of wine and was actually filled on three occasions, and for the ancient university with one professor for each seven students; but perhaps the most interesting thing in the old city from one point of view is the Church of the Holy Ghost.

This church is one of the most ancient buildings in the town. Long ago a partition wall was run through the center, and services are held simultaneously according to the Roman Catholic and the Protestant rituals.

In the year 1791 the Elector, Charles Philip, attempted to stop the dual services, but this so offended the Heidelbergers that he was compelled not only to desist in this effort, but to remove the electoral court to Mannheim.—Harper's.

"Railways" and "Railroads."

We are all speaking of "railways" now instead of "railroads," as they do in America. Both words seem to be of about equal age in this country. Cobbett in 1832 wrote of "rail-ways" with the hyphen, Scott in 1831 of "railroads." But already in 1838 an engineering journal declared that "railway" by this time seemed to be generally adopted as the popular form, though nearly twenty years later Ruskin still talked of "railroads." It is curious that America has preserved the word which remembers the descent of the railway from the old road, while Americans speak of "engineers" and "conductors" where we say "drivers" and "guards," perpetuating the old coaching words.—London Spectator.

Sartorial Discord.

Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood was greatly attached to a regiment of highlanders when the latter were stationed at Portsmouth. Sir Evelyn, then a captain, one day returned from London and with great hurry proceeded to array himself for parade. When he at last emerged he observed that his men were evidently at great pains to conceal their laughter, and he quietly questioned his subaltern as to the probable reason. "Well, sir," replied the latter, "you are dressed correctly as to kilt, sporran and all the rest of it, but you have forgotten to remove your tall hat!"

Safer at a Distance.

"That member of congress says you have voted for him for the last fifteen years."

"That's right," replied Farmer Corntossel.

"You must think a lot of him."

"Well, I dunno. You see, fifteen years ago I had a couple o' hoss trades with him, an' since then I've allus felt safer with him spendin' so much of his time in Washington."—Washington Star.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS.

The man and his wife, or perhaps it might be more proper these days to say the lady and her husband, had been having one of those cute little breakfast table chats wherein husband and wife twit each other about their relatives and get very personal in their observations. These things happen in the best regulated families occasionally.

The argument had grown heated and had reached the point where the wife usually makes up her mind to go home to mother when the telephone bell rang. The wife answered the telephone. A sweet voice asked over the phone:

"Are you having trouble?"

"Well, of all things!" snapped the wife in reply. "What if we are? It's none of your business."

"Oh, yes, it is some of my business. Locating trouble is the only thing I do."

"Well, you've got a nerve," replied the wife. "The idea of butting into private family matters like that"—

"If you had reported your trouble to me I would have had it attended to. One of your neighbors reported it."

"One of the neighbors? Great Scott! Could the neighbors hear it?"

"Your neighbor reported it this morning."

"Well, I'd thank my neighbors to attend to their own affairs. My husband and I settle our difficulties without help from them or from you. Who are you anyway?"

"I am calling you from the trouble department of the telephone company. The neighbor reported that there was something wrong with your phone."

"For the love of Mike!" shrieked the wife as she dropped the telephone receiver and nearly fainted away. "Caught with the goods!"—Brooklyn Eagle.

DICKENS AS AN ACTOR.

When Boz Became a Writer the Stage Lost a Star.

No one ever paid a much higher tribute to Dickens than did Kate Field. She had the soul of a poet, a discriminating taste in art and literature and wide knowledge of the world. In mentality she was fully as strong as either of her brilliant brothers, David Dudley, Stephen J. or Cyrus W., and she certainly was as good if not a better judge of character.

She once wrote an appreciation of Dickens in which she declared the world lost its greatest actor when Boz became a writer. She gave a description of one of the Dickens readings in New York that was masterly in its vividness of detail. Such versatility as she credited Dickens with displaying as he assumed the character of first one and then another of his creations, the pathos, the humor, the tragedy he put into a tone; the marvelous way in which he stirred the emotions of old and young in his audience, would appear to be a bit extravagant were it not that now and then some old man, looked upon as stern and unemotional, tells with faltering voice how he stood in line all one night to buy a ticket to one of Boz's readings and then goes on to talk just about as Miss Field wrote, only before he gets far along in his story the tears are running down his wrinkled cheeks—his old heartstrings still atune to the magic of the master as he saw him.—New York Press.

An Old Time Feminine Fad.

A century or more ago women in England were as keen for fads as they are today. In the journal of the Hon. Mrs. Charles Calvert, edited by Mrs. Warrenne Blake, we find recorded on May 4, 1808: "I begin a new science today—shoemaking. It is all the fashion. I had a master with me for two hours, and I think I shall be able to make very nice shoes. It amuses and occupies me, which at present is very useful to me." Mrs. Calvert appears to have proved a very apt pupil, for the very next day appears the triumphant entry, "I have just finished a shoe by myself."—London Spectator.

Old Furniture.

The ordinary furniture polish, very useful when the furniture is comparatively new or well preserved, will not always fill the bill. When furniture is old and badly scratched any desired shade of wood stain mixed with equal proportions of spirits of turpentine will bring back the original shade and newness. Had His Doubts.

THE DOUKHOBORS.

Their Religion and Community System of Living.

The Doukhobors, the peculiar Russian religious sect of peasants who emigrated to Canada in such large numbers in 1899, and of whom so much was heard a few years later on account of their conflict with the Dominion Government, form the theme of an article—by N. Syrkin, of New York — in Suddeutsche Monatshefte (Munich).

Mr. Syrkin traces in this article the Doukhobors' stormy history and expatiates upon their strange beliefs. He says, among other things:

"The nucleus of the Doukhobor faith is solely recorded in the reports sent in by the community in the 18th century to the Russian Government, because after Pobirokin's idea their faith should be shown forth in their life alone. We read that the human body is for the soul only a temporary prison where it can have no other aim than the manifestation of God; that the first men had neither customs nor religious institutions but were illumined by the Holy Ghost, and that later by the power of evil creeds and laws arose. Under Catherine II. and Paul the Doukhobors underwent severe persecutions, under Nicholas I. in 1842 they were exiled to Tiflis in the Caucasus in the hope that they would die out. The Doukhobors, however, made friends with the wild hillmen, prospered agriculturally in spite of the desert and rocky foothills, and were strengthened to endure another persecution in 1895. Then Peter Werigin undertook the leadership of the community's practical and mystical life, prohibiting smoking, wine and meat. As a consequence of the schism of the "Small party" Werigin and his disciples were banished to Siberia. In 1895 the Doukhobors burnt their weapons publicly and refused to take part in the Government suppressions and military service. After ordering the maltreating of women and children and massacre of unresisting old men, the Government expulsed four thousand Doukhobors from their villages and drove them into the Grusinian villages where over a thousand died of privation. The men available for military service were sent for 18 years to the criminal battalion in Siberia. In 1898 through the combined efforts of Tolstoi and the Society of Friends in England, funds were raised and the Czar's permission obtained for the emigration of the sect to Cyprus, which being found unsuitable, in 1899 over eight thousand Doukhobors were granted lands by the Canadian Government in the Province of Assiniboia near Yorktown and of Saskatchewan near Thunder Hill and Prince Albert.

Mr. Syrkin notes that on the arrival of Peter Werigin in Canada the return to the traditional Doukhoborism and the introduction of modern agricultural methods began. Werigin disowned the pilgrimages and discarders of clothing and organized the communities into a central union. The patriarchal life is strictly adhered to and work is more the contented occupation of energy than the curse of bread earned in the sweat of the brow. Everything is left to the good will and judgment of the individual, the administration is at a nominal cost, as the elders work. Annually 1,000 adults are sent as day laborers for the railways, and after the deduction of their living expenses they return the greater part of their wage to the common treasury. One of the largest and best brick-making plants in Canada has been founded by the Doukhobors at Yorktown, and the communities have paid their debts, and even eighteen months after their arrival in Canada, wrote to the English Quakers to cease pecuniary gifts and apply them to others more needy.

But even under Werigin the Doukhobors have not found peace. True to their belief in common property they have finally refused to become Canadian subjects and consequently have lost the greater part of their homesteads of about the value of two million dollars, retaining only about fifteen acres for each member of a community.

Friends Didn't Know Him.

The House of Commons enjoyed a genuine sensation recently. Mr. Emmanuel Devlin, the eloquent member for Wright, has for years worn a luxuriant moustache and a bunch of waving black hair which would have done credit to any embryo artist or musician. But the barber bided his time and finally got Emmanuel. The latter is a faithful attendant in the Chamber, and the long night debates, followed by the recently inaugurated morning proceedings, proved too much for tired nature. According to the story going the rounds of the corridors, Mr. Devlin fell asleep under the operations of the tonsorial expert and when he awoke found himself minus his moustache and sporting a reel short military hair-cut. This was, in itself, bad enough. But other tribulations awaited him when he reached the House out of breath just after prayers en Francais. He had doffed overcoat and chapeau and was heading into the Chamber when Joe Demers, of St. John and Iberville, spotted him and gave the alarm. "A stranger coming into the House," was the appalling whisper with which Demers startled Mr. H. W. Bowie, the stalwart deputy Sergeant-at-Arms. Mr. Bowie is nothing if not alert and efficient. He gripped his sword and started menacingly towards the supposed intruder, waving at him to halt. Mr. Devlin was late, and wasn't halting. Member and officer met within the doors of the Chamber. The latter conducted a searching inspection, but Mr. Devlin finally established his identity. And he maintains that the officer most gallantly atoned for his error by observing: "Well, sir, you cut ten years off your age."—H.W.A. in Canadian Courier.

This Is a Busy Farmer.

A remarkable sight was witnessed recently at High River, Alberta, where a farmer was reaping and threshing grain, and plowing for spring seeding all on the same plot of land.

FATHERING FARMERS

Hundreds of Ready-Made Farms are Also to be Stocked.

The company intends to select 25 farms of 160 acres each, erect buildings, stock and plant the farm, providing even the pigs and chickens, and then put suitable men in charge either as joint owners or on fixed salaries.

When the farmer has demonstrated his ability to handle the farm, he will be permitted to purchase it with the equipment at the cost price to the company, on the instalment plan.

NO BY-ELECTIONS NOW

Ottawa, May 8.—It is expected that the bye-elections in the four ridings which are now open will not be held until fall just before the next sitting of Parliament. There are four seats open. Kootenay, Macdonald, South Simcoe and Richelieu. Kootenay and South Simcoe are expected to go by acclamation to the Government.

To Search for Young McTaggart.

Mystery still surrounds the death of young McTaggart of Fenelon Falls who disappeared several months ago. Last December McTaggart and a couple of other young men, who were working in a mill in the vicinity of Kinmount, left for Coboconk to attend a dance. While there a brawl took place, with no serious results, but it was reported that on the way home another scrap ensued between the two young men, and that McTaggart was left on the roadside. At any rate he has never been heard of since. Sunday a search party left Fenelon Falls in a gasoline yacht and seven canoes, and a careful investigation will be made.

A Hint to Local Anglers.

This is the time of year that hundreds of Peterborough fishermen are getting out their rods and tackle and thinking of bait. Now the homely angle worm is possibly the most generally used bait. Here is a hint how to capture these red wriggling recipients of a bass' attention. Take a broom handle three and a half feet long, drive it into the spot likely to be inhabited by angle worms. Leave about six inches of an end sticking up. Then take a rough board and rub it over the top of the broom handle. The rubbing will cause a vibration of the earth, and the worms, angry and disturbed, will work their way out of the ground. You may thus get a pail full of worms in a short time.

Ald. Gordon is determined that dealers and hucksters on the market, shall not be permitted to buy before 11 a.m.

Mr. John Horner, formerly section foreman on the G.T.R., has been appointed watchman at the G. T. R. railroad bridge.

Mr. W. H. Spencely has asked $100 from the Council for damages resulting from the Downie street flood. The claim will receive careful consideration.

A Big Boom in Bricks.

Judging by a chat that a Times' representative had with Mr. Mark Curtis, the veteran brick manufacturer, yesterday, building operations must be going to boom here this summer. Mr. Curtis remarked that his firm, last year, turned out $3,500,000 bricks, whilst this year they are making over four millions.

A Possible New St. Paul's Organist.

Those in charge of the musical matters of St. Paul's Church, who have to provide a successor to Mr. John Crane, their late organist have given a trial to Mr. John Nicol, a Scotchman, at present at Campbellford. He made a good impression on those of the committee and congregation who heard him in a few organ selections.

Valuable Book for Horsemen.

This book is most valuable to horsemen, and contains, not only schedules, but advice to beginners and receipts.

Coroner Greer Denies Rumor.

There seems to be a whole lot of unfounded excitement over the sad drowning accident, at Baxter's Creek whereby James Peters, assistant fishery inspector lost his life. The gossip even has gone the length of saying that an inquest will be asked for. The Times last night called up Coroner Dr. Greer and asked his opinion. Dr. Greer replied that he had thoroughly investigated the case and could find no reason for putting the county to a big expense. If the friends or relatives can produce the slightest evidence to show foul play, an inquest will at once be inaugurated.

Winning a Bet.

Lord Marcus Beresford is, like all the Waterford family, full of high spirits. There is but one person entitled to drive down Rotten row—the Duke of St. Albans—and it is doubtful if ever he cares to exercise the privilege. But Lord Marcus bet he would do it in broad daylight and without interference. The wager was accepted and the time fixed for the adventure about noon. All Lord Marcus' friends came trooping along to see him, but time went on, and nothing could be seen of the sportsman.

By and by a watering cart came along, driven by the usual waterman in a smock. As the car passed along leisurely the driver smiled, and on closer observation Lord Marcus' friends recognized the winner of the wager.—London Sketch.

A Window Washer's View.

A window washer was called upon one day to clean the windows of a business concern on the nineteenth floor of a skyscraper in lower Broadway. The cleaner paused in wonderment as he passed through the lines of typewriter operators as they clicked off their correspondence and went to the window and fastened the two straps dangling from his belt to hooks at the side of the window frame. He cast another surprised glance at the men operating the typewriters, and as he swung outward over the dizzy height, his weight sustained by the slender straps, he muttered:

The Greatest Traveler.

By migrating from pole to pole the arctic tern becomes the greatest traveler in the world and also manages to enjoy more daylight than any other bird. It has been found nesting within 500 miles of the pole. When the young are grown the entire family leave for the south and some months later are found skirting the edges of the antarctic. As the daylight season draws to a close in the far south the long journey north is undertaken.

A Privilege Usurped.

"What about?" inquired Mr. Dolan.

"I think it's a kind of jealousy. Casey came around with a black eye that she didn't give him."—Exchange."

New Steamer Launched.

Collingwood, May 1.—The launching of the new Canadian Government steamer "Estivan," which is to be used in the lighthouse service on the Pacific Coast, took place at the yards of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co. here yesterday afternoon. Miss Helen Currie, daughter of Major J. A. Currie, M.P. for North Simcoe, christened the boat. Following the ceremony, a banquet was held at which Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, spoke. The banquet was tendered by the Collingwood Board of Trade in honor of the two Cabinet Ministers and Major Currie, and was the most notable in the history of the town.

Hon. Mr. Hazen delivered an address on the large program before the Government in the matter of shipbuilding and ship industries, and general marine improvements. The visitors were later entertained at a civic luncheon.

Box and Its Meanings.

The word "box" has a great many different meanings. Here are some of its uses as a noun substantive: First, a case of any size or material, akin to pyx, from pyxus, the box tree; second, the driver's seat on a carriage, which often has a lid covering a receptacle for small parcels; third, a present, especially a gift at Christmas time; fourth, inclosed seats in a theater or in a court of justice; fifth, a box drain; sixth, a snug private house, as a shooting box; seventh, a cylindrical hollow iron in wheels, in which the axle runs; eighth, a trough for cutting miters in carpentry; ninth, the space between the backboard and sternpost of a boat; tenth, an awkward position—e. g., "in the wrong box;" eleventh, the box tree; twelfth, the box iron of a laundress. Box is used also as a verb, to fight with fists or gloves; fourteenth, to go over the points of the compass in order, describing its divisions; fifteenth, to strike with open hand upon the ear; sixteenth, to cause a vessel to turn on her keel, to box haul. Other uses also are consequent upon these.

Two Clever Statesmen.

One crisis in Lord Palmerston's life illustrates the absolute good humor which may prevail even when political enmity is at its worst. Lord Derby had made an attack upon him in the upper house with such energy and eloquence that the odds against him seemed overwhelming. But he defended himself and his policy from the dusk of one day to the dawn of another with such tact, dexterity and force of appeal to the national sense of honor that he was acquitted of all blame by a majority of fourscore.

Next day in passing through the corridor leading from an anteroom to the upper house one swing door opened to his hand and at the same moment the other to that of Lord Derby. They were opponents, but they were also manly and sweet natured men. They smiled.

"I was just thinking," said Palmerston, "what a clever fellow he was who so nearly put me in a hole!"

"Ah," was the rejoinder, "but nothing like the cleverness of the fellow who got you out of it!"

FREAKS OF DYNAMITE.

One That Was Lucky For the Man Down in the Mine Shaft.

"Not long ago," said a Leadville mining man, "there occurred one of those freaks of dynamite in one of the deep shafts of the Carbonate camp that might not happen again in a thousand years.

"Two men at the bottom of a shaft had put in five four and one-half foot holes which were to be exploded with dynamite cartridges 1½ inches in diameter. As is usual in such cases, they gave the customary signals to the hoisting engineer and after lighting the fuse stepped on the bale of the bucket and started upward. When about ten feet from the bottom one of the men had an epileptic fit and toppled out. His partner tried to reach the bell cord to stop the bucket, but it was too late. The bell cord could be reached only from the lower part of the shaft. When the engineer saw only one man come through the collar of the shaft at the surface his face blanched.

"'Where's Jim?' he asked excitedly.

"Quickly the miner related the circumstances and exhibited his hand, bloody from contact with the sharp rock in an effort to reach the bell cord before the bucket entered the timbering. The men, their hearts beating

Why Shoes Have Tongues.

Every one that wears lace shoes knows that there is a tongue of leather under the place where the two sides of the shoe meet, but there is none in button shoes. Probably very few persons know that this is a comparatively modern idea and is not for the purpose of keeping the laces from hurting the instep, but is to keep out rain and snow. There would be no discomfort if the laces touched the sock, but no matter how closely a shoe may be laced up there is always a slight space which would allow rain to reach the stocking.—New York Sun.

A NEW FACE WITHOUT SURGICAL SKIN PEELING

"I do not approve of the surgical operation of face peeling," says Julia Orff. "It's too radical, too often dangerous. There's a better way of removing offensive complexions and one that is entirely safe and rational. Ordinary mercolized wax causes the devitalized scarf skin to come off but gradually and gently. Unlike the surgical process the skin is not forcibly taken off in big pieces all at once, but almost invisible flaky particles are absorbed by the wax, and from ten days to two weeks are required to complete the transformation. There's no pain, no discomfort.

"Nature renews complexions the same way, shedding tiny cutaneous scales day by day. But deficient circulation, or other abnormal condition, may interfere with the shedding—a 'bad complexion' results. Then mercolized wax assists nature by hastening the removal of the aged, faded or discolored top skin. Thus only the lively, young, healthy-hued skin is in evidence, as in robust girlhood. This is why mercolized wax produces the indescribable beauty of ever-renewing youth. The wax is put on at night like cold cream, and washed off in the morning. You can procure it at any druggist's; an ounce is sufficient."

A Talented Lady Speaker.

Last night, Miss Rattie, field secretary of the Social and Moral Reform League of the Presbyterian Church, gave an address in Knox Church. This talented speaker is singular in that she did not see a bible until over 30 years of age.

Local Ball Players Meet.

The local ball tossers have got acquainted. A meeting was held in Dr. Wightman's office, when a love feast was held. The local bunch are a sturdy lot and will undoubtedly carry Peterborough's colors to the front. The directors have every faith that Manager Templin will make good and coach his players well.

A Hint For Local Gardeners.

Yesterday a local citizen showed The Times a specimen of climbing arbutus sent here from Duluth, Minn. by a former Peterborough girl, now a resident of the former city. The arbutus has a blossom that radiates its perfume through the snow in spring and would evidently be adapted to local climatic conditions.

Local Man Drowned at Ottawa.

The body of Thomas King, a former resident of Peterborough, was found in the Ottawa River on Monday. It seems that the deceased had been visiting a friend of his shortly after New Years day. He left to go after his grip, and the friend he had been calling on, thinks King must have fallen into the river accidentally. The deceased was not married. His funeral took place yesterday afternoon.

Lindsay Cabmen Controlled.

The town council of Lindsay is after their local cab-drivers. A by-law containing thirty-three clauses, has been considered. One of the important features of the by-law is the tariff fixed for funerals. It is placed at $2.50. In regard to weddings cabmen will not be allowed to charge any more for this function than any ordinary service, unless, of course, arrangements have been made with the cab owners by the parties concerned.—

Work Being Done on George-St

Out West, it is said that miners, with pick and shovel are digging up the land in their search for gold. Yesterday morning, a short section of George street looked as though prospectors were searching for gold, silver, or precious stones. Within, say, one hundred and fifty feet were three gangs of men at work. Two of the gangs were employed on repairs to the street railway tracks, and the third, putting in surface pipes.

A Pretty Douro Wedding.

The Douro Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday, when Miss Mary Frances O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Brien, became the charming bride of Mr. Joseph Vincent O'Connor, of that township. Rev. Father McGuire tied the nuptial knot.

After the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride was the recipient of many useful and costly presents.

Peterborough Students Pass.

Peterborough students at the Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering, Toronto University, have sustained the reputation of their town and won honor for themselves. The following local students passed their examinations: F. D. Austin, A. A. Richardson and J. N. Wallis, passed with honors in the first year in civil engineering. J. S. Sheehy was also successful in this department.

Electrical engineering, second year, including chemistry and laboratory work, Mr. J. A. Kerr. A. S. Anderson won the scholarship in the mechanical engineering third year class. Mechanical engineering, third year, B. D. Clegg.

Where Will Surgery End?

—A Buffalo surgeon proposes to take the internal organs of a healthy man or woman, dying suddenly, by accident, and transplant them in the body of a sick person to replace similar organs that are diseased. The next thing we will hear of is "rag and bone" man's horse having a similar operation. Just think of the excitement, as one of those revived animated skeletons, with new life, pranced down George Street with its ribs rattling an accompaniment to "Hark the revived hero comes!"

HEALTH AND BEAUTY HINTS

By Mrs. Mae Martyn.

Rose: To rid your skin of that shiny greasy, sallow look, and make it appear charming and youthful, you can use nothing better than a lotion made by dissolving four ounces spurmax in ½ pint witch hazel (or hot water), then adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This lotion will clear and whiten your skin, make it smooth and velvety, and give you a beautiful complexion. It costs very little, will not show on the skin like powwill not rub off so easily. This is really a wonderful complexion beautifier, and one which every woman should use.

Phoebe: If a strong light hurts your eyes and makes you squint, you should at once take steps to correct this weakness. Get an ounce of crystos and dissolve it in a pint of water. Put a few drops of this soothing tonic in each eye daily and you will soon find your eyes greatly strengthened, clear and sparkling. No remedy has so far been found to equal this excellent tonic for correcting weak, inflamed eyes. It makes them healthy and strong and is used by many actresses to make their eyes sparkle.

M. W.: To permanently remove those hairs, mix a little powdered delatone with water, then spread on hairy surface. After two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a painless method, and after using the delatone the skin is left soft and without a blemish.

N. B. K.: For your chronic condition of ill health take a tablespoonful of the following tonic before each meal: Dissolve in ½ pint alcohol, ½ cupful sugar and 1 ounce kardene; then add hot water to make a full quart. This excellent system-tonic and blood purifier gives splendid results in toning up the body, restoring lost appetite and color to the complexion, removing pimples, liver-blotches and sallowness. After taking a few doses you will note a big improvement in the condition of your health. It is a great energizer and health restorer.

Mrs. T. A.: I do not think it necessary for you to consult a physician about your weight. You can easily remove your burdensome fat at a small expense by dissolving 4 ounces of parnotis in 1½ pints hot water, and taking a tablespoonful before meals. This splendid fat reducer is very safe, to take, and will not injure your health. It will leave your skin free from wrinkles and flabbiness. No dieting is necessary.

Ida P.: You can't be too careful about the shampoo you use. Soap and powders should never be used on the scalp. To properly cleanse your hair and scalp without any danger of injury to the hair you will find nothing to equal a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water. Your hair will rinse easily, dry quickly without streaking or brittleness, and take on an added lustre and fluffiness that will last. No shampoo is so effective in removing dandruff, scalp irritation, and promoting hair health by keeping the scalp perfectly clean.

Mrs. S. M.: Your complexion is shiny from the use of greasy cold creams. If you will mix an ounce of almozoin and 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine in ½ pint cold water, and use this greaseless beauty cream night and morning you will not be bothered with a muddy, greasy complexion. It will make your skin ever so soft and smooth and beautiful. It clears and refines the skin as no other cream I have ever used will, and is a sure preventative against chapping, blackheads and enlarged pores.

C. W. R.: Oils, vaseline and most of the dope called "hair tonic" will never help your hair and scalp troubles. The best remedy for ridding your scalp of dandruff, itching and stopping your hair from coming out is made by mixing together one ounce quinzoin, ½ pint alcohol and ½ pint cold water. This dependable remedy will not make your scalp oily or "stringy" but will make it soft and glossy. Used twice a week it keeps the scalp in a healthy condition and promotes a vigorous growth of glossy hair.

Retiring Pastor Missed.

At the quarterly meeting of the Charlotte Street Church, a resolution was moved by Messrs. R. J. Kidd and A. B. Cunningham, expressing grateful appreciation of Rev. Mr. Henderson's work during the past four years. Mr. Henderson has been a very efficient pastor, and his removal will be very much regretted by the people of that church and also by many of the citizens of Peterborough. Mr. Henderson has accepted a charge at St. Catharines for the next conference year.

From Canoe Into the River.

What might easily have resulted in a serious catastrophy took place at noon yesterday near the C.P.R. railway bridge. It seems that a resident of the East Ward was crossing the Otonabee at that point, in a canoe. Whether his paddle was caught in an eddy or a sudden squall struck the craft, over went the canoe, and its occupant was flung into the cold water. Fortunately the accident occurred near the shore and the unfortunate man was saved.

MRS. CALVERLEY REGAINS SIGHT AFTER MANY YEARS BLINDNESS

Remarkable Case of Lippincott Street Woman, Who is Proving a Puzzle to Doctors---New Growth of Hair At the Great Age of Ninety Years

A second growth of hair at ninety is a rare occurrence, but to receive second sight at ninety-four is a still more singular occurence. Yet in the person of Mrs. Ellen Calverley, 309 Lippincott street, Toronto, both of these miracles are presented to the view of Toronto citizens.

Mrs. Calverley is now in her 96th year, and is hale and hearty as ever. Walking with a slight limp, as a result of a fall sustained a few years ago, with the aid of a light cane she still takes her daily constitutional, and it is no uncommon sight to see her in the shops of the local tradesmen bartering for the food for her household.

"She is a wonderful old lady," declared Mr. E. T. Brittain, who conducts a grocery business on the corner of Lippincott and Herrick streets a few doors from her domicile. "It is seldom that anyone can get the better of her. She can barter and buy with any of the younger ladies of the neighborhood, and I tell you she has a fine grasp on prices. As for her sight, eighteen years ago, when she first moved to this neighborhood, it was very poor, but to-day she seems to have been granted a new sight, and she can see better than I can."

When the News reporter called Mrs Calverley was in her room doing some fancy work, but she came down stairs and conversed freely.

During the course of the conversation it transpired that her sister, Mrs. Lavina Gill, also a nonogenarian, was living in the house with her and that she was the mother of ten children, nine of whom are still living, the youngest being fifty-four years of age. The other child died last January at the comparatively early age, for this family, of sixty-two!

Angry at School Board.

Mrs. Calverley was quite incensed over the action of the Board of Education in exprouriating her property, with many others, to make up the Borden street school site for the new Technical school. "Why, everybody around here owns their house, and it is a shame to turn us out liks this. The city officials had better move outside Toronto and let us stay here."

"Toronto is getting too large anyway," she continued. "Why, do you know, I lived here four years before I knew who lived across the street from me. In some places I have lived I have never known my next door neighbor.

"It was forty-nine years ago when I came to Toronto. My husband had previously taken a bush farm north of Hagersville, and we cleared a little farm there and managed to make a living.

"Farming in these days may be all right, but sixty years ago it was not so easy. First clearing a space for a house, my husband built a small log cabin, and then we started to cut a clearing around it. When I think of all the wood—oak and walnut — that we cut and burned, I feel envious."

Son in Fenian Raid.

Her son Joseph, now in Three Rivers, Manitoba, when the Fenian Raid of 1866 broke out, joined a company at Cayuga and went to Ridgeway. Her eyes lightened as she commenced to speak of him.

"We got word that he had been shot, and father went down to Cayuga, but he was told there that a mistake had been made. He was shot through his knapsack, but was not wounded seriously."

Miss Isabella Calverley, aged 72 years, maiden daughter, living with her mother, told of the scenes in Toronto when the news of the battle of Ridgeway came.

"There was wild rejoicing in the city when the news of the victory came," she declared, "but it was joy tempered with sadness, for several Toronto men killed. I don't remember when there was such excitement during my early residence in the city."

AIRSHIPS MAY BE FUTURE MEANS OF TRAVELLING

London, May 9.—Mr. A. V. Roe, one of the best known aviators in England, makes the startling prophecy in the Daily Mirror this morning that the hydroplane of the future will carry one thousand passengers, and revolutionize ocean travel. He says the speed obtainable will be enormous, exceeding one hundred and fifty miles an hour, and as the hydroplane will soon be as safe as any human invention can be, it will do away with seasickness. There is little doubt that ocean travellers would use it in preference to steamships.

If Mr. Roe's prophecy is ever realized, passengers from New York can be in London within 24 hours after their start.

LET ITALY DARE SAY ASSIM BEY

Turkish Minister Defies Her to Force Dardanelles

AFTER SIX MONTHS' WAR

Italy Has Made Little Progress in Her Efforts to Bring the Wiley Turk to His Knees--The Question of the Dardenelles Becoming Acute.

Paris, May 10.—It is desirable for a great many reasons that peace should be concluded between Italy and Turkey before the beginning of summer. These reasons are partly political and partly commercial. It is necessary to have the strain of the European chancelleries relieved, and the commerce of the eastern Mediterranean resumed. Rome and Constantinople are now at a deadlock. The former is meditating carrying the war into Turkish waters, possibly into Turkish territory: the latter is making every effort to interest the powers in a scheme of peace in which Italy shall repudiate her decree of annexation of Tripolitana.

After a war of six months the spectacle, offered the world is unique—the spectacle of a power possessing an efficient navy and complete command of the sea, but unable for political reasons to use those advantages in such a manner as to compel her adversary to conclude peace. The most obvious feature of the whole strategical position of the two combatants at the beginning of October, 1911, was Italy's supreme and unquestioned command of the Mediterranean. Now, however, although the Italian fleet is still in being and has done good service in rendering the passage of Turkish troops to Africa an impossibility it has, as far as aggressive action is concerned, been condemned to almost total inactivity.

Question as to Dardenelles.

In reply to the question as to whether Italy intended to force the Dardanelles or expand the field of war in other directions, Mahmoud Shefket Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, said in a dispatch this week from Constantinople:

"The extension of hostilities is quite likely to occur. Italy has given evidence of her spasmodic mode of action. She might again make some dastardly and desperate move. We expect it and are prepared to meet every eventuality. Personally, I am rather eager to know what she is going to do now. It interests me enormously from a strategical and technical point of view. The world will yet have some lessons in warfare. Perhaps it is the sentiment of a soldier that speaks in me.

"The forcing of the Dardanelles? I am really interested to know how that could be done. It will open up an altogether new situation, and the lesson will be extremely instructive. Do you not see? It will not be fleet against fleet, but sea against land, fleet against fortress, dreadnought against

TORONTO THREATENED WITH ANOTHER WATER FAMINE

Toronto, May 9.—According to the officials at the City Hall to-day, another serious water famine can be looked for this summer.

Trouble is anticipated as soon as the very hot weather creates a heavy demand upon the supply, in spite of the fact that four new electric pumps with a total capacity of 52,000,000 gallons of water a day, have been installed at the main pumping station since last summer.

The trouble lies in the inadequacy of the water main system, a small pipes preventing a free flow from the pumps. More big mains are needed immediately in order to carry the water away from the pumps, it is declared.

Cannot Fill Reservoir.

"At present it is impossible to fill the reservoirs when there is a heavy demand for water," said one of the civic engineers to-day.

"The situation is this—we will probably find it necessary to cut off West Toronto from the city's system as soon as the hot months come, in order to help the reservoir. West Toronto will have to depend upon their old pumping station for a supply."

Work started to-day for the laying of 24-inch main on Sumach street, to connect with the 24-inch main on Queen-st. Money has also been raised for a 30-inch cross-town main starting at Beverley street and the work thereon will soon commence. These pipes will help to distribute the water more quickly, and will allow faster action with the pumps.

The Council provided, in this year's estimates, for two new pumping engines with a capacity of 15,000,000 gallons each, but the trouble lies more with the mains.

CHARLES GIBSON CALMLY HEARS JURY ACCUSE HIM OF MURDER

"We find that Joseph Rosenthal came to his death at the foot of Strachan avenue between the hours of 6.15 p.m. on April 5, and 7 a.m. on April 6, from injuries sustained, and we believe that the evidence adduced points to Charles Gibson, now in custody, as the perpetrator of the crime."

Exactly 22 minutes from the time they filed into the court room at the Morgue last night, the jury impanelled by Coroner J. M. Cotton to investigate the death of Joseph Rosenthal on Good Friday, returned with the foregoing verdict.

It was received with the utmost composure by the prisoner, who, for the third time, was present at the proceedings.

Eli Dunkelman, the Jewish junk dealer, who up to the past few days, has hovered between life and death in the General Hospital, where he was taken with a fractured skull on the morning of April 6, when the battered body of Joseph Rosenthal was found in the Hydro yards, was the star witness for the Crown at the final session.

Swathed in Bandages.

With his head encircled in bandages his face bearing every indication of his recent harrowing experiences, and supporting himself with the aid of a cane, he told his story of the night's happenings clearly and succintily. Nor at the conclusion of his testimony could his statements be shaken despite a rigorous cross-examination by Mr. Aubrey Bond, counsel for Charles Gibson, charged with the murder of Rosenthal and the attempted murder of Dunkelman.

Dunkelman, who told his story through the medium of Mr. J. Cohen J.P., was accommodated with a seat, in the witness box. He gave his answers in a low, hoarse voice, never once permitting himself to show emotion, though it was patent to all that he was still suffering from the effects of his wounds.

He identified Gibson as the man "Smith" who had met him and Rosenthal on Thursday and Good Friday nights, and who also, he declared, struck him to the ground in the Hydro yards.

DOORS OF FOUR OF TITANIC'S BULKHEADS OPENED BY SAILORS

London, May 9.—Evidence that the doors of four watertight bulkheads had been opened after having been closed from the bridge, was introduced to-day at the British Wreck Commission's enquiry into the loss of the White Star steamer Titanic. This was done, according to Thomas Dillon, of the engineer's staff, in order that the engineer's crew might reach the pumps. The order came from the Chief Engineer, though the attorney for the White Star people told the court that these doors having once been shut could not again be opened except released from the bridge.

Ismay's Conduct Exemplary.

The conduct of J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine, after the casualty was mentioned for the first time during the British investigation and was described by James Johnson, a steward, as having been exemplary.

Johnson, who left the ship in No. 2 emergency boat, a small dinghy was asked why there were not more women in the boat. He replied that they would not get into it. Mr. Ismay, the witness said, tried to induce the women to enter the dinghy, but they refused, whereupon he escorted them to larger boats. "He did everything an Englishman could do," Johnson added.

Stores Available.

The witness said that the stewards also tried to get the women to abandon the ship and take to the boats, but they were disinclined to do so. Stores for the life boats were brought up from below, but nobody took the trouble to put them into the boats. Johnson was closely examined on the point of why his boat had not returned to the scene of the disaster when its occupants heard cries for help. He replied that the offices in charge had asked the women if they should return, but the women decided against this course, and the officer took their advice. Under the existing weather conditions their boat would have held five or six more persons, Johnson testified.

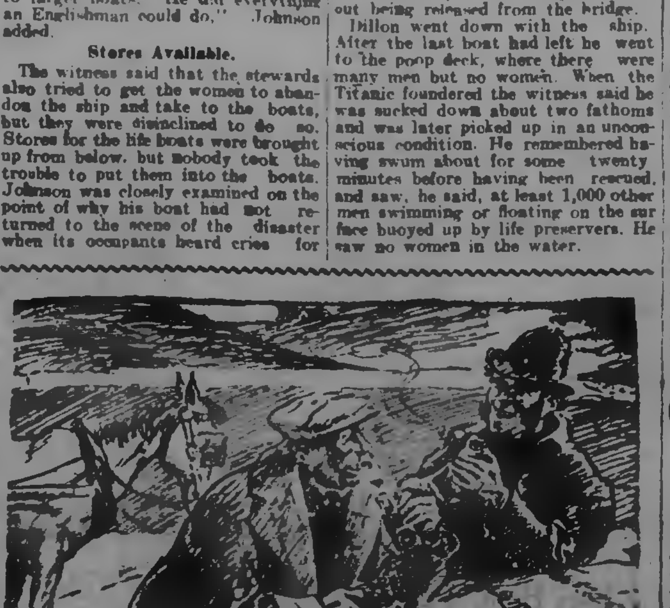
Bulkhead Doors Opened.

Thomas Dillon, of the engineer's staff, gave rather surprising evidence of the working of the watertight bulk heads. He said that after the watertight compartments had been closed from the bridge the Chief Engineer ordered his men to go through four boiler rooms in order to reach the pumps in boiler room No. 5. To carry out this order the men were obliged to open the doors of four watertight bulkheads, and having done so, they left the doors open.

Replying to a question from Lord Mersey, the President of the Commission, the witness said that the men did not go into the boiler room No. 5, because there was too much water there. In fact the water was leaking through into boiler room No. 4.

At this point the attorney for the White Star line, Sir Robt. Finley explained that the doors mentioned by the witness could not be opened without being released from the bridge.

Dillon went down with the ship. After the last boat had left he went to the poop deck, where there were many men but no women. When the Titanic foundered the witness said he was sucked down about two fathoms and was later picked up in an unconscious condition. He remembered having swum about for some twenty minutes before having been rescued, and saw, he said, at least 1,000 other men swimming or floating on the surface buoyed up by life preservers. He saw no women in the water.



IRISH JARVEY—"Yes, Sorr, that's the Devil's Dyke over there, and beyond is the Devil's Punch-bowl."
ENGLISH TOURIST—"Dear me, the devil seems to own a lot of land in Ireland."
JARVEY—"Indeed, Sorr, he do; and loike most of the landlords, he's always in England."

MARVELOUS WATERPLANE OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE NAVY

At Naval Review By His Majesty, Whole Afternoon Devoted to Demonstration of Complete Control of Aeroplanes Sailors Cried Out in Alarm at Clever Feat

New York, May 9.—A London cable says:—When Englishmen read in their morning papers to-day of a wonderful new machine, both aeroplane and hydroplane, which has been invented by one of their countrymen, acquired by the navy, and was shown at the naval review by King George, the news seemed too good to be true.

The reports however, were not exaggerated, and it is now declared that Great Britain has the most remarkable and satisfactory machine of its kind in the world, that other powers have been left behind in the race for aerial supremacy, and that the British waterplane has already performed feats completely altering the conditions possible in aerial warfare.

The waterplane is described as having "the powers of an albatross, able to fly over the water, float upon it and rise again."

It was piloted by Commander Samson, R.N.

New York, May 9.—A London cable says—King George reached Weymouth Bay on board the Royal Yacht early yesterday, (Wednesday) amid thunderous salutes from the great fleet, but fog caused the cancellation of the days' manoeuvres. The King visited the submarine, aboard which Mr. Winston Churchill and Mr. Balfour took an hour's trip and watched the torpedo practice, but he was most deeply interested in the flights of the aeroplanes and hydroplanes.

Flew 30 Miles an Hour.

In a thick fog Commander Samson rose from the water at Portland yesterday morning and flew in his famous naval hydroplane at a speed of thirty miles an hour for sixty minutes. He went to meet the Royal Yacht. The fog broke momentarily when he was one thousand feet above her so the King could just see him. He alighted with ease in broken water after flying around the fleet.

Commander Gerrard ascended at Lodmoor Naval Flying Ground a few minutes after Commander Samson went up from Portland. He used a Nieuport monoplane and rose to a height of 3,000 feet, trying to get above the fog. He passed right over the fleet and flew for more than one hour.

70 Minutes In Biplane With Floats.

Then Lieutenant Gregory flew for seventy minutes in a short biplane fitted with floats. He passed over the royal yacht at an altitude of 1,500 ft. descending at the naval aviators' landing place at Portland.

Lieut. Longmore flew for fifty minutes in a Deperdussin monoplane, which had been fitted with floats in case of a fall into the sea.

Mr. Graham-White rose in his Bleriot monoplane at twenty minutes to three and circled the entire fleet, and the towns of Plymouth and Portland. He circled also the royal yacht twice.

The great events of the day came after three o'clock when Commander Samson, in his hydroplane, rose from the water and flew very high, descending 200 yards from the royal yacht. He carried a passenger and a letter to the King. Both were taken off from the hydroplane as it rested on the water with the engine stopped, and conveyed to the royal yacht by a picket boat.

Lieutenant Gregory in a biplane fitted with floats, then passed over the harbor and the royal yacht. When it was deemed safe his passenger dropped a lump of metal weighing 300 pounds into the water just inside the breakwater from an altitude of 400 feet, causing a tremendous splash.

REV. J. D. MORROW PIEADS NOT GUILTY TO THE CHARGE

Toronto, May 9.—Summoned to answer a charge of breach of the marriage law, Rev. J. D. Morrow appeared in police court this morning, and through his counsel, Mr. J. W. Curry, K.C., pleaded not guilty, and asked for summary trial.

The specific charge against the "athletic parson" is that he performed the ceremony of marriage between Miss L. Fraser of Toronto and Fred Young, of Hamilton, after the hour of ten o'clock, on the evening of April 22nd.

Young is a Chinamen, a resident of Hamilton. His wife is the daughter of a well-known Toronto citizen who disappeared from her home on the afternoon of the marriage.

The police were notified and instituted an enquiry which resulted in her being found in Hamilton in the home of Young.

The Magistrate asked for a copy of the Criminal Code in order that he might satisfy himself that the matter was an indictable offense.

How the Act Reads.

Section 312, under which the charge was laid, reads:—

> "Everyone is guilty of an indictable offense and liable to a fine, or to one year's imprisonment who, being lawfully authorized, knowingly and wilfully solemnizes any marriage in violation of the laws of the Province in which the marriage is solemnized."

At the Crown's request the case was adjourned until Monday, May 13.

Later Fred Young, whose arrest was effected in Hamilton last night, appeared in the dock, charged with attempting to procure the Rev. J. D. Morrow to perform an indictable offence.

"It seems strange to have a man arrested on this charge," said Mr. Curry.

Young, who was released on $500 bail, will also appear on the 13th inst.

He is a smartly dressed Chinaman, wwith close-cut hair and not unpleasant features.

THE KING GOES UNDER SEA IN ONE OF HIS SUBMARINES

Weymouth, Eng., May 9. — King George, who is here seeing for himself the progress towards the reorganization of the home fleet as outlined by First Lord of the Admiralty Churchill introducing the navy estimates in Parliament, has again taken up the life of a naval officer with remarkable gusto.

His Majesty already has added one item to his experience in naval work by going down in a submarine. He spent ten minutes below the surface of the water in one of the latest "D" type of boats, which carries a disappearing gun, and expressed himself as delighted with the venture.

Premier Asquith, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Balfour, who are attending the manoeuvres, have all been down in a submarine.

COLOR QUESTION IN AFRIGA IS DEBATED

Cape Town, South Africa, May 9.—The color question was brought prominently to the front by the promise of the Premier, General Louis Botha, made in Parliament this afternoon, to appoint a commission to enquire into the "black peril" problem. The question has been increasingly attracting attention in South Africa in consequence of the frequent assaults that have been made on white women.

ANOTHER FEUDIST KILLED

Lexington, Ky., May 9.—Ed. Callahan, notorious Breathitt County feudist, was assassinated Saturday as he stood in the door of his store at Crockettsville, twenty miles from Jackson. The assassins hid on the same hillside from which Callahan was shot two years ago.

ASSAULTED HUB'S AFFINITY.

Pretty Wife Attacks Woman on the Street and is Arrested.

Shreveport, La., May 9.—Mrs. A. T. Belcher, a pretty young woman, faced the city judge Saturday as a sequel to a sensational assault which took place on Texas street following the discovery by Mrs. Belcher of her husband in company with another woman.

The accused is said to have waited for the pair, and when they passed together in a buggy to have climbed into the vehicle and belabored both with a pair of pliers, the most available weapon at hand.

The man in the case was hopelessly routed, it is said, and fled the scene in disorder, leaving his woman companion to bear the brunt of the attack.

The case was continued for further proceedings.

CATCHING THE NOVICE

BRITISH COMMONS IS FULL OF QUEER OLD CUSTOMS.

Pitfalls and Embarrassments Await the New Member Who Is Learning the Rules—When to Wear and When to Doff One's Hat Is a Study In Itself—King's Assent Given In Norman French—The Sacred Bar.

Centuries come and centuries go, but the British Parliament remains as youthful and virile as in the far-away days when Abbott and Prior answered the summons to Westminster to help in the making of our laws; and it still observes forms and ceremonies which had their birth when Knights of the Shire rode, with escort of squire and page, to join in its deliberations.

The very language it uses recalls the time when Norman-French was the tongue of Court and Castle. To-day the King's Assent, which transforms a Parliamentary Bill into a law of the land, is announced in words familiar to our earliest Edwards: "Le Roy le vault"; and "Soit fait comme il est desire"; and, if by any chance the King should think fit to refuse his assent, the fact would be delicately disclosed in the words "Le Roy s-avisera" "The King will consider it.")

If you should chance to be in the Palace of Westminster when the Commons rise after their day's labors, your ears would be assailed with the quaint cry, "Who goes home?" shouted in stentorian tones in lobbies and corridors, just as in past centuries, when the roads leading to Westminster were the haunts of footpads and cut-throats, it was the rallying cry which brought together members whose journey home lay in the same direction, so that they might walk together for mutual safety.

Guy Fawkes has been dust for three centuries, but still, on the first day of a new session, the vaults beneath the Parliament House are explored in every corner by men carrying unlighted lanterns, in broad daylight, to make sure that no powder barrels are there to elevate our legislators to "another place."

The Speaker, too, advances to his chair with low obeisance exactly as his predecessors of centuries ago made reverent bows to the altar of St. Stephen's Chapel, in front of which for three hundreds years the Commons chair stood.

And these are but few of the many customs and traditions of Parliament which have defied time through the ages, and which will probably be observed as carefully a thousand years hence as to-day.

A quaint place, truly, is our Imperial Parliament with its time-crusted rules and regulations which carry the mind back through the centuries; rules, many of which have never been reduced to words, but are none the less binding on that account. No wonder the legislative novice is driven to his wits' end by the perplexities of his new environment, or that he is reduced to despair by shouts of "Order! order!" for the breaking of rules of which he is as ignorant as a new-born infant.

"How can I learn the rules of the House?" a desperate new member once asked Parnell. "Only by breaking them," was the answer. And it is, indeed, only by this painful process that a member can learn his way through the mazes of Parliamentary etiquette. Even such an "old hand" as Mr. Gladstone was called to order more than once during the last year of his life at Westminster; and Mr. W. H. Smith, when leader of the House, actually incurred penalties of $7,500 by breaking the rule that a member, appointed to an office of profit under the crown, must not enter, much less speak, in the House without first being re-elected by his constituents.

There is probably no Chamber in England which has quite the same sacred, exclusive character as that in which the Commons hold their deliberations. Across the entrance to it runs a brass-rod, known as the "bar," raised about half an inch above the level of the floor, and over this line no foot must pass while the House is sitting, unless it be that of a member or one of a small number of officials.

Even a messenger, with a letter or telegram to deliver, may not put foot across this "rubicon." He must hand his missive to some M.P. within reach, and thus it passes from hand to hand to its destination.

It is, too, a grave breach of decorum for any legislator to pass between the Speaker and a member addressing the House. The imaginary line that links Speaker and orator is almost as sacred as the "bar" itself; and if a member, anxious to reach his seat, cannot approach it by a roundabout way, he must either wait until the speech is ended, or, at the expense of his dignity, he must, with bent body and nimble step cross the sacred "line" with a rush.

There is no rule of Parliament so puzzling to the neophyte as that of the hat. When he enters or leaves the Chamber he must have an uncovered head, though he may sit with hat on head as long as he will. When he addresses the House he is equally uncovered, unless he has occasion to speak while the bells are ringing for a division. At such a time, if he wishes to address the chair on a point of order, he must do so seated, and with his hat on.

It is a serious misdemeanor for one member to address or to refer to another by name during debate, except when the House is in Committee, when it is proper to address the chairman as "Mr. ——"; and no doubt the punctilious courtesy which prescribes such forms of address as "The right honorable" or "Honorable gentlemen the member for ——"; adds to the dignity of the greatest legislative assembly in the world.

The Speaker has been addressed by nervous orators by a wide range of appellatives, from "Mr. Mayor" to "your reverence," but the only proper forms are "Mr. Speaker" and "Sir."

INDIAN HOLDS HIS OWN

Reports From the Agencies Throughout Canada Shew That Numbers Show a Net Gain—Bloods In Saskatchewan Are High Class Farmers and Are Getting Rich—One Runs a Coal Mine—Others Improving.

There are living within the limits of Canada one hundred and eight thousand aborigines—the remnant of the people on the spot when the white-men came, who were then, and for many years afterwards, the lords of forest and lake, but who to-day are, for the most part, wards of the nation. They are the Indians, who number 103,661, and the Eskimos, of whom there is estimated to be 4,600. It is that one hundred and three thousand, six hundred and sixty-one Indians who are here under consideration.

In the Eastern Provinces, from Prince Edward Island to the head of the Great Lakes there are 38,078; and from the head of the Lakes to the Pacific Coast and the shores of the Arctic Ocean the Indian population numbers 65,583. British Columbia leads with an Indian population of 24,581, while Ontario is a close second, 22,496. Outside the provinces, that is in the Yukon, Ungava, and the territories north of Alberta and Saskatchewan, there are only seventeen thousand Indians. Were all these Indians given direct representation in the House of Commons, like other elements of the population, they are sufficiently numerous to be entitled to at least three members, or more than half as many as has the city of Toronto.

During the past year the births among Indians have exceeded deaths by a few more than three hundred, so that there has been a small net gain.

"The prevailing notion," states the report of Mr. Frank Pedley, deputy superintendent of Indian Affairs, "that the Indian population is gradually disappearing is not sustained by statistics, and in any locality where the Indians have passed through the period of exhaustion that must be met by any aboriginal race in contact with civilization, it is found that the population is either stable or upon the increase."

During the middle of the last century the gloomy prediction was made that the Iroquois, the people of the Six Nations, were doomed to speedy and total extinction. The prediction has not been fulfilled. In 1880 they numbered 3,204; to-day they number 4,402. Of course, this is the most favorable case possible, for of all our Indians none surpassed the Iroquois in intelligence. On their reserves on the Bay of Quinte, near Brantford and at other places, they are industrious, progressive, and prosperous farmers.

Taking the race as a whole, if it is to survive, it must be as an agricultural people. And this is true even of the Indians of the West, which offered the last opportunities for the free but wretched life of the savage hunter. It is now many years since the buffalo disappeared from the plains, and the rapid development of the past few years has already made even smaller game scarce. The Indian can no longer look to his rifle to procure his food, nor to his traps for the furs with which he has been accustomed to procure the other things necessary to existence. He must learn to cultivate the soil, or disappear.

It is, therefore, the aim of the Department of Indian Affairs to promote agriculture among the Indians; and it is gratifying that their efforts in this direction are meeting with considerable success. A race of hunters and loafers cannot be made into farmers in a generation or two; but that a large number of these people are turning slowly in this direction is something, and probably all that can be reasonably expected.

The report shows that last year our Indians had 88,550 acres under crop; that their grain and root crops yielded 1,494,452 bushels, and their meadows 123,198 tons of hay, the total value of their farm products amounting to $1,460,462.

In wages the Indians earned $1,540,000; their fishing yielded $691,829; their hunting and trapping $819,494, and various other industries, $852,944.

Respecting our eastern Indians there is little new to report. The general trend is upward, one proposed improvement being the intaoduction of agriculture among the Micmacs of Nova Scotia.

It is in the west that most is hoped for, where many bands, occupy large reservations of fertile soil which only needs the application of intelligent labor to make it yield like the white-man's farm.

A typical prosperous and promising band is that of the Blood Indians, whose reservation is between the Belly and the St. Mary's River, near Macleod, Alberta. The Bloods were once great warriors; they are now among the best red-farmers of the west. The reservation contains 354,000 acres of excellent land, and its population numbers 1,132. The principal occupations of this people are cattle-raising, general farming, haymaking, and freighting. One of the tribe, Blackhorse by name, operates a coal mine from which he derives sufficient income to support his large family.

The Bloods have their own threshing outfit, a separator with latest attachments having been purchased with tribal funds for operation with one of the large traction engines. Stack-threshing is the method followed, each Indian's farm being threshed separately, the spout of the separator emptying direct into portable granaries, of which each farmer has one or two according to the bulk of his crop."

This is an especially promising case, and only a few reservations have made as great progress as that of the Bloods. Yet nearly all the reports of agencies in the west show that some progress in farming has been achieved.—Montreal Standard.

Well Known Citizens Leaving.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Burnett, who have, for the past few years, occupied the premises at the northwest corner of Park and Charlotte streets are leaving to occupy the D. W. Dumble estate. Mr. Burnet is now in the United States purchasing machinery and plant for a big factory he will manage in Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Burnet have made a host of friends in the city, who will regret their departure when they leave Peterborough next fall.

A TACTFUL VOTER.

How He Decided Upon His Ballot In an Alsatian Election.

The simple people of Alsace, who retain in their hearts a strong love for France at the same time that they are desirous not to offend their German rulers too much, frequently have a hard time of it when they go to the ballot to vote for representatives in the German parliament.

In one election in a certain Alsatian district the two candidates were Kable, an Alsatian of French sympathies, who had protested against the annexation after the war of 1870, and a German. On election day a peasant went to the polling place, which was presided over by a German official. The peasant had in one hand a ticket on which was printed the name of Kable and in the other a ticket bearing the name of the German candidate.

"Mein herr," he said to the German election official, "will you tell me which of these tickets is the better one?"

The officer looked at him. "Why, this is much preferable," said he, indicating the German's ticket.

"Ah, I thank you," answered the peasant. "I will keep it next my heart." He folded it carefully and put it inside his coat. "As for this other, then," said he, with an air of putting it away from him as an unworthy thing, "I will leave it here." And he put the Kable ticket in the ballot box.—New York Press.

ASTONISH THE SHARKS.

Aitutaki Islanders Pull Them Up by the Tail With Ropes.

The island of Aitutaki, one of the Hervey group, in the Pacific, is surrounded by islets underneath which are submarine caverns, the homes of sharks. These sharks, which are about six feet long, are esteemed a delicacy, and the natives catch them with nooses.

Arrived over the entrance to the shark cave, the fisherman leaves his canoe to the care of his companions and dives to the bottom, carrying with him a strong cord tied into a slip knot. He expects to find two or three sharks at home well satisfied and drowsy after feeding in the lagoon, with their tails toward the entrance. Selecting the largest, the diver adroitly adjusts a noose over the tail, taking care that it hangs loosely. If he has another noose he secures a second shark.

The shark catcher now, with one bound on the white, sandy bottom, rises to the surface in order to assist his friends in hauling up the fish. The astonished shark suddenly finds itself ascending tail first to the surface, when a smart blow from an ax between the eyes or on the tail ends its career.—Exchange.

A Gruesome Pun.

A foreigner who was at work shoveling ore in the bottom of a vessel which lay in the port of a city in northern Ohio jumped upon the bucket to ride out of the hold. The increased burden broke the hook by which the bucket was attached to the lifting cable. Man and bucket fell back into the hold, and the man received injuries from which he died. An administrator was appointed, who sued the hoisting company for damages. The lawyer employed for the plaintiff was in conversation one day with a friend, who remarked:

"I should think that the company, after an accident like that, would lose no time in installing stronger hoisting apparatus. It ought to be sufficient warning."

"Sufficient!" exclaimed the lawyer. "Why, man, that was only a drop in the bucket."—Philadelphia North American.

History on Coins.

The knowledge of coins and medals through the inscriptions and devices thereon is to an extent a history of the world from the date in which metals were applied to such uses, says the New Era. Events engraved upon these remain hidden in tombs or buried in the bosom of the earth, deposited there in ages long past by careful and miserly hands, only awaiting the research of the patient investigator to tell the story of their origin. Numismatic treasures are scanned as evidence of facts to substantiate statements on papyrus or stone, and dates are often supplied to define the border line between asserted tradition and positive history. Gibbon remarks, "If there were no other record of Hadrian his career would be found written upon the coins of his reign."

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 386 George St. directly opposite Creesman's store.

WHILE YOU WORK AND WHILE YOU sleep.—Wage earners make money only while they work. My lot buyers make money while they sleep. Those who have bought from me during the past four years have made by increasing value of lots, more than 50 per cent per annum on the amount invested. And they are worth from $200 to $1200 to-day, because of having wisely imposed a "must" upon themselves to save a little of what they earned. Come in and let us show you a very easy way to do the same. Gardens: I know one man who planted 1 acre of onions, and sold his crop for $800 cash. Was that not making money while he slept? We can supply a few acres ploughed to men who would wish to do likewise. Also a larger place with good buildings and a large poultry plant. Immediate possession. Decide at once, and call for particulars. T. Hurley, corner Stewart and Hunter streets.

WE CAN GIVE YOU ABSOLUTE PROOF that the lots we offer inside the town limits of Edson at $60 each, on easy terms, are a money-making investment, offered below their real value; Edson is a divisional point on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific with a monthly pay roll of $40,000; Edson is the actual distributing point for the Peace River country, the Brazeau coal fields, and for two hundred miles west on the Canadian Northern; Edson is little more than a year old, and already has more than twelve hundred permanent residents; it costs you one cent to obtain illustrated booklet, and the above mentioned proof; mail us a postcard to-day. THE TITANIC'S LOSS ANALYZED.

The total number of women on the passenger list of the Titanic was 495. The number of stewardesses on board was 18. Out of this total of 54 women, 330 were saved and 213 were not saved. There were 143 women in the first-class section, of whom 131 were saved; 128 in the second class, of whom 106 were saved, and 221 in the third class, of whom 93 were saved. The list of saved includes none of the stewardesses. The number of male passengers who are survivors is 168, made up as follows: 71 out of the total of 182 first-class male passengers 12 out of the 157 in the second class, and 85 out of the 486 in the third class. The total number of passengers of all classes were 1,420, of whom 498 survive. The total number of the officers and crew was 940, of whom 210 survive. The total number of persons on the Titanic was 2,360, and the lives lost number 1,652. These are the official figures, as arrived at in the investigation at Washington.

ITALY'S COSTLY VANITY.

Daily it becomes clearer that Italy did a very foolish thing when she formally, by legislative act, decreed the annexation of Tripoli and Cyrenaica, and re-created the African province of Libya. But for that act peace might be arranged very quickly. It was pointed out in Sunday's Herald that Turkey had first protested that she would never consent to mediation. Then still protesting, she consented to mediation, but would never surrender her African garden. The prediction was ventured that Turkey would gradually relax still further.

And now it is the doughty war minister, Mahmoud Shevket Pasha who says: "We are willing to grant her (Italy) any concession, any demand, this is in keeping with our dignity as an awakening power and with the prerogatives of our beloved Padishah and Khalif. We are perfectly prepared, for instance, to leave to Italy the entire commercial and financial development of both Tripoli and Cyrenaica. But, unfortunately for the world, Italy is completely blinded to her own interests and sticks to the word 'annexation' with that fatal fanaticism which has often proved the ruin of a nation."

In other words, if Italy would not call Tripoli hers, she could have it. She could have it as France has Algeria and as England has Egypt. Vanity is often costly.

THE FAITH CURE IN SCIENCE

Dr. George W. Jacoby, the veteran neurologist, has just illustrated anew some of the curious conflicts and agreements which appear in modern methods of treating disease. On the one hand is the faith-curist relying on amulets and charms, invoking miracles or appealing to the native powers of the mind; on the other comes the scientific physician, claiming that disease is real, and providing physical remedies for it. For a long time it seemed as if there could be nothing scientific in the occult, and nothing occult in the scientific. But we now confront a certain interblending of the two methods. If the occulist is more and more leaning on science, so the scientist is more and more coming to recognize a "soul of things good" in the occult. The faith-curist must know something of neurology, and certainly of meta-physics; the physician who would be up-to-date must be versed in suggestion and psychotherapy. It is admitted by both that many nervous maladies may not only be mitigated, but sometimes entirely cured by mental influence. The power of appeals to imagination, sentiment, passion, even when exercised through "untruthful statements," is expressly emphasized by Dr. Jacoby. "Why," he asks, "should not the physician make use of this power of imagination in order to restore his patients to health and contentment?"

Science has thus found a valuable agency for supplementing medicine in the treatment of disease. The patient is kept hopeful, encouraged to expect improvement of his condition, taught through thick and thin to look forward to convalescence. If he is worse, it is well that he should think he is better; if he is no better, it is just as well that he should not be persuaded of the fact. In time he may be convinced that there is nothing really the matter with him. The science of healing is doubtless right in repudiating the illusions of the occulist, and they must be pared down to the vanishing point. But as long as it needs "suggestion and psychotherapy" it must cling to the essence, if not to the vagaries, of the "faith cure." It will be a finished world and a perfect humanity that need no help from the great power of the make-believe.

A Steaming Cup of

has shown many a person the "Road to Wellville."

"There's a Reason"

Throat Becomes Diseased From Neglecting Cold

Then Catarrh Sets In, Mucous Drops Into the Stomach, Coughing, Headaches and Debility Follow.

That the best method of curing catarrhal disease consists in using Catarrhozone is now freely admitted. Catarrhozone is infinitely superior to cough medicines, tablets, sprays and emulsions, which for the most part are of no practical value except to ease the cough for the time being. Often liquid cough remedies contain, opium, morphine and cocaine. With Catarrhozone you take no drugs—you employ Nature's way—just inhale Catarrhozone's soothing, healing vapor and relief and cure follow.

Weak Throat, Racking Cough Cured.

"For five years I suffered from a severe bronchitis. A harsh, dry, racking cough kept my throat in a raw condition from one year's end to another. Before going to sleep at night I always had a bad attack, and in the morning before each breakfast I suffered greatly. My voice was harsh and raspy, and some times I found it difficult to make myself understood. Catarrhozone seemed to soothe and heal from the first day. It cured me, and now I wouldn't think of being without a Catarrhozone Inhaler—It means life to me."

The above experiences is related by Mr. Alexander P. Savary, of Hamilton, Pa., and proves the effectiveness of Catarrhozone, which will cure every cough, cold, bronchial or catarrhal attack. The dollars size of catarrhozone contains two months' treatment and is guaranteed. Smaller size, 50c, sample size 25c. All dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

THE ROAD TO WEALTH.

There is an old saying that any fool can make money, but that it takes a wise man to keep it. The opinion of Rothschild, the eminent banker, however, was that it required a great deal of boldness and a great deal of caution to make a great fortune, and that when you got it it required ten times greater wit to keep it. The last idea was one which he frequently expressed, and is one with the truth of which many others have been impressed. There is no doubt we might with profit follow the advice which the old Scotchman gave to his son, that it was not what he might make that would make him rich, but what he might save; but the majority of us "remain spendthrifts still," and so long as we do the poor house will not want for occupants.

Riches like many other things go by comparison, and some people would consider themselves rich in purse if they were sure they would have an income of $200 or $300 a year until the end, while others with as many thousands per annum would regard themselves as poor. A man who was once in affluent circumstances, but who now in his 75th year, is in absolute penury had for a long time been calling every Saturday on a friend for the loan of a dollar to help him out. On his last call the friend who had been investigating the Government Annuities system, and who has since become a purchaser, said to him: "I suppose, Blank, if you had $300 a year you would consider yourself a rich man?" To which the old gentleman replied: "If I had $200 a year, I would think myself the richest man in town." When the friend explained to the old gentleman that at his age he could, had he the sum of $1,196, purchase a Government Annuity of $200, he realized how small was the amount which stood between him and comparative wealth, and remarked, as he spanned the years since his youth, "the dollars I have wastefully spent, would be warm friends to me now." To show our young people how rapidly the purchasing power of money increases under the Government Annuities system where payments are begun at an early age, we might point out that if at the age of 25 this man could have paid into a scheme like the Government Annuities scheme but one payment of $50 (fifty dollars), that payment would have given him from and after 75 an Annuity for life, payable quarterly, of $206.25.

There are thousands of men in Canada to-day who think as this old gentleman does, and fifty years hence it is to be hoped that there will be hundreds of thousands of men, and of women too, who will rejoice at the fact that at the age of 25 or younger they discovered the true road to wealth, and had paid into the Government Annuities system the sum of $50, or other amounts as they were from time to time able to spare. It may be of further interest to our young people to know that, according to mortality experience tables, of 109,230 male children of five years of age 28,920 will live to be 75; or 1,500 more than 25 per cent., and that out of the same number of female children of same age, 36,042, or nearly 1-3 of the number, will still be living at 75. Should a man therefore not ask himself, whither am I drifting—to an old age of comfort and happiness, or to the poor house? He should enquire at once for information in regard to this splendid system of saving, which may be obtained at the Post Office or on application to the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, to whom his letter may be sent free of charge.

Editorial Notes

It may be observed that in the states where Roosevelt is popular Champ Clark is also popular. The element that supports one demagogue naturally supports the other.

Fourth Vice-President Izzard of the international bricklayers' union might, with advantage, take a few lessons from President Bowen in the useful art of conciliation.

"Ulster will fight to the death" is a cry which is losing its terror by oft repetition. The British public is growing so familiar with the alleged danger that the familiarity is likely to breed contempt for it.

On his eighty-third birthday General Booth discussed plans for another tour of Canada and the United States. No man of half his years has more energy than the head of the Salvation Army, and it is doubtful if any contemporary philanthropist has to his credit a greater record of good work accomplished.

Should it be substantiated that but for the refusal of the White Star Company to provide the lookout on the Titanic with marine glasses the iceberg would have been seen in time to avoid the collision, the proverb about spoiling the ship for the sake of a halporth of tar will have acquired added and sinister significance.

It is no wonder that our American cousins ask where the money comes from to finance the Roosevelt campaign. Over $70,000 was spent in the New York State primaries, and an advertising scheme has been closed to cost $50,000 and those items are only the beginning of an expenditure that seems certain to run up to a million before May is over.

The managers of President Taft's campaign for the Republican nomination have at last made the discovery that they are in danger of suffering the same fate in Massachusetts on the last day of the month, when the primary elections take place, which has overtaken them in Illinois and Nebraska. Reports from Washington say that some of the ablest spellbinders among the Republican Congressmen have been hurried to Massachusetts to take part in the Taft campaign, and more will follow.

The newest transatlantic passenger vessel, soon to be launched at the yards of the Vulcan Company, at Stettin, has been built to outrival the monster steamships of the Cunard and White Star line companies. The exact dimensions of the vessel have not been made public, but she exceeds in length and height the Deutschland, one of the greatest of the German transatlantic steamships. To provide stanchness she has been built with double bottoms, and, in view of the recent accident to the Titanic, her builders are considering further means of increasing her strength and seaworthiness in proportion to her great bulk. The builders say she is being constructed not so much for high speed as for steadiness and comfort.

FIRST TRANSCONTINENTAL ROAD

Forty-Three Years Ago To-day Road Was Completed.

New York, May 10.—Forty-three years ago to-day, on May 10, 1869, the Union and Central Pacific railroads were completed, the last rail being laid on that date, and in a few days trains were running regularly. That was the first of the several great transcontinental transportation systems that now stretch across the United States and Canada, connecting East and West by bonds of steel. The trip from Atlantic to Pacific, now accepted as a commonplace, was, before the completion of the railway a matter of months and many dangers. The first published suggestion of a transcontinental railway, so far as known, was made by Lilburn W. Boggs, a former Governor of Missouri, seventy years ago. A copy of this article is now preserved by the Sonoma County, Cal., Pioneer Association. Boggs advocated a southerly route, with Independence, Mo., now a suburb of Kansas City, as the eastern terminus, and San Diego, in southern California, as the western end. Boggs was a native of Kentucky, the son of a man who had emigrated to the wilderness from Maryland, and served through the war of 1812 and in numerous battles with Indians. He was Governor of Missouri when that State was still wild and wooly, and it was he who brought about the expulsion of the Mormons. By 1846 Missouri was becoming too civilized for Boggs, and he decided to go west. It was on May 10, 1846, just twenty-three years to a day before the opening of the first railroad to the Pacific and three years before the gold rush began, that Boggs set out from Independence, Mo., at the head of a caravan of about a hundred prairie schooners. One of his sons, William M. Boggs, who had lived in the wilds with "Kit" Carson and others, now noted frontiersmen, guided the party and took them safely through to California. They reached Sutter's Fort in November, a few months after the American flag had been raised, and shortly before the arrival of Gen. Kearny, with his orders from Washington to establish a provisional government. Boggs became the first American Alcade of Northern California, and in that capacity was lord chief justice and sheriff combined of a large section of the West.

BRYCE'S BIRTHDAY.

The British Ambassador At Washington is 74 To-day.

The Right Honorable James Bryce, British Ambassador at Washington, is one of the greatest scholars that ever came out of Ireland, for the eminent diplomat and author was born in Belfast seventy-four years ago to-day. That is saying a great deal, for it is a well-known fact that the Emerald Isle produces more policemen, politicians, potatoes and philosophers to the square mile than any other stretch of sod in the worruld. Besides the decided advantage of being born in Ireland, Mr. Bryce has Scotch blood in his veins, which is not a bad combination.

"The wise man from Dowing Street" they call Mr. Bryce in Washington, and they do well so to call him. And diplomatic? The Ambassador has delivered addresses on many occasions devoted to the laudation of heroes of the American Revolution, and succeeded in pleasing both Dowing street and the D. A. R. That, I take it, and you will take it, is about as far as diplomacy can go.

AGED 71 TO-DAY.

James Gordon Bennett, of the New York Herald, Reaches 71

New York, May 10.—To live in Paris and edit two daily newspapers in New York is quite a feat for a man who will be seventy-one years old to-morrow. For many years that has been the practice of James Gordon Bennett editor and proprietor of the New York Herald and Evening Telegram, who also issues an European edition of his paper from Paris. Men connected with the New York publications declare that the venerable editor's active supervision is no fiction, but a reality, and those who have failed to carry out the daily instructions cabled by their chief have found that the axe that lops off their official heads is no less keen than if the blow had been administered in person. Mr. Bennett has more original ideas about running a great organ of publicity than Pro Bono Publico, who could do it so much better if given a chance, and nothing ever gets by him. In order to carry out his scheme of transatlantic editing, Mr. Bennett laid a cable of his own, and he is now understood to be figuring on a private wireless system.

QUEEN MARY AND SOCIETY

Blacklisted by the Queen, But are Still Received in Macy Homes

London, May 10. — Queen Mary's avowed intention of "cleansing" English society is responsible for a good deal of hypocrisy among hostesses, who, while wishing to stand well with the royal circle, do not feel inclined to offend the blacklisted people, most of whom are notoriously good company.

In vain you scan the lists of guests at various functions for the names of the women who have earned Queen Mary's disapproval. Apparently they are having a very dull time indeed, and do not seem to be going anywhere.

But the social black sheep, as a matter of fact, still receive a shower of invitations and can pick and choose as to which they will accept and which refuse. Those who move in west-end circles often enough see the faces of the women who are socially dead by royal decree. But their names are never in the list handed to the society reporters, who are given to understand that Lady So-and-So's dress must not be described. No one ever thinks of disobeying this request, as a refusal to fall in with this particular kind of hypocrisy would practically close most doors to the offending scribe.

Naturally, few of the women in the immediate court circle are guilty of receiving people Queen Mary would punish. In the marchioness of Crewe, for example, she has an enthusiastic supporter of her exclusive policy, and at Crewe House you will never see shady financiers or women with a lurid past.

GERMAN CITIZENS MAY MARRY NATIVES

Berlin, May 9.—The Reichstag yesterday, after several days' discussion voted to maintain the legality of marriages between Germans and natives in the German colonies by 203 against 133. The majority consisted of socialists and clericals.

The Imperial Government recently prohibited mixed marriages. The Clerical leader in the Reichstag, Adolf Groeber, argued that mixed marriages must be permitted in the interest of the poorer settlers, who were unable to import wives from Germany, whereas native women often bring a big dowry in the shape of cattle.

LET ITALY DARE

"The 26 miles of the Dardanelles are exceedingly well provided with hundreds of submarine mines of every variety and description. I have inspected the fortifications myself, and I find everything in perfect order. Let the Italians come!"

Of similar import is a statement obtained by Le Matin from Assim Bey, the Turkish foreign minister, who is now in Paris:

Defies Italy to Do It.

"Italy now threatens to take sterner measures, and to carry the war into European Turkey if we continue to resist her unlawful and preposterous demands. Let Italy continue to bombard our fortified and defenseless towns; let her, if she dares, attempt the passage of the Dardanelles. Let us admit the impossible—that she forces the Straits and even bombards Constantinople. What then? When she presents her dishonorable conditions afresh we will fling them back in her face. For never! no never! will any Turkish Government accept them.

"Turkey has no fleet, it is true; but she has an army. The day Italy invades our European provinces we meet on equal ground. No Italian soldier who gets foot on the soil of European Turkey will ever leave it again unless by permission of the Turkish army.

"What enlightenment, and what progress does Italy talk of implanting in Tripoli? With our slender revenues and poor resources, we have done our best to regenerate the country, and to build up a strong and enlightened nation.

"How do our attempts compare with those of Italy? Her splendid resources and vast revenues have been devoted, not to the moral uplifting of the masses of Calabria and Sicily, but to the waging of a war and conquest more shameful than the civilized world has ever before seen. This is the nation that has undertaken to carry the blessings of civililation into a Turkish province. We need no Italian civilization. We respectfully recommend her to try it on her own people at home."

IN BRONZE VAULT.

Swiss Workmen Unearth Receptacle Built 600 Years Before Christ.

Geneva, May 9.—Swiss scientists are puzzled about the discovery at Neuchatel by workmen on the future site of a hospital, of a splendid vault built in bronze, which, they stated, was erected 600 years B. C.

In the vault the skeleton of a young woman was found, whose bones seem to be mummified, and on her wrists were four bracelets in bronze and two in lignite, while by her side was a little bronze bell.

Swiss archaeologists cannot account for the "fashionable beauty" of so long ago finding her resting place at Neuchatel.

INTERIOR OF CHINA

Renewal of Hostilities and Assassinations are Reported.

Amoy, China, May 9.—Dissatisfaction in general in the interior districts of China, due to the revival, and at the same time an increase in the ore transit duties and to the inadequate protection afforded merchants against marauders.

From Swatow, treaty port in the Province of Kwang-Tung, comes the news of the renewal of hostilities between the local troops, under the command of General Ling, and the leader of 3000 Cantonese soldiers, who occupied the city on April 5. The assassination of the superior judge is reported from Fu-Chow, a treaty port, and the capital of the province of Fo-Kien.

ERROR CAUSES DEATH OF NURSE AND CHILD

Boy and Nurse Die From Mistake in Cocaine Preparation in a Public Hospital.

Berlin, May 9.—A mistake in the preparation of an anaesthetic at the great Charity hospital here has cost two lives. This week a schoolboy, named Reiger, fourteen years of age, was brought by his mother to the hospital on account of a throat affection. He was found to be suffering from adenoids, and the physicians decided that the tonsils must be removed. Cocaine was administered to deaden the pain. Owing to a mistake by the nurse, Gertrude Wagner, a solution of cocaine much stronger than needful was injected. The boy almost immediately threw up his arms and fell back dead.

The distress of the unhappy nurse was so terrible that her own sister, also a nurse, was ordered to keep her under observation to prevent her from committing suicide. Meanwhile the mother, who was awaiting the result of the operation, had to be told. She fell into such terrible hysterics that the nurse was obliged to leave her sister Gertrude for a moment in order to help the doctors with Frau Rieger. Gertrude took advantage of the moment of freedom to inject a fatal dose of cocaine, and half an hour later was dead.

MISTAKE OF MOTHER FATAL TO DAUGHTER

Dose of Carbolic Acid Given to Girl for Medicine—Terrible Mistake that Prostrated Family and Friends.

New Orleans, May 9.—Mistaking a bottle containing carbolic acid for one that contained medicine for her 12-year-old child, Louise, who was convalescing after an attack of chicken-pox, Mrs. Henry Grunewald, of No. 2410 Josephine street, administered a fatal dose to the little one Saturday morning. Immediately after giving the child the drug Mrs. Grunewald discovered her error, and frantic with grief, she hurried for assistance. The ambulance was summoned, and the child was rushed to the hospital, where the end came after several hours.

It was 7:45 o'clock when Mrs Grunewald, as has been her custom during the child's illness, picked up the bottle from the dresser where several bottles containing medicine were standing, and without thinking to carefully examine the vial she poured two teaspoonfuls of the drug into a little water in a glass and gave it to the child. Louise, burned by the terrible acid, immediately began to scream, and complained of the pain resulting from the draught. Hurried calls were sent for physicians and the ambulance, and upon the arrival of the latter the students applied the stomach pump. It was evident the child was in a serious condition, and she was conveyed to the hospital.

Mrs. Grunewald and her husband, who is a carpenter, also went to the hospital, arriving before death came to relieve the little sufferer. The sight presented at the bedside was a most pitiful one. Mrs. Grunewald was inconsolable, and her cries of grief were heartrending.

IN MOTHER'S PRESENCE.

Young Woman Suicided, But Mother Was Totally Blind.

Berlin, May 9.—A tragedy which recalls the grotesque phantasies of Edgar Allan Poe has occurred in a tenemented house in the east end of Berlin.

Frau Therese Maihold, the blind widow of a small functionary, lived with her foster daughter, Erna. The latter, who was twenty-one years of age, had a joiner for her lover. The young man was not in any sense a model lover. He was not over particular in keeping his appointments and his indifference preyed upon the girl's mind.

The other day she had put on her best clothes and waited for her sweetheart to take her to the theatre. He did not arrive, and when she was convinced that he had again disappointed her she jumped from her seat and, turning to her foster mother, who sat in a corner, exclaimed "Now I am going to hang myself."

Frau Maihold did not heed the girls words, but a little later she was seized with fear. She called to her daughter, but there was no reply. Then the blind woman began to grope her way around the room. When she reached the window she found the body of the woman dangling from a rope.

THE FIRST AUTOMOBILE.

Ninety-Three Years Ago To-day the First Patent Was Applied For.

The first application for a patent for an automobile was filed in the United States patent office by George B. Selden on May 8, 1879, thirty-three years ago to-day, May 10. Selden was a patent lawyer in Rochester, N. Y., when he first began to experiment with the idea of a vehicle propelled by a gasoline engine. Considering that his "road engine" was not perfected and that the times were not ripe for it, he secured delay after delay, and the patent was not definitely issued until 1895. From the first doubts were cast on the validity of the Selden patent, but it earned a fortune for the astute inventor-attorney and for a long time dominated the motor car industry of the United States.

PRINCE FIVE YEARS OLD.

Crown Prince of Spain Celebrates Fifth Birthday To-day.

London, May 10.—Alphonso, Prince of the Asturias, the elder son of King Alphonso and heir to the Spanish throne, is to-day celebrating his fifth birthday, having been born May 10 1907. Reports from Madrid as to the mental and physical health of the young Prince vary widely, perhaps depending upon whether the writer is a monarchist or a republican. By some he is described as a strong and sturdy youngster of remarkable mentality for one of his age, by others he is said to be a weakling both in physique and intellect. Infant prodigy or imbecile—at this distance it is impossible to state. Perhaps he is just an average youngster, despite the brilliant uniform of a Spanish officer, with shoulder straps, belt and sword, that he is forced to wear on public occasions, and which give him somewhat the appearance of an organ-grinder's monkey.

ASCENDS THE STAIRS

Cow in West End Enters House and Climbs Stairs.

Beef on the hoof was higher in Peterborough yesterday than ever before in the history of the city. A fine young cow, the property of a well-known citizen residing near Jackson Park, entered the house by the front door, which had been left open, and proceeded to ascend the stairs leading to the flat above. The animal was successful in getting up, and had proceeded as far as the door at the end of the hall leading to the balcony. This door was also open, and her cowship stepped partly out on the balcony, where she surveyed the surrounding landscape. This act led to her ruin, for the cow was seen by a neighbor, who gave the alarm. The animal was induced, after considerable effort, to descend, and appeared to be none the worse for her adventure.

LIVES ON RAW FRUITS.

Chicago Woman Says 30 Cents a Day Will Provide For Three.

Throw out the cook stove and live on raw fruits and vegetables if you would decrease the cost of living.

For eight years this has been the motto of Mrs. Charles Smith, vegetarian and suffragist, who resides at 6528 Hazel avenue and to whom the high cost of living agitation is all a joke. Other axioms of Mrs. Smith are:

Wear clothing made of vegetable fiber, eat vegetarian foods and follow the meaning of one little word—simplicity.

If your complexion is bad throw away cosmetics—eat oranges.

But, above all things, get rid of the cook stove. There is nothing elevating in society dinners any more than there is in ragtime music.

These observations were made by Mrs. Smith when as president of the Chicago Vegetarian society she called the first fall meeting of the organization to order in Kimball hall.

When asked concerning her decreased cost of living meals at the close of the meeting Mrs. Smith gave the noon and night menus of herself and husband, for they eat but two meals a day. Upon such a delicious and extravagant array of food a family of three may live, she says, for 30 cents a day.

Here is what they ate:

For Dinner.—Celery and lettuce, sun dried olives, apples, whole wheat crackers, honey, figs and Brazil nuts.

"The civilized ideas of today are killing the race," declared Mrs. Jean Roberts Albert, secretary of the society. "We cater to degeneracy. We should live more simply, more primitively. Plenty of pure raw foods and plenty of sunshine are all that is required."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Sawed Handcuffs Through.

Toronto, May 1.—Arthur Jarvis of Cornwall, sentenced to Central Prison for six months for theft, made a clean get-away from a provincial inspector at the corner of Queen street and Spadina avenue last night. In a chain gang of 12 prisoners Jarvis was brought to Toronto by John J. Ryan of 487 Parliament street, who is connected with the department of asylums and prisons. When the train arrived at the Union Station about 9 o'clock Ryan put his men in an express wagon in order to carry them to the prison. All wore handcuffs attached to a long chain.

Jarvis was the end man in the wagon and at the corner of Queen and Spadina he very quietly slipped off and ran along a side street. Ryan did not notice that he only had 11 men in the wagon until the vehicle had gone some distance; then he notified a constable. But Jarvis could not be found.

Jarvis broke away by means of a file, which it is believed he picked up somewhere at the Union Station. Probably he found it in the baggage-room, through which the 12 prisoners were taken to the wagon, or there is a possibility that it was surreptitiously handed to him by a local pal.

Jarvis has a bad record, having been confined in Central Prison on several occasions. He is about [illegible] years of age.

Turkish Vessel Wrecked.

Smyrna, May 1.—The steamer Texas, belonging to the Archipelago-American Steamship Co., struck a mine at the entrance to the Gulf of Smyrna Monday evening and sank. It is reported that 90 of the 100 passengers were rescued.

The Texas was flying the Turkish flag and was engaged in carrying mails from Constantinople to the Levant.

The Gulf of Smyrna is one of the finest harbors in the Mediterranean, and Smyrna itself is the principal seaport of Asiatic Turkey. The entrance to the gulf was extensively mined some time ago by the Turkish authorities in order to protect the port against an attack by the Italian fleet.

The Texas was a vessel of [illegible] tons net register, built at Newcastle, Eng., in 1868. She was at first called the Olympia, then re-christened the Marguerita, and finally received the name of the Texas.

A STORY OF KITCHENER.

The Disheveled Dervish Who Was Captured in the Desert.

The following incident, involving Kitchener's ability to disguise himself, was described by one who served with the Essex regiment in a campaign against the dervishes:

"I was acting corporal of the guard over a large number of 'gentlemen of the desert' whom we had taken prisoners. In the course of my rounds a captive within the tent drew my attention, and I was surprised to hear in good English the request:

"'Corporal I wish to get out of this.'

"I of course reported the occurrence to the sergeant of the guard, only to be met with the curt reply:

"'Let the fool stay where he is!'

"I continued my rounds and was again met with the request. Again I reported the matter, and this time the reply was as curt, but a bit stronger, so I went on my rounds again. As I passed the spot this time the voice from within said:

"'Say, corporal, you are of the Essex regiment?'

"I answered that I was, and the prisoner said:

"'Well, tell Mr. B. that I want to speak to him.'

"'What name?' I asked.

"'Kitchener,' came the reply, and I at once reported accordingly to the sergeant.

"He immediately made for the prisoners' quarters, and I shall never forget that meeting. The disheveled 'dervish' was in reality the Lord Kitchener that was to be, who had been out spying among the enemy and had apparently been taken prisoner by his own troops."—London Globe.

FAMOUS FEEDERS.

Peter the Great and Louis XIV. Had Fairly Good Appetites.

Louis XIV., le Grand Monarque, could wield a lusty knife at the banqueting board. It is related of this French ruler that "he would eat at a meal four platefuls of soup, a whole pheasant, a partridge, a plateful of salad, mutton hashed with garlic, two good sized slices of ham and a dish of pastry, finishing the repast with fruits and sweetmeats"—pretty fair for a king who, we are informed by one historian, dined in public, "and the privilege of seeing him eat was eagerly sought after." No admission was charged, as far as can be learned.

In the Bodleian library at Oxford there is preserved an innkeeper's bill for breakfast eaten at Godalming, Surrey, by Peter the Great. The czar and twenty companions managed to dispose of half a sheep, a quarter of a lamb, ten pullets, three ducks, twelve chickens, eighty-four eggs, three quarts of brandy and six quarts of mulled wine, with salad in proportion. For a little snack picked up at noon Peter and his merry crew got away with a sheep, five ribs of beef, three-quarters of a lamb, fourteen pullets, fourteen rabbits and a great quantity of brandy and wine. Peter's taste in tipple ran to brandy and hot pepper, a harmless decoction for a copper riveted throat and armor plate stomach.

His Title to Fame.

There is a big hearted man editing a paper in Iowa who ever tries to say something eulogistic about every citizen of his town both during the subject's life and at his death. On one occasion he was much perplexed to know what to say in the case of a man, a resident of the town for many years and an excellent citizen. For the life of him the editor could think of nothing that his friend had done to entitle him to distinction. The following was the one fact that the writer could produce from the recesses of his memory as a climax for the eulogy that appeared in the paper:

"Mr. Jones was once prominently mentioned for the nomination as alternate delegate for the annual conclave of the Order of the Sons of America." —Harper's Magazine.

Spider Tigers.

The lycosae are tigers among spiders, and when the eggs are inclosed in their [illegible] they attach the precious parcel to the abdomen and carry it about with them. During the season of maternity they are exceedingly fierce and consider any evidence of curiosity on the part of an observer as a direct challenge to attack. When the young are hatched they swarm out over the mother, and she carries them about with her for several days. So voracious is their appetite that she frequently falls a victim to it, for, it is said, they have no compunction whatever in devouring her.

Curious Bread Law.

There is a provision in the British bread acts of 1822 and 1836, which are still in force, to the effect that "every person who shall make for sale or sell or expose for sale any bread made wholly or partially of peas or beans or potatoes or of any sort of corn or grain other than wheat shall cause all such bread to be marked with a large Roman 'M.'"

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

OLD RUSSIAN PROVERB.

Born of One of the Most Tragic Episodes in Muscovite History.

The Russian peasant has a saying which invariably puzzles the foreigner. "Too polite and die like Bekovitch."

In the early spring of 1717 Prince Bekovitch Cherkski led an armed expedition consisting of 4,000 infantry and 2,000 cavalry into the then almost unknown interior of south central Asia.

His ostensible object was to open up commercial relations with the khans of Khiva and Bokhara, his real one to see if it were possible to invade India from the north.

The prince, with whom were many officers of the imperial bodyguard, a brilliant company, marched his men across the arid steppes with difficulty and on Aug. 15 halted some eighty miles from the city of Khiva.

The Khivans, ignoring his professions of friendship, attacked in force, but were easily defeated by the better armed and better disciplined soldiers of the czar.

Their khan thereupon resorted to diplomacy. He visited the Russian camp in state, explained that the attack delivered by his people was all a mistake and invited Prince Bekovitch and his principal officers to visit his capital as his guests.

Two days later, at a grand entertainment, the khan toasted his "friends the Russians" and vowed eternal friendship. He also took the opportunity of requesting Prince Bekovitch to divide his army into small detachments for entertainment in the surrounding villages, regretting the inability of his capital to entertain so many guests.

The Russian commander politely agreed to the politely preferred request, the Russian force was broken up, and the khan laughed sardonically.

His turn had come. Early next day he killed Bekovitch and forwarded his head as a gift to the khan of Bokhara. Then he annihilated the Russian army.

WHERE CUPID REIGNS.

Love Making Seems to Be a Sort of Mania in Spain.

Writes one who has traveled much in Spain: "As the majority of Andalusian girls are engaged at the age of seventeen, the senoritas do not go to many dances, for a Spaniard would as soon allow his fiancee to dance with another man as he would let her wear a harem skirt or ride a bicycle. At their parties Spanish girls get unbounded admiration, and a senor who had reached the age of nineteen and talked to a girl without trying to make love to her would be considered gauche in the extreme. The guests are given nothing to eat on these festive occasions, glasses of cold water being simply handed round when they are leaving.

"Love is an all absorbing topic in this amorous land of orange flowers and revolutions. 'In Spain we do not talk of money; we talk of love,' a Spaniard once said to me. He was right, for love is the beginning and end of every Spaniard's thoughts. On the feast days the young men play no games, preferring to stand about and

Custom House Officials Have Some Queer Experiences.

PASSING A SEALSKIN COAT.

The Way the Matter Was Fixed Up With an Appraiser and the Surprise That Awaited the Owner—A Bride, a Ring, a Husband and a Bluff.

The general impression is that the life of a customs inspector is a very dull routine of hardship, but such is not always the case.

The average person believes there is a little romance about the life and unquestionably the tang of the sea, but it almost never occurs to him that it is one of the funniest businesses in the world. The element of humor never enters into the general appreciation of the customs man, but it exists nevertheless.

There is a deputy collector now in the custom house of New York whose experiences in several years are really humorous. He is a grave, solemn looking man, thus bearing out the traditions, but that does not prevent him from enjoying the odd incidents that bob up in his line of duty. Speaking of them, he said:

"I had an odd experience the other day. A young man from an office in Wall street had gone to Europe to be married. In London he bought his wife a ring. He had put it in his declaration at a value of $1,000. He brought his bride to me, and she held out her pretty little pink hand that I might examine the ring. It flashed and sparkled beautifully, but the flashes and sparkles didn't seem quite right, so I asked to be allowed to examine it more carefully. The bride blushingly pulled the ring off and handed it to me. I showed it to an expert appraiser, who promptly declared that it was a fake piece of jewelry worth about $10.

"I sympathized with the young man, and when I got a chance I told him the truth. 'Oh, yes,' he replied, 'I know. You see, I didn't have much money with me, so I bought this for £1 6s., but I had to ring in a bluff on my wife. Don't give me away.' The poor fellow was willing to pay several times the value of the ring to make his bluff good, but we fixed it up for him without his bride knowing the truth.

"Another laughable experience, but more serious for the passenger, happened not long ago. When I boarded a big steamship from Europe I was approached by a man who introduced himself as one who had formerly been collector of one of the most important western ports. I knew him very well by reputation. He was returning from abroad with his family. He explained that he was very wealthy and did not went to evade paying all the duty necessary, but he confided in me that he had a sealskin coat, bought in Paris for his wife, which he had not included in his declaration, knowing that sealskins could not be imported. Nevertheless, just because we were both members of the same fraternity, he wanted to know if there was not some way in which he could get the coat into the country.

"I would have been glad to help him, but didn't see how it could be done. However, I told him I would put the question up to the appraiser at the pier and if the matter could be arranged I would fix it up. The appraiser looked the coat over and told me to put it on the declaration as an imitation sealskin valued at $75. The western man was delighted.

"'That's what I call clever,' he said.

"A few days later I got a letter from this man asking me to call upon him at one of the most fashionable uptown hotels. I went to see him and had luncheon with him and his family. When luncheon was over he made a little golden cone on the table. It consisted of a twenty dollar gold piece, a ten, a five, a three, a two and a half and a one, all in gold. He shoved the stack over to me.

"'Just a souvenir, a reminder of your cleverness in getting that seal coat through for me,' he said.

"I refused to take it, but he tried to press it on me and told me to give it to the appraiser, but I refused. Later, when his family left us, I asked him how much he had paid for the coat in Paris. He said he had paid $1,000. He could hardly believe it when I told him that we had not falsified the declaration, that the coat was an imitation and that $75 was its outside value. He called a bellboy then and there and sent the coat to a furrier to have it appraised. The furrier sent back word that he would sell him all he wanted just like it for $65 each."—New York Herald.

Mirror, Crystal and Sword.

The three symbols of the imperial house of Japan are the mirror, the crystal and the sword, and they are carried in front of the emperor on all state occasions. Each has its significance. "Look at the mirror and reflect thyself," or, in other words, "Know thyself," is the message of the mirror. "Be pure and shine" is the crystal's injunction, while the sword is a reminder to "Be sharp."

A Custom of the Tyrol.

In the Tyrol it is the custom for women and children to come out into the open when it is the latter's bedtime and sing. Their husbands, fathers and brothers answer them from the hills on their way home.

The injuries we do and those we suffer are seldom weighed in the same balance.—Simmons.

Connaught's Birthday.

London, May 2.—In honor of the Duke of Connaught's birthday, bells were rung and a royal salute was fired at Windsor. Flags were also flying on the Government offices in London. The Canadian Governor-General is 62 years old, having been born on May 1, 1850.

A Coming Local Wedding.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Annie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Florence, to Mr. Philip Black. The wedding is announced for Tuesday evening, May 28th, at 6 o'clock, at the Knights of Pythias Hall, 173 Simcoe street. A reception will be held in the Knights of Pythias Hall at 7 o'clock.

A Boy and a 'Lunge.

A big lunge in the river, right in the centre of the city. A boy with a fisherman's ambition, and the means of getting that maskinonge. This combination was seen here yesterday morning. Now, the law was against taking maskinonge at this time of year. Did that kid stop on account of the law? He simply got a pike pole and drove a hole through that lunge that allowed its spirit to escape quickly.

Addition to St Joseph's

St. Joseph's Hospital is being altered. A new ward is being put in the upper part of the building for children. The new ward will comprise two rooms, one for boys and the other for girls. The dimensions of each room will be approximately 20 ft. by 15 ft. and these will possess all the modern sanitary improvements, and conditions which will form a considerable asset to the comfort and health of the inmates.

Mr. J. J. McMahon will be in temporary charge of the Metropolitan Life Company's business.

Good Work Done by Local Ladies.

The ladies of the Peterborough Health Association are doing good work. They purpose engaging a District Nurse, whose attention will be given to those afflicted with consumption, and who need her services. She will visit homes where children may be exposed to tubular infection, and will see the conditions are such that will insure the children against contracting the disease. Lessons on ventilation, fumigation, etc., will be given, and the nurse will see that all possible precautions are taken to protect parents from imparting the disease to their offspring.

Health for Every Woman No More Headaches

From Weakness and Despair Thousands have Been Restored to Robust Good Health by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

That sick women are made well by Dr. Hamilton's Pills is proved in the following letter:

"For years I was thin and delicate. I lost color and was easily tired; a yellow pallor, pimples and blotches on my face were not only mortifying to my feelings, but because I thought my skin would never look nice again. I grew despondent. Then my appetite failed. I grew very weak. Various remedies, pills, tonics and tablets I tried without permanent benefit. A visit to my sister put into my hands a box o Dr. Hamilton's Pills. She placed reliance upon them, and now that they have made me a well woman I would not be without them whatever they might cost.

"I found Dr. Hamilton's Pills, by their mild yet searching action very suitable to the delicate character of a woman's nature. They never once griped me, yet they established regularity. My appetite grew—my blood red and pure—heavy rings under my eyes disappeared, and to-day my skin is as clear and unwrinkled as when I was a girl. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

The above straightforward letter from Mrs. J. V. Todd, wife of a well-known citizen in Rogersville, is proof sufficient that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. Use no other pill but Dr Hamilton's 25c per box. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Twin's Trouble.

A somewhat peculiar case occurred here yesterday in connection with a black-listed man. It seems that there are two twin brothers, as much alike as peas from the same pod. One of them, unfortunately, has acquired a too great thirst for alcoholic beverages. He was put on the Indian list. Now, let us say their names are Walter Brown and William Brown, which are not correct. The notice served by the license inspector simply had the initial of the erring one's name. Now his brother, who takes a little stimuland in moderation, is debarred, as he cannot be told from the one posted.

The Eternal Dog Nuisance.

This city, whilst larger than Lindsay, still has something to learn from that pretty town on the classic Scugog River. Even the President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals would admit that Peterborough's streets are thronged by many hundred useless curs, that would be better turned into fertilizer or disposed of in any old way. The town of Lindsay has advertised for two (2) dog catchers. Any dog captured and not paid for by its owner will be given a quick but painless ticket to the Valhalla where dogs are supplied with meat every half hour, and where a specially kept and trimmed garden will be kept for them to root up and bury their bones in.

TURF CLUB IS REVIVED

Arrangements Made for Coming Season, and Directorate is Elected.

For some years in this city, matters appertaining to the turf have been somewhat quiet. However, on Wednesday night a few local men interested in the turf and the propagation of high-grade horses in this County met at the Munro House and the Peterborough Turf Club was revived. The Club have leased the driving Park at the exhibition grounds, for the balance of the year. The former stockholders have undertaken to put the track into good shape for the purpose of owners training their horses at reasonable expense.

The following directorate was elected: Messrs. R. J. Munro, Roland Denne, J. M. Brooks, D. B. Denison, A. Rountree, Herb Kendry. Mr. Brooks was elected President, Mr. Rountree secretary and Mr. Denne Treasurer. LOCAL WOMAN WINS OUT

Mrs. Witton, of Peterborough, Gets a Horse Belonging to Her Husband Re-instated on the Turf.

New York, May 9.—A woman pleading before the Board of Review of the National Trotting Association to-day was a feature of the proceedings, which are usually confined to men. Mrs. W. J. Witton, of Peterborough, Ont., appeared, after her husband had failed twice to turn the board in his favor, and won the case of the Lady of the Lake, the mare which Witton bought in alleged good faith as Susie Hal, to discover later that the horse was debarred as a ringer in 1910. Susie Hal was reinstated, after Mr. Witton paid $106 to get the mare back into good standing.

Other decisions announced by the Board were:

Application of W. H. Hickman, of Mount Forest, Pa., for removal of expulsion against him and the chestnut mare, Flathead.—Granted.

Mare Mildred, formerly Melba Chimes, with a mark of 2.26¼ was ordered suspended pending the return of her lawful winnings.

Emmet J. Mangan, of Binghampton, N.Y., and the black mare, Miss Arcola, formerly Bessie Lightfoot, were expelled, and charges against J. M. Kilmer, also of Binghampton, were dismissed.

Events That Might Start the Ball Rolling and Cause the Greatest Upheaval Since Days of Napoleon the First

Agram, Croatia, May 10. — The long-awaited upheaval in the Danubian states draws nearer. Many writers are affirming that Macedonia is the touchstone of the political unrest in Europe; others that it is Albania; still others that it is Crete. Any one of these three regions might, at any moment, start the ball a-rolling, or rather throw the switch which would cause the greatest European upheaval since the days of Napoleon I.

It is fully as likely, however, that the death of one old man, the Emperor-king Francis Joseph, now in his eighty-second year, will be the occasion for up-setting the present unstable equilibrium. The emperor's death will be the signal for the southern Slavs to assert themselves, and if once they make a move, all southeastern Europe will be in motion—Austria, Hungary, Roumania, Bulgaria, Servia, Montenegro, Greece Macedonia and Albania—a seething witches' cauldron, terrible as mordant lye with the enmities of generations.

Unsettled conditions.

The most disquieting feeling exists here in Agram over the suspension of the Croatian constitution. The Ban, or Viceroy, of Croatia-Slavonia, is nominated by the Hungarian prime-minister, and is dismissable at any moment. The Croatian assembly was elected by oral ballot, and the election officials were the tools of the Ban. In a general election last December, in spite of unprecedented intimidation and barefaced false returns, the "governmental" or Hungarian party succeeded in electing only twenty-five, while the amalgamated opposition returned sixty-three Budapest's answer to this was the dismissal of the Ban and the appointment to that office of M. Cuvaj, man thoroughly experienced in the policy of absolutism. There are many rival Slav parties in Croatia-Slavonia but they are all united in hating the Hungarians. The first act of M. Cuvaj, elected assembly on the ground that therefore. was to dissolve the newly- its composition afforded "no hope of fruitful activity." Even then the people looked for a new election; the suppression of constitutional rights also stung them to sudden anger.

Croatia, Slavonia and Dalmatia first came under Hungarian domination at the beginning of the twelfth century. They exchanged this control for Austrian rule in 1526, when Hungary succumbed to the Turks. For 160 years following the Slavic lands along the Adriatic sea were a bulwark against Moslem ambitions in Europe; every mail who could fight was a soldier against Islem. The women then, as now, in these regions, were left to till the soil.

Croats Oppressed.

In the eighteenth century the Croats supported Maria Theresa in the pragmatic succession by which Charles the Sixth her father, bequeathed her his kingdom. For this service the Croats were accepted as "freemen, not slaves." But their historic enemies, the Hungarians, had rendered even more eminent aid to Maria Theresa and their great influence at Vienna was still used consistently to oppress the Croats.

When Napoleon arrived on the scene he dealt effectively with the Hungarians, but unintentionally gave impetus to nationalism among the southern Slavs. The Slav province, which Napoleon called Illyria, and endowed with good laws, good roads, and French schools, made such advancement in the years 1809-1813, that when the Austrian emperor recovered his heritage and toured Croatia, he exclaimed: "What a pity the French did not stay longer!"

Austrian Netternich was presently an evil genius for the Slavs and nationalism was stifled. But in 1848, when every European throne was racked by the tempest of democracy and the Hungarians seemed about to emerge as a democratic empire, the Croatians, fearful of Hungary could only find refuge with Austria. It was a hard submission, as was proved by the famous Compromise of 1867. By this Austro-Hungarian agreement, Croatia-Slavonia was given over to

CHURCHILL AND GEORGE IN RACE FOR THE PREMIERSHIP

London, May 11.—As much of the attention of the British public as can be spared for the general political situation is centred on the race between Winston Churchill and Lloyd George for the reversion of the premiership in the event of Mr. Asquith's translation to the woolsack. While these two are not the only possible future leaders of their party, it is felt that they are in a sense close rivals for the favor of a large element on which the cabinet depends for support.

Nothing has been more noticeable in recent months than the way in which Mr. Churchill has gained the opinion and confidence of his colleagues and the country, which is largely due to his strong naval policy, to his bold and frank, yet tactful speech on the estimates, and the firm attitude he is reputed to have adopted in the cabinet over the miners' bill. Mr. Churchill is regarded by many as now possessing a greater chance of the reversion of the premiership than his clever colleague.

The unpopularity of the insurance bill in the country, the result of the South Manchester election, and greatest of all the recent terrible labor troubles, which many consider to have been "quickened" by "Limehousing" speeches, are said to have rather diminished the confidence reposed in the chancellor by the Liberal party. And over the miners' bill his reputed support of the miners' side of the question and the inclusion of the "five and two" was certainly defeated by the premier and the safer section in the cabinet. Not even the budget and its accumulated millions appear to have restored the chancellor's popularity.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS

Peter E. Summers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the NEW METHOD TREATMENT and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

EDISON SCORES GREAT TRIUMPH

Has Perfected Method of Separating Paying Elements of Ores

New York, May 4.—Thomas A. Edison, it was learned to-day, has accomplished the greatest triumph of his career. He has perfected a method of separating paying elements of ores that will mean hundreds of thousands of dollars a year in the productive wealth of the country.

The inventor is not at this time prepared to give out details of his new method, but it is learned a plant that required $250,000 a year to operate can be carried on by this new Edison method for $50,000 The object of this method is to do away with the term "low grade" ore. With this system valuable metal can be extracted from all ores. The machinery he has invented is so simple a child can operate it. Those closely associated with the inventor declares he believes his new invention is the most valuable he has yet given to mankind.

INDIA FAVORS BRITISH RULE

Rustom Rustomjee, Bombay Editor, Says Anarchy Will Follow Revolt

Boston, May 11.—British rule in India was discussed yesterday afternoon before a distinguished audience at the Chilton Club on Dartmouth street by Rustom Rustomjee, an eminent Parsee scholar, and editor of Bombay. The speaker, attired in picturesque Parsee costume, began his talk with an account of the Parsees and their beneficent influence on the social life and politics of India.

"It is hastily assumed," said Rustomjee, "that the whole of the Indian empire is on the verge of revolt against the British Empire. Nothing could be further from the truth. Out of a population of 350,000,000, the 72,000,000 Mahommedans were never stronger in their attachment to the British throne and sovereign than at the present time: 65,000,000 of the people are not under the direct sway of Great Britain, being governed by the Indian rajahs, and 85 per cent of the population are agriculturists, who do not care who governs them, so long as they are kindly treated and have their taxes remitted when crops fail, and there is scarcity and famine.

"Instead of being disloyal, the Mahommedan population of India has always been a very tower of strength to the British government, nor have the native princes swerved from their loyalty, in spite of all you have heard about the alleged insult to the King Emperor by the Gaekwar of Baroda.

"There is, of course, a healthy unrest in all parts of India among its different peoples, but that only shows that the seed sown by the British government has fallen on good soil, and is bearing good fruit. Both in England and in India the British administrators welcome the existence of this loyal unrest, which has especially found expression in the work of the Indian National Congress started 25 years ago for the political improvement of India.

"The programme of this congress aims not at the annihilation, but at the consolidation of the British empire in India.

AN UNFAIR STATEMENT

The statement of the Examiner last night to the effect that J. H. Burnham, M. P., wrote or inspired the article which appeared in The Times a few days ago, suggesting that gentleman as a successor to the late Judge Mabee as Chairman of the Railway Commission, is a deliberate untruth. Mr. Burnham knew nothing of the article until it it appeared in the paper. Surely our contemporary, in its frantic efforts to injure Mr. Burnham, is sadly lacking in justice and fair play. Its well known antipathy to Mr. Burnham makes its spasms of anger ridiculous as well as foolish.

WOMEN AROUSE FRENCH SPIRIT

Play Active Part in Stimulating Present Patriotic Movement

Paris, May 11.—Women are taking a prominent part in a remarkable wave of patriotism that is sweeping over France. This is not astonishing when one remembers the important role which woman plays in modern France as the comrade and counsellor of her husband in private life and as an aid to him in his business career.

Women's clubs and societies, groups of girl friends, actresses, girl students and hospital nurses all figure in the long list of the military aviation subscription, which is mounting by leaps and bounds, to the end that France may have a great aerial fleet. Among the fetes arranged in connection with the national aviation fund are many organized by girls' schools and by factory girls' guilds.

Lieut. Conneau, the famous airman who won the $50,000 aviation race in Great Britain last year, delivered a stirring address to women and girls in which he outlined what women could o in behalf of the cause of national aviation. It was their mission, he declared, to see to it that the love o aviation becomes a national sentiment in France.

YANKEE TO PURCHASE ORTH'S CASTLES

Vienna, May 11.—Telegraphic messages from Gmunden, in the Salzkammergut, say that the castles of the Archduke Johann Orth, which are situated in Orth, near Gmunden, will be sold to an American millionaire, who will spend the greater part of the summer there, and intends to convert the buildings into magnificent summer palaces. The name of the purchaser has so far been kept secret. It will be remembered that an official declaration of the death of Johann Orth was published some months ago. The office of the Imperial Marshal, which is responsible for all legal transactions connected with members of the Imperial house, has now proceeded to the liquidation of the estate formerly belonging to Johann Orth, and the castles have accordingly been sold.

Orth Cast,e consists of a country and a lake residence, massive buildings, with domed towers, dating from the fourteenth century. The lake castle rises on a small island in the Gmunden lake, being connected with the land by a picturesque bridge. It was constructed on the remains of a Roman castle. Its romantic court is surrounded by loggias on all sides.

TEMPORAL POWER, MYTH

It is Believed the Vatican Looks To Ireland or Canada for Permanent Abode—Sensational Story Regarding Real Object of Home Rule.

(Special to The Times)

Dublin, May 11.—It is believed by many in this country that the real object of the leaders of the National Party is to provide a home for the Pontiff. His residence in Rome will soon be no longer tolerated. Indeed, it is unsafe for the Cardinals to leave the Vatican without a military escort, on account of the strong anti-clerical feeling that exists amongst the Romans. Hence, it is believed, an effort will be made to end the present intolerable conditions by a removal of the Vatican to Dublin or Montreal.

No Temporal Power.

Hope of a restoration of the temporal power of the Pope, either through the friendly or forcible mediation of some other power, has just received another set-back in a public declaration of Baron Hertling, the new premier of Bavaria. The baron was formerly leader of the Central or Catholic party, and when he was elevated to the position of president of the Bavarian cabinet of ministers, high hopes were raised that at last a champion of restoration of the temporal power of the Pope had not only been found, but had been placed in a position of sufficient power to make that end possible. Baron Hertling was even quoted as saying that the movement for restoration "is asleep now but will be awakened in its own good time."

These assertions became so strong that he was finally obliged to announce his official attitude to the Bavarian Diet. He not only denied all of the statements attributed to him on the subject but declared his firm belief that the restoration is an utter impossibility.

THE MOULDERS WILL INSIST

The Nine Hour Day to Be Enforced or Trouble Will Follow

A meeting of the local moulders was held last night in Labor Hall, which was addressed by Mr. M. J. Keough, first vice-president of the International Moulders' Union. The nine hour day seemed to be the main bone of contention. At a late hour last night the Times learned that the decision of the meeting was to insist on the nine hours a day. After the meeting, from which the press was naturally excluded, a Times representative spoke to Vice-President Keough and put a straight question, to which he was given a straight answer. The Times man said, "Mr. Keough, what shall we say in the morning papers was the result of the meeting?" That gentleman replied, "Don't say anything about that ugly word strike. You can say, however, that the moulders have decided to stick for a nine hour day. The bosses will be notified to this effect."

CONDUCT OF SIR AND LADY DUFF-GORDON TO BE PROBED

London, May 10.—At the Titanic inquiry to-day it was clearly shown how painful is the impression created by the evidence given late yesterday afternoon affecting the conduct of Sir Cosmo and Lady Duff-Gordon, who, it was said, objected to the lifeboat in which they were returning to pick up some of the thousand drowning people. The Gordons will arrive in England in a few days and it is expected they will be called to give their version of the allegations made by the fireman, Charles Hendrickson. The court is determined to sift the allegations at any cost.

Sir Robert Finlay, representing the White Star line, intimated this morning that he would postpone the cross-examination of Hendrickson until Tuesday next, when the surviving officers of the Titanic will also have arrived. They will also be closely questioned upon Hendrickson's assertion that although his boat had only twelve people in it, including seven of the crew, it did not put back to the rescue of the drowning because of the Duff-Gordon objections. The court is also determined to ascertain the exact circumstances in which Sir Cosmo gave each of the boat's crew $25 after they were picked up by the Carpathia.

At Lord Mersey's instance, an exact list of the occupants of each boat is being prepared, showing the proportion of men in each.

Had to Push Women Into Boats.

Frank Morris, baker on the Titanic who was ordered by the fifth officer into number 14 lifeboat, said to-day that they had to push women into the boat. He saw no one refused who wanted to go. They had in the boat 53 women and children and 2 men, some of the women being third-class Irish emigrants. Fifth officer Lowe said they had not enough, so they transferred the women and children to other boats, and pulled back to the wreckage and picked up three whom they heard crying for help. They also took on about eighteen passengers from the collapsible boat, which was on the point of sinking, its gunwhales not having been properly fixed. They said hundreds in the water, but only three cried for help. The others might have been unconscious or dead, he said, and it was very dark.

"Did you try to attract the attention of the people in the water?" he was asked.

"No."

"Were you close to the Titanic as she went down?"

"No, we did not know whether there would be any suction. It was only possible to rescue three."

SAYS THAT HIS WIFE'S DYING STATEMENT WAS UNTRUE

Toronto. May 10.—At the trial of Wm. Davidge, accused of the murder in having sent his wife to Dr Hawke where it is alleged a criminal operation was performed, Mr Blackstock read out Mrs. Davidge's ante-mortem statement in which she declared that Dr. Hawke had performed a criminal operation on her and that she had been sent to him by her husband who also gave her the $25 for the doctor.

This concluded the case for the Crown, and Mr. Robinette immediately asked that the case be taken from the jury and the prisoner discharged, contending that there was no corroboration of Mrs. Davidge's dying statement that her husband had conspired with her to have the operation performed.

His Lordship refused the request, but expressed his intention to instruct the jury not to convict unless they came to the conclusion that there was corroboration.

The prisoner, called in his own defence, declared that the only time he had conversation with his wife about Dr. Hawke was when the latter's name appeared in the papers as being charged with performing another illegal operation on a girl. He denied that any suggestion was made that his wife should go to him.

Just previous to the time of the operation, he said, he gave his wife $46 which he had received from the Standard Loan Company to pay doctors' and dentists' bills which were owing, and which amounted to $33 altogether.

Says He Did Not Know

"When was the first time you were aware of that?" asked Mr. J. R. L. Starr.

"After Dr. Hannah Reid had been called in," was the reply.

"Did your wife tell you then that she had been to Dr. Hawke?"

"Yes."

"Did you tell Dr. Reid that?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"Because I did not make a practice of telling on my wife."

Dying Statement a "Lie."

Cross-examined by Mr. Blackstock, witness denied telling Detective McKinney that on one occasion be had sent his wife to another doctor for an operation.

"What I did tell him was that my

JUDGE DRYSDALE, NOVA SCOTIA, AS SUCCESSOR TO JUDGE MABEE

Ottawa. May 10.—A new and formidable candidate for the Chairmanship of the Railway Commission has appeared. This is Hon. Arthur Drysdale, of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia. He is said to have very exceptional qualifications for the position, and to be very highly regarded by the Prime Minister. He was a very prominent lawyer in Nova Scotia, an able and sagacious politician, and one of the best public speakers in the East. While nothing has been definitely decided by the Government, it is certain that the question of Judge Drysdale's appointment to the Chairmanship, will be very seriously considered. It is needless to add that the Judge is not seeking the position, nor is it known that he would accept if offered the appointment.

MOVING PICTURE REGULATIONS

Theatre Must Have Two Aisles, 3 1-2 Feet Wide--Exits Other Than the Main One, Must Be 3 1-2 Feet Wide.

The Times is in receipt of the Rules and Regulations governing the moving picture houses, which are very strict. To begin with, no municipality can give a license to such a theatre until the proprietor produces the Government's license. Of course the main consideration is protecting the public. In this City, in the past, it has been a common practise to allow people to stand in the rear of the seats and to fill the outside lobby with crowds waiting to gain admission. This is probably the gravest danger of all. In case of a panic starting inside such a place, the crowd in the lobby, not being aware of what is transpiring inside, would check the exit of the panic stricken crowd. In case of such a panic every second that the fighting, struggling crowd is held back might mean the loss of human lives. The law on this point is very plain. The exact words are: "All halls, passageways, stairways or approaches shall be kept free and unobstructed by any camp stool, chair, safe, hinged seat, or other obstruction, or by allowing the public to stand in the aisles." This is clear evidence that the lobbies, in which the ticket offices are located, must be kept cleared. It is the duty of all Police Officers to examine the licenses of any person using a moving picture machine.

Children under the age of 15 years unaccompanied by adults, shall not be permitted to attend any exhibition by cinematograph, moving picture machine, or other similar apparatus, at which exhibition an admission fee is charged.

No cinematograph, moving picture machine, or other similar apparatus, shall exhibit any films which have not been stamped by the Board of Censors.

THE COUNCIL AND THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Editor Morning Times

Sir.—Now that war has been declared against the Board of Education by the City Council, the overtaxed ratepayers will likely have a poor show. It is an old and trite saying that when thieves fall out honest men get the juicy fruit. In this case, while the members of the Council and School Board are not to be classed as rogues, there is a feeling abroad that they are trying to get the best of each other. This jugglery does not promise well for the unfortunate taxpayer.

I think, Mr. Editor, that someone should get busy and bring about a more harmonious and friendly feeling than that which now exists between the two bodies. The Council should take the first step towards reconciliation, and in this connection I would suggest that the Council cause to be erected in fee, a statute of each member of the Board of Education. These could be erected in various parts of

WHILE YOU WORK AND WHILE YOU sleep.—Wage earners make money only while they work. My lot buyers make money while they sleep. Those who have bought from me during the past four years have made by increasing value of lots, more than 50 per cent per annum on the amount invested. And they are worth from $300 to $1200 to-day, because of having wisely imposed a "must" upon themselves to save a little of what they earned. Come in and let us show you a very easy way to do the same. Gardens: I know one man who planted 1 acre of onions, and sold his crop for $800 cash. Was that not making money while he slept? We can supply a few acres ploughed to men who would wish to do likewise. Also a larger place with good buildings and a large poultry plant. Immediate possession. Decide at once, and call for particulars. T. Hurley, corner Stewart and Hunter streets.

WE CAN GIVE YOU ABSOLUTE PROOF that the lots we offer inside the town limits of Edson at $40 each, on easy terms, are a money-making investment, offered below their real value; Edson is a divisional point on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific with a monthly pay roll of $40,000; Edson is the actual distributing point for the Peace River country, the Brazeau coal fields, and for two hundred miles west on the Canadian Northern; Edson is little more than a year old, and already has more than twelve hundred permanent residents; it costs you one cent to obtain illustrated booklet, and the above mentioned proof; mail us a postcard to-day. RELIEVE THE TEDIUM.

Little Jests Brighten the Days In the House of Commons.

Cheerful little remarks and episodes tend to lighten the most dreary days in the session of a legislative body. H. W. Anderson in The Canadian Courier recounts a few of recent vintage in the Commons at Ottawa.

It was the early morning hours following the recent all-night sitting of Parliament in which the Manitoba school question was under debate and discussion. It was, moreover, the sitting at which Hon. George P. Graham had resumed his seat in the House as the newly-elected member for South Renfrew. The vote upon the amendment of Mr. Mondou, the Nationalist member for Yamaska, had just been taken, and the members were trouping out into the corridors, the majority on their way to the restaurant for a sandwich and a cup of coffee. The ex-Minister of Railways and Canals was strolling down the corridor with a frown upon his face, when Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer, accosted him.

"Wherefore so downcast, George?" he queried.

Mr. Graham shook his head. "It's pretty hard lines," he responded, "to have spent the past few weeks zealously endeavoring to defeat the Government, and then come here to-day and have to cast my first vote in support of them."

One of the most ardent of the Opposition newspaper men was reviewing the supplementary estimates in the Press Gallery. He was checking off item after item with keen critical comments. Very little seemed to meet with his approval. "Gross extravagance," "A patent political vote catcher," "Another useless expenditure," "Automobiles indeed; they'll be buying aeroplanes next," were the caustic comments which from time to time fell from his lips as he diligently conned the items. Finally, however, he paused, and read slowly: "Gratuity to the dependents of an official who served for over twenty years in the House of Commons and is now insane." He looked out over the House. It was a tedious afternoon and a western member, who can scarcely be accounted a brilliant speaker, was in the midst of an extended dissertation. "Well," he commented, "I think that vote should meet with unanimous approval."

They were Conservative members, and they had harked back to the victory of September last with its campaign stories.

"Well," drawled Col. Hugh Clark, "the most genuine congratulations I received were written a month after the election. My admirer mentioned that he would have written before, but had just come to. He had been celebrating for the intervening weeks."

About Ambergris.

A press report from Victoria, B.C., the other day stated that a piece of ambergris estimated to be worth $150,000 was taken from a whale killed by the whaler Pretriana, which arrived at that port on July 8. This is said to be one of the largest pieces of ambergris ever found.

Ambergris is supposed to be a morbid secretion of the liver of the spermaceti whale, found floating or washed ashore. It is a little lighter than water, and might easily be taken for a piece of the bark of a tree. On examination, however, it is found to be of a waxy nature, streaked with gray, yellow and black and emitting a peculiar aromatic odor. It fuses at 140 to 150 degrees Fahrenheit and at a higher temperature gives out a white smoke, which condenses into a crystalline fatty matter.

It is found in all sizes, from one pound up to twenty or thirty, but occasionally pieces weighing one hundred or two hundred pounds are found in whales.

Ambergris has been known from an early period, some pharmacopoeias prescribing it for fevers and nervous complaints. It is sometimes mingled with the incense burned in churches, and is also put in certain kinds of wine to improve the bouquet.

But the great use of ambergris is in the manufacture of perfumery. Not that its fragrance is either very powerful or pleasing, but it possesses the peculiar property of causing other ingredients to throw out their odors and making them more specific and durable.

Mr. Hanna's Tact.

Hon. W. J. Hanna, Ontario's Provincial Secretary, is not famed as a "mixer," and the general impression seems to be that he is a hard man to approach. But he knows how to mix among country folk at election time.

Mr. Hanna first ran for the Ontario Legislature in 1902, when he opposed Mr. F. F. Pardee, then member for West Lambton. It seemed very doubtful that the latter could be defeated, and some of Hanna's friends were somewhat dolefully discussing the candidate's chances. Then a hopeful member of the group spoke up.

"Pshaw!" he said. "Hanna's chances are all right. He knows how to handle the farmers. When Pardee calls at a house on the side lines the people won't know what to do with him—he's so well dressed and nice in his talk. Along will come Hanna the next day, and when the farmer will direct him to go up to the 'spare room' to wash for dinner, do you think he'll go like Pardee? Not on your life. Hanna will yank off his coat and say: 'Spare room nothin'! Show me the pump and some soft soap. That's what I was used to when I was a boy."

Common Names Lacking.

The present Ontario Legislature does not contain a single Smith, Brown, Jones, or Robinson. The Dominion Parliament has a Brown and a Smith (also a Smythe), but neither a Jones nor a Robinson. The Senate has a Jones, but neither a Brown, Smith, nor Robinson, although it has a Robertson.

Matrimonial Note.

"This thing of getting married," said the girl who was busy with her trousseau, "is certainly a trial."

"A trial, yes," agreed the cynical bachelor, "but it isn't half so bad as working out the sentence."—Town Topics.

SUGAR WAS BEST.

How the Little Man Persuaded the Horse and Beat the Driver.

Horses fat and horses thin, horses that looked miserably sickly and horses that seemed apparently healthy, horses that broke a leg and horses that slipping on the icy pavement were rendered worthless to their owners, to the tune of 149 were shot and destroyed by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in Montreal last year.

In these days of automobiles, when gasoline is the motive power of fifty per cent. of the transportation facilities of the street when animals are looked upon as being a necessary evil, when the snow is off the streets and the asphalt is bared of the slippery coat of snow that has covered it all winter, the sound of the lashing whip striking the flanks of inoffensive animals is all too often heard.

Organized some forty-three years ago and ever since that time having provided effective means for the prevention of cruelty to animals, not only in the City of Montreal but all through the Province of Quebec, the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has banished from the street corners and from the lonely routes the disgusting spectacle of dumb animals whipped to the blood for refusing to draw loads far too heavy for the emaciated condition to which ill-treatment and lack of food had reduced them.

Ribs that stood out prominent upon the flanks of the beasts, while others sported a glossy coat of fat, were noticeable upon the horses that the society put out of misery.

Instruments of torture, whips which would have relegated the cat-o-nine-tails into the background, were confiscated from cruel drivers and form a collection of weapons in the offices of the C.S.P.C.A.

About three months ago, at the corner of Bleury and St. Catherine street, a very thin horse pulling a very rusty wagon, which bore no license number and which was not adorned by any name of company was stalled and the whip of the driver, a foreigner who seemed absolutely ignorant of the capacity of the beast plied often and hard upon the ribs of his animal.

A crowd had gathered and the man swearing gracefully in a language known to himself alone, finally brought the blood to the flanks of the dilapidated animal. Despite straining every nerve the horse could not budge the load away from the crossing. All the while, the whip was plied furiously. A mild looking individual trotted out of the crowd, tapped the horse gently over the "nape" and presented him with a lump of sugar. The animal devoured it, while the driver stood dumbfounded at the audacity of the little man who would interfere with his right of beating his horse.

Another lump of sugar was held about three feet from the animal's mouth in the hand of his benefactor and what the whip had failed to accomplish the sight of the sugar did and the horse dragged the heavy load away, grabbed the lump of sugar from the hand of the S.P.C.A. man and kept right on down Bleury street.

"I thank you," beamed the driver, who weighed some 200 pounds upon the man in the street, who could not boast of more than 130.

"Come off your seat," was the reply. "I wish to speak to you." Smiling benignly the man descended and was told in terse words to get ready for a fight.

As a straight right landed on the man's jaw the "sugar man" was heard to deliver himself of the following oration: "Any man who will beat a horse the way you beat yours, is a coward and will not fight. You are no good." Another punch landed squarely and the man went down.

"I will have you arrested," wailed the brutal Colossus to the little man. The man who a few minutes previously had cruelly beaten a defenceless horse cowered before another who could not cope with him in size, weight and strength.

A Double Loss.

Out in the Township of Zorra, Ont., not far from Embro, live two Scots of the true type, now fast disappearing. Bachelors past middle age, canny and close grained, they for many years chummed together, argued and disputed, and fully enjoyed life until an unfortunate incident severed their relations and left them both miserable. Sandy Mathieson and Donald Gunn were their names and their last trip together was to Stratford, where they put in a big day and started home with a generous allowance of Heather Dew under each belt. On the way an argument arose which became so heated that Donald declined to sit any longer with Sandy, who was driving. He got back into the long sleigh, pulled out the tailboard, and putting it across the box, glowered at Sandy's back in solitary state. Sandy, of course, would not deign to look behind, and thereby failed to notice that a severe jolt, coupled probably with a slight unsteadiness on Donald's part, caused the latter to pitch out into the snow. Neither would Donald demean himself to draw attention to his mishap, so that Sandy in due time arrived home alone.

"Say, Sandy, you've lost your tailboard," said a neighbor, as he turned into his gate.

"Yass," said Sandy, as he turned and for the first time realized that he was alone. "Yass, an' I lose Tonal Gunn."

LANDING AT RAKAHANGA.

A Risky Feat and One That Sorely Tries the Nerves.

Rakahanga is a little coral atoll in the south sea, not very far from New Zealand. Few people ever visit it, and to judge from the account in Mr. Frank Burnett's "Through Tropic Seas" of the difficulties that attend a landing there none would care to go a second time.

At Rakahanga the feeling is that only by a miracle can a safe passage be made through what, by a stretch of the imagination, is called the entrance to the lagoon. Imagine a once good entrance obstructed by a wall of coral rising to within a few feet of the surface of the water. This coral wall is built by that wonderful creature, the coral polyp. Over it break with inconceivable fury huge ocean billows that travel with the speed of race horses, lashing and churning the water into a milk white foam and with a deafening roar throwing the spray to such a height that it may be seen miles away.

The backwash of every breaker forms, on the outside of the wall of rock, a chasm fathoms deep, which is again filled up by the next rushing wave. To cross the abyss and reach the quiet shelter of the lagoon is a difficulty that the islander shows the greatest skill in surmounting.

His boat—a long, low, flat bottomed affair, built much like a halibut dory, manned usually by six paddlers besides the steersman—is brought to the very verge of the boiling caldron, and there it is held till the opportune moment arrives. Since that sometimes does not occur for five or ten minutes the passenger has plenty of time to reflect upon his misdeeds, to survey the sublime scene and to wonder how in the world that fearful turmoil of water is to be crossed.

The delay does not tend to compose his nerves, but if he is observant he will notice that about every five or six minutes three giant billows in quick succession roll majestically in. When the last of the three has passed and the chasm has been filled up the paddlers give a frightful yell that terrifies the unsuspecting passenger almost to death, dig in their paddles and shoot the boat forward like an arrow from a bow.

Before the backwash can re-empty the chasm the boat is across. The passenger has hardly time to grasp how it is done before the paddlers have sprung to the reef and pulled the boat clear of the next roller, usually a small one.

In entering the lagoon the chief risk is that of an upset after crossing the chasm and a ducking in two or three feet of water, but on going out, if the boat does not reach the smooth water before the next succeeding swell breaks, woe betide it and its crew, for nothing will prevent its being swamped and carried, with all hands, back into the awful abyss by the inrush of broken water, out of which only the strongest and most skilful swimmers can emerge.

New Steamer Launched.

Collingwood, May 1.—The launching of the new Canadian Government steamer "Estivan," which is to be used in the lighthouse service on the Pacific Coast, took place at the yards of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co. here yesterday afternoon. Miss Helen Currie, daughter of Major J. A. Currie, M.P. for North Simcoe, christened the boat. Following the ceremony, a banquet was held at which Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, spoke. The banquet was tendered by the Collingwood Board of Trade in honor of the two Cabinet Ministers and Major Currie, and was the most notable in the history of the town.

Hon. Mr. Hazen delivered an address on the large program before the Government in the matter of shipbuilding and ship industries, and general marine improvements. The visitors were later entertained at a civic luncheon.

TO MAKE OCEAN TRAVEL SAFER.

The legislation proposed by Senator William Alden Smith to make ocean travel safer is generally regarded as commendable, and shows that the inquiry of the Senate committee into the sinking of the Titanic has been useful. He would have all ocean liners, equipped with double-bottoms, as the Gigantic is to be, and with modern lifeboats sufficient to take care of all on board.

Provision is to be made for regular lifeboat drills with permanent crew stations, as on war vessels, and for searchlights and marine glasses for the men on watch. The requirements will also call for constant day and night wireless service under complete control of the captain of the ship, because this has been proved to be indispensable.

During the iceberg season all steamers will be required to take the southern route, and there will be a hard and fast rule as to the speed of a vessel in fog or when in the neighborhood of an ice field, for it is conceded that the Titanic would be afloat today had it not been running into such a field at more than twenty-one knots an hour.

ROOSEVELT VS. TAFT.

The present contest between the two great leaders of the Republican party in the United States is rather a sorry exhibition. It was expected that when Colonel Roosevelt started out to secure the nomination for the presidency there would be some plainness of speech, and vigorous, even bitter, criticism of each other's policy. But it was not expected that either man would descend to the publication of any private letters from his opponent, and the spectacle is not very creditable to either of the parties concerned. We imagine that most men will regret exceedingly the personal element which has been introduced. Which of the two is the more to blame, we do not undertake to say, but the present campaign has injured both of them. At present out of 1,078 delegates 688 have been elected, and of these Taft has 429 and Roosevelt 232, with 36 for La Follette, and 10 for Cummins. It is freely charged that back of President Taft stand some of the great monied corporations, but the personnel of Colonel Roosevelt's backers compels a suspicion that the corporations, some of them at least, are not wholly hostile to the man who is supposed to be their enemy. The bitterness of the campaign is so great that if either of the two men is chosen it seems almost impossible to prevent the splitting of the Republican vote, and this might possibly mean the election of a Democratic president.

DOMESTIC SERVICE PROBLEM

The New York commissioner of licenses throws some light on a problem of more than passing interest in a report to Mayor Gaynor, of that city, on the domestic servant question. The chief reason, it appears, that there are not enough good servants to be had lies in the fact that general house work is too confining.

Cooks and maids have revolted against the slavery of their respective departments, because there is so little chance for them to receive callers or go out on Sundays. They have gone instead into factories or industrial plants, because although not so well paid, they have regular hours and plenty of time off for developing social instincts.

Wages are not so important to servants as the conditions that should make domestic service more attractive. Seemingly the employers must bring about these conditions. Servants have given their side of the problem by abandoning domestic service in large numbers and seeking other employment heavier and less natural. They allege that there are no fixed hours in service, that the place is lonesome for the servant or servants, that household work is menial or undignified and that employers give no thought to the consideration of the social instincts of their help.

It has been suggested that if servants were treated as other employes with fixed hours for a day's work and a certain number of hours off duty every day, one important objection towards domestic service would be removed. It must be remembered, however, that many householders fail to view the situation from the attitude of the servant. They reason that if a girl decides to enter service in a family she should accommodate herself to her surroundings in the strictest sense of the word. But it is exactly because those best fitted for domestic service have realized the significance of this idea that they are abandoning this field and earning their living in less remunerative employments, where they sacrifice money and home comforts for personal independence.

METHODISTS IN COUNCIL

Boston Herald: In the general conference, held through the month of May once in four years, the Methodist Episcopal Church brings its flexible and wide-spread forces to a central focus. As press reports are attesting, the hundredth anniversary session of this conference is now assembled in Minneapolis.

The delegates, numbering 800, are elected by the annual conferences throughout the Union, in Mexico and South America, in the African states, and in the islands and empires of the Orient. Half are ministers, half laymen. They are of all ranks and callings: bankers and editors, housewives and farmers, governors and college presidents. In this session are twenty-four women; among them, as an Italian representative, is a granddaughter of Garibaldi. The delegates are invested with final power, both legislative and judicial. Quadrennium they make or modify the rules of the church; they by quadrennium shape its plans of action, they elect and retire its bishops, secretaries, and other chief officers. It would be hard to find anywhere, in either civil or churchly organization, a more extraordinary instance of centralized democracy.

It is just this representative character that draws the eyes of other churches and of the secular press. The acts and resolves of the conference are the acts and resolves of the local leaders of three and a half million persons, resident not only from coast to coast, but beside all the seven seas—people that rank high in their education and their thrift, in their concern for social welfare and in their conviction that manhood implies religion. The public listens to these yeas and nays as verdicts upon world-wide experiments and as definitions of changing opinions hard to ascertain or measure. As a student of finance would say, the conference is barometric.

The session at Minneapolis will take action upon several questions long and vigorously discussed. It must elect eight or ten new bishops, and candidates, both the reluctant and the ready, are in good supply. The conference also is expected to adopt some plan whereby the present cursory mode of episcopal oversight—by bishops "travelling at large through the connection"—may be combined with a continuous diocesan leadership. The restoration of the time limit for pastorates, and the unification of the benevolent societies of the church will be thoroughly debated.

The action most immediately interesting the general public will be that upon the so-called amusement question. The rule that now puts the responsibility for a Methodist's recreations not upon his own conscience, but upon his pastor and church, was a mistake to start with, and in later working it has become a grave embarrassment. The bishops urged its abrogation in 1908; they have now renewed the recommendation. In the minds of some delegates there seems to be fear that repeal would be taken for sanction. It is to be hoped, however, that by the vote of this conference, Methodists at large may have in the letter of their law, as already in the spirit of their conduct, that liberty which accords with the thought of the age.

Editorial Notes

It cost something in the neighborhood of $1,900 to engage the most expensive passage on the Titanic at the height of the season. For this sum two bedrooms, wardrobe rooms, a sitting room, a private bathroom, a servant's room and a private promenade deck, could be secured.

The Canadian militia department now realizes what it is to be up against a pension system. Some seventeen thousand applicants imagine that they are entitled to the $100 grant to Fenian raid veterans, and are demanding the money. Evidently the Canadian climate is as healthy for old soldiers as that of the United States.

A leading sporting authority declares that Ottawa people have been spoiled by the clubs of that city. They certainly have been spoiled, and to such an extent that where they once were easy they no longer give up money for third rate exhibitions of alleged sport. The spoiling is altogether from the view point of the clubs.

The steam power on the Titanic was provided by twenty-nine boilers, and these were fed by 159 furnaces. Each of the steam boilers was over 15 feet in diameter, and each crank shaft weighed about 118 tons. The engines aboard consisted of two sets of 30,000-horsepower reciprocating engines and a smaller low pressure, turbine of 16,000-horsepower.

The Buffalo News prophesies that we are to have a cold summer—in fact, that the chilly summer of 1816 is to be repeated. In that year, it is said, there were frosts in June, and in Vermont ten inches of snow fell. In May the ponds were covered with an inch of ice and the buds were frozen on the trees. There was ice on the 4th of July, and on the 30th of August snow fell.

In the Astor will made public on Monday in New York not one dollar is left to any charitable organization or religious community. But $1,500 per annum is to be devoted to the purchase of silver cups for yacht races. Nevertheless, some of the Astor real estate holdings are scarcely what might be called model structures. And New York has many thousands of unfortunates, poor children and crippled little ones.

"Fully one-third of all children in the primary and grammar grades are physically or mentally incapacitated, or both," says Rheta Childe Dorr, in an article on "The Child That is Different," in the Century. "These children, approximately one-third of all children under fourteen years of age, cannot keep up with the ordinary school curriculum, which is devised to meet the needs of perfectly healthy, normal, average, well-fed, well-cared for youngsters."

According to a report from London, the White Star Company has called a halt on the construction of the Gigantic, now underway at Belfast, and designed as the largest ship ever built. As a consequence of the destruction of the Titanic the plans of the Gigantic will be materially altered. The original plans of the new vessel provided for a length of 1,000 feet, considerably more than a hundred feet longer than the ill-fated steamer that went down off the New Foundland Banks. It appears that the work on the Gigantic has not advanced beyond the point that would preclude important changes and the builders propose to take advantage of the lesson taught by the wreck of the Titanic.

Why Sniffle and Sneeze With Catarrhal Cold?

By Breathing the Healing Vapor of Catarrhozone You Can Get Relief in Ten Minutes.

Every second person that you meet seems to have a sneeze and stuffed feeling in the forehead and nostrils. To cure promptly, say, in half an hour, there is nothing worth using except Catarrhozone. You inhale its balsamic vapor, and feel as if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhozone contains a healing medicine, light as pine air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold, sneezing and catarrhal cough cease, bronchial irritation stops; in short, you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple remedy, free from sedatives and irritants.

That Catarrhozone is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulos, one of Brockville's best known merchants:

"In the fall of 1908," writes Mr. Pulos, under date of June 10th, 1910, "I contracted a very severe cold, which developed into catarrh. At that time I was living in New York State and treated with four different physicians, who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhozone. I bought the dollar outfit and was gratified by the results. I was completely cured by Catarrhozone, and have used it since to check a cold with unfailing results. It is the grandest medicine in existence, and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other fellow-sufferers."

(Signed) George Pulos.

An ideal protection for the chest, lungs, nose, and throat is the frequent use of Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment (the large size) costs $1.00, medium sizes 50c.; at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

DOCTOR ADVISED HER TO TAKE THEM

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED MRS. BELLIVEAU'S BRIGHTS DISEASE.

Now She Can Do Any Kind of Work—Why Dodd's Kidney Pills Are So Popular.

Pre den Haut, Westmoreland Co. N.B., May 10.—(Special).—It is becoming a proverb in New Brunswick that no place is too small to furnish at least one person who owes his or her good health to Dodd's Kidney Pills. And this place is no exception to the rule. Mrs. Dominique J. Belliveau, a well known and highly respected resident, says in an interview:

"I took Dodd's Kidney Pills on the advice of my doctor for Bright's Disease, and I am glad to say three boxes cured me completely. I can do all kinds of work now. I always keep Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house in case we might need them."

Sometimes you wonder why people cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills are so enthusiastic in their praises of them. The reason is that they strike right at the root of ill-health. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys. That means that all impurities are strained out of the blood, and pure blood means good health all over the body. Good health means good spirits; and hence the enthusiasm.

TALK NO. 8.

We frequently hear from persons far and near that they would not be without the eye-glasses which they had from the Optical Institute for several their price. One lady remarked "I wouldn't take $50.00 for my glasses," another, "they're worth ten times their price to me." A gentleman says "I wear mine constantly, scarcely know they are on, but have perfect sight far and near." They are worth all they cost me, and I want another pair in case of accident." J. W. WHEN KENT WAS HERE

FATHER OF QUEEN VICTORIA MADE MANY FRIENDS.

Great-Grandfather of the Present Sovereign Spent Some Time in the Dominion Many Years Ago, and Was Widely Popular With All Classes—Was Very Quiet and Reserved In His Manner.

When the orders of the day were called in the House of Commons during a recent sitting, the Hon. F. Monk, Minister of Public Works, rose and said:

"Mr. Speaker, before the House proceeds with the orders of the day, I would like to announce that Her Royal Highness, the Princess Louise, has been pleased to present to Canada, through His Royal Highness, the Governor-General, for our national gallery, a valuable portrait in oil of the Duke of Kent. This painting, executed by Sir William Beechey, will form a very acceptable addition to our national gallery of art at the Victoria Memorial Museum, where it is on view. The Government, in accepting and acknowledging this welcome gift has asked His Royal Highness to convey to the donor, the Princess Louise, the thanks of the Canadian people for her generous remembrance."

This gift recalls many memories associated with persons and places that have contributed to our history. The Duke of Kent is best remembered as the father of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria. He was, therefore, grandfather of our Governor-General, and great-grandfather of our King; and for several years he was a resident of this country. The gift is from Princess Louise, now the Duchess of Argyll, and a granddaughter of the Duke of Kent, who for five years was mistress of Rideau Hall, when her husband, then Marquis of Lorne, was Governor-General of Canada.

The picture carries one back in Canadian history more than a century, to the days when Kent House had a royal master. Let us glance briefly over those far away years.

Edward Duke of Kent, the fourth son of King George III., was born at Buckingham Palace on Nov. 2, 1767—just one hundred years before Canadian Confederation.

When a boy he was sent to school on the continent under Baron Wangenheim, with whom he spent two years at Geneva. The Dictionary of National Biography says that "Wangenheim treated him with needless rigor, allowed him only a guinea a week pocket-money out of an annuity of $30,000 provided for his maintenance, and intercepted his letters home.

"In June, 1790, he came home from Geneva without leave. The King was much displeased and gave him peremptory orders to embark for Gibraltar. At Gibraltor he was put in command of the 7th Regiment of Foot, known as the Royal Fusiliers. In May, 1791, he was sent to Canada."

Then opened the chapter of his life that forms part of our history.

It was on August 11, 1791, that the Duke of Kent, with the Royal Fusiliers, arrived at Quebec from Gibraltar on the warships Ulysses and Resistance. Quebec harbor presented a brave sight on that long ago midsummer day, for besides the ships that brought the duke and his Fusiliers, there were then in port five ships-of-war belonging to Commodore Sawyers squadron and four transports filled with British regulars for service at different Canadian posts.

On the following day there was a levee, attended by the authorities, civil and military, the clergy of the city, and all the gentry.

At the levee were men whose names will ever have a place in the history of Canada. Foremost among them of course, was the Governor-General, Lord Dorchester, known a few years earlier as Sir Guy Carleton—the man who, in 1775-76, had held Quebec against Montgomery and Arnold, and who had finally driven from Canada the forces of Congress. Near Dorchester stood a tall, athletic, military man, Sir Alured Clark, who, a week after that levee, became Deputy Governor-General during Dorchester's absence in England. And around were the judges, the executive councillors, the seignors and the other lights of Quebec society.

Every tourist visiting Quebec always goes out to the Falls of Montmorency, about nine miles below the city. Close to the brink of the chasm into which the Montmorency River hurls itself there stood in 1791, as there stands to-day with some additions, a country residence of wood, two storeys in height, plainly built, and yet not without a certain air of beauty and dignity. Its builder was Gen. Sir Frederick Haldimand, Governor of Canada during the closing years of the War of the Revolution. To this building, Haldimand gave the name of "Mansion House," and here he resided during a number of years.

In December, 1791—that is, about three months after the arrival at Quebec of the Duke of Kent—the property was offered for sale, as the following advertisement reads: "For sale, the elegant villa of the late Sir Frederick Haldimand, K.B., delightfully situated near the Falls of Montmorency, with the farm house."

The property passed into the possession of the Duke of Kent, and it became his favorite summer residence. It was called "Kent House," and so it is known to this day. A large wing has been added, practically doubling the capacity of the house, but most fortunately the new part is built in exactly the same style as that of the old part, so that the simple beauty of the building has not been destroyed. To-day Kent House is a place of public entertainment.

The duke's winter residence stood nearly opposite the old Quebec Court House, which was burned in 1872.

Unprofitable Misery.

A Boston professor comes out of his insulation and remarks that a pleasure loving woman cannot be beautiful, because suffering is essential to true beauty.

It used to be said that no woman could be a great actress until she had suffered.

And yet actresses continue to marry and divorce and undergo all sorts of humiliations and tribulations without the slightest indication of artistic improvement.

Br'er Williams and the Legislature.

"I hear tell," said Brother Williams, "dat de legislatur' won't be wid us mo'n long 'nuff ter say good mawnin' an' goodby."

"Well, that's long enough, isn't it?"

"No, suh, kaze I wus thinkin' 'bout axin' it fer a job. I wanted ter be one er dem messengers what dey hires."

"What! And you so old?"

"Yes, suh," he said reflectively, "I knows I'm old enough to know better, but needin' de money es I does I could even make up my mind ter go in de legislatur'!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Golf Balls.

The manufacture of golf balls was at one time, the end of the sixteenth and beginning of the seventeenth centuries, in the hands of the Dutch, and a heavy tax was placed upon such as were imported into Great Britain in order to give the more expensive British laborer a chance, James VI. of Scotland going so far as to give one maker a monopoly of the manufacture.

Thirty Gallons of Water a Day.

London consumed the enormous total of 223,536,884 gallons of water every day last year. This means that each of the seven million odd persons in the metropolis used 31.57 gallons a day, and that at each house 204.26 gallons were disposed of in the same period.

Says Wife's Dying Statement Was Untrue

wife had been told by her family physician that it would not be safe to bear any more children. I did not, say, however, that I had been to another doctor."

"And your wife's dying statement that you made it up with her to go to Dr. Hawke and that you had given her $25 to pay him was not true either?"

"No, sir."

"You maintain that what your wife said while she was lying on her death bed was without any foundation or fact?"

"Yes," he said in a whisper.

There on Previous Occasions.

In re-examination by Mr. Robinette he declared that his wife had been to Dr. Hawke about two years before, but that he had refused to perform an operation.

In an eloquent address, Mr. Robinette made his appeal to the jury and court was then adjourned until this afternoon, when his Lordship and the Crown Prosecutor will make their addresses before the jury retire to consider their verdict.

Hungarian domination. Instantly Hungary began to put on the screws She required 56 per cent of the revenues in return for her "protection." With the exception of laws of minor importance, all laws must be signed by a member of the Hungarian Cabinet, the "Minister for Croatia-Slavonia." All railroad construction has been designed to unite the people with Budapest and not with Agram, their natural emporium. From 1883 to 1903, without cessation, Croatia-Slavonia was under the heel of Khuen Hedervary, recently prime minister of Hungary. During the score of years when he was Ban he carried out the sternest kind of repression, nor did his promotion to higher office help the Croatians.

The Only Way Out.

The "way out" for the poor Croatians seems to lie only in the overthrow of the present order of things. He is biding his time until something "snaps." The death of Francis Joseph may bring the psychological moment. At any rate, the mines are being laid for an outbreak, the end of which may lie in any one of three solutions—Pan-Serbism, Pan-Slavism, or Pan-Croatism

The three million Croatians and Slavonians belong to the great homogeneous race of southern Slavs, of which there are fifteen millions in the Austro-Hungarian monarchy, Servia Montenegro and Macedonia Pan-Serbism calls for the union of all these Slavs, under the unifying power of Servia, with Belgrade as the capital, Pan Slavism, on the other hand, calls for the union of all the southern Slavs under Russia, with the inclusion of the Slavicized Bulgarian race. Pan-Croatism, which seems by far the most reasonable object, plans a union of all the Slavs, of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy, with autonomous rule and an equal footing with Austria and Hungary in a triune monarchy.

In Precarious State.

The coalition would marvellously strengthen a European "great power" whose present state is precarious. Pan-Serbism means the destruction of the Austrian-Hungarian monarchy Pan-Slavism would necessitate the defeat of the monarchy in a disastrous war with Russia. Pan-Croatism accomplished in the face of Russian opposition, would make the Austro-Hungaro-Croat monarchy one of the greatest factors in European politics It would involve, however, as a prerequisite, an almost Utopian diplomatic victory—Hungary's renunciation of her overlordship of the Croats. But at the end of every consideration of the Croats and their Slavic neighbors it is wise to quote the words written a generation ago: "Russia today [illegible] stand, awaiting the death-grapple for the mastery of the southern Slavs that must surely come." It [illegible] be that this death-grapple is no far off. The high handed action of the new Ban of Croatia has roused the hopes of the oppressed Croatians to fever heat.

THE PICTURE HOUSES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—Allow me, Mr. Editor, to compliment you and your paper, on the stand you have taken about the moving picture houses. I have nothing against them personally. They constitute the poor man's place of amusement, and furnish many instructive films. You, however, have struck the right note when you protest against over-crowding. The proprietors, or at least some of them, do not seem to consider human life and limb so long as the nickels keep pouring in. Now sir, it is a debatable point whether such places should be allowed to have their outside lobbies crowded. Of course the law is plain enough as regards the inside aisles and passages. My opinion is, in the event of a panic, such as may take place, any moment, from one of the firms catching fire, or from some fool in the audience yelling "fire," that allowing the outside lobby to be crowded is fully as dangerous as letting the people stand in the aisles. Let us take as an illustration that might be enacted any night. The space between the swing entrance and exit doors is jammed full of people anxious to gain admittance. A cry of fire is heard. The audience would at once rise to its feet and make for the doors. There they would be blocked, because those outside the swing doors would know nothing about the alarm inside. A crowd in a panic is the hardest proposition on earth to handle. People inside the theatre would be wildly fighting to get out, whilst the crowd in the lobby would be fighting to get in.

Mr. Editor. I do not know what the law on this point is, but for the protection of our wives and daughters and ourselves, not to mention our sweethearts, not one man should be allowed to stand in the lobbies of the moving picture houses. I am glad to note that you are going to publish the Government regulations about such places. This will let the police know where they stand, and what amount of protection is afforded them.

FIRST STEAM FERRY.

One year from to-day will be the centennial of the establishment of the first steam ferry line. This pioneer craft plied the East River between Manhattan and Brooklyn and made its first trip on May 10, 1813. Great crowds lined the shores, and there was almost a riot among those who sought to take passage on the novel craft. The first steamboat, the Charlotte Dundas, was built in England in 1802 by William Symington, but her trials were not successful, and it remained for Robert Fulton, an American, to construct the first commercially practicable steamship. With several tubes under the North and East rivers at New York, and others under construction or projected, it is likely that the centennial of the first steam ferry will find comparatively few of her successors in operation.

Transformation.

Father's in a dress suit—
Doesn't it seem strange?—
Togged out like a merchant prince.
My, but it's a change!
Just a year or two ago
Overalls for him.
Now since he has struck it rich
Father's in the swim.

But we had an awful fight.
How he did protest!
Said he never would go out
In a waiter's vest;
Common clothes were good enough
For a common man.
But he's gone and put them on,
New and spick and span.

When the subject first was broached
Father had a fit.
Said it was no use to talk;
He would not submit.
But the girls kept after him—
Girls have such a way!—
And he's put them on at last
Spite of all his say.

Father's looking very cute
There in black and white.
Awkward he will feel at first,
But he'll come out right.
After he has tried them once
Then the bluff he'll make
That he's worn them all his life
When he was awake.

Not Suitable.

"Why didn't Mrs. Jones keep her new cook? I thought she brought such good recommendations."

"She did, but she was too stout."

"What has that to do with it?"

"Everything. You see, when the cook got out of temper over too much company Mrs. Jones could not coax her with one of her old gowns."

Economy.

"I hear that young Tightwad has gone into ranching."

"What's the impetus to the new movement?"

"Thrift. He thinks that on an alfalfa ranch he can raise his own breakfast food and cigarettes."

Slow, but Sure.

"Why don't you get an automobile?"

"I prefer a horse."

"But isn't that too slow for you?"

"Well, I've been driving old Jim for fifteen years and he never got a puncture yet."

Knew the Signs.

"How excited the lady looks."

"Yes. She belongs to the get busy circle."

"What is that?"

Dead Men's Food In Yucatan.

From remote times the natives of Yucatan have been accustomed to making offerings to the souls of the departed, particularly a certain pie that they call "food of the soul." The crust must be of yellow corn, the interior [illegible] chicken and small pieces of pork. These pies are wrapped in leaves of the banana tree and baked underground between hot stones. When done, they are placed on the [illegible] or hung from trees close by. Sometimes, after leaving them there for an hour or two, the living take home the pies and enjoy them, saying that the souls have already drawn from them all the ethereal part of the substance.

LORDS OF THE MANOR.

They Were Once All-Powerful in England.

Rural England is studded liberally with manor houses. Almost every village owns one, either a genuine antique, or a more or less modern imitation. Better still, many villages possess a real, live lord or lady of the manor.

Lords of the manor have been ruthlessly shorn by the march of our social system, but some of their former glory still remains. Little more than a dozen miles from Charing Cross one rural ruler holds his court leet to this very day—a gathering of his tenants, at which rents are paid and business of the estate discussed.

The history of the manor is to a great extent that of England. Centuries ago, it was divided up among the victorious generals of conquering armies. They themselves sub-divided it among their soldiers. Under this systems the serfs followed petty lords, guaranteeing military service for the use of the land; the lords were responsible to the earls and the earls to the King. The petty chiefs were the lords of the manor.

In the days of William the Conqueror there were no fewer than 1,422 manors in England, and, as Byron puts it in "Don Juan" "Eight and forty manors were their reward for following Billy's banners." No fresh manors were created after the year 1289, however, except in rare instances, such as when the nation presented a victorious general with an estate. This happened in the case of the Duke of Wellington, and to this day a condition of the Manor of Strathfieldsaye is that its owner offers the King a flag once a year.

Curious and often whimsical were the terms under which the majority of lords of the manor held their rights. For example, one manorial monarch undertook that whenever the King should cross a certain bridge he would meet him there with two white capons, and address him thus: "Behold, my lord, these two white capons, which you shall have another time, but not now."

Another lord was bound to appear before the King every Christmas Day, and in his presence to dance a jig and puff out his cheeks. Yet another had to present His Majesty annually with a lance, from which a fox's tail depended. Indeed, weapons were very popular as tokens of the Sovereign's rights, and swords, spurs and warlike accoutrements were frequently chosen.

The tenants of the majority of manors are copyholders; that is to say, they hold the land for life from the lord of the manor. When they die, or transfer the land, a heriot must be paid. This is in the nature of a fine, usually consisting of the best "quick-beast" — horse or cow — but sometimes communted to a sum of money.

Considerably under a hundred years ago copyholders of land possessed no vote. The lord of the manor, princely in his petty powers, ruled all within his leet. The leet kept the stocks in repair, and provided the pillory and tumbrell—the latter a ducking stool, by means of which misdemeanants were immersed; women in clean water; brewers and bakers in the filthiest liquid that could be found.

The Manor of Pewsey, in Wiltshire, was conveyanced by means of a horn that had to be blown at the accession of a new lord, and every year the City of London pays certain horseshoes and nails as rent for a piece of land in the parish of St. Clement Dane.

Nowadays, lords of the manor are a dying class. It requires two copyholders at least to form a manor, and many modern "serfs" have their land made freehold by buying out the overlord.

Ostrich Chases M.P.

While sightseeing outside Ladysmith, during his tour in South Africa, Sir Joseph Walton, M.P. for Barnsley, Eng., had an exciting adventure. He noticed that he was being pursued by a cock ostrich. This, it appears, was the same bird which had previously knocked down two officers, who were compelled to lie down on their faces while the bird stood or jumped on them.

"Knowing that my only chance of escape," says Sir Joseph, "was to lie down flat on my face, or get on an elevation, I made quickly for the laager (thrown up during the siege), and mounted the wall. I went round the walls of the laager, hoping to shake him off, but he followed steadily yard by yard, awaiting his opportunity.

"At last I signalled to my carriage, and when it was between me and the ostrich I leaped off the laager and bolted into the carriage. We drove off, followed a long way by the bird."

Women on the English Stage.

Pepys went to the Clare Market Theatre on Jan. 3, 1661, say "The Beggar's Bush" well performed and records "the first time that I ever saw women come upon the stage." Previously all female parts had been taken by boys or young men. The change was probably suggested by Charles II. from his continental experience and arose from an amusing episode. The King had gone to the theatre "before his time," and, finding the actors not ready, asked for an explanation, whereupon he was gravely informed that the queen has not shaved yet!" As the merry monarch loved to laugh at a jest as well as to make one, the excuse was accepted and a reform initiated.—Westminster Gazette.

Dickens Spared Not His Pen.

With so many demands upon his pen one would expect to find Dickens availing himself of all possible brevities in his correspondence at least. But a glance through his letters shows that he scorned all such opportunities and preferred to spell everything out. The date of the months, for example, are given in words instead of figures. "Monday, sixteenth January"; Tuesday, seventh March"; "Wednesday, twelfth April"; "twenty-sixth May," "Friday evening, nineteenth May"—in this way are all his letters dated. He spared not his pen.

The Eternal Dog Nuisance.

This city, whilst larger than Lindsay, still has something to learn from that pretty town on the classic Scugog River. Even the President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals would admit that Peterborough's streets are thronged by many hundred useless curs, that would be better turned into fertilizer or disposed of in any old way. The town of Lindsay has advertised for two (2) dog catchers. Any dog captured and not paid for by its owner will be given a quick but painless ticket to the Valhalla where dogs are supplied with meat every half hour, and where a specially kept and trimmed garden will be kept for them to root up and bury their

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fire-proof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other non-combustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

THE COAL MINER.

The Autocrat of the Colliery Knows His Own Mind.

He is a big, burly man with stern eyes and a firm chin. He can knock out the cleverest boxer in the district. He does not talk much, and what he says is always to the point.

He has worked many men of different colors and creeds in different parts of the world, from the low-caste coolie of the Indian colliery to the dour Scotch miner and the excitable Welshman, and he knows how to rule them.

He has a keen appreciation for the skilled miner, but does not hesitate to tell you that he is glad wherever possible to use the mechanical coal cutter in his place.

"The coal cutter," he says, "does not talk!"

He is the head manager at the colliery, and with him is the last word in all the thousand-and-one problems which arise from time to time in the practical working of the pit. He works harder than any other man in Colliery Row.

If he is not underground inspecting some portion of the workings he is in his office at the pit-head busy with plans for future development. His staff of assistant-managers is large and competent, but he has constantly to receive from them their reports.

The outsider, seeing his life, wonders when he finds time to feed and sleep.

If he leaves Colliery Row, even for a week-end, he must go somewhere where he can be reached by telephone if necessary by his head assistant.

His business in life is to get as many tons of coal as is possible out of the pit every day, and to keep the pit working, and it involves, amongst other heavy responsibilities, that of the safety as well as that of the management of hundreds of men and boys.

If disaster comes and men are entombed in the pit, it is he who heads the rescue party and directs their operations underground. In such circumstances he has been known to work for an incredible number of hours in his skull cap and pit "duds," hardly stopping for food and rarely coming to bank.

The Sixth Sense.

At a recent meeting of the Paris Academy of Sciences M. Kunz discussed the phenomenon of "feeling at a distance," to which the power of blind people to avoid nearby obstacles is ascribed. M. Kunz believes that such a power exists and that it is not peculiar to the blind. It seems to be shared by others who possess a peculiar constitution. The faculty appears to reside in the skin, for experiments show that it is not connected with the sense of hearing. As to its nature, little knowledge has been obtained. There is a tendency to ascribe obscure phenomena of this kind to electrical action, but the mode of operation remains unknown.

A Baltic-Black Sea Canal.

It is stated that the old project for uniting the Baltic with the Black sea is at last to be put into operation. By utilizing the rivers Dwina and Dnieper a navigable waterway 1,600 miles long can be constructed without any great engineering problems, extending from the port of Riga on the Baltic to Kherson on the Black sea. The cost is estimated at about $250,000,000, but the benefit to Prussian commerce and industries will be immense.—American Travelers' Gazette.

INDIAN HOLDS HIS OWN

RED MAN IS NOT DISAPPEARING, SAYS FRANK PEDLEY.

Reports From the Agencies Throughout Canada Show That Numbers Show a Net Gain—Bloods In Saskatchewan Are High Class Farmers and Are Getting Rich—One Runs a Coal Mine—Others Improving.

There are living within the limits of Canada one hundred and eight thousand aborigines—the remnant of the people on the spot when the white-men came, who were then, and for many years afterwards, the lords of forest and lake, but who to-day are, for the most part, wards of the nation. They are the Indians, who number 103,661, and the Eskimos, of whom there is estimated to be 4,600. It is that one hundred and three thousand, six hundred and sixty-one Indians who are here under consideration.

In the Eastern Provinces, from Prince Edward Island to the head of the Great Lakes there are 38,078; and from the head of the Lakes to the Pacific Coast and the shores of the Arctic Ocean the Indian population numbers [illegible]. British Columbia leads with an Indian population of 24,581, while Ontario is a close second, [illegible]. Outside the provinces, that is in the Yukon, Ungava and the territories north of Alberta and Saskatchewan, there are only seventeen thousand Indians. Were all these Indians given direct representation in the House of Commons, like other elements of the population, they are sufficiently numerous to be entitled to at least three members, or more than half as many as has the city of Toronto.

During the past year the births among Indians have exceeded deaths by a few more than three hundred, so that there has been a small net gain.

"The prevailing notion," states the report of Mr. Frank Pedley, deputy superintendent of Indian Affairs, "that the Indian population is gradually disappearing is not sustained by statistics, and in any locality where the Indians have passed through the period of exhaustion that must be met by any aboriginal race in contact with civilization, it is found that the population is either stable or upon the increase."

During the middle of the last century the gloomy prediction was made that the Iroquois, the people of the Six Nations, were doomed to speedy and total extinction. The prediction has not been fulfilled. In 1860 they numbered 3,204; to-day they number 4,408. Of course, this is the most favorable case possible, for of all our Indians none surpassed the Iroquois in intelligence. On their reserves on the Bay of Quinte, near Brantford and at other places, they are industrious, progressive, and prosperous farmers.

Taking the race as a whole, if it is to survive, it must be as an agricultural people. And this is true even of the Indians of the West, which offered the last opportunities for the free but wretched life of the savage hunter. It is now many years since the buffalo disappeared from the plains, and the rapid development of the past few years has already made even smaller game scarce. The Indian can no longer look to his rifle to procure his food, nor to his traps for the furs with which he has been accustomed to procure the other things necessary to existence. He must learn to cultivate the soil, or disappear.

It is, therefore, the aim of the Department of Indian Affairs to promote agriculture among the Indians; and it is gratifying that their efforts in this direction are meeting with considerable success. A race of hunters and loafers cannot be made into farmers in a generation or two; but that a large number of these people are turning slowly in this direction is something, and probably all that can be reasonably expected.

The report shows that last year our Indians had 58,550 acres under crop; that their grain and root crops yielded 1,494,452 bushels, and their meadows 123,196 tons of hay, the total value of their farm products amounting to $1,460,462.

In wages the Indians earned $1,840,000; their fishing yielded $691,929; their hunting and trapping, $819,494, and various other industries, $832,944.

Respecting our eastern Indians there is little new to report. The general trend is upward, one proposed improvement being the introduction of agriculture among the Micmacs of Nova Scotia.

It is in the west that most is hoped for, where many bands, occupy large reservations of fertile soil which only needs the application of intelligent labor to make it yield like the whiteman's farm.

A typical prosperous and promising band is that of the Blood Indians, whose reservation is between the Belly and the St. Mary's River, near Macleod, Alberta. The Bloods were once great warriors; they are now among the best red-farmers of the west. The reservation contains 354,000 acres of excellent land, and its population numbers 1,122. The principal occupations of this people are cattle-raising, general farming, haymaking, and freighting. One of the tribe, Blackhorse by name, operates a coal mine from which he derives sufficient income to support his large family.

The Bloods have their own threshing outfit, a separator with latest attachments having been purchased with tribal funds for operation with one of the large traction engines. Stack-threshing is the method followed, each Indian's farm being threshed separately, the spout of the separator emptying direct into portable granaries, of which each farmer has one or two according to the bulk of his crop."

This is an especially promising case, and only a few reservations have made as great progress as that of the Bloods. Yet nearly all the reports of agencies in the west show that some progress in farming has been achieved.—Montreal Standard.

Stole Money for Sweetheart.

Chicago, May 2.—Mary Reynolds, ticket agent, employed by the Illinois Central Railroad, who told the police a story of being held up and robbed of $150 by two men in the station Tuesday night, confessed yesterday that she had concocted the story of the robbery and had given the money to her sweetheart.

"I took the money and gave it to Charles Duff," she said. "We were soon to be married and neither of us had much money. The money is hidden in a cigar box, buried at the base of a telegraph pole at Fifth avenue and Michigan avenue."

Good Work Done by Local Ladies.

The ladies of the Peterborough Health Association are doing good work. They purpose engaging a District Nurse, whose attention will be given to those afflicted with consumption, and who need her services. She will visit homes where children may be exposed to tubular infection, and will see the conditions are such that will insure the children against contracting the disease. Lessons on ventilation, fumigation, etc., will be given, and the nurse will see that all possible precautions are taken to protect parents from imparting the disease to their offspring.

Addition to St Joseph's

St. Joseph's Hospital is being altered. A new ward is being put in the upper part of the building for children. The new ward will comprise two rooms, one for boys and the other for girls. The dimensions of each room will be approximately 20 ft. by 15 ft. and these will possess all the modern sanitary improvements, and conditions which will form a considerable asset to the comfort and health of the inmates.

The Peterborough Street Railway Company intend to extend their lines to the south of the city. A number of men are engaged in the construction of a diamond, where the lines cross the C.P.R. tracks at the Canadian General Electric company's works.

Anaemic Mothers Here is Relief!

Sufferer of Twenty Years States Dr. Hamilton's Pills Are a Real Cure.

"I can't remember any time during the past twenty years why my head wasn't aching. If I bent over dark specks would come before my eyes, and is seems as if all the blood in my body wanted to rush to my head." Thus opens the letter of Mrs. Enoch S. Spry, o Putman P. O., and continuing her interesting statement she says "Work or exertion made my heart beat terrible, and going upstairs caused such shortness of breath that it fairly frightened me. My doctor told me that if that was the cause Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest blood renewer on earth. I tell you how I feel to-day, and you can understand what a great cure Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made.

I feel strong enough now to work like a man, as for going up stairs on the run, it doesn't bother me at all. I eat and sleep as well as any person ought, and as for dizziness which used to frighten me so much, it has entirely disappeared. Dr. Hamiltons Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. They helped me in other ways too, and I know every woman that uses them will have comfort and good health.

Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c per box. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ontario.

Opening Ceremonies of New Church.

On the following Sunday, June 2, the special preacher will be the Rev. O. C. S. Wallace of Baltimore, My. On June 10th a congregational reception will be held.

The Garbage Question.

The collecting of garbage is not proceeding as smoothly as it did the first week. The contractor is meeting with difficulty, owing to the lack of help, and yesterday there was only one wagon on the route. Consequently the Sanitary Inspector is inundated with enquiries from residents whose premises have been overlooked The contractor must have at least two men before conditions can be remedied, and men in need of a good, steady job can see Mr. Spence at the City Buildings. The inconvenience to citizens by not having the garbage wagons call at the expected time, is much regretted, but the explanation, it is hoped, will be accepted in a generous spirit.

MOTHER'S DAY.

A Pretty Custom That Does Not Seem to be Followed Here.

To-morrow a pretty custom will be observed throughout the Churches of the world, when "Mother's Day" will be celebrated. It is estimated that fully a million white carnations will be worn to-morrow in honor of the day, as a distinctive feature. Enquiries made yesterday of several of the leading clergy of the city, elicited the information that this City will not celebrate the day generally, although all the pastors spoken to, approved of the idea. They simply seemed to have overlooked the event.

The setting apart of the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day was due to Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia. The grief she experienced following the death of her own mother, brought a realization of the sorrow which a mother's death must mean to all. She began a propaganda by means of communications to clergy, and editors, and the idea was taken up and spread all over Canada, and thence to Canada. Governors of nearly all the States of the Union have endorsed the idea, and Sunday Schools and other associations of the various Canadian Provinces have urged a general observance of the day in every part of the Dominion.

THE WORLD'S LOCOMOTION IS TO BE BY WIRELESS

Wonderful Invention of Toronto Man to Use Wireless Electric Waves—A Strange Dream

Toronto, May 12—The so-called "law of the conservation of energy" is in imminent danger of being relegated to the scrap heap. Experiments with radium have cast serious doubts on the validity of this oldest of physicists' dogmas. But it has remained for a Toronto electrical engineer to give it the coup de grace. Strangest of all, a dream started the inventor on the road towards success and a discovery which may revolutionize aerial and surface transportation.

Years ago Mr. Frank Wyatt Prentice who now lives at 37 Tyndall avenue, Toronto, was a poor but ambitious telegraph operator at Sudbury. Experiments with wireless waves were being made by Marconi at the time and Mr. Wyatt became very much interested.

In his spare time he literally devoured books on electricity and conducted experiments in his room. At night he dreamed dreams and saw visions of the future development of wireless transmission of electric power.

First Wireless in Canada.

In a few years the young man returned to Toronto, where he continued his experiments and lectured in one of the local colleges. While in Toronto he constructed a complete small wireless machine, the first wireless telegraph in Canada.

After a few years in Toronto Mr. Prentice moved to the United States, being employed as train despatcher on a large Pennsylvania railroad.

One year the road had a long succession of accidents. Sometimes a lot of mishaps follow each other in close succession, and then again there will be a long period of freedom from accidents. "There was wreck after wreck," Mrs. Prentice said this morning, "and the worst was a terrible calamity in a tunnel."

A Strange Dream.

The night after the accident Mr. Prentice had his strange dream. News of the disaster had come to him while he was turning over in his mind the possibilities of his little wireless apparatus, and temporarily drove all thoughts of the latter from his mind. But during his sleep the two ideas uppermost in his thought were strongly blended. He dreamed that he had used his little wireless machine to stop the great mogul engine.

PORTER TRIES TO WAKE MAN FROM HIS EVERLASTING SLEEP

Toronto, May 12—Lying in a lower berth of the sleeping car of the G. T. R. train from Cobalt this morning, the body of Edgar Chapman, a Toronto man, who has been prospecting in the Cobalt district, was found by one of the car crew when he went to rouse the passengers after the train arrived at the Union Station at 7.45 this morning.

So natural was the man's position that the porter, unaware that death had taken place, shook him vigorously by the arm before he learned that the sleeper was past waking.

Death is supposed to have been due to a sudden seizure of the heart. When found the man was in his underclothes his other apparel being piled neatly at the foot of his berth.

A search showed that he had $103.50 in his pockets, a gold watch, some blank cheques on the Union Bank, and a letter addressed to E. Chapman, Drawer 19, New Liskeard, Ont. The letter was from his daughter, Effie, who gave an address at 46 Kippendavie-avenue, this city.

The remains were removed to the Morgue, where later they were identified by the man's brother, Mr. J. Chapman, 46 Kippendale-avenue.

A HOST OF UNIONISTS LOST BETS OWING TO CHURCHILL

New York, May 11.—A London cable says:

Everybody is talking of Winston Churchill's sensational journey to London to vote for the Home Rule bill Thursday night, and his return to Weymouth the next morning in time to join the King at the inspection of the fleet and witness the target practice.

Mr. Churchill left Weymouth with Mr. Balfour by the six o'clock train, arriving at London at ten o'clock. After taking part in the Home Rule division he returned by automobile to Bournemouth, where he left the car and was rowed out to the destroyer Swift, one of the fastest vessels in the morning mists in the channel at racing world. She dashed through the early speed of nearly forty knots and reached the fleet at Weymouth in ample time to join the first squadron.

His all night journey of three hundred miles by train, automobile and warship to record a Home Rule vote must incidentally have cost money to hundreds of Unionists. The second reading of the Home Rule bill was carried by 101 votes. That odd vote cast by Mr. Churchill meant a difference between winning and losing countless bets in political clubs and other circles that the second reading majority would not exceed one hundred.

QUEER REQUEST FROM OTTAWA

Separate School Supporters Want Protestant Aid

AN AMAZING PROPOSAL

They Ask the Protestants of Ottawa City to Contribute to Their Separate Schools.

The Orange Sentinel, in referring to the request of the Roman Catholics of Ottawa, says that the supporters of the Separate schools in the city of Ottawa are required to pay a rate of ten mills on the dollar for school purposes, as against six mills paid by Public school supporters. They regard this as a hardship, and it is. If all the school children in the city of Ottawa were attending one set of schools, there would, of course, be a uniform rate, and probably it would not exceed six mills. But this extra burden is what the Separate school supporters have to pay for, the luxury of a special system which is demanded by their bishops.

Instead of accepting the situation a deputation of the Separate school board waited upon the civic board of control to ask for financial relief. As the law stands we do not believe it can be granted. Moreover, their request reveals an astonishing disregard for the principle upon which the Separate school system rests. They are asking the Protestants of the city of Ottawa to contribute to maintain schools which teach the children doctrines which not only deny the essential truths of Protestantism, but actually inculcate in the minds of the children the belief that Protestants are beyond the pale of salvation.

Ninety-nine per cent. of the Public school supporters of this province believe that the Separate school system should be wiped out. But to have the authorities of the Separate school come demanding the taxes contributed by Protestants to teach Roman Catholic doctrine displays an assurance that is positively astonishing.

Suppose that conditions were reversed in the city of Ottawa. If the Public school rate were ten mills and the Separate school six mills, would there be any likelihood of the Roman Catholics of that city contributing toward the Public school system? We believe we are quite within the mark when we say that they would laugh at such a proposition. It would not be considered for a moment. Nor should their request be considered.

They have a remedy in their own hands if they wish to apply it. All that the Roman Catholics of Ottawa have to do is to turn their schools into Public schools, and they will come under the six mill rate, the same as the rest of the community. While that remedy is open to them it would be rank robbery of the Public school supporters to make them contribute to the Separate school revenues.

PUBLIC OPINION

PROTECT OUR WATER.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Now that the township of Monaghan and Otonabee are going to force the city to dispose of its sewerage by a more expensive system than dumping it into the river, should not the city take every precaution to prevent fouling of the water in our upper lakes. The farmers along the Otonabee River, claim that the city's sewerage poisons their cattle. How much more important is it that the drinking water supply of 18-000 people should be protected in every way. The strictest watch should be kept over every foot of Stony and other Northern Lakes to prevent sewerage or filth being put in.

THE GARBAGE BY-LAW.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—There has been a whole lot of talk about this Garbage By-Law. There is no doubt but what we will have to pay for getting our garbage taken away when the assessment schedules are issued. Now, I took the trouble to provide separate metal cans for my garbage and my ashes For over a week these cans have stood in my yard and are now overflowing. What is the matter? Is this Garbage By-Law only a joke? Don't you think it would be cheaper, and more sanitary for each householder, as in the past, to get his stuff taken away at his individual expense and trouble.

Ratepayer.

Reply—In our issue of Saturday, appeared an article explaining the delay. It seems that the contractor is inadequately supplied with help and only has one wagon, where three are necessary.—Ed. Times.

DEATH CLAIMED THE VETERANS

Terrible Tragedy to a Train in Louisiana

BODIES ARE RECOVERED

New Orleans, La., May 11

FIRST on the list of unforeseen fatalities to mar the success of the big Sons of Confederate Veterans' reunion at Macon, Ga., to which delegates are speeding from all over the South, occurred at Gunns' Mill, Miss., a short distance north of Hattisburg, this morning, when the first section of the Confederate Veterans' special carrying Confederate Veterans from Texas, and consisting of an engine and five coaches, was derailed and turned over, killing four trainmen and six passengers outright and injuring a number of others. The dead passengers are believed to be Confederate Veterans. The dead railroad employes were the engineer, W. A. Woods, and Cicero Drona, his colored fireman, who met death at their posts.

The other two trainmen killed were riding on the engine when they met their death.

The train was running thirty miles an hour when the engine left the track, carrying with it one day coach, one chair car and three tourist sleepers. Two of the tourist sleepers went through a trestle which was wrecked when the derailed train dashed into it.

A very heavy rain was falling at the time of the accident.

Five bodies were brought to Hattisburg on the cars of the big special which remained on the track, and five or six other bodies were reported under the wreckage.

Five doctors and three nurses reached the scene of the terrible accident within half an hour after the first news reached here. Living comrades of the dead and injured veterans, however, had not forgotten the lessons they learned on the field of battle and their attention to the dead and ministrations of the wounded were prompt. With the assistance of the members of the train crew whose lives were spared the passengers soon had all of the injured removed to the cars that stood on the tracks and had gathered together the remains of as many of the dead as it was possible to reach before a wrecking derrick could reach the scene to lift the debris from those pinioned beneath it.

EDDY BEQUEST TO CHURCH IS UPHELD

Concord, N. H., May 12.—The clause of the will of Mrs Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the Christian Science Church, bequeathing the residue of her estate, valued at about $2,000,000, to the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, creates a "valid trust" in the opinion of the Supreme Court of New Hampshire, announced yesterday.

The court holds that "the residuary clause is not a gift to a church, but a gift for religious purposes sustainable as a charitable trust."

MANY STATES WILL VOTE DURING THE COMING WEEK

Actual Control of Chicago Convention Not Known Until June 6th and Both Sure

Washington, May 11—The make-up of the Republican National Convention, so far as the original selection of delegates can determine, will practically be settled within a week. Including eight to be chosen to-day at district conventions in Texas and Arizona, over two hundred delegates are to be selected in the eight days ending next Saturday. About one hundred will then remain to be chosen, including 48 from Ohio and 24 from New Jersey.

The widely divergent claims of the Taft and Roosevelt managers make it apparent, however, that a determination of the actual control of the convention is impossible in advance of the meeting of the Republican National Committee June 6th.

A Great Many Contests.

The committee will take up at that time contests involving the seats of at least 164 delegates, and it is not unlikely that additional contest cases will be announced by the time the committee begins work. Up to this morning, 786 of the 1,078 delegates to Chicago had been chosen, according to Roosevelt estimates, while the Taft forces record 20 less. The differences arise over Maryland, where the Taft managers declare the control of sixteen delegates will not be cleared until the State convention next Tuesday, and Kansas, where the Roosevelt records show fourteen have been chosen, and the Taft records ten.

Rival Claims Differ.

Rep McKinley, head of the Taft campaign, claimed 483 delegates for the President, and conceded 237 to Col. Roosevelt. Senator Sixon, manager of the Roosevelt committee, claimed 319 for Roosevelt and conceded 143 to Taft.

The Roosevelt managers contend that 114 delegates are uninstructed, including 88 from New York, and that 164 are contested. Both campaign committees, in their tables, give Senator La Follette 36 delegates and Senator Cummins ten.

Preparations for the two weeks' battle at Chicago over the seating of contested delegations are being completed rapidly by the attorneys for both factions. While but few contests have been filed thus far with the National Committee the managers and their attorneys will be ready with all of the cases by May 29, the date on which the papers must be before the committee.

GAVE A CORDIAL WELCOME TO J. BRUCE ISMAY ON LANDING

Liverpool, May 11.—A big crowd awaited the arrival of J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star Line, on board the Adriatic and cheered him as he walked down the gangway with his wife, who had gone on board at Queenstown and accompanied him here.

Mr. Ismay lifted his hat in acknowledgment of the reception, but excused himself from making any statement to the press, saying that he was still suffering from the strain of the disaster. He had, he said, already given a plain, unvarnished statement of facts to a responsible and adequate commission, and he thought that his evidence to be given before the British Court of Enquiry should not be anticipated.

He expressed his gratitude for the cablegrams and letters he had received from public societies and private friends conveying their sympathy with and their confidence in him during "the greatest trial of my life."

Mr. Ismay was pale and haggard, and appeared much touched by his reception.

Mr. Ismay said he had no complaint to make of his treatment by Senator Smith's committee, but did believe that the American papers had treated him unfairly.

FORGERY CHARGES ARE MADE AGAINST HARVEY AND EVANS

Toronto, May 11.—The threatened charges of forgery which have been hanging fire for some time, were brought against Drs. Walter J. Harvey and James G. Evans when they appeared this morning before Magistrate Denison on the old charges of fraud and conspiracy to obtain possession of the estate of John Revel, of Plymouth, England. The new charge is a joint one, to the effect that a £1000 cheque, which came to the Empire College of Ophthalmology, apparently as a donation from John Revell, was in reality a forgery committed some days after Revell's death at the college. The cheque bore Revell's name and was endorsed by Dr. Harvey. The date line showed that it had been made out on November 21, 1911, while Revell's death occurred on November 4. The paper was drawn upon the Bank of Plympton, Deven, England, and was sent through a local bank for collection. It was among the documents seized by the police when they took possession of the doctors' effects at the college several weeks ago.

Represented by W. T. Henderson, the plea was not guilty for both defendants. Dr. Harvey has been able to secure bail at $2,000, while Dr. Evans yet remains in custody. The remand was fixed for the 15th, on which date the Crown states they will be able to proceed with all the investigation.

ALLEGED DESIGNS ON CANADA BY THE U.S.

London, May 11.—Andrew Bonar Law, the leader of the Opposition in the British House of Commons, addressing the annual love feast of the Primrose League in the Albert Hall yesterday, directly charged Premier Asquith's Government with assisting the United States in its alleged designs on Canada.

The Tory leader said: "The quarrel between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt showed that the object of the reciprocity negotiations was to make Canada an adjunct of the United States. While it was the duty of President Taft to look after the interests of the United States it was also the duty of the British Government to look after the interests of the British Empire, but it went out of its way to try and make Canada an adjunct of the United States, from which it was saved by the instinct of the Canadian people."

Mr. Bonar Law went on to refer to the Anglo-German war armaments. He said the time was rapidly approaching when Great Britain by herself would be unable to maintain an adequate navy. The only solution of the problem was to unite the great sister nations of the Empire. He continued:

"What would have become of that hope if Canada had become an adjunct of the United States?"

CHINESE WERE ROASTED WHILST STILL ALIVE

Victoria, B. C., May 11.—News is brought here by the steamer Sanuki of rioting against Chinese at Lhasa, the capital of Tibet, during which many Chinese were roasted alive after an attack on the Chinese quarters in which many on both sides were killed and wounded.

BUILDING FOOD.

To Bring the Babies Around.

When a little human machine (or a large one) goes wrong, nothing is so important as the selection of food to bring it around again.

"My little baby boy fifteen months old had pneumonia, then came brain fever, and no sooner had he got over these than he began to cut teeth and, being so weak, he was frequently thrown into convulsions," says a Colorado mother.

"I decided a change might help so took him to Kansas City for a visit. When we got there he was so very weak when he would cry he would sink away and seemed like he would die.

"When I reached my sister's home she said immediately that we must feed him Grape-Nuts and, although I had never used the food, we got some and for a few days just gave him the juice of Grape-Nuts and milk. He got stronger so quickly we were soon feeding him the Grape-Nuts itself and in a wonderfully short time he fattened right up and became strong and well.

"That showed me something worth knowing and, when later on my little girl came, I raised her on Grape-Nuts and she is a strong, healthy baby and has been. You will see from the little photograph I send you what a strong, chubby youngster the boy is now, but he didn't look anything like that before we found this nourishing food. Grape-Nuts nourished him back to strength when he was so weak he couldn't keep any other food on his stomach." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

All children can be built to a more sturdy and healthy condition upon Grape-Nuts and cream. The food contains the elements nature demands, from which to make the soft gray filling in the nerve centres and brain. A well-fed brain and strong, sturdy nerves absolutely insure a healthy body.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 308 George St. directly opposite Creesman's store.

WHILE YOU WORK AND WHILE YOU sleep.—Wage earners make money only while they work. My lot buyers make money while they sleep. Those who have bought from me during the past four years have made by increasing value of lots, more than 50 per cent per annum on the amount invested. Come in and let us show you a very easy way to do the same. Gardens: I know one man who planted 1 acre of onions, and sold his crop for $800 cash. Was that not making money while he slept? We can supply a few acres ploughed to men who would wish to do likewise. Also a larger place with good buildings and a large poultry plant. Immediate possession. Decide at once, and call for particulars. T. Hurley, corner Stewart and Hunter streets.

WE CAN GIVE YOU ABSOLUTE PROOF that the lots we offer inside the town limits of Edson at $40 each, on easy terms, are a money-making investment, offered below their real value; Edson is a divisional point on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific with a monthly pay roll of $40,000; Edson is the actual distributing point for the Peace River country, the Brazeau coal fields, and for two hundred miles west on the Canadian Northern; Edson is little more than a year old, and already has more than twelve hundred permanent residents; it costs you one cent to obtain illustrated booklet, and the above mentioned proof; mail us a postcard to-day. CATCHING THE NOVICE

BRITISH COMMONS IS FULL OF QUEER OLD CUSTOMS.

Pitfalls and Embarrassments Await the New Member Who Is Learning the Rules—When to Wear and When to Doff One's Hat Is a Study In Itself—King's Assent Given In Norman French—The Sacred Bar.

Centuries come and centuries go, but the British Parliament remains as youthful and virile as in the far-away days when Abbott and Prior answered the summons to Westminster to help in the making of our laws; and it still observes forms and ceremonies which had their birth when Knights of the Shire rode, with escort of squire and page, to join in its deliberations.

The very language it uses recalls the time when Norman-French was the tongue of Court and Castle. To-day the King's Assent, which transforms a Parliamentary Bill into a law of the land, is announced in words familiar to our earliest Edwards: "Le Roy le veult"; and "Soit fait comme il est desire"; and, if by any chance the King should think fit to refuse his assent, the fact would be delicately disclosed in the words "Le Roy s-avisera" "The King will consider it.")

If you should chance to be in the Palace of Westminster when the Commons rise after their day's labors, your ears would be assailed with the quaint cry, "Who goes home?" shouted in stentorian tones in lobbies and corridors, just as in past centuries, when the roads leading to Westminster were the haunts of footpads and cut-throats, it was the rallying cry which brought together members whose journey home lay in the same direction, so that they might walk together for mutual safety.

Guy Fawkes has been dust for three centuries, but still, on the first day of a new session, the vaults beneath the Parliament House are explored in every corner by men carrying unlighted lanterns, in broad daylight, to make sure that no powder barrels are there to elevate our legislators to "another place."

The Speaker, too, advances to his chair with low obeisance exactly as his predecessors of centuries ago made reverent bows to the altar of St. Stephen's Chapel, in front of which for three hundreds years the Commons chair stood.

And these are but few of the many customs and traditions of Parliament which have defied time through the ages, and which will probably be observed as carefully a thousand years hence as to-day.

A quaint place, truly, is our Imperial Parliament with its time-crusted rules and regulations which carry the mind back through the centuries; rules, many of which have never been reduced to words, but are none the less binding on that account. No wonder the legislative novice is driven to his wits' end by the perplexities of his new environment, or that he is reduced to despair by shouts of "Order! order!" for the breaking of rules of which he is as ignorant as a new-born infant.

"How can I learn the rules of the House?" a desperate new member once asked Parnell. "Only by breaking them," was the answer. And it is, indeed, only by this painful process that a member can learn his way through the mazes of Parliamentary etiquette. Even such an "old hand" as Mr. Gladstone was called to order more than once during the last year of his life at Westminster; and Mr. W. H. Smith, when leader of the House, actually incurred penalties of $7,500 by breaking the rule that a member, appointed to an office of profit under the crown, must not enter, much less speak, in the House without first being re-elected by his constituents.

There is probably no Chamber in England which has quite the same sacred, exclusive character as that in which the Commons hold their deliberations. Across the entrance to it runs a brass-rod, known as the "bar," raised about half an inch above the level of the floor, and over this line no foot must pass while the House is sitting, unless it be that of a member or one of a small number of officials.

Even a messenger, with a letter or telegram to deliver, may not put foot across this "rubicon." He must hand his missive to some M.P. within reach, and thus it passes from hand to hand to its destination.

It is, too, a grave breach of decorum for any legislator to pass between the Speaker and a member addressing the House. The imaginary line that links Speaker and orator is almost as sacred as the "bar" itself; and if a member, anxious to reach his seat, cannot approach it by a roundabout way, he must either wait until the speech is ended, or, at the expense of his dignity, he must, with bent body and nimble step, cross the sacred "line" with a rush.

There is no rule of Parliament so puzzling to the neophyte as that of the hat. When he enters or leaves the Chamber he must have an uncovered head, though he may sit with hat on head as long as he will. When he addresses the House he is equally uncovered, unless he has occasion to speak while the bells are ringing for a division. At such a time, if he wishes to address the chair on a point of order, he must do so seated, and with his hat on.

It is a serious misdemeanor for one member to address or to refer to another by name during debate, except when the House is in Committee, when it is proper to address the chairman as "Mr. ——"; and no doubt the punctilious courtesy which prescribes such forms of address as "The right honorable" or "Honorable gentleman the member for ——"; adds to the dignity of the greatest legislative assembly in the world.

The Speaker has been addressed by nervous orators by a wide range of appellatives, from "Mr. Mayor" to "your reverence," but the only proper forms are "Mr. Speaker" and "Sir."

Matrimonial Note.

"This thing of getting married," said the girl who was busy with her trousseau, "is certainly a trial."

"A trial, yes," agreed the cynical bachelor, "but it isn't half so bad as working out the sentence."—Town Topics.

PAYING THE DUTY.

Custom House Officials Have Some Queer Experiences.

PASSING A SEALSKIN COAT.

The Way the Matter Was Fixed Up With an Appraiser and the Surprise That Awaited the Owner—A Bride, a Ring, a Husband and a Bluff.

The general impression is that the life of a customs inspector is a very dull routine of hardship, but such is not always the case.

The average person believes there is a little romance about the life and unquestionably the tang of the sea, but it almost never occurs to him that it is one of the funniest businesses in the world. The element of humor never enters into the general appreciation of the customs man, but it exists nevertheless.

There is a deputy collector now in the custom house of New York whose experiences in several years are really humorous. He is a grave, solemn looking man, thus bearing out the traditions, but that does not prevent him from enjoying the odd incidents that bob up in his line of duty. Speaking of them, he said:

"I had an odd experience the other day. A young man from an office in Wall street had gone to Europe to be married. In London he bought his wife a ring. He had put it in his declaration at a value of $1,000. He brought his bride to me, and she held out her pretty little pink hand that I might examine the ring. It flashed and sparkled beautifully, but the flashes and sparkles didn't seem quite right, so I asked to be allowed to examine it more carefully. The bride blushingly pulled the ring off and handed it to me. I showed it to an expert appraiser, who promptly declared that it was a fake piece of jewelry worth about $10.

"I sympathized with the young man, and when I got a chance I told him the truth. 'Oh, yes,' he replied, 'I know. You see, I didn't have much money with me, so I bought this for £1 6s., but I had to ring in a bluff on my wife. Don't give me away.' The poor fellow was willing to pay several times the value of the ring to make his bluff good, but we fixed it up for him without his bride knowing the truth.

"Another laughable experience, but more serious for the passenger, happened not long ago. When I boarded a big steamship from Europe I was approached by a man who introduced himself as one who had formerly been collector of one of the most important western ports. I knew him very well by reputation. He was returning from abroad with his family. He explained that he was very wealthy and did not want to evade paying all the duty necessary, but he confided in me that he had a sealskin coat, bought in Paris for his wife, which he had not included in his declaration, knowing that sealskins could not be imported. Nevertheless, just because we were both members of the same fraternity, he wanted to know if there was not some way in which he could get the coat into the country.

"I would have been glad to help him, but didn't see how it could be done. However, I told him I would put the question up to the appraiser at the pier and if the matter could be arranged I would fix it up. The appraiser looked the coat over and told me to put it on the declaration as an imitation sealskin valued at $75. The western man was delighted.

"'That's what I call clever,' he said.

"A few days later I got a letter from this man asking me to call upon him at one of the most fashionable uptown hotels. I went to see him and had luncheon with him and his family. When luncheon was over he made a little golden cone on the table. It consisted of a twenty dollar gold piece, a ten, a five, a three, a two and a half and a one, all in gold. He shoved the stack over to me.

"'Just a souvenir, a reminder of your cleverness in getting that seal coat through for me,' he said.

"I refused to take it, but he tried to press it on me and told me to give it to the appraiser, but I refused. Later, when his family left us, I asked him how much he had paid for the coat in Paris. He said he had paid $1,000. He could hardly believe it when I told him that we had not falsified the declaration, that the coat was an imitation and that $75 was its outside value. He called a bellboy then and there and sent the coat to a furrier to have it appraised. The furrier sent back word that he would sell him all he wanted just like it for $65 each."—New York Herald.

Mirror, Crystal and Sword.

The three symbols of the imperial house of Japan are the mirror, the crystal and the sword, and they are carried in front of the emperor on all state occasions. Each has its significance. "Look at the mirror and reflect thyself," or, in other words, "Know thyself," is the message of the mirror. "Be pure and shine" is the crystal's injunction, while the sword is a reminder to "Be sharp."

A Custom of the Tyrol.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

LANDING AT RAKAHANGA.

A Risky Feat and One That Sorely Tries the Nerves.

Rakahanga is a little coral atoll in the south sea, not very far from New Zealand. Few people ever visit it, and to judge from the account in Mr. Frank Burnett's "Through Tropic Seas" of the difficulties that attend a landing there none would care to go a second time.

At Rakahanga the feeling is that only by a miracle can a safe passage be made through what, by a stretch of the imagination, is called the entrance to the lagoon. Imagine a once good entrance obstructed by a wall of coral rising to within a few feet of the surface of the water. This coral wall is built by that wonderful creature, the coral polyp. Over it break with inconceivable fury huge ocean billows that travel with the speed of race horses, lashing and churning the water into a milk white foam and with a deafening roar throwing the spray to such a height that it may be seen miles away.

The backwash of every breaker forms, on the outside of the wall of rock, a chasm fathoms deep, which is again filled up by the next rushing wave. To cross the abyss and reach the quiet shelter of the lagoon is a difficulty that the islander shows the greatest skill in surmounting.

His boat—a long, low, flat bottomed affair, built much like a halibut dory, manned usually by six paddlers besides the steersman—is brought to the very verge of the boiling caldron, and there it is held till the opportune moment arrives. Since that sometimes does not occur for five or ten minutes the passenger has plenty of time to reflect upon his misdeeds, to survey the sublime scene and to wonder how in the world that fearful turmoil of water is to be crossed.

The delay does not tend to compose his nerves, but if he is observant he will notice that about every five or six minutes three giant billows in quick succession roll majestically in. When the last of the three has passed and the chasm has been filled up the paddlers give a frightful yell that terrifies the unsuspecting passenger almost to death, dig in their paddles and shoot the boat forward like an arrow from a bow.

Before the backwash can re-empty the chasm the boat is across. The passenger has hardly time to grasp how it is done before the paddlers have sprung to the reef and pulled the boat clear of the next roller, usually a small one.

In entering the lagoon the chief risk is that of an upset after crossing the chasm and a ducking in two or three feet of water, but on going out, if the boat does not reach the smooth water before the next succeeding swell breaks, woe betide it and its crew, for nothing will prevent its being swamped and carried, with all hands, back into the awful abyss by the inrush of broken water, out of which only the strongest and most skilful swimmers can emerge.

New Steamer Launched.

Collingwood, May 1.—The launching of the new Canadian Government steamer "Estivan," which is to be used in the lighthouse service on the Pacific Coast, took place at the yards of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co. here yesterday afternoon. Miss Helen Currie, daughter of Major J. A. Currie, M.P. for North Simcoe, christened the boat. Following the ceremony, a banquet was held at which Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, spoke. The banquet was tendered by the Collingwood Board of Trade in honor of the two Cabinet Ministers and Major Currie, and was the most notable in the history of the town.

Hon. Mr. Hazen delivered an address on the large program before the Government in the matter of shipbuilding and ship industries, and general marine improvements. The visitors were later entertained at a civic luncheon.

Gravity.

A precocious child who had been attending one of the public kindergartens fell from a ladder. Her mother caught her up from the ground in terror, exclaiming:

"Oh, darling, how did you fall?"

"Vertically," replied the child without a second's hesitation.—Satire.

Ellis at Lindsay Awaiting Trial

Arthur A. Ellis, the self admitted slayer of Lewis Porter, of Minden, has been taken to the jail at Lindsay, to await his trial next fall. There was a crowd at the station when the prisoner, wearing handcuffs and escorted by Constable Welch, arrived, and all eyes were fixed on Ellis as he was hurried into a cab. His face looked haggard, and dark circles under his eyes told of sleepless nights. He stated that he was Canadian-born, and that his home was in the Township of Lutterworth, where he farmed for a living.

MASSACHUSETTS NOW A DOUBTFUL STATE.

There has been a change of the old order in Massachusetts. Time was when the old Bay State was so rockribbed in its Republicanism that the average voter took a caucus or an election the same as he took a cup of coffee of mornings on the other three hundred and sixty-four days of the year.

To-day, however, a number of Republican newspapers are bewailing the fact that while Massachusetts, on the face of things, is Republican it has, as a matter of fact, gone into the list of doubtful States.

"No man outside of a madhouse," says the Worcester Gazette, "would undertake to say which way it will cast its vote in November. There are few men of this generation—we do not believe there are any of them—who have seen a political turmoil of the kind which has been simmering and boiling for the last two weeks."

This is true enough, and the whole of the East, it seems, is impressed by the fact that Massachusetts has broken away from its political moorings of more than half a century.

CANADA'S INDUSTRIAL FUTURE.

A Detroit magazine thus describes the great future ahead for our Dominion. It says: "The industrial present of the Dominion of Canada is a fact; its industrial future is assured. Canada has a larger area than the United States and as the population and development of Canada are now somewhat parallel to the growth of the United States in the days when Alexander Hamilton and his immediate successors were founding the fiscal system which has triumphed in the Federalism of Roosevelt and Taft, it is interesting to contemplate, both in its economic aspects and as a study in historical evolution, the industrial future of the Nation of the North. To-day England and Germany are fighting for the same markets, and in view of the fact that the period is approaching when Canada will be a competitor of the United States in the West Indies and South America, the prospective growth of Canadian Industrialism is a pertinent subject for consideration.

"Jefferson foresaw the United States as a vast agricultural Empire, but did not allow for the marvels worked by the inventor. Stephenson sounded the death knell of the Jefferson agricultural empire and paved the way for the Hamiltonian system of protected manufacturing cities when he invented the steam engine. Why is that an evident fact? Because the modern railroad is too costly an investment, and too expensive from an operative standpoint, not to enjoy the necessity of what is known in railway circles as the 'return haul.' In other words, no railroad can afford to carry agricultural products from the farms to the cities. If it did, the expense of moving the freight cars both ways would be absorbed from the farm products. Thus the necessity of a 'return haul' forces the development of industrial cities. This is what occurred in the United States between 1830 and 1870; this is just what is destined to occur in Canada between the present day and the middle of the twentieth century."

A TRANS-AFRICAN RAILROAD.

There is a curious repetition of history in the French proposal for a railroad across Africa running from Tangiers on the Mediterranean Sea to Juba on the Indian Ocean. "A short route to India" was the dream of all navigators in the sixteenth century, and the pursuit of it brought about the most important geographical discoveries of all time. It is the hope of providing more convenient access to the still untouched riches of the Orient that the French are now going about with plans for a $600,000,000 railroad cutting squarely across the Darkest Continent and running at right angles with the Cape to Cairo road. This latter undertaking has been transformed from a vision to a reality in less than a score ofyears. Only a little more time and it will stand completed. Here is a British dream coming true at the same time that America's gigantic engineering feat is within reaching distance of success, and these two have stirred the imagination of the French. They are also seeking out an enterprise large enough in scope to put their growing strength to a test. By a stroke of diplomacy England deprived them of the glory and profit which grew out of the construction of the Suez Canal. Russia has overcome the tremendous obstacles in the way of the Trans-Siberian railroad, and in Panama the United States have succeeded where the French had failed. France, stirring with the enthusiasm engendered by her diplomatic victory in the Moroccan negotiations, would do something to show the world her power.

It is natural that her eyes should turn toward a Trans-African railroad. For some years a road running from Oran, Algeria, to a juncture with the Cape to Cairo railroad, has been under consideration. This, however, is an insignificant undertaking compared with the new proposal for a purely French road linking Europe with the Indian Ocean by a direct route and reducing the time of passage between London and the Abyssinian coast from seventeen days to less than five. This time calculation contemplates the use of electric trains traveling at a speed of over one hundred miles an hour, and shows that when the French dream dreams they are of the kind that stir the imagination.

The changes to be brought about by such a road afford material for the same sort of delightful speculation as were enjoyed by the brave adventurers who blazed civilization's trails in the spacious times of great Elizabeth. Such a dream—for as yet it is nothing more—suggests the possibilities of an era of peace, a time when the ingenuity and income of the great nations could be expended in the beneficent rivalry of commerce instead of in the destructive rivalry of armaments.

Editorial Notes

No confidence is violated when we say that President Taft and Roosevelt are not candidates this year for the Nobel peace prize.

It is funny that many men who are always willing to give the devil his due are so slow about paying the grocer.

It is to be hoped that Roosevelt, in comparing himself with the great men of the past, will not neglect to point out his striking resemblance to P. T. Barnum, the greatest faker the nation ever produced.

Dr. Glover, medical examiner of the G.T.P., who has been in Winnipeg and Transcona, conducting eye and ear examinations of the men on train service, has finished his work and left for the Western Division where he will continue his tests.

Of the "ten commandments" issued by the leaders of the suffrage parade held in New York the seventh was "thou shalt not talk." We are willing to wager a doughnut to a drumstick that this commandment will be smashed forty times a day by the charming members of the Era Club.

Haney, Quinlan & Robertson Co., contractors, who are building the new G.T.P. car shops at Transcona, are receiving daily shipments of lumber from the west, and this is rapidly being put into place by an army of workmen. Already the steel columns for the new addition are in place and Engineer Pintsch is busy getting everything ready for the advent of the J. D. McArthur, work trains.

Capt. John I. Lewis, of Baltimore, relates that on a trip across the Atlantic from Liverpool several months ago he reproved the master of the ship for running in excess of the legal speed during a fog. The reply he received was: "My official standing orders are Heaven, hell or New York in five days." In the light of such orders it would be well to have the provisional destination printed on the steamship tickets for the benefit of the passengers. It is the passenger's right to know where he is likely to go when he pays for his passage.

The Irish minority of Ulster are having a hard fight. A comparative handful of men are up against the power exercised by the Vatican. Now a vital question is this, "Why should Rome, or His Holiness, the Pope, who does not even have any political control in the country where he lives, dictate the policy of British born subjects? Why should even one Province of our broad Dominion submit to the dictation of a potentate without temporal power? His Holiness, it is conceded, is the head of the greatest religious combination that the world has ever known. Still, again, why should the natives of the world submit to dictation from the Vatican. There is no slur to be thrown at His Holiness. He is a God-fearing and good man. Still there are others. There is no doubt however, but what, under Home Rule Ireland will be under Rome Rule. The time has gone by when the old superstitions and customs by which Rome ruled are feared.

Good Form

The Well Bred Voice.

One of the elementary laws of good manners prescribes that we shall practice self control, says Florence Howe Hall. Cultivated society goes a step further and demands of us personal refinement. Americans understand this very well so far as dress and outward appearance go. There is perhaps no other nation that pays so much attention to dress as we do. Our countrywomen are admired in Europe for their well made clothes, as well as for their own good looks.

But when they open their lips to speak, alas, all is changed! The harsh nasal tones jar most unpleasantly on the ear. The truth is we do not pay proper attention to the way in which we speak. We do aim at distinctness of utterance, and this we usually achieve. Speech should above all be intelligible, and Americans endeavor always to be understood. This is an excellent thing so far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. Why should we be more slovenly in speech than we are in dress?

The woman who has her hands manicured, her hair and face massaged, but who utterly neglects the cultivation of her voice, has not a proper appreciation of values, as the artists say. She should take lessons in singing or in voice culture, and she should have for a text in her boudoir the lines:

Her voice was ever soft,
Gentle and low, an excellent thing in woman.

When we hear Englishmen or Frenchmen talk it is evident that they have a respect and admiration for their own language. They try to pronounce it so that it will sound well. They seem to understand instinctively that beauty of speech is as great a pleasure to the ear as a beautiful object is to the eye.

If the American woman is wise she does not adopt the British peculiarities of intonation and accent. Nor does she endeavor to make her vocabulary agree with that of the English. She understands that our common language has developed along different lines in the two countries. "Apothecary" and "lawyer" are old Shakespearian words quite as good if not better than the modern British "chemist" and "barrister."

The endeavor to make oneself heard above the din of traffic and conversation is in part responsible for our natural harshness of utterance. At an afternoon tea, where the voices of the women soar higher and higher till they almost reach the screaming point in the vain effort to make themselves heard, the result is disastrous. The habit of calling up and down stairs is also very bad for the voice.

Entertaining Guests.

There are some strict rules indorsed by those who know what is "good form" and others who do not concerning the entertaining of a guest.

A hostess should not accept any invitation that does not include her guest, and she may with propriety (if cards of invitation are received not including a guest) let the prospective hostess know that an invitation is expected. This can be done by telephone or note, simply stating that "I have a young lady (or a man) friend visiting me and should like a card of invitation for her (or him) to your dinner (or ball or whatever) for such and such a date."

If there are callers who are not aware of the presence of a guest a hostess may say she has a friend visiting; then the caller asks to meet whoever it may be. An excellent plan and one generally adopted by those who entertain a great deal and are consequently invited out often is to give an afternoon "high tea," when simple refreshments are best form and everybody in the line of acquaintances invited to meet "Miss Dash."

In the case of a man guest the men of the family see that he has a chance of meeting other men. There may be an evening arranged as well as "bachelor" affairs, where he can be delightfully entertained.

It is good form to just inform a hostess when invitations are received to a dinner, a card party or an affair when special arrangements are to be necessary that one will bring a visiting guest. This is all that is needed.

If one has a reception or affair of any sort the hostess should see that her guest of honor, the one that is visiting her, meets every one present if possible. If a dance the guest should have the men brought to her to fill her dance card and the host sees that she is cared for in every way.

Also a hostess should defer to the wishes and plans of a guest. There may be friends the latter wishes to see that her entertainer is not acquainted with.

LADY GETS A SERIOUS SHOCK ON GEORGE ST.

Mrs. Watson, of East City, Knocked Over by a Bicycle and Covered With Dust.

On Saturday morning at 10 o'clock as Mrs. Harry Watson, of East City, was crossing George Street, on Hunter street, carrying a market basket, a boy was riding swiftly northwards, on a bicycle. Whether the boy's eyes were fixed on the bright prospects in store for him in the future, or whether he was simply 'gawking' about, is not known. Anyway the boy and the bicycle ran full tilt into Mrs. Watson. She was thrown to the ground and rolled over in the dust. The boy took a header, got up, looked at the lady, jumped on his wheel, and sped quickly Northwards again. Mrs. Watson was badly shaken up. The poor little woman stood, in front of Kents' drug store, trembling, and crying. A Times' reporter, who happened to witness the incident assisted Mrs. Watson in removing some of the George Street road scrapings from her attire. About ten minutes after the occurrence Mrs. Watson seemed almost in a state of collapse. She was able, however, to proceed home. The boy, as noted above, rode away before his name could be ascertained.

MRS. ASTOR IS NOT TO CONTEST WILL

New York, May 11 Preparations for the probating of the will of Colonel John Jacob Astor on next Friday, are being quietly conducted and it is said to-day that the distribution of the estate would go on without interruption.

Although many contingencies are being discussed in an unofficial way, it is understood that the beneficiaries are desirous of carrying out every provision mentioned by Col. Astor. There is no reason to believe that Mrs. Madeleine T. Force Astor contemplates any contest of the will.

William H. Force, father of Mrs. Madeleine Astor, made to-day the first public statement he has made since the filing of Col. Astor's will which provides for his daughter $100,000 cash, a life estate in Col. Astor's fifth avenue house, and $5,000,000, to be forfeited by her remarriage. He is quoted as saying: "The only thing I know of the estate is what I see in the newspapers."

No petitions for guardianship papers for the three chief beneficiaries, all infants in the eyes of the law, have been presented to the surrogate.

A STORY OF KITCHENER.

The Disheveled Dervish Who Was Captured In the Desert.

The following incident, involving Kitchener's ability to disguise himself, was described by one who served with the Essex regiment in a campaign against the dervishes:

"I was acting corporal of the guard over a large number of 'gentlemen of the desert' whom we had taken prisoners. In the course of my rounds a captive within the tent drew my attention, and I was surprised to hear in good English the request:

"'Corporal I wish to get out of this.'

"I of course reported the occurrence to the sergeant of the guard, only to be met with the curt reply:

"'Let the fool stay where he is!'

"I continued my rounds and was again met with the request. Again I reported the matter, and this time the reply was as curt, but a bit stronger, so I went on my rounds again. As I passed the spot this time the voice from within said:

"'Say, corporal, you are of the Essex regiment?'

"I answered that I was, and the prisoner said:

"'Well, tell Mr. B. that I want to speak to him.'

"'What name?' I asked.

"'Kitchener,' came the reply, and I at once reported accordingly to the sergeant.

"He immediately made for the prisoners' quarters, and I shall never forget that meeting. The disheveled 'dervish' was in reality the Lord Kitchener that was to be, who had been out spying among the enemy and had apparently been taken prisoner by his own troops."—London Globe.

FAMOUS FEEDERS.

Peter the Great and Louis XIV. Had Fairly Good Appetites.

Louis XIV., le Grand Monarque, could wield a lusty knife at the banqueting board. It is related of this French ruler that "he would eat at a meal four platefuls of soup, a whole pheasant, a partridge, a plateful of salad, mutton hashed with garlic, two good sized slices of ham and a dish of pastry, finishing the repast with fruits and sweetmeats"—pretty fair for a king who, we are informed by one historian, dined in public, "and the privilege of seeing him eat was eagerly sought after." No admission was charged, as far as can be learned.

In the Bodleian library at Oxford there is preserved an innkeeper's bill for breakfast eaten at Godalming, Surrey, by Peter the Great. The czar and twenty companions managed to dispose of half a sheep, a quarter of a lamb, ten pullets, three ducks, twelve chickens, eighty-four eggs, three quarts of brandy and six quarts of mulled wine, with salad in proportion. For a little snack picked up at noon Peter and his merry crew got away with a sheep, five ribs of beef, three-quarters of a lamb, fourteen pullets, fourteen rabbits and a great quantity of brandy and wine. Peter's taste in tipple ran to brandy and hot pepper, a harmless decoction for a copper riveted throat and armor plate stomach.

His Title to Fame.

There is a big hearted man editing a paper in Iowa who ever tries to say something eulogistic about every citizen of his town both during the subject's life and at his death. On one occasion he was much perplexed to know what to say in the case of a man, a resident of the town for many years and an excellent citizen. For the life of him the editor could think of nothing that his friend had done to entitle him to distinction. The following was the one fact that the writer could produce from the recesses of his memory as a climax for the eulogy that appeared in the paper:

"Mr. Jones was once prominently mentioned for the nomination as alternate delegate for the annual conclave of the Order of the Sons of America."—Harper's Magazine.

Spider Tigers.

The lycosae are tigers among spiders, and when the eggs are inclosed in their sac they attach the precious parcel to the abdomen and carry it about with them. During the season of maternity they are exceedingly fierce and consider any evidence of curiosity on the part of an observer as a direct challenge to attack. When the young are hatched they swarm out over the mother, and she carries them about with her for several days. So voracious is their appetite that she frequently falls a victim to it, for, it is said, they have no compunction whatever in devouring her.

Curious Bread Law.

There is a provision in the British bread acts of 1822 and 1836, which are still in force, to the effect that "every person who shall make for sale or sell or expose for sale any bread made wholly or partially of peas or beans or potatoes or of any sort of corn or grain other than wheat shall cause all such bread to be marked with a large Roman 'M.'"

$2,000,000 Worth of Junk.

A statement compiled at the war department in Washington shows that from sales of scrap iron and other unused material which was left on the isthmus of Panama by the Frenchmen who did work on the canal fifteen years ago the government has already realized the sum of $2,112,000. Over 29,000 tons of metals from these abandoned plants have been shipped to the United States, and there is much work yet to be done. Some of the abandoned machinery has been put in order and is being used.—Railway Age Gazette.

RELIEVE THE TEDIUM.

Little Jests Brighten the Days In the House of Commons.

Cheerful little remarks and episodes tend to lighten the most dreary days in the session of a legislative body. H. W. Anderson in The Canadian Courier recounts a few of recent vintage in the Commons at Ottawa.

It was the early morning hours following the recent all-night sitting of Parliament in which the Manitoba school question was under debate and discussion. It was, moreover, the sitting at which Hon. George P. Graham had resumed his seat in the House as the newly-elected member for South Renfrew. The vote upon the amendment of Mr. Mondou, the Nationalist member for Yamaska, had just been taken, and the members were trouping out into the corridors, the majority on their way to the restaurant for a sandwich and a cup of coffee. The ex-Minister of Railways and Canals was strolling down the corridor with a frown upon his face, when Dr. Michael Clark, of Red Deer, accosted him.

"Wherefore so downcast, George?" he queried.

Mr. Graham shook his head. "It's pretty hard lines," he responded, "to have spent the past few weeks zealously endeavoring to defeat the Government, and then come here to-day and have to cast my first vote in support of them."

One of the most ardent of the Opposition newspaper men was reviewing the supplementary estimates in the Press Gallery. He was checking off item after item with keen critical comments. Very little seemed to meet with his approval. "Gross extravagance," "A patent political vote catcher," "Another useless expenditure," "Automobiles indeed; they'll be buying aeroplanes next," were the caustic comments which from time to time fell from his lips as he diligently conned the items. Finally, however, he paused, and read slowly: "Gratuity to the dependents of an official who served for over twenty years in the House of Commons and is now insane." He looked out over the House. It was a tedious afternoon and a western member, who can scarcely be accounted a brilliant speaker, was in the midst of an extended dissertation. "Well," he commented, "I think that vote should meet with unanimous approval."

They were Conservative members, and they had harked back to the victory of September last with its campaign stories.

"Well," drawled Col. Hugh Clark, "the most genuine congratulations I received were written a month after the election. My admirer mentioned that he would have written before, but had just come to. He had been celebrating for the intervening weeks."

About Ambergris.

A press report from Victoria, B.C., the other day stated that a piece of ambergris estimated to be worth $150,000 was taken from a whale killed by the whaler Pretriana, which arrived at that port on July 5. This is said to be one of the largest pieces of ambergris ever found.

Ambergris is supposed to be a morbid secretion of the liver of the spermaceti whale, found floating or washed ashore. It is a little lighter than water, and might easily be taken for a piece of the bark of a tree. On examination, however, it is found to be of a waxy nature, streaked with gray, yellow and black and emitting a peculiar aromatic odor. It fuses at 140 to 150 degrees Fahrenheit and at a higher temperature gives out a white smoke, which condenses into a crystalline fatty matter.

It is found in all sizes, from one pound up to twenty or thirty, but occasionally pieces weighing one hundred or two hundred pounds are found in whales.

Ambergris has been known from an early period, some pharmacopoeias prescribing it for fevers and nervous complaints. It is sometimes mingled with the incense burned in churches, and is also put in certain kinds of wine to improve the bouquet.

But the great use of ambergris is in the manufacture of perfumery. Not that its fragrance is either very powerful or pleasing, but it possesses the peculiar property of causing other ingredients to throw out their odors and making them more specific and durable.

Mr. Hanna's Tact.

Hon. W. J. Hanna, Ontario's Provincial Secretary, is not famed as a "mixer," and the general impression seems to be that he is a hard man to approach. But he knows how to mix among country folk at election time.

Mr. Hanna first ran for the Ontario Legislature in 1902, when he opposed Mr. F. F. Pardee, then member for West Lambton. It seemed very doubtful that the latter could be defeated, and some of Hanna's friends were somewhat dolefully discussing the candidate's chances. Then a hopeful member of the group spoke up.

"Pshaw!" he said. "Hanna's chances are all right. He knows how to handle the farmers. When Pardee calls at a house on the side lines the people won't know what to do with him—he's so well dressed and nice in his talk. Along will come Hanna the next day, and when the farmer will direct him to go up to the 'spare room' to wash for dinner, do you think he'll go like Pardee? Not on your life. Hanna will yank off his coat and say: 'Spare room nothin'! Show me the pump and some soft soap. That's what I was used to when I was a boy.'"

Common Names Lacking.

The present Ontario Legislature does not contain a single Smith, Brown, Jones, or Robinson. The Dominion Parliament has a Brown and a Smith (also a Smythe), but neither a Jones nor a Robinson. The Senate has a Jones, but neither a Brown, Smith, nor Robinson, although it has a Robertson.

Golf Balls.

The manufacture of golf balls was at one time, the end of the sixteenth and beginning of the seventeenth centuries, in the hands of the Dutch, and a heavy tax was placed upon such as were imported into Great Britain in order to give the more expensive British laborer a chance, James VI. of Scotland going so far as to give one maker a monopoly of the manufacture.

Thirty Gallons of Water a Day.

London consumed the enormous total of 223,536,884 gallons of water every day last year. This means that each of the seven million odd persons in the metropolis used 31.57 gallons a day, and that at each house 204.94 gallons were disposed of in the same period.

THE DOUKHOBORS.

Their Religion and Community System of Living.

The Doukhobors, the peculiar Russian religious sect of peasants who emigrated to Canada in such large numbers in 1899, and of whom so much was heard a few years later on account of their conflict with the Dominion Government, form the theme of an article—by N. Syrkin, of New York — in Suddeutsche Monatshefte (Munich).

Mr. Syrkin traces in this article the Doukhobors' stormy history and expatiates upon their strange beliefs. He says, among other things:

"The nucleus of the Doukhobor faith is solely recorded in the reports sent in by the community in the 18th century to the Russian Government, because after Pobirokin's idea their faith should be shown forth in their life alone. We read that the human body is for the soul only a temporary prison where it can have no other aim than the manifestation of God; that the first men had neither customs nor religious institutions but were illumined by the Holy Ghost, and that later by the power of evil creeds and laws arose. Under Catherine II. and Paul the Doukhobors underwent severe persecutions, under Nicholas I. in 1842 they were exiled to Tiflis in the Caucasus in the hope that they would die out. The Doukhobors, however, made friends with the wild hillmen, prospered agriculturally in spite of the desert and rocky foothills, and were strengthened to endure another persecution in 1882. Then Peter Werigin undertook the leadership of the community's practical and mystical life, prohibiting smoking, wine and meat. As a consequence of the schism of the "Small party" Werigin and his disciples were banished to Siberia. In 1895 the Doukhobors burnt their weapons publicly and refused to take part in the Government suppressions and military service. After ordering the maltreating of women and children and massacre of unresisting old men, the Government expulsed four thousand Doukhobors from their villages and drove them into the Grusinian villages where over a thousand died of privation. The men available for military service were sent for 18 years to the criminal battalion in Siberia. In 1898 through the combined efforts of Tolstoi and the Society of Friends in England, funds were raised and the Czar's permission obtained for the emigration of the sect to Cyprus, which being found unsuitable, in 1899 over eight thousand Doukhobors were granted lands by the Canadian Government in the Province of Assiniboia near Yorktown and of Saskatchewan near Thunder Hill and Prince Albert.

Mr. Syrkin notes that on the arrival of Peter Werigin in Canada the return to the traditional Doukhoborism and the introduction of modern agricultural methods began. Werigin disowned the pilgrimages and discarders of clothing and organised the communities into a central union. The patriarchal life is strictly adhered to and work is more the contented occupation of energy than the curse of bread earned in the sweat of the brow. Everything is left to the good will and judgment of the individual, the administration is at a nominal cost, as the elders work. Annually 1,000 adults are sent as day laborers for the railways, and after the deduction of their living expenses they return the greater part of their wage to the common treasury. One of the largest and best brick-making plants in Canada has been founded by the Doukhobors at Yorktown, and the communities have paid their debts, and even eighteen months after their arrival in Canada, wrote to the English Quakers to cease pecuniary gifts and apply them to others more needy.

But even under Werigin the Doukhobors have not found peace. True to their belief in common property they have finally refused to become Canadian subjects and consequently have lost the greater part of their homesteads of about the value of two million dollars, retaining only about fifteen acres for each member of a community.

Friends Didn't Know Him.

The House of Commons enjoyed a genuine sensation recently. Mr. Emmanuel Devlin, the eloquent member for Wright, has for years worn a luxuriant moustache and a bunch of waving black hair which would have done credit to any embryo artist or musician. But the barber bided his time and finally got Emmanuel. The latter is a faithful attendant in the Chamber, and the long night debates, followed by the recently inaugurated morning proceedings, proved too much for tired nature. According to the story going the rounds of the corridors, Mr. Devlin fell asleep under the operations of the tonsorial expert and when he awoke found himself minus his moustache and sporting a real short military hair-cut. This was, in itself, bad enough. But other tribulations awaited him when he reached the House out of breath just after prayers en Francais. He had doffed overcoat and chapeau and was heading into the Chamber when Joe Demers, of St. John and Iberville, spotted him and gave the alarm. "A stranger coming into the House," was the appalling whisper with which Demers startled Mr. H. W. Bowie, the stalwart deputy Sergeant-at-Arms. Mr. Bowie is nothing if not alert and efficient. He gripped his sword and started menacingly towards the supposed intruder, waving at him to halt. Mr. Devlin was late, and wasn't halting. Member and officer met within the doors of the Chamber. The latter conducted a searching inspection, but Mr. Devlin finally established his identity. And he maintains that the officer most gallantly atoned for his error by observing: "Well, sir, you cut ten years off your age."—H.W.A. in Canadian Courier.

LIVES ON RAW FRUITS.

Chicago Woman Says 30 Cents a Day Will Provide For Three.

Throw out the cook stove and live on raw fruits and vegetables if you would decrease the cost of living.

For eight years this has been the motto of Mrs. Charles Smith, vegetarian and suffragist, who resides at 6328 Hazel avenue and to whom the high cost of living agitation is all a joke. Other axioms of Mrs. Smith are:

Wear clothing made of vegetable fiber, eat vegetarian foods and follow the meaning of one little word—simplicity.

If your complexion is bad throw away cosmetics—eat oranges.

But, above all things, get rid of the cook stove. There is nothing elevating in society dinners any more than there is in ragtime music.

These observations were made by Mrs. Smith when as president of the Chicago Vegetarian society she called the first fall meeting of the organization to order in Kimball hall.

When asked concerning her decreased cost of living meals at the close of the meeting Mrs. Smith gave the noon and night menus of herself and husband, for they eat but two meals a day. Upon such a delicious and extravagant array of food a family of three may live, she says, for 30 cents a day.

Here is what they ate:

For Dinner.—Celery and lettuce, sun dried olives, apples, whole wheat crackers, honey, figs and Brazil nuts.

"The civilized ideas of today are killing the race," declared Mrs. Jean Roberts Albert, secretary of the society. "We cater to degeneracy. We should live more simply, more primitively. Plenty of pure raw foods and plenty of sunshine are all that is required."—Chicago Record-Herald.

FREAKS OF DYNAMITE.

One That Was Lucky For the Man Down in the Mine Shaft.

"Not long ago," said a Leadville mining man, "there occurred one of those freaks of dynamite in one of the deep shafts of the Carbonate camp that might not happen again in a thousand years.

"Two men at the bottom of a shaft had put in five four and one-half foot holes which were to be exploded with dynamite cartridges 1½ inches in diameter. As is usual in such cases, they gave the customary signals to the hoisting engineer and after lighting the fuse stepped on the bale of the bucket and started upward. When about ten feet from the bottom one of the men had an epileptic fit and toppled out. His partner tried to reach the bell cord to stop the bucket, but it was too late. The bell cord could be reached only from the lower part of the shaft. When the engineer saw only one man come through the collar of the shaft at the surface his face blanched.

"'Where's Jim?' he asked excitedly.

"Quickly the miner related the circumstances and exhibited his hand, bloody from contact with the sharp rock in an effort to reach the bell cord before the bucket entered the timbering. The men, their hearts beating

TROUBLE IN SIGHT.

Steam Trawlers Cause Commotion In Fisheries.

A condition is rapidly developing in connection with the Atlantic fisheries fraught with possibilities of serious international complications. In the last few years steam vessels using the Otter or beam trawl have been invading the waters used by the fishermen of Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and the New England States. At first these craft caught few fish in Western waters, and were regarded with amused tolerance, it being the opinion of our fishermen that the methods of fishing used so extensively in the North Sea were not adapted to the conditions of the banks of the Western Atlantic. But the beam trawlers have come over in increasing numbers, and have already proved their ability to adapt themselves to conditions over here and make large catches. Now it is contended that their operations are ruining the fishing grounds, and a vigorous agitation has been started in the fishing ports of Nova Scotia. New England and Newfoundland with a view to inducing the Governments interested to take action looking to the consummation of an international agreement prohibiting the employment of this type of fishing craft on the banks of the Western Atlantic. The Canadian Government has already prohibited the use of the Ottar trawl in our territorial waters, and the Nova Scotia fishermen are now asking that a regulation be adopted preventing the Otter trawlers purchasing coal or supplies in Canadian ports. That would be a rather large order for the Government to undertake; some of the beam trawlers hail from England and others from France, and it would be a serious matter, indeed, to deny the vessels of the Mother Country and France the ordinary privilege of buying coal and supplies. And in any case such a drastic measure would not achieve its purpose so far as the French trawlers are concerned, for they can use St. Pierre and Miquelon as a base of operations without any serious inconvenience.

In Gloucester, it is said owners of fishing vessels have pledged themselves to raise $100,000 to fight the invasion of beam trawlers, and in Lunenburg and other Canadian fishing ports feeling runs high and resolutions have been adopted at large public meetings, promising the Minister of Marine all sorts of trouble if he does not succeed in getting the other nations to agree to prohibit beam trawling.

And whether our fishermen following the old methods of fishing are right or not in their fear that the beam trawler will deplete our fisheries, they have good reason to fear the results of the extensive employment of the new methods. The beam trawlers are labor saving machines.

Their competition will drive the fishing schooner out of business. The building of wooden fishing vessels will cease, and ruin will fall upon a number of prosperous towns, dependent upon the vessel building industry. The business of handling fish will be centralized in a few ports, and the existence of hundreds of hamlets along the coast, now people by independent and prosperous fishermen and their families, will be menaced. A certain proportion of fishermen will find employment on the beam trawlers, but they will be mere wage earners—without as now a half interest in the adventure. A few big companies may make fortunes, but the fishing industry will support only a small proportion of the people who now derive a good livelihood from it. And with the passing of the fishing schooner will disappear the finest class of sailormen in the world, a hardy, vigorous race, self-reliant, inured to danger—a class from which an empire in its time of trouble might be glad to draw men to man its fighting ships. —Colin McKay in Montreal Standard.

Mail Can't Wait.

His Majesty's mail has quite astonishing privileges. Its drivers have power to requisition aid of any kind to avoid delay in deliveries, and City Solicitor Johnston of Toronto tells an interesting experience to show how this is sometimes done.

As a member of a hunting party he was being driven one day over one of the indescribably bad roads of Northern Ontario. The driver had the mail on board; he was taking it to a place called South River. Mr. Johnston is a big man, and as a heavy passenger he may have been the cause of the trouble which occurred. Anyway, one of the horses gave out, and it looked to the Toronto hunters as if they were going to be stranded for days in the wilds.

The mail driver didn't take that view at all. Happening to be near the home of a settler, he simply went to that worthy's stable, picked the best horse he found there, led it out, and put in its place the worn-out animal. The settler came out on the jump. "Here," he shouted, "what in blazes are you doing? Put that horse of mine back quick or there'll be trouble."

"No," said the driver coolly, "I won't put it back and there won't be any trouble. I've got to get the mail to South River to-night. I need your horse to make the trip and I've full power to take it. I'll bring it back in the morning."

And to South River the mail went, with the settler's best horse making one of the team which took it. The driver was quite within his rights.

Highly Unnecessary.

No man is more methodical in following the regular forms of Parliamentary expression and procedure than Hon. T. S. Sproule, the present Speaker of the House of Commons. When the House adjourned the other morning shortly after one o'clock, Mr. Speaker caused a smile by seizing his three-cornered hat and gravely declaring: "This House stands adjourned until this morning at eleven o'clock in the forenoon." It does not appear to be the Speaker's fault if certain members forget or neglect the morning sittings.

Stole Money for Sweetheart.

Chicago, May 2.—Mary Reynolds, ticket agent, employed by the Illinois Central Railroad, who told the police a story of being held up and robbed of $150 by two men in the station Tuesday night, confessed yesterday that she had concocted the story of the robbery and had given the money to her sweetheart.

"I took the money and gave it to Charles Duff," she said. "We were soon to be married and neither of us had much money. The money is hidden in a cigar box, buried at the base of a telegraph pole at Fifth avenue and Michigan avenue."

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Authorized Capital: $200.000

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realise that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

Men Who Don't Exercise

SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION, HEADACHES, POOR APPETITE, SLEEPLESSNESS.

Nothing So Sure to "Set Up" a Man, Make Him Feel Brisk and Vigorous, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork were the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens in Woodstock. In his convincing letter Mr. Stephens says :—

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of ever getting well. I was always tired and languid had no energy and spirit, found it difficult to sleep for more than five hours. My appetite was so fickle that I ate next to nothing, and in consequence lost weight and strength. I was pale, and had dark rings under my eyes that made me look like a shadow.

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness, languor and feeling of depression passed away, and I fast regained my old-time vigor and spirits To-day I am well — thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

For health, strength, comfort and good spirits there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Beware of substitutes and don't let any dealer palm off some other pill on which he can make more money. 25 c per box or five boxes for $1.00 by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston Ont.

Times Want Ads. Pay.

A small classified ad. in The Times on Thursday, of household furniture, brought a number of purchasers, resulting in a sale of the goods. A bicycle, advertised for sale by Miss Clementi, Water street, in the "Articles For Sale" column, secured a purchaser at once. It surely pays to use The Times when you have anything to dispose of.

Extension to Local Line.

About twenty men are engaged in the work of the new street car extension. Provision for crossing the C. P. R. tracks at the Canadian General Electric Company's works has been provided for, also the regrading of the approaches to the old track for a couple of blocks on Park street, preparatory to the laying of the new line.

Mr. Dobie's Sad Delay.

Mr. Robt. Dobie has arrived home after spending two months in Europe in the interests of the C.G.E. Co. Just as Mr. Dobie was about to sail homeward bound, he learned of the serious illness of his nephew in a London hospital. Nothing, however, that could be done proved effectual, and the young man died a few days later. The body was brought home to Guelph, where it was interred on Friday.

Pay-as-You-Enter System On.

The "pay-as-you-enter" system was inaugurated here Saturday morning, on the local street railway. Two passengers boarded the car at the intersection of George and Charlotte streets. At present the new system will be confined to the George street line.

IT WILL PAY YOU

TALK NO. 8.

We frequently hear from persons far and near that they would not be without the eye-glasses which they had from the Optical Institute for serveral their price. One lady remarked "I wouldn't take $50.00 for my glasses," another, "they're worth ten times their price to me." A gentleman says "I wear mine constantly, scarcely know they are on, but have perfect sight far and near." They are worth all they cost me, and I want another pair in case of accident." J. W. Browett, Optometrist, Market Block.

Stick to
The Old Habits
If you are perfectly well
If not, Change

(See any fault in that philosophy?)

Thousands continue to "coddle" old habits such as coffee and tea drinking; refusing to believe their aches and ills are largely due to CAFFEINE poisoning. (CAFFEINE is the DRUG in coffee and tea.)

Many are awakening to the TRUTH about coffee and tea, and change to

POSTUM

It is made of wheat, and is a rich, palatable food-drink—free from CAFFEINE or any other drug.

If you appreciate health and the full enjoyment of physical and mental power, a 10 days' trial will show

"There's a Reason"

Made by Canadian Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Windsor, Ontario, Can.

HARD TO LEARN
Takes Hard Experience to Teach People Some Truths.

Many people jeer at the idea that coffee causes the aches and ails they suffer from, and often such people will go on for years sticking steadfastly to the coffee and suffering month in and month out but maintaining "Coffee doesn't hurt me." (Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the drug in coffee.)

A lady says

"I did not learn the real truth until I made the change, but I can now positively state that the headaches I had for about seventeen years were caused by drinking coffee, for when I changed and gave up coffee and used Postum in its place I experienced entire relief. I have not been troubled with headache since I began Postum.

"This, in brief, has been my experience on the coffee question. Among my friends I have seen many other wonderful instances of the power of this food drink when used in place of the drug drink, coffee.

"Among my friends there are those who tell me of relief from kidney trouble, neuralgia and eczema by leaving off coffee and using Postum and I have even known it to ease rheumatic pains in limbs.

"I really believe these statements for since I cut out coffee and used Postum I never seem to have an ache or pain, and I would not dare go back to coffee again.

"Not only myself but my family use Postum exclusively and we think there is no hot beverage that can take its place. Nearly seven years steady use of Postum convinces me I know what I am talking about when I say it is food as well as drink and most valuable to build up the system." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Mrs. John Irwin and Mrs. Frank Degen desire to thank their many friends for their kindness during their recent bereavement.

The many friends of Mrs. (Hon.) Robt. Hamilton will be pleased to learn that she was somewhat improved in health yesterday.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Did you wear a white carnation yesterday?

Nothing doing yesterday in fire or police circles.

Another sign of summer. The boats for the Northern Lakes begin their trips to-morrow.

The William Hamilton Mfg. Co. have decided to maintain an "open" shop, beginning this morning.

Chickens sold on Saturday's market at about 4½ cents a white man's mouthful, or 7½ for a negro's trap.

Local butchers say that cattle are scarce round Peterborough, and prices high. Hence the expense of beef.

A general meeting of the bowlers will be held on Monday night at 8 p. m., at J. E. A. Fitzgerald's office.

The probs. for yesterday were thunderstorms. Did they come? Did your milk go sour? or did your wife run down the cellar to get away from the thunder?

Rhubarb was plentiful on Saturday's market. This vegetable ran about 6½ little sticks, mostly cut-off leaf for 5 cents.

At Saturday's session of the Police Court, Harold Coons, of Bridgenorth, under the new amendment of the Liquor License Act, was fined $20.

The classified adv. page of The Times seems to be the hottest thing out yet in getting results between advertiser and buyer. Both seem pleased.

Speaking of the dog nuisance. If Fido, a lap dog, eats a sausage, and Fido is eaten by a bull dog, is the sausage a connecting link between Fido and the bull?

It will take a train of forty cars to carry the machinery from the defunct Sylvester plant at Lindsay to the premises of the purchasers, The Tudhope Anderson Co., Orillia.

The Lindsay dog-catchers have snared three dogs since their campaign opened there against the canines of that town. That's dog-gone good work, but might be better.

Yesterday was Mothers' Day. Enquiries made by The Times from several local clergymen showed that the latter were in evident sympathy with the movement, but seem to have forgotten the date.

The Toronto "mashers" were fined $50 each for speaking to young girls they did not know. A little of the same medicine would do some of the young men on George street good, and, incidentally save young girls from future annoyance.

LOCAL MOULDERS GO OUT ON STRIKE THIS MORNING

It has been generally known that a spirit of unrest has existed among the local moulders. As explained in Saturday's issue, a meeting was held in Labor Hall on Friday night, presided over by 1st Vice-President Keough, of the International Moulders' Union. At this event, as told in Saturday's issue, the nine hour day was discussed thoroughly. On Saturday afternoon Mr. Keough was seen by a Times' representative and asked this question: "Is there anything new in connection with the Moulders' trouble?" That gentleman replied: "No nothing. You can simply say that the moulders will go out Monday!"

When The Times ascertained that a strike is assured, one of our representatives called up Mr. E. G. Patterson, Superintendent of the Canadian General Electric Co., to ask him what effect, if any, the contemplated strike would have at their works. Mr. Patterson was out of the city, and Mr. Dobie said the C.G.E. could get along. Mr. Donaldson, of the J. Water Greene Foundry, when asked a similar question, gave practically the same answer.

TAILORS' STRIKE SPREADS WHILE LONDON SWELTERS

London, May 11.—The tailors' strike has now become a matter of serious concern to all London. When nearly 30,000 East-end male and female workers join the 20,000 West-end strikers to-day the master tailors in the city will be as helpless to fulfil their customers' orders as are their fellow tradesmen of the West End.

The heat wave which descended upon London was the cause of many orders for thinner suits. City tailors accepted the orders, but there is not a master tailor in the whole of London who can definitely promise a new suit or tailor-made costume.

In accordance with the decision arrived at on Wednesday night, about 10,000 tailors and tailoresses in the East End ceased work yesterday and made it a holiday.

The extension of the strike means a loss of hundreds of thousands of pounds to London tailors. May is a month which always decides whether the year will be good or bad.

DR. BEATTIE NESBITT WAS GRANTED BAIL AGAIN AT LIBERTY

Police Court Crowded When Ex-Bank President Appeared

CLERGYMAN WHO MARRIED A CHINK TO WHITE GIRL TRIED

Mr. Corley Severely Arraigns Rev. Morrow for Performing Such a Marriage After Hours

Toronto, May 13.—Though the Rev. John D. Morrow, charged with marrying Lou Fraser to a Chinaman, Fred Young, after the legal hour of ten at night brought three witnesses to back up his own statement that the ceremony was performed a few minutes before ten, he was subjected to some warm criticisms on the part of the Crown Prosecutor when he appeared before Magistrate Denison in the morning Police Court. More evidence will be taken to-morrow.

When the defendant was called to the witness box he exchanged smiles with the Magistrate, then told that it was ten minutes to ten when his sister phoned to him to come home to marry a couple. He was one block away, and travelled that in a taxi, therefore he estimated the hour at a few minutes before ten.

Crown Attorney Sarcastic.

"Did you know this child" Crown Attorney Corley demanded. "Did you try to find any way to save her from a heathen?"

"No."

"How much did you get?" the Crown persisted.

"The Chinaman gave me ten dollars. It was the first ten dollars I ever got for a marriage."

"And I hope it will be the last cent you ever get in that way" was the retort.

Rev. Mr. Morrow said that Young had told him he was a Christian, a member of Cooke's Church, also of Knox Church, Hamilton.

"But didn't you know the girl's father?" was asked.

"I didn't know Fraser until he met me in the Police court corridor the other day and threatened me."

"That's all he did do," the Crown continued. "He didn't hit you. He's a better man than I am."

Magistrate Denison suggested that in making legal appointments he understood there was always a half hour allowed as grace, but Mr. Corley took up this point, as well

More Criticism Passed.

"There isn't a half hour allowed for breaking the law. You can't work it out that way. I think you are bothering as much about getting away from the law as I am in getting at it."

"You are too close to the margin" was the magistrate's reply. "Suppose he had married them an hour before. What is the difference?"

"It would be just as bad, the girl would still be white, and the man a Chinaman, If it hadn't been such a horrible case I wouldn't have asked you to try it at all."

Two of the Rev. Mr. Morrow's sisters corroborated his statement as to the hour of the ceremony. Miss Jesse Morrow, teacher, stated that she kept the clock fast to have that much margin in the mornings. The only denial of this was furnished by the girl, who stated that it was eight minutes after ten by the Morrow mantel clock when they entered the house, and between ten-fifteen and ten-twenty when they stood up to be married.

"That clock hasn't been going for four years,"j Mr. Morrow contradicted. "It always shows five o'clock on the face."

FOUR CHARGES UPON WHICH DR. NESBITT WILL BE TRIED

Toronto, May 13.—The four charges upon which Dr. Nesbitt was extradited, and upon which alone he can be tried, are as follows:—

"That on the 31st day of December, 1906, he did, contrary to law, then being a director and president of the Farmers Bank of Canada, fraudulently, make, sign, approve and concur in a return made by the bank to the Minister of Finance for the Dominion of Canada, such return containing false and deceptive statements contrary to the statute in such cases made and provided."

Two others bore the exact reading with the dates January 31 and February 28, 1907, substituted.

The fourth charge is "that he did make, sign, approve and concur in a special return called for by the Minister of Finance for the Dominion of Canada, such report containing false and deceptive statements contrary to the statute."

$1.00 PER DAY FOR INDIGENT PATIENTS IN THE HOSPITALS

MUNICIPALITIES MUST PAY THIS AMOUNT UNDER NEW ACT.

Ald. Buller Criticises the Measure as A Burden Upon the City, Offering Opportunity for "Dead Beats" to Play Off at the Municipality's Expense — Will the South City Sewer Prove a "White Elephant?"—Now Being Opened to Ascertain Cause of Blockage — Who's To Pay the Piper?

The City Fathers met in Committee of the whole last night, with Mayor W. H. Bradburn presiding. There were also present Aldermen Gillespie, Anderson, Duffus, Brown, Johnston, Graham, Buller, Gordon, Duncan.

The Council was called mainly to deal with a notice received from St. Nicholls Hospital, that the city would be billed for the maintenance of four female indigent patients confined therein.

It appears that under an Act of Legislature passed last session, each municipality must pay $1 a day for the maintenance of each of its indigent patients treated in a hospital. The Act provides that hospital authorities should give the municipality 14 days' notice of their intention to bill for such indigents, thus affording Council time to investigate such cases and report to the hospital thereon before they actually become a charge upon the municipality. Such a notice from St. Joseph's Hospital was filed with the City Clerk on May 7th. The cases in question are one old lady of feeble mind, who had been up to recently confined in the jail but removed to St. Joseph's owing to physical indisposition; and three children, (girls.) These patients are all residents of Peterborough. One of the children's parents are living, but the father met with an unfortunate accident last year which incapacitated him for work for many months. He is working now, however. The mothers of both the other children are dead, but the fathers are working, and Relief Officer Miller reported that they should be able to support their little girls in the hospital.

Ald. Buller took strong exception to the Act enforcing upon municipalities the payment of $1 a day for indigent patients in hospitals. This, he offered, would render municipalities open to considerable imposition on the part of dead beats, who would take advantage of the Act to "play off" for a week or two at the city's expense. "Dead beats," he concluded, "are out to win, and will do so every time."

Ald. Gordon contended that it was a crying shame that the old lady in question should, for need of accommodation in appropriate institutions have been confined in jail, on account of mental disease, to which jail she will probably be returned on her recovery in St. Joseph's hospital.

After due consideration of the four cases above referred to, Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the authorities of St. Joseph's Hospital be notified that the Council does not consider the three children as indigents, and consequently the city is not responsible for their maintenance.—Carried.

Park Improvements

Mr. Chas. A. Ostrom offered that if the Council would plant a cedar hedge around the small park at the corner of Charlotte and Park Streets and provide two flower beds, he would defray one half the expense up to $100.

Moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Anderson, that the Property Committee look into this matter, get prices for planting a cedar hedge and report thereon. Also, enquire if Mr. Holly would care for this little park at the same price as last year. $10.—Carried.

Romaine St. Sewer.

It appears that Engineer Chipman of Toronto, under whose supervision this sewer and pumping station were constructed, has sent an engineer down on his own initiative, to investigate the sewer's unsatisfactory working. This man reported the sewer plugged, and is opening it up; the corporations' men doing the work, and apparently, from City Engineer Hay's report, at the city's expense. The City Fathers are not quite clear as to the expense phase of the situation, and instructed Engineer Hays last night not to have the sewer pipes broken until the Mayor, Ald. Buller and himself are on the spot. In this way the Council will assure itself of the cause for the sewer's present blockage. Engineer Hays seems satisfied that the pipes are plugged with sand.

Leave of Absence.

Ald. Duncan was given six weeks' leave of absence, and Ald. Graham was appointed Acting Chairman of the City Property Committee during Chairman Duncan's absence.

THE WEATHER.

Mostly fair and cooler.

MEREDITH WAS FOUND GUILTY

Charged with Giving Privileges to Political Prisoners

LONG IS ACQUITTED

Judge Chretien Charges Strongly Against the Convicted Man and Defers Imposing Sentence.

New Orleans, La., May 13

MEREDITH, usually known as the Captain in charge of the parish prison, has been found guilty by Judge Chretien on counts 1, 3 and 4 of the information charging him with granting undue privileges to the election prisoners. He was acquitted on count No. 2.

Sheriff Matthew Long, charged jointly with Captain Meredith, was acquitted on all of the counts.

Count No. 2 covers the alleged privileges granted to Henry Sullivan, when he received word that his wife was in a precarious condition, and had fallen in the yard. Counts 1, 3 and 4 cover the alleged privileges granted to P. E. Dominique, Gus Heingarten and J. Clever respectively.

Captain Meredith can be either fined or imprisoned, or both, at the discretion of the court. The fine is from $1 to $1,000 and the imprisonment from one day to two years in the parish prison. It is not a penitentiary offense.

Captain Meredith's Statement.

"Of course I must bow to the court's decision, which I respect. If the court believed that I was guilty of anything wrong I have nothing to say against that opinion, but I feel in my own heart that I have done nothing wrong. I still maintain that if any undue privileges were granted the election prisoners, I was ignorant of the same. In the one or two instances where I gave prisoners liberties it was in answer to the promptings of humanity," said Captain Meredith after the judge had given his decision.

Attorney Generelly, who, with his law partner, Lionel Adams, represented Captain Meredith and Sheriff Long, gave notice that he would file motion for a new trial. He asked to be given time until Friday next, which was granted.

Judge Chretien's Oral Opinion.

In giving his opinion, which was oral, Judge Chretien was very brief. He said:

"I have not only listened attentively to the testimony in this case when given, but I have read the test-

JESUIT ACTS WORRY GERMANY

The Clerical Party are Making Trouble for the Kaiser

Berlin, May 13—The Jesuit question has sprung up suddenly to the fore in Germany and now has in the newspapers an importance almost as great as in the days of Bismarck's famous and unsuccessful "Kulterkampf" or struggle against the Roman Catholic Church.

One of the first acts of the new Bavarian ministry, coming into power in consequence of victory of the Clerical Centre party in the Bavarian elections, was the issuance of a decree modifying the severity of enforcement of the long-standing imperial legislation against the Jesuit order in Germany and in the resulting controversy it was brought out that an "interpretation" of the imperial law, not at all unfavorable to the Jesuit order, had been issued in Prussia.

As it is the duty of the Emperor and his responsible representative the Imperial Chancellor, who is also prime minister of Prussia, to watch against infractions of Imperial laws, the opposition papers have made much of Chancellor van Bethmann-Hollweg's embarrassing dual role and there is no doubt that the question which arose after the Emperor's departure for Corfu, formed a most important part of the Chancellor's deliberations with His Majesty during his Easter visit in Corfu.

ASTOR MILLIONS IN SIX MONTHS

Vincent Will Have More Control Over Fortune Than Did His Father

New York, May 14.—Vincent Astor will be the first member of the family to have free and unhampered control of the Astor millions. When he becomes of age, in November, he will be allowed to do whatever he pleases with the great fortune left him by his father, Col. John Jacob Astor, who went down in the Titanic.

He will not return to Harvard, but will devote his time to studying the control of the estate of about $100,000,000 that has dropped so suddenly into his hands.

His father, whose will was filed Tuesday, broke all family precedents. He established no family trusteeships. No strings are tied to young Astor's mastery of the millions. He is far more in control than his father was.

By an oversight of Col. Astor in

MUST FIGHT OR QUIT THE ARMY

Berlin Public Much Interested in Case of Dr. Sambeth

REFUSED TO CHALLENGE

For Religious and Social Reasons Kaiser Forces His Discharge—All Germany Is Talking About It—Will Do Monarchy No Good.

Berlin, May 13. Public opinion here is much occupied with the duelling problem, the details of which have just come to light, though they are not of recent date. The little Wurttemberg town of Mergentheim boasts a volunteer ambulance corps, which took it into its head to change its leader, electing a Dr. Sambeth to that position. His predecessor in office, Dr. Schumm, was much annoyed by the loss of the post, and wrote to Dr. Sambeth, asserting that the latter owed his success to an intrigue of "a shameless and dishonorable" character. Before the civil courts Dr. Sambeth was able to prove that his conduct in the affair had been blameless, and his libeler was fined $25.

If the parties to the squabble had been ordinary mortals there the matter would have ended. But they were both members of the Army Medical Reserve and so subject to those military rules of "honor" which even the corrosive irony of Schopenhauer was unable to destroy. Dr. Sambeth was accordingly cited before a "court of honor" to show why he had not challenged Dr. Schumm to a duel which, it appeared in the course of the inquiry the latter was anxious to bring about.

Why He Refused.

The wronged man explained that he had refrained from seeking the reparation of arms out of consideration for the "Divine command, human law, the dictates of reason, and the welfare of his family." These objections, however, had no weight with his judges, who found him "guilty of an offense against the honor of his station, because he had omitted to procure adequate satisfaction, conformable with his position, for the serious insult put upon him in a quarrel with a professional colleague." It was further adjudged that he should be punished by the "humiliation of "simple discharge" from his military rank.

This judgment was submitted for confirmation to the Emperor, whose decision contains the following passage:

"A rejection of duelling in principle on the ground of religious conviction, cannot be made the subject of a judgment of a court of honor, though an army medical officer who, in this respect, opposes the fundamental views of his colleagues, cannot be allowed to remain any longer in his position in the service. In consideration, however, of that fact that, according to the investigations which have taken place, Dr. Sam-

BIG BILL TAFT'S POLITICAL CIRCUS.

DR. NESBITT IS GIVEN BAIL, NO PLEA OR ELECTION WAS MADE

Two Sureties of $7,500 Each Given After Hearing which Lasted Only a Few Minutes

Toronto, May 13.—In anticipation of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, the Police Court has been crowded from its opening. Many interested people in only the one case had sat or stood while a long list of people had been tried for various petty offences and crimes. Two men had just been sent to jail for fifteen days for stealing a box of cigars, and the clock said twenty minutes to twelve when the case of the day was called.

"Are you ready for the Nesbitt case?" said Magistrate Denison, as the men with the weakness for cigars were taken from the courtroom. Immediately everyone sat up and craned his neck.

"We are all ready," said J. Seymour Corley, Crown Prosecutor.

"Bring him in," he said, addressing Inspector Duncan, who made his way through the crowd out of the Courtroom.

Had to Squeeze Through Crowd.

In the meantime another man was called and formally remanded. This formality was just about completed when Dr. Beattie Nesbitt was escorted into the courtroom by Detectives Murray and Wallace, Inspector Duncan leading the way. The party had some trouble squeezing its way through the crowd.

The detectives, arriving at the dock where people brought to court by summons usually stand, paused in doubt. The doubt was settled by Inspector Duncan, who whispered a direction to the policeman. As a result, the former bank president and politician was put in the prisoner's dock, and the door closed behind him. He stood with his arms folded, leaning on the rail, looking straight ahead o him, avoiding the crowd standing around and straining to look at him.

H. H. Dewart, K.C., his counsel, who followed him into the room took up his position immediately behind Mr. Corley's chair.

Magistrate Denison read one of the charges.

Neither Plea Nor Election.

"Since the case has come up so suddenly, your worship," said Mr. Dewart, "I would ask that it should stand a week without election or plea."

"There is another charge in connection with the special return," said the magistrate, reading part of the charge. "You want that to stand also?"

"Yes," said Mr Dewart.

"Then there are two other charges" remarked his worship.

"They are the same as the first, but for two different months," said Mr Dewart.

"You want those to stand also?" said Colonel Denison.

"Yes, your worship."

"Very well, then, he will be remanded for a week on all four charges."

Bail Fixed at $15,000.

"And as to bail?" remarked Mr. Dewart.

"That will depend on Mr. Corley," said the Magistrate.

"I would fix the bail at fifteen thousand dollars," said Mr. Corley.

"Do you mean two sureties of $7,500 each or three of $5,000?" asked the magistrate.

"It may be divided any way they choose," said Mr. Corley.

"I propose Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., and Dr. Walter McKeowan," said Mr Dewart.

"They are both satisfactory," said Mr. Corley.

"Mr. Nesbitt," said Mr. Dewart "is on his way up. He will be here in about five minutes."

"You had better get the bail bonds made out," suggested his worship.

In the meantime Dr. Nesbitt was taken back to Inspector Duncan's office, where he had awaited his appearance in the court.

The greater part of the large audience that had gathered started to make its way out of the court room.

PRESIDENT TAFT EXPLAINS THAT RECIPROCITY IS A DEAD DOG

Dexter, Ohio, May 13. — President Taft in a speech here to-day referred to Canadian reciprocity and admitted "the thing is dead."

"They tell me this is a Roosevelt town," was his opening remark to the crowd that met his train.

"They say you are against me," continued the President, "because I was in favor of reciprocity. Well, I was. I was in favor of reciprocity because I believed it for the good of the farmers and every other class.

"We sell of foodstuffs and agricultural products to Canada four times what they sell to us," declared Mr. Taft. "They cannot raise corn up there, they can only raise the hardest cereals, and it would be greatly to the benefit of the farmers, but the thing is dead. Now, what I want to say to you, you are utterly illogical in opposing me on account of reciprocity, when the fact is that before I entered into reciprocity at all I wrote to Theordore Roosevelt and consulted about it, and told him all the arguments both ways. He commended me most highly for going in every way. Now that he finds that reciprocity is not popular with the into the business, and approved of it farmers he recants and says he has changed his mind about it."

C. V. T. RICHESON TESTED BY A PIN PRICK TRIAL FOR SANITY

Boston, May 13.—Clarence V. T. Richeson, self-confessed murderer of Avis Linnell, condemned to die in the electric chair, the week of May 19 was examined Saturday in the Charles street jail by three alienists who went there at the request of Governor Foss.

The alienists were Dr George T. Tuttle, of the McLean Insane Hospital; Dr. Henry B. Stedman of the Taunton Insane Asylum, and Dr Henry B. Frost, of the Boston State Hospital. The examination was conducted in the Sheriff's parlor, and lasted two hours. No witness was allowed to be present, excepting a jail officer, who watched the prisoner closely. The examination will be continued to-day.

Governor Foss wants the opinion of the alienists as to whether Richeson is sane now and whether he was sane at the time he poisoned the little Hyannis choir singer.

Dr. Briggs, when called in by the Governor, placed Richeson under the pin prick test. With the prisoner undressed and blindfolded, the doctor, using a small gold pin, pricked the man's skin in various parts of his body. In some instances, it is said, Dr. Briggs found him insensible to pain, even when blood was drawn.

THE DOG QUESTION.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—In your paper of yesterday was a piece about Lindsay getting rid of her dogs. In this you said Peterborough should follow the example set by Lindsay, and get rid of a few hundred of the local canines. You are right. You made one mistake, however, in comparing the too numerous dogs of this city with those of Constantinople, Turkey. Do you not know that that dog infested City made a complete clearance of the dogs and deported them all to an island in the Bosphorus?

J. P. Reesor.

Reply—The article referred to was written hurriedly, and the reference ished her dogs and only wish this city would do the same with a majority of the local nuisances.

THAT TITANIC FUND.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—I see that some kind hearted and charitably disposed gentlemen of this city have placed subscription lists in the banks and newspaper offices here for sufferers by the Titanic disaster. Now, Mr. Editor, do you not think this is placing a premium on carelessness or avariciousness on the part of the millionaire steamship owners? The Titanic, there is no doubt, was lost in a large degree through a desire on the part of its owners to make a record. It was not a ship, run or operated as a ship, to Constantinople used simply for purpose of comparison. We are quite aware that Constantinople has ban- The lookout men were not even furnished with binoculars, even when Captain Smith was notified by wireless, by a French ship, that ice bergs were in his line of way. The ship was pushed ahead at full speed, to make that record. Why cannot the Company, whose greed sent so many men and women to death, pay full damages to the widows and orphans of those lost? The majority of the first-class passengers were people who would neither look for nor take assistance. If a fund is gotten up here, I say, give the proceeds to the relatives of the plucky bandsmen. The steamship people can look after the sailors', engineers', stokers', stewards', and other employees' relicts.

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are socalled Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 386 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

WHILE YOU WORK AND WHILE YOU sleep.—Wage earners make money only while they work. My lot buyers make money while they sleep. Those who have bought from me during the past four years have made by increasing value of lots, more than 50 per cent per annum on the amount invested. Come in and let us show you a very easy way to do the same. Gardens: I know one man who planted 1 acre of onions, and sold his crop for $900 cash. Was that not making money while he slept? We can supply a few acres ploughed to men who would wish to do likewise. Also a larger place with good buildings and a large poultry plant. Immediate possession. Decide at once, and call for particulars. T. Hurley, corner Stewart and Hunter streets.

WE CAN GIVE YOU ABSOLUTE PROOF that the lots we offer inside the town limits of Edson at $40 each, on easy terms, are a money-making investment, offered below their real value; Edson is a divisional point on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific with a monthly pay roll of $40,000; Edson is the actual distributing point for the Peace River country, the Brazeau coal fields, and for two hundred miles west on the Canadian Northern. SWORDS OF SPAIN.

The Blades of Toledo and the Way They Were Tempered.

The swords of Spain have always been celebrated. Numerous authorities might be quoted in testimony of their unsurpassed excellence, even as long ago as the time of Cicero, who makes honorable mention of the little Spanish sword.

It is probable that the manufacture of swords continued at Toledo until the epoch of the Gothic kings, and it is certain that it was in full sway in the ninth century. These swords served beyond doubt as a pattern for the weapons used by the Moors of Spain in the middle ages, still to be seen represented in the pictures at the Alhambra.

The making of swords was not formerly confined to one establishment. The espaderos, or sword-makers, worked at their own homes alone or with a certain number of apprentices. Like all craftsmen, they were bound together in guilds.

Many of the kings of Castile accorded to the finest swordmakers of Toledo certain privileges, such as exemption from certain imports and duties appertaining to the sale of swords, the purchase of iron and steel and other primary material.

The steel used by the espaderos of Madrid was obtained in an iron mine situated about three miles from Mandragon, in the Basque provinces.

According to Palomeus, a Toledo swordmaker of the eighteenth century, it is an error to suppose that the Toledans preserved particular secrets for the tempering of their arms. They were compelled to use the water of the Tagus, as well as the fine white sand that the river contains in its bed. This sand served for the operation of what they termed refrescar la calda, or cooling, for when the metal became red and commenced to throw off sparks the espaderos instantly sprinkled it with sand.

The blade having become cherry red, they plunged the point into a wooden reservoir full of the water of the Tagus and, having once cooled it, they straightened it as much as was desirable.

They then subjected such of the blades as had not hitherto been exposed to the fire, and when it began to redden they took it by the tongue with red hot pincers and plunged it into sheep suet until it cooled, an operation that imparted temper to it.

One famous Toledan swordmaker of whom mention is made was Julian, surnamed El Moro, or the Moor, by reason of his coming from Granada, where he worked until toward the end of the fifteenth century for King Boabdil.

Woman's Aim.

A woman carrying ten stones in a bag took up her stand in front of a window.

She threw one stone, she threw two stones, she threw three stones,
And didn't hit the window.
She threw four stones, she threw five stones, she threw six stones,
And the window still was whole.
She threw seven stones, she threw eight stones, she threw nine stones,
And then a man laughed.
She threw the tenth stone at the man,
And broke the window.

She Was a Boy.

Dorothy was the sister and Freddie was the brother, but the order should have been reversed to have satisfied the characters of the two children, for Dorothy was a scream, while Freddie was only a whisper.

"Gracious, Dorothy!" exclaimed a visitor after one of her audacious athletic stunts. "You ought to be a boy!"

"I am a boy," she replied proudly, "a regular tomboy! Mamma says so."

"But Freddie is the boy of the family."

"Well," she sniffed in scorn, "if he is he's only a pussy boy."

Siberia.

Great light has been thrown upon Siberia in recent years. A generation ago the vast region was understood to be practically barren, a sort of adjunct of the north pole, which would never be of any particular use to the human race apart from furnishing furs. To-day it is known that Siberia is rich in everything that goes to make for civilization—healthful air, rich fields, mountains full of the precious metals—in a word, all that is required to make a great state. The future of Siberia is full of richest promise.

Opposition.

The effects of opposition are wonderful. There are men who rise refreshed on hearing of a threat—men to whom a crisis which intimidates and paralyzes the majority—demanding, not the faculties of prudence and thrift, but comprehension, immovableness, the readiness of sacrifice—comes graceful and beloved as a bride.—Emerson.

An Architectural Point.

"Now," said the architect, "we come to the plans for your chicken coop, Mrs. De Noo. I supposed you want the nests arranged in tiers."

"Why, really," said Mrs. De Noo, "I never thought much about that, but I should think for eggs they ought to come in layers, oughtn't they?"

They Rue Their Haste.

Six million pounds have been spent by the Government of New Zealand during the last twenty years in buying back the 1,400,000 acres of land which were formerly sold at from five shillings to two pounds per acre.

A War Game Maybe.

"What is the gentleman talking about?" demanded a languid lady.

"Progressive Peru."

"And how do you play it?"

FISHERMAN IS A BARON

NOVA SCOTIAN HAS FASCINATING FAMILY HISTORY.

The Baron of Pubnico Is the Lineal Descendant of a Noble Family In Acadia, Which Resisted the Order of Expulsion—He Is Humble But Proud, and Blood Has Been Kept Unsullied.

Simply a fisherman: a toiler of the sea; a mender of nets, and yet "A High and Mighty Lord"; head of a once puissant House. He is Hilaire D'Entremont, Baron of Pubnico. In the days when early Canadian history was in the making the title which he bears was one to be conjured with, for were not the holders, owners of all the vast acres of what is now Western Nova Scotia? Times have changed since the La Tours and the D'Entremonts held sway in Acadia, and of the greatness that once was theirs but little remains. All that is left is the title: a title which is still recognized and entitles the holder to all the dignities and rights of nobility. The present baron is a humble fisherman, and the history of this kindly old gentleman and his family is deeply interesting.

It was in the year 1653 that unto Charles de St. Etienne Seigneur de la Tour was granted the Patent of Nobility which made him master of that vast tract of country that stretches from Annapolis on the east to Pubnico on the West. The precious document which conferred on his forebear that title which commanded so much obeisance and respect, is retained by the present baron and reads as follows:

The Patent.

"Was present and appeared personally the High and Mighty Lord Charles de St. Etienne, Seigneur de La Tour, Knight of the Orders of the King, and his Lieutenant-General in all the extent, towns and coasts of Acadia, Country of New France, and proprietor of the places called Pipigimiche, following and confirming to the concession which he has had at this date, January 15, 1636, received it and voluntarily recognizes and acknowledges to have these presents resigned, conferred perpetually under the title of barronage and noble fief, having high, middle and low justice holden directly from the said place in the said Acadia as a dominant fief granted to the nobleman Philippe Meuse, Ecuyer, Sieur D'Entremont, and Lady Madeleine Helis, his wife, and nobleman Pierre Ferrant and Lady Mathuerine Sicard, his wife being present and accepting for their heirs from us according to the power given by His Majesty (the King) shown in the Letters Patent dated February 20, 1650, in consideration of the particular merit of the said Lords D'Entremont and Ferrant and to their said wives in equal participation the extent called Pobomcoup (Pubnico) to be enjoyed by them and their successors, and having cause and full proprietorship, rights of justice and seigneury forever under the title of barronage and noble fief, on conditions of rendering a homage by the presentation of beaver skin and two bouquets at the anniversary of St. Jean de Baptiste, each year, according to the code of Paris. The said Lords D'Entremont and Ferrant, their heirs and successors shall have perpetual right of the chase and fishes in the waters and woods of the said lands on condition of rendering said homage to said Lord de La Tour and his successors for the land and barronage of Pubnico.

Given and passed at Fort Port Royal (Acadia), the 17th July, 1653, in the presence of the witnesses hereafter signing:

(Signed) Charles De St. Etienne.
Emmanuel La Borgne de St. Mais.
Philippe Meuse D'Entremont.
Pierre Ferrant.
Madeleine Helis.
Mathuerine Sicard.
La Vierdure."

Shortly after the army that had been sent to America by Cromwell captured Acadia from the French, the two great families of La Tour and D'Entremont were joined by marriage. Two daughters of the High and Mighty Lord La Tour became the wives of Philippe Meuse D'Entremont. Soon the Nova Scotia La Tours had all died, and thus it fell that the title to the baronage vested in the D'Entremonts, in which family it has remained to this day.

Blood Still Pure.

More than two centuries have passed, but the lineage of the Barons of Pubnico has continued unsullied. No foreign blood has been mixed with theirs, it is still as pure as when the inhabitants of Pubnico first paid homage to their new lord. Directly, from son to father, Hilaire D'Entremont traces his descent from Philippe Meuse, the D'Entremont of the grant; his family is not collateral; it is the some line that flourished in the days before the Lilies of France gave way to the Roses of England, in the vast Dominions over seas. His family were makers of history, hewers of destiny, and the present baron is rightfully proud of the "glory that once was ours."

All readers of history will remember that when Acadia was ceded to the English, there was a stipulation in the treaty which exempted the French in Acadia from taking the oath of allegiance, or bearing arms against the French in that portion of Canada which still remained to France. In all the new world there was no land like this. The forests were virgin, and game abounded through miles of wonderful timber limits upon which no white man had placed a foot. Streams teemed with fish; brooklets watered the pastures; and on all sides lay productive farms. But the French had been there long years before the English, they had tilled the soil for years; and of the richest of this rich land they were

Game Out of Season.

A gentleman from North Monaghan called at The Times office this morning and informed us that parties, presumably from this city, are in the habit of shooting rabbits and other animals in close season. The attention of the local game warden is called to this matter.

A Startling Lecture.

Mr. J. M. Barrie has given us a whimsical description of Professor Campbell Fraser, the famous author and dramatist having been at one time one of the professor's pupils. "I see him rising in a daze from his chair," says Mr. Barrie, "and putting his hands through his hair. 'Do I exist,' he said thoughtfully, 'strictly so called?' The students looked a little startled. This was a matter that had not previously disturbed them. Still, if the professor was in doubt there must be something in it. He began to argue it out, and an uncomfortable silence held the room in awe. If he did not exist the chances were that they did not exist either. It was thus a personal question. It was no wonder that the students who do not go to the bottom during their first month of metaphysics begin to give themselves airs, strictly so called. In the privacy of their room at the top of the house they pinch themselves to see if they are still there."—Pearson's Weekly.

Wonders of a Book.

There is perhaps no greater wonder than a book. By the help of little figures upon spine or paper men have been able to transmit their thoughts through thousands of years. The names and shapes of things, the deeds and sorrows that have occurred as far back as Adam, have been made known to us. Even those invisible and abstract thoughts which have no shape or substance, but which inspired the writer and have since inspired others, are all put down in the little letters and made eternal. The songs of David, the speculations of Plato, the visions of Homer, have by these means been handed down faithfully for many centuries and distributed among mankind. If there were no books our knowledge would almost be confined to the limit of sight and hearing. All that we could not see or hear would be to us like the inhabitants of the planet Saturn—a mere matter of idle conjecture.—Barry Cornwall.

Mother at Prayer.

Once, says a writer, I suddenly opened the door of my mother's room and saw her on her knees beside her chair and heard her speak my name in prayer. I quickly and quietly withdrew with a feeling of awe and reverence in my heart. Soon I went away from home to school, then to college, then into life's sterner duties. But I never forgot that one glimpse of my mother at prayer nor the one word—my own name—which I heard her utter. Well did I know that what I had seen that day was but a glimpse of what was going on every day in that sacred closet of prayer, and the consciousness strengthened me a thousand times in duty, in danger and in struggle. When death came at last and sealed those lips the sorest sense of loss I felt was the knowledge that no more would my mother be praying for me.

Court Fools.

Court jesters were either misshapen, half imbecile midgets, whose senseless remarks were welcomed with laughter; quick witted, half mad fellows or poor, merry poets who devoted themselves to the task for the income which it brought.

It was their business in medieval times to entertain kings and nobles with amusing sallies.

English jesters made use of calfskin coats, which buttoned down the back and protected them from the anger of those who were provoked at their satirical thrusts.

A fool's cap was adorned with three asses' ears and a cock's comb and worn on a shorn head. He had a wide collar, carried a scepter, and his costume and cap were decorated with bells.

Animals That Smoke.

The writer was extracting solace after the petty worries of the day from his well seasoned brier when it was suddenly revealed to him what sort of creature he really was in an extract he happened across from a work on "The Common Use of Tobacco:" "There are but three kinds of animals which generally use tobacco—the rock goat of Africa, whose stench is so insufferable that no other animal can approach it; the tobacco worm, whose intolerable visage gives to every beholder an involuntary shudder," and the third animal—which is bel—London Chronicle.

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot.

Less business insurance and depreciation per year	7,000.00
Or approximately 20 per cent on entire issued capital.	$20,000.00

WAR ENTERS NEW PHASE.

The present occupation of Rhodes by the Italian forces is an event of great importance. The war has entered a new phase. The task of subduing Tripoli has proved slower than expected. The Turks will not hear of surrender, and Italy is spending $20 for every dollar spent by the other side. The agreement, which it is now certain was made with Count von Aehrenthal, before the death of that Austrian foreign minister, shuts Italy out of Albania. Otherwise she would unquestionably land troops on the Adriatic coast confident of the co-operation of the warlike skipetars. Only the Aegean is left. But it will not do to hunt up rotten gunboats at Smyrna and other ports as a pretext for shelling places where, as at Beirut, the sufferers are likely to be chiefly foreigners.

The islands remain. A base has been established at Stamphalia, which is in the lower centre of the Aegean. It has a bold coast, allowing big ships to anchor close in. Another base can be established at Lemnos or Imeros, commanding the Straits, and, since Rhodes has fallen so easily, other famous islands, like Khios and Mitylene, will be seized, and Italy will soon be mistress of the Aegean.

Then, as the Giornale D'Italia says, Italy will say to Turkey, "Give up Tripoli, and you can have the islands back." If the Turks still refuse, Italy will no doubt try to land an overwhelming force on the Gallipoli Peninsula, and attack the Dardanelles forts on the land side. This would be the match to set the Balkans aflame. Constantinople would be menaced from two sides. Would Turkish military prowess be equal to the occasion? It is not likely to be put to the test. The powers must intervene.

MR. BRYCE AND RECIPROCITY.

To show how the press of Boston regards the part that Hon. Mr. Bryce took in the Canadian-U. S. Reciprocity arrangement, the Herald has the following:

Premier Asquith had an easy task in the House of Commons yesterday. The latest attack on Mr. Bryce had no other new ground than the assumption that he had been cognizant of the confidential correspondence between President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt on Canadian reciprocity. The idea is so absurd that one can only wonder at the degree of party rancor it reveals.

The case against Mr. Bryce is this: Representatives of the Canadian government came to Washington on a reasonable mission, to wit, to negotiate an arrangement with the United States for the freer exchange of commodities. Mr. Bryce, as the British ambassador, aided and abetted this treasonable design.

The Canadian representatives did not regard reciprocity as a step to annexation; neither did Mr. Bryce; neither did the British cabinet, which, after all, represents the British nation. On the contrary, the opinion was that reciprocity would be beneficial to both nations, promoting trade and stimulating friendly sentiment. Again, Mr. Bryce's part in the matter was simply to receive the Canadian ministers as British citizens having serious business with the Washington administration, and to do what he could to smooth their path. They were not there to negotiate a formal treaty that would have been Mr. Bryce's business. The object was to make a mutual agreement to promote certain legislation. What, then, could Mr. Bryce have done? What would loyal Canadians have thought if he had interfered?

These attacks only strengthen the ambassador. Opponents of the same type as those who now assail him have called his advocacy of the arbitration treaty hypocrisy and "dithyrambic drivel." Mr. Bryce may not remain at Washington indefinitely. He may at any time claim the retirement he has earned. But anyone who thinks he will be retired on account of his part in the reciprocity negotiations misunderstands the situation strangely.

SOUTHERN STATES APPROVE Y.M.C.A.

It is gratifying to note that not only Canada, but even those parts of the United States as for instance New Orleans, with its Mardi Gras Carnival, its scantily clad damsels doing the high kick act, thoroughly endorse the Y.M.C.A., its methods and its objects. A New Orleans paper, has the following anent this most commendable institution:

"The campaign of the officers of the Young Men's Christian Association for a fund sufficient to make certain necessary improvements and enlargements in its building deserves a prompt response from the public. We hope the campaign may be both brief and entirely successful, for New Orleans possesses no institution more deserving.

"Under the leadership of Chairman Brandao the subscription committee is now conducting a systematic canvass of merchants, bankers, professional men and citizens generally. A considerable proportion of the desired sum, which is not large, has already been generously contributed, and if those who have not yet been visited give as liberally as those who have been already seen and some other citizens will send their checks without waiting to be called on, the amount needed will soon be in hand.

"The Christian Association here has seldom made a public appeal for funds. For that reason and the fact of the service it has rendered the community, it surely ought not to ask in vain.

"The building in its present shape does not meet all the needs of the association. It is planned to make it more comfortable and attractive and to increase its capacity as a revenue producer. For a comparatively modest sum these improvements can be made.

"The association is not operated for profit; but if its income is increased it will be in a position to extend its field of usefulness. That is a most desirable consummation.

"The association has had a long and honorable existence here and the work it has performed in the interest of the youth and manhood of the city is scarcely to be measured in dollars and cents. Every citizen who contributes to this fund may feel that he has a share in its beneficent work in the future."

Editorial Notes

Sir Cosmo Gordon's conduct at the time of the Titanic disaster would go to show that he is hardly entitled to be regarded as a knight "without fear and without reproach."

The king of Italy has made Andrew Carnegie a count because Uncle Andrew has endowed an Italian hero fund. But he will probably prefer to be known as the Laird of Skibo.

Tom Mann, the British exponent and promoter of syndicalism, gets six months' imprisonment for urging British soldiers not to obey their officers when their officers order them to shoot. That is incitement to mutiny.

U. S. Secretary of State Knox has administered to Theodore Roosevelt perhaps the severest blow that he has received since the campaign opened. Mr. Knox declares publicly that the colonel is "not fit to be president." Probably Roose-felt that hit. The Secretary was a member of Teddy's cabinet. It is such Knox that hurt.

When one thinks of the proposed extension of our local street railway lines to Lakefield, Burleigh and other points, it is interesting to note that Hamilton's street railways have made an increase of 26 per cent. in earnings in the first quarter of the present year but have not yet made any of the extensions promised.

Your professed anti-militarist is often a psychological puzzle. He rails at the profession of arms and against the expenditure of public money on soldiering, and yet, when cornered, admits that it would never do to abolish the militia. If he be an English-speaking anti-militarist he rails at Britain for maintaining a big navy, but, when pressed, admits that it would be suicidal for her not to do that very thing.

Liquid Cough Mixtures Can't Cure Bronchitis

But the healing Fumes of Catarrhozone, Which are Breathed to the Furthest Recesses of the Bronchial Tubes, Bring Quick Relief and Sure Cure.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing medicine which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and lungs, attacks the trouble at the source, disperses the germs of disease, and cures the ailment thoroughly. And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure, medicinal essences, whereas with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

"I have been a chronic sufferer from Catarrh in the nose and throat for over eight years. I think I have spent four hundred dollars trying to get relief. I have spent but six dollars on Catarrhozone, and have been completely cured, and, in fact, have been well for some time. Catarrhozone is the only medicine I have been able to find that would not only give temporary relief, but will always cure permanently.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed), WILLIAM RAGAN,
Brockville, Ont.

For absolute, permanent cure use Catarrhozone. Two months' outfit costs $1.00; smaller size, 50c., at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

ASTOR MILLIONS IN SIX MONTHS

making his will it will be necessary, lawyers say, for a guardian to be appointed for Vincent. He is still a minor. Legally he cannot dispose of any of the property now. He cannot sell it, lease it or even collect its rentals.

Yet the will gave him immediate control of the property his father owned outright. No provision is made for the executors to administer it, and the trustees of the Astor estate, who will continue to serve under the will of William Astor till Vincent's majority, have no control over it.

Application for Guardian.

Col. Astor's will will be probated May 17, and the application for a guardian for Vincent Astor, to serve for the remaining few months of his minority, is likely to be made at the same time.

More curious facts are coming out in connection with the will.

Attorneys agree that if Vincent Astor dies before next November without leaving a will the estate will go to his mother, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, his sister Muriel and the expected child of Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, the second wife. The second Mrs. Astor would not profit at all by such a contingency.

As to whether he could make a will affecting real estate while a minor lawyers disagree.

Legal men were also much interested in figuring the status-at-law of the unborn heir for whom Col. Astor provided a trust fund of $3,000,000.

Law books are full of cases relating to posthumous heirs, but the consensus of opinion is that by providing specifically in his will for this child Col. Astor made an instrument that is practically unassailable in this respect.

No feature of the will has caused more comment than the provision which requires the 20-year-old widow, Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, to remain unmarried the rest of her life or forfeit the Astor town house and her income from a trust fund of $5,000,000.

beth gave no well founded cause for the insults offered to him. I will, as a matter of grace, allow that he at once apply for his discharge.

Forced to Leave the Service.

In other words, the doctor must leave the service if without the stigma which "simple discharge" would have stamped upon him. Both the Catholic and the Radical press treat this case as yet one more convincing demonstration of the total absurdity of duelling. Dr. Schumm, they say, utters a gross and baseless libel and refuses either to withdraw it or to apologize; but his honor is affected thereby, and he remains an officer of the medical service. On the other hand, Dr. Sambeth, because, in obedience to the laws of God and of his country, he refuses to seek his affronter's blood, is driven from the service.

Duelling is one of those survivals which in Germany would perish at once with the arrival of a democratic regime. It is an affectation of a military caste, and of those who ape its manners and customs. One of the standing difficulties of the war minister in the Reichstag is to explain why duelling is enforced by its highest organs for the execution of that same law which it forbids. In the present chambers there would be an over-whelming majority in favor of the effective prohibition of this relic of the primitive device of trial by ordeal.

Somewhat analogous to the case of Dr. Sambeth is that of Prof. Czerny, a great authority on cancer and one of the most eminent doctors in Germany, who was lately compelled to retire from the Army Medical Reserve because he had given expression to pronounced Radical views in connection with the recent general election.

ANOTHER SPLENDID CURE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

R. Moulaison, Whom Two Doctors Treated, Finds Relief and Permanent Cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Surette Island, Yarmouth Co., N. S., May 13.—(Special)—Mr. Renie Moulaison, a well known resident here, is telling his neighbors of his cure from a severe attack of Kidney Disease which kept him in a state of pain and suspense for two months, and defied the efforts of two doctors who were treating him.

"My trouble started with a cold," Mr. Moulaison says. "My muscles would cramp and I had backache and dizzy spells. My head aches, and I had a tired, nervous feeling while specks of light flashed in front of my eyes.

"I suffered in this way for over two months and was treated by two doctors, but they didn't seem to be able to do much for me. Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills, and they helped me almost at once. Six boxes cured me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure the Kidneys. Cured Kidneys strain all the impurities out of the blood. That makes pure blood and good health.

HANGED THE ASSASSIN

Columbus, Miss., May 13.—The grim mandate of Judge Lynch was executed on George Edd, the 21-year-old negro, who Saturday night, near the store of Thomas Dee, a prominent merchant and farmer, shot and wounded Mrs. Dee and her son, Thomas Dee, Jr., The assailant fired from ambush and at close range, and it is remarkable that neither of his victims was killed. As it was, both were painfully wounded, and the women will probably be blinded for life in one eye, while her son's body was struck by a number of shot, causing painful wounds.

Bloodhounds were quickly secured and put on the negro's trail, which led to the home of the negro where shells marked similarly to the ones that had contained the charges that had wounded the Dees were found in quantity.

The negro, it is said, confessed to the shooting, saying that he was angry at being denied further supplies at the Dee store.

While being taken to the jail at Macon the negro was spirited away from the deputies, and hanged to a tree, where the body was found the following morning. Two other negroes implicated by the negro were turned loose after being interrogated by the vigilantes.

DEMANDS $20,000.

Charles A. Ross, Restaurant Manager, Sues Charles Wood.

Boston, May 12.—Charles Wood of Columbus avenue, Somerville, member of the Boston firm of Wood Bros., locksmiths, has been sued for $20,000, by Charles A. Ross of 43 Franklin St., Somerville, who charges alienation of his wife's affections. Ross is manager of a restaurant at 122 Canal street, Boston.

Servants in the employ of the Ross family will be called to testify. Ross charges that while he was out nights working Wood was a frequent visitor at his house, and was known to the servants as a brother of Mrs. Ross. Ross says he returned home early one night and found his wife with a man in the dining room, that the door was locked against him, and that from a window he saw Wood leaving.

imony over two or three times, and from the reading of the testimony I am satisfied that there has been no proof—no case made out against the defendant, M. J. Long, by the State. M. J. Long was referred to only once during the trial of the case, and, I believe, that was by the witness Hemmarten, who stated that he had seen Long twice during his term of imprisonment; once on the day that he was incarcerated, and another time on the day that he was discharged. With that exception there is no mention made of M. J. Long, and nothing to show that he was in any way connected with the liberties charged to have been given to the prisoners.

"In the case of Richard Meredith, I find that the State has made out a case against him on counts one, three and four. On count number two, in which he is charged with granting liberty to Sullivan, the testimony, which is that of Sullivan alone, shows that Sullivan lived with his wife and three children in a neighborhood that was occupied exclusively by negroes.

HEALTH AND AND BEAUTY ADVICE

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Mayme: To keep your complexion smooth, fresh looking and free from chaps in all kinds of weather, you will find nothing better than a splendid greaseless cream made as follows: Stir 2 teaspoonfuls glycerin and one ounce almozoin in ½ pint cold water. This fine cream jelly will make your skin soft and smooth and is very cleansing and healing. It will not grow hair and gives excellent results in removing blackheads and reducing enlarged pores. This cream affords the very best protection to the complexion at all seasons of the year.

N. C.: Do not have any fear about taking parnotis to reduce your weight. If you will dissolve 4 ounces of parnotis in 1½ pints hot water, and take a tablespoonful before meals you will lose your excess fat quickly without any injury to your health. This remedy is absolutely harmless, very effective and does not cause a flabby, wrinkled skin. You need not diet or exercise violently to get proper results from this simple remedy.

Clara T.: Yes, a genuine hair-grower has been found at last. Keep the scalp clean by frequently shampooing with canthrox and rub into the scalp twice a week a tonic made by dissolving an ounce of quinzoin in ½ pint alcohol then adding ½ pint cold water. This excellent remedy refreshes the scalp and makes the hair bright and glossy. It stimulates the hair-roots and keeps the hair in a healthy, growing condition. For dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, you will find this remedy unequalled.

May: Pulling the hairs out by the roots is both painful and dangerous. Try this simple method and you will be delighted with the result: Make a paste with a little powdered delatone and water, spread thickly on hairy surface and after two or three minutes remove and wash the skin.

Mrs. H. T.: If you want a first-class tonic for family use to purify the blood and remove the accumulated poisons of winter from the system you can get nothing better than an old-fashioned tonic made by dissolving ½ cupful sugar and 1 ounce kardene in ½ pint alcohol, then adding hot water to make a quart. A tablespoonful taken before meals will make one's blood pure, restore lost appetite and energy and overcome all sallow, pimply conditions of the complexion. This is the greatest health-tonic I have ever used and I can't recommend it too highly.

M. C. J.: Those light, faded patches in your hair are the result of shampooing with soap. The free alkali in soap and many shampoo preparations causes the hair to fade, split, become dull, brittle and fall out. To get away from all these troubles shampoo with a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water. After rinsing, your hair will dry quickly and evenly, and be so lustrous and fluffy that you will find it will do up nicely and appear quite beautiful and abundant. This shampoo is the best scalp-cleaner of which I know and you will no longer be bothered with dandruff and itching scalp. Practically all first-class hair-dressers use this wonderful shampoo.

Nathalie: I would not encourage you to use face powder as it rubs off too easily and shows too readily. To make an excellent beautifier and whitener dissolve 4 ounces spurmax in ½ pint witch hazel (or hot water) then add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. The use of this lotion will take away that coarse, sallow oily look to your skin and make it soft, pink and beautiful. This splendid lotion is used by many society women who prize their good looks as powder will ruin any complexion in time. It is very fine for cold sores, freckles and to prevent chapping.

Ellen O.: The "dope" you are using will never make your red, smarting eyes strong and clear. If you will get an ounce of crystos, dissolve it in a pint of water and put a few drops in each eye daily, you will soon have clear, sparkling, strong eyes. This tonic is very soothing and strengthening to weak, tired eyes, and greatly aids those who wear glasses. It is unsurpassed for treating granulated lids and as a dependable, strengthening tonic for weak eyes.

CLEMENCY ASKED FOR

Black Uxoricide May Sidetrack the Gallows by Pardon From the Governor.

Jackson, M[illegible] Governor Brewer will take action this week on a petition asking for the commutation of the death sentence of Lorenzo Fairley, a negro who killed his wife in the town of W[illegible] about one year ago, and whose sentence was recently affirmed by the Supreme Court and date of execution fixed for May 17.

The petition asserts that Fairley did not have a single witness to testify in his be[illegible] penniless, could not look up witnesses, that he was unable to employ counsel, and the court appointed two young and inexperienced lawyers who conducted a rather formal defense, while on the other hand relatives of the dead woman employed a skilled criminal lawyer to assist with the prosecution.

Fairley's defense is that he killed his wife [illegible] he was shooting at a negro named Ed Smith when the woman came within range of fire. Smith had brought about a separation between F[illegible] his wife.

The Governor has received a petition from Madison county protesting against the effort to secure a pardon for J. H. Burrage, recently sentenced to serve a life term for the murder of Vincent Douglas. The petitioners declare that the killing was from ambush, cold-blooded and premeditated and that in getting a life sentence Burrage did not receive all that he really deserved. They furthermore declare that it would be an abortion of justice to extend clemency in such a case.

A petition has been presented to the Governor in behalf of Eddie Kelly, sent up from Hinds county, Second District, about one year ago to serve a three-year term for burglary. Petitioners say Kelly has been sufficiently punished.

THAT CONCEALED SAW

How Extensive Jail Deliveries Were Traced to a Steel Hack-Saw in Jail.

Amite City, May 13—The mystery of the succession of successful jail deliveries at this place has been solved by the discovery of a steel hacksaw with seven blades secreted beneath the cell occupied by Lucius Quinn in the county jail.

But for the discovery it is very likely that Quinn's name would shortly have been added to the list of successful jail-breakers that have made their get-away from the Amite jail, from which five prisoners, led by Newton McCulvin, made a successful dash for liberty last Saturday night.

Quinn is under conviction for retailing liquor, and is awaiting the result of his appeal. The information looking to the locating of the tools was furnished in a note to Deputy Sheriff W. E. Delhonde from Henry Williams, who was convicted last week of robbing a hardware store at Ponchatoula. Quinn, it was found, had used the saw to the extent of cutting one of the bars of his cell, and would probably have completed the job and escaped had the saw not been found at the time it was.

It is believed that the saw was purchased and shipped into the jail by a negro trusty named Lord, who several days ago slipped off to New Orleans on the evening train and returned on the "Merry Widow." Sheriff Saal does not believe that theory, however. He says he investigated Lord's trip to New Orleans, and knows that he returned with a jug of whiskey. Another theory is that it was passed through the bars by some confederate or visitor.

It has developed that there was a plot between Claude Holmes, who escaped with Newton McCulvin, and Lucius Quinn, but that when the other jailbirds flew the coop they became frightened and left Quinn, throwing the tool back in the [illegible] [illegible] denies all knowledge of the saw.

True to his promise, Nute Magee, one of the five jailbirds who sawed out, returned Sunday night and reported to Deputy Sheriff Hendry for duty in the chain gang.

Nothing of the whereabouts of the other four prisoners who made their escape Saturday morning has been heard.

BIG FIRE IN SELKIRK

One of the Most Important Buildings in That Western City Destroyed by Flames.

Selkirk, Man., May 13.—Fire tonight completely destroyed a building owned by the Selkirk Land and Investment company, and tenanted by A. B. Hill, tinsmith, and Martin's Tailor shop.

The building was an old, but substantially built frame structure and burned fiercely for considerably more than two hours in spite of the valiant efforts of the volunteer fire brigade which turned out promptly when the alarm was turned in.

Particulars as to the value of the building and to the amount of insurance on it were not available this evening, but it is understood that the loss is fully covered, as is also that of the tinsmith, amounting to about $1,800, and of the tailor, about $1,000.

Earlier in the evening prompt response to the alarm prevented the total destruction of C. W. McCormick's fine gasoline cruiser, the "Queen Mary." The fire was out before it got a good hold of the vessel. Damage amounted to about $25.00.

FORMER CANADIAN WEDS

Now Travelling for a Big Chicago Firm, Weds a Texas Lady at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., May 13.—Years of separation of the lovers whom he had thrown together accidentally in childhood did not deter Dan Cupid from executing his plans for the union of Miss Louise Edna Grempozynski, a charming young lady, of Houston, Texas, and Albert Victor Downs a former Canadian, now of Chicago, out of which place he travels as the representative of the hardware house of L. W. Watson.

The ceremony was performed by Judge Thomas F. Maher, of the Second City Court, on Wednesday evening, in the presence of D. E. Wilhoyte, a friend of the groom; Clerk John Schroder and James A. Rouver, of the eighth precinct station.

Mr. Downs reached the city a few days ago on a regular business visit, and was joined by Miss Grempozynski on Wednesday, when hurried arrangements were made for the wedding, and the trip across the river was made. Mr and Mrs Downs will leave the city in a few days, returning to Chicago, where they will take up their residence.

MERCHANT KILLED BY NEGRO WIFE BEATER

Shreveport, La., May 13.—Considerable feeling has been caused by the tragedy of which Ike Silverstein a merchant and fisherman, Tuesday night was the victim, when the old man fell, his abdomen pierced by a bullet from his own pistol, fired by Tommy Fields, or Whitelaw a brutal negro. Fields had been beating his wife, and Silverstein was going up the steps to interfere in her behalf when the negro fired. Two bullets lodged in the old man's body, causing almost instant death.

Detectives and police later hauled Fields from beneath the house.

Silverstein, about sixty years old, resided there many years. Before becoming a fisherman and small merchant he was in the tiemaking business.

TO PROTECT THE "ALLEGED INSANE"

New York, May 13.—The newest organization to apply for incorporation under the New York State laws is the "American Society for the Protection of the Alleged Insane," which aims to save folks from being held for insanity.

The incorporators state that "many cases where sane persons were pronounced insane, committed to institutions and ultimately discharged after legal fights, prompted clergymen, lawyers and physicians to organize this society for the purpose of preventing such miscarriages of justice."

FOUNDER LEAVES AFTER LOCAL STRIKE IS ON

As foretold in The Times yesterday the moulders of several of the leading foundries have gone out on strike. Among the factories affected are the Peter Hamilton Co., Ltd., the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., Adam Hall, Ltd., and the G. Walter Greene Co., Ltd. The Times called up the G. Walter Greene foundry, and as it had previously been noted in this issue, that Mr. Green was to leave this morning for the far west, asked that gentleman what effect the strike would have on their plant. Mr. Green, without hesitation, replied: "Yes, I am going west to-morrow (to-day). The tie up will not affect the machine or pump departments of our foundry. We have goods enough on hand to last for months yet to come. Of course, in the country supply branches it will make a little difference."

JEWELS VANISHED IN THE WASHROOM

Toronto, May 12. Mrs. A. C. Galt, of Winnipeg, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Boswell, at 194 Bloor west, had the misfortune yesterday to lose three valuable rings while travelling from Toronto to Welland on the 1.15 C.P.R. train. She took off the rings to wash her hands in the washroom of the chair car and forgot to put them on again. Immediately after alighting at Welland she missed the rings, and although the railway company at once endeavored to secure them for her, the porter stated that they had disappeared. No trace of them has since been discovered. One of the rings was a five-stone diamond, another a sapphire with six small diamonds, and the third an antique square set amethyst surrounded with small pearls.

DICKENS AS AN ACTOR.

When Boz Became a Writer the Stage Lost a Star.

No one ever paid a much higher tribute to Dickens than did Kate Field. She had the soul of a poet, a discriminating taste in art and literature and wide knowledge of the world. In mentality she was fully as strong as either of her brilliant brothers, David Dudley, Stephen J. or Cyrus W., and she certainly was as good if not a better judge of character.

She once wrote an appreciation of Dickens in which she declared the world lost its greatest actor when Boz became a writer. She gave a description of one of the Dickens readings in New York that was masterly in its vividness of detail. Such versatility as she credited Dickens with displaying as he assumed the character of first one and then another of his creations, the pathos, the humor, the tragedy he put into a tone; the marvelous way in which he stirred the emotions of old and young in his audience, would appear to be a bit extravagant were it not that now and then some old man, looked upon as stern and unemotional, tells with faltering voice how he stood in line all one night to buy a ticket to one of Boz's readings and then goes on to talk just about as Miss Field wrote, only before he gets far along in his story the tears are running down his wrinkled cheeks—his old heartstrings still atune to the magic of the master as he saw him.—New York Press.

An Old Time Feminine Fad.

A century or more ago women in England were as keen for fads as they are today. In the journal of the Hon. Mrs. Charles Calvert, edited by Mrs. Warrenne Blake, we find recorded on May 4, 1808: "I begin a new science today—shoemaking. It is all the fashion. I had a master with me for two hours, and I think I shall be able to make very nice shoes. It amuses and occupies me, which at present is very useful to me." Mrs. Calvert appears to have proved a very apt pupil, for the very next day appears the triumphant entry, "I have just finished a shoe by myself!"—London Spectator.

Old Furniture.

The ordinary furniture polish, very useful when the furniture is comparatively new or well preserved, will not always fill the bill. When furniture is old and badly scratched any desired shade of wood stain mixed with equal proportions of spirits of turpentine will bring back the original shade and newness. Be careful to apply the mixture very evenly, using preferably a flat bristle brush of rather small dimension.—National Magazine.

Had His Doubts.

"Is it really a pleasure for you to have me call?" inquired the young man.

"Why, yes," answered the girl in some confusion. "Why do you ask such a question?"

"Oh, nothing. Only you seem to take your pleasure sadly."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

TROUBLE IN SIGHT.

Steam Trawlers Cause Commotion In Fisheries.

A condition is rapidly developing in connection with the Atlantic fisheries fraught with possibilities of serious international complications. In the last few years steam vessels using the Otter or beam trawl have been invading the waters used by the fishermen of Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and the New England States. At first these craft caught few fish in Western waters, and were regarded with amused tolerance, it being the opinion of our fishermen that the methods of fishing used so extensively in the North Sea were not adapted to the conditions of the banks of the Western Atlantic. But the beam trawlers have come over in increasing numbers, and have already proved their ability to adapt themselves to conditions over here and make large catches. Now it is contended that their operations are ruining the fishing grounds, and a vigorous agitation has been started in the fishing ports of Nova Scotia, New England and Newfoundland with a view to inducing the Governments interested to take action looking to the consummation of an international agreement prohibiting the employment of this type of fishing craft on the banks of the Western Atlantic. The Canadian Government has already prohibited the use of the Otter trawl in our territorial waters, and the Nova Scotia fishermen are now asking that a regulation be adopted preventing the Otter trawlers purchasing coal or supplies in Canadian ports. That would be a rather large order for the Government to undertake; some of the beam trawlers hail from England and others from France, and it would be a serious matter, indeed, to deny the vessels of the Mother Country and France the ordinary privilege of buying coal and supplies. And in any case such a drastic measure would not achieve its purpose so far as the French trawlers are concerned, for they can use St. Pierre and Miquelon as a base of operations without any serious inconvenience.

In Gloucester, it is said owners of fishing vessels have pledged themselves to raise $100,000 to fight the invasion of beam trawlers, and in Lunenburg and other Canadian fishing ports feeling runs high and resolutions have been adopted at large public meetings, promising the Minister of Marine all sorts of trouble if he does not succeed in getting the other nations to agree to prohibit beam trawling.

And whether our fishermen following the old methods of fishing are right or not in their fear that the beam trawler will deplete our fisheries, they have good reason to fear the results of the extensive employment of the new methods. The beam trawlers are labor saving machines.

Their competition will drive the fishing schooner out of business. The building of wooden fishing vessels will cease, and ruin will fall upon a number of prosperous towns, dependent upon the vessel building industry. The business of handling fish will be centralized in a few ports, and the existence of hundreds of hamlets along the coast, now people by independent and prosperous fishermen and their families, will be menaced. A certain proportion of fishermen will find employment on the beam trawlers, but they will be mere wage earners—without as now a half interest in the adventure. A few big companies may make fortunes, but the fishing industry will support only a small proportion of the people who now derive a good livelihood from it. And with the passing of the fishing schooner will disappear the finest class of sailormen in the world, a hardy, vigorous race, self-reliant, inured to danger—a class from which an empire in its time of trouble might be glad to draw men to man its fighting ships. —Colin McKay in Montreal Standard.

Mail Can't Wait.

His Majesty's mail has quite astonishing privileges. Its drivers have power to requisition aid of any kind to avoid delay in deliveries, and City Solicitor Johnston of Toronto tells an interesting experience to show how this is sometimes done.

As a member of a hunting party he was being driven one day over one of the indescribably bad roads of Northern Ontario. The driver had the mail on board; he was taking it to a place called South River. Mr. Johnston is a big man, and as a heavy passenger he may have been the cause of the trouble which occurred. Anyway, one of the horses gave out, and it looked to the Toronto hunters as if they were going to be stranded for days in the wilds.

The mail driver didn't take that view at all. Happening to be near the home of a settler, he simply went to that worthy's stable, picked the best horse he found there, led it out, and put in its place the worn-out animal. The settler came out on the jump. "Here," he shouted, "what in blazes are you doing? Put that horse of mine back quick or there'll be trouble."

"No," said the driver coolly, "I won't put it back and there won't be any trouble. I've got to get the mail to South River to-night. I need your horse to make the trip and I've full power to take it. I'll bring it back in the morning."

And to South River the mail went, with the settler's best horse making one of the team which took it. The driver was quite within his rights.

Highly Unnecessary.

No man is more methodical in following the regular forms of Parliamentary expression and procedure than Hon. T. S. Sproule, the present Speaker of the House of Commons. When the House adjourned the other morning shortly after one o'clock, Mr. Speaker caused a smile by seizing his three-cornered hat and gravely declaring: "This House stands adjourned until this morning at eleven o'clock in the forenoon." It does not appear to be the Speaker's fault if certain members forget or neglect the morning sittings.

The Secret Blotter.

Every foreign office of Europe acts on the theory that an army of spies is constantly on the alert to steal its secrets, and infinite precautions are taken to baffle their efforts. Very shortly after the first use of blotting paper it was discovered that it was quite possible to cause a blotting pad to give up jealously guarded secrets by simply holding it in front of a mirror. Long after all the commercial world had forgotten the existence of such a thing the British foreign office used a sand shaker to dry its important written documents. Then specially manufactured black blotting paper was used, but this was not found to be absolutely spy proof, and a return to the sand shaker was contemplated when some one suggested the simple expedient of a small absorbent roller. These rollers have since been used for drying diplomatic documents. When such a roller has been run up and down and across a document once or twice the cleverest spy in the world is at liberty to try his hand at deciphering the impressions.

It Didn't Work.

"The late Andrew Gernand of Baltimore was an inventor who devoted his life to perpetual motion, pausing by the way to invent for one son a corn reaper that brought in $1,000,000, and for another son a corn sheller that netted an almost equal fortune."

The speaker, an official of the patent office in Washington, shook his head sadly.

"Once," he resumed, "I ventured to take the brilliant Gernand to task. I told him he was wasting his time on perpetual motion. I said that there ought to be a law forbidding all perpetual motion work.

"'Do you think,' said he, 'that a law forbidding work on perpetual motion would do much good?'

"'I'm sure it would,' said I.

"'And yet you must remember,' said Mr. Gernand with a twinkle in his eye, 'that there was a law forbidding apples in the garden of Eden.'"—Los Angeles Times.

A Duplex Church.

Old Heidelberg is justly celebrated for its castle, for the great tun therein which holds 83,000 bottles of wine and was actually filled on three occasions, and for the ancient university with one professor for each seven students; but perhaps the most interesting thing in the old city from one point of view is the Church of the Holy Ghost.

This church is one of the most ancient buildings in the town. Long ago a partition wall was run through the center, and services are held simultaneously according to the Roman Catholic and the Protestant rituals.

In the year 1791 the Elector, Charles Philip, attempted to stop the dual services, but this so offended the Heidelbergers that he was compelled not only to desist in this effort, but to remove the electoral court to Mannheim.—Harper's.

"Railways" and "Railroads."

We are all speaking of "railways" now instead of "railroads," as they do in America. Both words seem to be of about equal age in this country. Cobbett in 1832 wrote of "rail-ways" with the hyphen, Scott in 1831 of "railroads." But already in 1838 an engineering journal declared that "railway" by this time seemed to be generally adopted as the popular form, though nearly twenty years later Ruskin still talked of "railroads." It is curious that America has preserved the word which remembers the descent of the railway from the old road, while Americans speak of "engineers" and "conductors" where we say "drivers" and "guards," perpetuating the old coaching words.—London Spectator.

Sartorial Discord.

Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood was greatly attached to a regiment of highlanders when the latter were stationed at Portsmouth. Sir Evelyn, then a captain, one day returned from London and with great hurry proceeded to array himself for parade. When he at last emerged he observed that his men were evidently at great pains to conceal their laughter, and he quietly questioned his subaltern as to the probable reason. "Well, sir," replied the latter, "you are dressed correctly as to kilt, sporran and all the rest of it, but you have forgotten to remove your tall hat!"

"That's right," replied Farmer Corntossel.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Authorized Capital: $200.000

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

ONTARIO'S FRENCHMEN.

Six Members of Gallic Blood Sit in the Legislature.

There are six French-Canadians in the Ontario Legislature—quite an interesting little group. There are not enough of them to constitute a "party." Three are Conservatives and three are Liberals. Still, when it comes to French-Canadian "rights" they are one and undivided. There is among them no Horatius, either Grit or Tory, who looks as if he might jump up some day and shout to his compatriots for volunteers to stand on either hand of him to defend the bridge against any English-speaking host which would seek to wrest from French-Canadians their "liberties." The valiant three of both political faiths are ready to defend both ends of the bridge, but they d n't adopt any heroic attitudes. In other words, the six French-Canadians in the Legislature are all very loyal to their nationality, but their number is so small that they find it impracticable to do much elaborate posing as the representatives of a down-trodden minority.

The three Conservative French-Canadian members are Henri Morel (Nipissing), Napoleon Champagne (East Ottawa), and Hon. Dr. J. O. Reaume (North Essex). The three Liberals are Gustave Evanturel (Prescott), Damase Racine (Russell), and Z. Mageau (Sturgeon Falls). All these men, with the exception of Dr. Reaume, were born in Quebec, or in the Eastern Townships of Ontario. Dr. Reaume's ancestors left Quebec many years ago to settle in Essex. Altogether, this little group will compare favorably, in intelligence and education, with the rank and file of the English-speaking members. Mr. Morel and Mr. Racine are practically unknown quantities. They have been heard and felt but little in the House yet. Mr. Evanturel is also as yet a quiet member, but he is considered very bright. He is a son of the late Speaker Evanturel, and has a liberal education. Dr. Reaume we all know as a good, average routine administrator in his department, and a good fellow and somewhat of a jollier in and out of the House. Messrs. Mageau and Champagne, both new members, are the most interesting of the French-Canadian group.

Mr. Mageau is said to be 47 years of age, but from the gallery he would pass for 27. He is the slight and graceful type of French-Canadian, but his life in New Ontario has given him a restraint and solidity that the average Ontario citizen does not associate with French-Canadian character, unless in exceptional cases. Mr. Mageau is a real estate and insurance man. He has been elected mayor of Sturgeon Falls several years by acclamation. He is also president of the Board of Trade in his town, and an all-round, substantial, popular citizen. He is a very effective speaker.

Mr. Napoleon Champagne belongs to another type of French-Canadian. He is big and burly, with a thick neck and a big, bellowing voice. His specialty in debate is abuse of the rousing, ironically humorous kind. When he gets on his feet things are certainly lively. Every time he delivers what he thinks is a punch that will put his opponent to the ropes he loosens his collar and takes a drink. Two or three pages are kept busy bringing him water. Then he jams his hands in his pockets and glares savagely at his foes. But Champagne can make the House and the galleries laugh.

NORSEMEN NEEDED.

New Ontario Requires the Scandinavian Peoples.

"Ontario is now obtaining a larger proportion of the right sort of men and women from the United Kingdom whom we require; this result is largely due, I think, to the good accounts that are sent 'home' by those who have settled in the most British province of the Dominion since we established headquarters in London and organized a campaign throughout Greater Britain." Mr. C. C. James, C.M.G., former Deputy Minister of Agriculture in the Ontario Government, made these remarks to a representative of the press not long ago. "Now that the superior opportunities Ontario can offer various classes of intending emigrants are becoming better appreciated, we hope to use the machinery of our agencies on this side more effectually in sending the right people to the right localities. For instance, my visit to Norway, Sweden, and Denmark has confirmed an impression I formed on my first short visit to these areas two years ago that there is a large Scandinavian population who will find in the prolific virgin soil of the newly-opened areas of Northern Ontario, climatic and other conditions similar to those in which their present persevering, intelligent hard work leaves them only a bare subsistence. While I should be very careful as to what British agriculturists I advised to settle in Northern Ontario, I think it would be difficult to make a mistake in encouraging Scandinavian emigrants to these areas, and the more of this class of foreign settlers we can get into Northern Ontario the better it will be for the province, and, indeed, for the Dominion as a whole.

"Ontario has become a great manufacturing province, by far the largest in Canada, and her growth in this regard is increasing more and more. The one thing in which Ontario has been deficient, and for which she has had to depend upon the adjoining states, is coal, but the great water powers, and the distribution of electric power will soon make the province well-nigh independent of the coal fields of Pennsylvania. That Northern Ontario also has its part to play has been shown by the recent mining developments in the Cobalt area and the Porcupine district; its local markets will in time be unexcelled. For the present we advise the British newcomer to spend a year or two in Southern Ontario before taking up land in the area more remote from conditions as to schools, neighborly intercourse, and general routine, than those he has been accustomed to in Britain. Toronto, our capital, it should always be remembered, is within seven days' reach of London, and in the centre of the most thickly populated area of all Canada. Our manufacturing industries are growing so rapidly in the area that the agriculturist is sure of his market. But speaking as Deputy Minister of Agriculture responsible for advice to the emigrant, it is to the agriculturist, the domestic servant, and the prudent investor, that we hold out the most inducements."

As illustrating the extent of the organisation of Ontario's Department of Agriculture, for the benefit alike of the new-comer and the native born, it may be mentioned that it has fifteen district representatives in various parts of the province, and there are eleven separate branches, managed by experts in dairying, live stock, fruit growing, or co-operating with farmers' institutes, agricultural societies, and women's institutes.

"The latest addition to the Agricultural Department," concluded Mr. James, "is a veterinary college, which will shortly have a new building in Toronto, and add to the opportunities afforded at Guelph, at Kingston, and Toronto, for the most practical education to be given upon reasonable terms, to the sons and daughters of those who decide to cast in their lot with the prospering Province of Ontario."

Mr. James was recently appointed a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, upon the recommendation of the Governor-General, Earl Grey, as a recognition of his general services in promoting the scientific promotion of agriculture in the Dominion.

Keeping Out Whiskey.

It was to protect the Indians from whiskey dealers from the American side of the border that the Northwest Mounted Police came into being in 1874. So well did they succeed that within a year Col. Macleod, who was stationed in a district which now forms the southwest corner of Alberta, reported that the whiskey trade had been completely stopped in that part of the country, and that drunken riots were at an end.

His first blow at the liquor traffic was the capture of a colored man named Bond, and some other Americans, who had a trading post about fifty miles from the colonel's headquarters. An Indians named "Three Bulls" informed the police that he had bartered two of his horses for a couple of gallons of whiskey. An officer, with ten men, accordingly set out, and rode down Bond and his associates after a forty mile chase, arresting the party, five in number, and seizing two wagons containing cases of whiskey and buffalo skins, which had been received from the Indians. Heavy fines were inflicted, and the first step in protecting the Indians from their worst enemies was a great success.

Influx of Americans.

"The present outlook is that there will be forty thousand more Americans enter western Canada this year than last," said Mr. W. J. White, superintendent of American immigration agencies, who was in Ottawa recently.

Unimportant Man.

Many a man goes away from home for a week and imagines that he is missed by the whole community, and when he comes home he finds that there isn't a person in town that knew he had been away.

Conundrums.

When did Ruth treat Boaz badly? When she pulled his ears and trod on his corn.

Why is a convivial man like a Quaker? Because he is fond of the society of friends.

What is that which we all eat and drink, though it is sometimes a woman and sometimes a man? A toast.

Why would a tanner make a good chemist? Because he understands ox(h)ides.

When is soup likely to run out of the saucepan? When there's a leek in it.

What is that which you must keep after giving to another? Your word.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Mr. Dobie's Sad Delay.

Mr. Robt. Dobie has arrived home after spending two months in Europe in the interests of the C.G.E. Co. Just as Mr. Dobie was about to sail homeward bound, he learned of the serious illness of his nephew in a London hospital. Nothing, however, that could be done proved effectual, and the young man died a few days later. The body was brought home to Guelph, where it was interred on Friday.

Pay-as-You-Enter System On.

The "pay-as-you-enter" system was inaugurated here Saturday morning, on the local street railway. One of the new cars, having on board a number of street railway officials, left the King street barns at nine o'clock southward bound on George street. Two passengers boarded the car at the intersection of George and Charlotte streets. At present the new system will be confined to the George street line.

DIZZY HEADACHES CURED IN ONE NIGHT

If Troubled With Head-Fullness, Ringing Noises, Specks Before the Eyes, the Stomach Is at Fault.

"I had terrible pains in my head. My appetite faded away and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The active pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set one wild. Sometimes attacks came on so severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleaning remedy I would be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. I was cured and made as strong, ruddy and healthy looking as one could wish, and will always use and recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

"COMPLEXION SECRETS OF AN ACTRESS"

In a recently issued volume bearing the above title, the author says: "Continuous use of grease paints, rouge and the like, had ruined my complexion. My skin was colorless, wrinkled, flabby, coarse, and punctured with large pores. In England I heard of the virtues of mercolized wax; my first experience with this marvellous substance convinced me it was more valuable than all cosmetics combined. Now whenever my complexion begins to go wrong I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the nearest drug store, spread on a thin layer of it before retiring, washing it off next morning. The wax, after a few such treatments, seems literally to absorb the worn-out cuticle, when a brighter, healthier, younger-looking skin appears.

"For the enlarged pores, wrinkles, and flabbiness, I began using a solution of saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this soon relieved the condition most wonderfully."

RIPPED TITANIC 250 FEET 25 FEET BELOW WATERLINE

British Naval Expert Believes Five Compartments Were Hopelessly Flooded---Warning of Iceberg Given Only Minute Before Ship Struck

London, May 14—Sir William H. White, the naval expert, who was at one time chief constructor of the British navy, in a four-column letter to the Times, reconstructs the Titanic disaster, on the evidence given before the Senatorial committee. He considers that only one minute elapsed between the time of warning of the iceberg by the lookout and the collision which destroyed the watertightness of the shell-plating for 250 feet from the stem, and threw open the five foremost watertight compartments. He estimates that the rent in the ship's side must have been 25 feet below the water line.

The people on the decks, Sir William asserts, could have had no sense of their danger from the slow sinking of the boat. The stories of the ship having broken in two he believes are incredible. He thinks that the vessel may have received internal injuries by the tremendous force of the impact arising through her high speed, and says that when the temporary excitement had disappeared it will be seen that the question of boat equipment must be treated as subordinate to that of efficient watertight subdivision.

Possibly, he adds, shipowners will concur in action to make such subdivisions the subject of legislation on lines to be agreed upon by the Board of Trade and the ship-owners, and he expresses the hope that is such action is taken it may be of international character.

CHILD BORN FIVE MINUTES AFTER MOTHER HAD DIED

New York, May 14.—Mrs. Rebecca Lipskitz died of apoplexy in the Fordham Hospital at 1.45 a.m. Friday.

Five minutes late a motherless son weighing eight pounds, was born to her.

Dr. Herman Schorr, the house surgeon, almost instantly performed on her the Caesarian operation, a very rare surgical feat nowadays, when done on a woman who has expired.

The child was doing nicely yesterday and will live surely if the assiduous care and intense interest of the hospital doctors and nurses count for anything.

The mother died two hours after she reached the hospital.

"Is the child alive?" the house surgeon asked.

"I think so," said the nurse, and the surgeon hurried into the ward.

Mrs. Lipskitz was dead to all appearances, but the physician refused to take merely the ordinary appearance of death even in a case so vital to the life of another. He used every means known to science to detect life in the mother.

Had to Act at Once.

In the child he could detect no sign of life, but determined to act at once There was but one light over the bed of the patient. All the rest of the room was in darkness.

To remove the body of the mother to the operating room meant the loss of minutes too precious to be wasted Giving the nurse instructions, and with a screen about the bed that any waking patient might have no idea of what was going on, the surgeon hurried to a surgical case and took from it what instruments he needed.

Five minutes after his mother's death Dr. Schorr held in his arms the baby, almost perfectly formed, which would have perished but for him.

A Healthy Cry.

"Is it alive, doctor? Is it alive?" asked the nurse excitedly.

"Very much alive," was the reply and to prove it the infant rescued from death let forth a healthy cry.

"Give it to me," said the nurse, her eyes filling with tears as she looked at the face of the mother who could not hear that sweetest of music—the sound of her baby's first cry.

The little fellow, swathed in a blanket, was hurried to the Children's Ward.

From Early Times.

The learned gynaecologists will tell you that the Caesarian operation has been practised since very early times A number of persons famous in history are supposed to have come into being by means of this operation. Scipio Africanus, Manlius, Asculapius Julius Caesar and Edward VI of England. Some gynaecologists, however insist that there is no adequate proof that the lives of Caesar and Edward VI were saved by the operations.

BRITISH VAIN-GLORIOUS AND MENDACIOUS IN DISASTER

New York, May 14. — A London cable says: George Bernard Shaw, in an article in the Daily News entitled "Some Unmentioned Morals of the Titanic Disaster," says:

"Why is it that the effect of a sensational catastrophe on a modern nation is to cast it into transports, not of weeping, not of prayer, not of sympathy with the bereaved nor of congratulation of the rescued, not of poetic expression, but of wild defiance of inexorable fate and of undeniable fact by an explosion of outrageous romantic lying?"

Mr. Shaw criticises the stories in regard to women and children first, and the tributes to Capt. Smith, who, he says, is written of in the newspapers "as if he were a Nelson" whereas "the only thing positively known about Capt. Smith is that he lost the ship by deliberately steaming into an icefield at the highest speed he had coal for."

Mr. Shaw concludes: "What is the use of all this ghastly, blasphemous, inhuman, braggartly lying? Here is a calamity which might well make the proudest man humble and the wildest joker serious. It makes us vain-glorious, insolent, mendacious. The effect on me is of profound disgust, almost of national dishonor. Am I mad?

"It seems to me that when deeply moved men should speak the truth. The English nation appears so take precisely the contrary view. Again, am I in a minority?"

ZAM-BUK HAS HEALED IT.

Mrs. Wilson, 110 Wickson Ave., Toronto, says: "About four years ago a sore spot appeared on the right side of my face. This spot increased in size until it became about half an inch in diameter and very painful. I went to a doctor, but the ointment he gave me did not have any good effect. The sore continued to discharge freely, and was most painful. I had it cauterized, tried poultices, and all kinds of salves, but it was no good, and I continued to suffer from it for four years!

"A sample of Zam-Buk was one day given to me, and I used it. Although the quantity was so small, it seemed to do me some good, so I purchased a further supply.

"Each box did me more and more good, and, to my delight, before I had been using Zam-Buk three weeks I saw that it was going to heal the sore. In less than a month it was healed!

"I know a lady in the east of the city whose husband suffered for years with an open sore on his leg. On my recommendation, Zam-Buk was tried in that case. The other day when I saw her, she told me that it had healed the sore completely.

"My daughter, who lives in Lethbridge, Alta., has also used Zam-Buk with the same satisfactory result. I think it is, beyond all doubt, the finest healing balm known."

Such is the opinion of all persons who have really tried Zam-Buk. It is a sure cure for eczema, piles, abscesses, ulcers, scalp sores, ringworm cuts, burns, scalds, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c box, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. In case of skin disease, use also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c tablet.

A POPULAR PETITION

Hundreds of Citizens Ask Minister of Public Works for Facilities for Small Craft at Locks Dam.

A petition was circulated throughout the city yesterday asking the Minister of Public Works to make provisions for carrying over the thousands of canoes and rowboats, and even small gasoline launches, that would then ply daily between the city and the lower stretches of the Otonabee River. What is asked for in the petition is a "break water" below the locks dam for the purpose of deflecting the current at that point, and also a system of rollers to facilitate the handling of small craft in transit. Should the petition bear fruit, those organizing the movement claim that thousands of our citizens would greatly benefit during the summer season. Four of the petitions were taken out yesterday morning, and by 10.30 a.m. over four hundred signatures were attached.

POLICE COURT.

Several Fines Handed Out by the Cadi at Yesterday's Court.

At yesterday's session of the Police Court, the Grand High-is-titi fined a local butcher for exposing veal for sale under four weeks' old. No defence was offered. The meat was seized by Sanitary Inspector Spence on the market last Saturday, and the information summoning the defendant to appear in court was laid by the same official.

Three local youths were each fined $2 and costs for riding their wheels on the sidewalk.

NO USE FOR TWO TELEPHONES

The Splendid Service of the Bell Co. Makes Duplicate Phones a Joke

THE Times has on many occasions maintained that telephone service can only be adequately and satisfactorily (as far as the public goes) given by one universal Company. Here in Ontario there have been carping critics who would call the Bell Telephone Co. a grinding monopoly. Here we have had little fly-by-night opposition companies spring up to do a local business The result of such opposition has been two fold. Most of them sold out to the natural organized and only fit concern to operate so broad spread a business, the Bell. Still, we see a machine company that gets stock subscribed for, operate during a course of several years, without charging a cent for service. All very nice for the subscribers, but how about the poor widow who has put her savings into so philanthropic a concern.

On the other hand, where conditions are different, in the north-west. See what Regina, Sask. Standard says, viz.:

"The solution of the rural telephone problem in the province is a matter which may well be taken up by the government, and the proposal made by Mr. Haultain in his platform seems to offer a considerable improvement over the present system. Mr. Haultain's proposition is merely a continuance of the position he took in the Legislative Assembly some years ago when the government scheme was first introduced. The plan of the Scott government is to finance the luxury of a city system while leaving the farmers to pay the whole cost of the rural lines, the sole means of a quick communication in the farming districts. Mr. Haultain contends that the rural system should be brought under the ownership of the government and operated with the city and long distance systems under the control of an independent commission.

"At the present time the cities of Saskatchewan are provided with modern telephone systems owned and operated by the Government, and the long distance lines are similarly owned. The rural lines, however, are all operated by private co-operative companies organized by the farmers and paid for by them as well. This, of course, means that the people as a whole pay for the luxury in telephone communication, while the cost of the actual necessity is borne by the few immediately interested. To the most casual observer it will be apparent that the opposite should be the case. If there is any system of telephones in which the government should be actively interested it is the rural system.

"To the farmers more particularly the Haultain telephone system should appeal. His proposition is to bring all the rural lines onto the same basis as the city and long distance lines are at present and to place the whole system under the control of an independent commission."

THIRTEEN MEN IN MINE.

WATCH THE SEPARATE SCHOOLS

During the recent meeting of the Educational Association in Ontario the daily newspapers interviewed a number of inspectors coming from localities where bilingual schools are in existence and obtained from them information that confirms everything that Dr. Merchant has said in his report. One inspector was quoted as saying, "there are only two out of five real English schools in Prescott "and Russell county." He continued, "but in Russell we find the "trouble is not in the Public schools. French people coming in are "establishing Separate schools and the proportion of Separate to "Public schools is increasing, and in the Separate schools they "speak French only."

As we understand the policy enunciated by Sir James Whitney in the Legislature recently, says The Sentinel, the regulations which require the discontinuance of French after the first form apply to Separate schools as well as Public schools. We suspect, however, that it will be more difficult for the department to enforce the regulations in Separate schools. Roman Catholics generally, whether clergy or laymen, accept the papal dogma that all branches of education should be in the hands of the church. Acting upon that principle they will regard it as an interference with the prerogatives of the parish priest for the government to have anything at all to say in the management of Separate schools.

This must create a very difficult situation. But it is one which we trust the Minister of Education will deal with in the spirit of Sir James Whitney's statement. It must never be admitted that the Separate schools of the Province of Ontario are beyond the reach of the Department of Education. Whatever may be done in the Province of Quebec, it cannot be conceded in Ontario that the education of the children of the province is to be committed to the religious leaders of any denomination. That is a duty which rests upon the government of the province. To acknowledge the authority of bishops or priests would be tantamount to surrendering the vital principles of British law.

RAN OFF TO WED COWBOY

Moving Pictures Caused the Girls to Leave Home

Guthrie, May 14.—The demand for cowboy husbands was too much for Gertrude Bell Burkett and Emma Jean Becker, young girls of Glenfield, Pa., six miles out of Pittsburg. They ran away from home, arriving two weeks ago in Guthrie. They left to-night for home, accompanied by Mrs. Catherine Hoyt, probation officer of Pittsburg, Pa., who was sent here by the parents.

Both girls are educated and pretty. They got their ideas of this country from theatrical and moving picture productions of western life.

Miss Burkert, daughter of a wealthy widow of Glenfield, is 18 years old. The parents of Miss Becker, 14, own a department store in Glenfield. It is understood that the girls took $100 from the store to make the trip. They arrived in Guthrie penniless, however, and immediately began to hunt work, applying at the cotton textile mill and other places and expressing wonder that no cowboys were seen.

Accidentally the presence of the two strange girls in Guthrie became known to N. M. Carter, commissioner of public safety. After hearing their story he took custody of them and notified their parents. Request came immediately by wire from Mrs Burkett to hold the girls until Mrs. Hoyt would arrive for them. Commissioner Carter refused to let the girls leave the home where he had placed them, after dark, excepting with a chaperon. He provided them with tickets to the circus last Thursday and Sunday night accompanied them to Church.

"We only wanted to see the country," Miss Burkett said. "We had heard so much of the ranches and wealthy cowboys. We understood there were not many women in the west, and that the rich, handsome cowboys were looking for wives. We have enjoyed our outing, but we are ready to return home."

THE WEATHER.

Fair and a little warmer.

BOARD OF TRADE IN BIG MEETING MAKES PROGRESS

Mr. Ryerson Ritchie Gives an Inspiring Address as to Peterborough's Chances

Last night the Peterborough Board of Trade held a meeting, with President V. Eastwood in the chair. Among those present were Messrs. J. J. Turner, Rev. J. C Davidson, J. Johns, Peter Campbell, J. Riddle, C Coleman, W. R. Morris, T. E. Bradburn, ex-M.P.P., C. E. Jameson, G. A. Gillespie, S. Dodds, G. O. Cameron, G. N. Gordon, Geo. Sherry, E. Wainwright, S. Vinnette, E. H. D. Hall, S. Armstrong, W. Langford, W. H. Moore, E. Fessenden, F. Adams, W. G. Morrow.

It was moved that at the International meeting of the Board of Trade to be held in Toronto in 1913, the Peterborough Board take an interest. Mr. Ryerson Ritchie was asked to take a seat on the platform.

Several resolutions regarding business were carried. The thanks of the Board were extended to the Mayor and Council for the use of the Council Chamber.

The Secretary's report was read as follows:—

"Mr. President and Gentlemen:—

I have the honor of presenting to you, as Secretary, the 23rd annual report of this Board.

During the past year we have held five meetings, viz., 16th May; 14th November, 22nd December 1911; 26th February and 25th March, 1912 Two other meetings were called in June and July, 1911, but were not held on account of there being no quorum.

The following subjects were discussed at these meetings New industries, Hydro-Electric Power By-law, Municipal By-laws, Permanent Roadway Pavements, Garbage, Hotel Accommodation, Immigration into Canada, special features in which Peterborough is interested.

The average attendance was 15, as against 17 members the previous year

The thanks of the Board of Trade are due His Worship Mayor Bradburn and the members of the City Council for the use of the Council Chamber during the past year.

Yours faithfully,
T. Q. QUARTERMAINE
Secretary"

The election of officers was next in order. Mr. Eastwood was nominated for President for another year. He declined the honor, giving his reasons Mr. Gillespie asked that Mr. Eastwood retain his position. That gentleman said that it remained with the rank and file of the Board of Trade to make the Board a success. He accepted the position.

The position of vice-president was then discussed. Mr. G. W. Morrow was unanimously elected, but declined. Mr. J. J. Turner was then unanimously elected to the position.

Mr. Jas. Hamilton was elected Treasurer, without opposition. Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine, the old standby of the Board, was re-elected Secretary amid applause.

Mr. Gordon spoke very strongly in favor of the movement for bringing English emigrants to Canada.

Mr. Ryerson Ritchie arose amid applause, and said he was proud he was born in Peterborough, 30 years ago. He had been away, but was always glad to get back. There is a good representation on the Peterborough Board of Trade There should be no anxiety as to the future of the local Board. There is often too much put on the individual, instead of on the organization. He went on to tell of the six organizations he had served in in the United States. He explained the panic in Kansas City. A Commercial Club was organized The Club thought it was necessary to do something to advance the City. Kansas City is to-day, next to Boston, one of the best places to live in. He then spoke of Cleveland, O. He next went to Detroit. People in Boston are peculiar. Chicago si a patriotic city. Let a man in Chicago be Jew or Gentile, Protestant or Catholic, he speaks for Chicago. The speaker then told of how $5,000,000 was subscribed in San Francisco for an exhibition. Peterborough has much to be proud of. Peterborough has changed much since his boy hood days. The public spirit of Peterborough is hard to beat. The average Board of Trade takes the shadow for the substance. The class of industries looking for a bonus are not the kind wanted. It is wrong to tax the public for an industry, and he hoped the Government would stop municipalities giving bonuses. In Detroit everything is done to get industries with bonuses. Peterborough, with her cheap water power, can meet any competition. But what is Peterborough doing to

YOUNG WIFE'S DEVOTION WINS HUSBAND'S FREEDOM

Toronto Woman Went to Baltimore and Pleaded for a New Hearing of Charge Against Her Husband

Baltimore, My., May 14.—Hugh C. Lyons, of Toronto, Ont., convicted of flim-flamming, and sentenced to the Maryland Penetentiary here for three years, was given his freedom by Presiding Judge Elliott in the Criminal Court. Lyons owes his liberty principally to the devotion displayed by his young wife, who came here from Toronto and finally succeeded in obtaining a review of the case by Judge Elliott. An extraordinary feature of the case which aided Lyons in obtaining liberty was the fact that on the day he was sentenced, his father, Philip Lyons, alias Passavant, was also sentenced, the father and son having been previously captured in a swindle, Judge Elliott sentenced the elder Lyons to three years, and to the younger man he gave a sentence of two years. Standing in the prisoner's dock, the younger Lyons pleaded with Judge Elliott to transfer the longer term from his father to him.

"Give me the longer term, your honor," pleaded young Lyons, "I can stand it better than father." Judge Elliott granted the plea, and father and son were sent to the penitentiary Their arrest and conviction occurred three months ago, and since that time both have been inmates of the penitentiary.

Mrs. Lyons, the wife of the younger man, came here and entered pleas through her counsel. The case was one o more than ordinary interest, and after much deliberation, Judge Elliott on Saturday afternoon recalled his sentence on young Lyons and allowed him to go free, provided he leaves the United States.

Before leaving Baltimore young Lyons and his wife visited the elder Lyons in the penetentiary. The elder Lyons blessed his son and told the officials that he was glad to see his son at liberty, and that he is resigned to his fate.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

GLASS ON THE STREETS.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—Although not the owner of an automobile, I often ride in one. I think that people should not throw glass or bottles on the streets. Yesterday I counted three empty flasks within as many blocks on the roadway. I believe there is a heavy fine for placing such things on the public streets. If so, it should be strictly enforced.

—Commen Sense.

LOCAL PEDDLERS.

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir.—I would protest against allowing a single peddler to call at the private houses in this city. Their goods, in a majority of cases, are cheap, shoddy goods. The average housewife does not want to be bothered with them. The great objection, however, is the great and manifest unfairness to local merchants. Suppose a peddler does pay his license, what does it amount to as compared with the rent and taxes of the merchant? The peddler has his whole stock in trade in a couple of boxes or trunks. When he has skimmed the cream of the trade in his particular line, why skidoo. If there is no cream to be skimmed, he does not stop. The merchant, however, tied by heavy Investment, heavy stock and heavy household responsibilities cannot get out. He must stay and make or break. Shut out the itinerant gripsack merchant.

RICHESON NOW GETS THE UNCUT PAPERS

Boston, May 14—"There is nothing they can print about me now that is any worse than what I have already heard and read," calmly argued Clarence V. T. Richeson with Sheriff Quinn in his cell at the Charles St. Jail yesterday, while he besought the sheriff to allow him to read what the papers were saying of his case.

Since the former Baptist minister of Cambridge received his sentence of death early in January, for the murder of his sweetheart, Avis Linnell, all newspapers given him have had the news pertaining to the case cut out.

The prisoner's plea had its force with the sheriff, however, and, anxious to gratify as much as possible every whim of the prisoner in his highly nervous state during the final hours before his execution, which is set for the week beginning May 19, Sheriff Quinn will, for the remainder of Richeson's stay in the jail, allow him the papers uncut, unless they contain sensational or unusually trying news.

That the alienists named by Gov. Foss to examine Richeson intend to make their investigation as complete and exhaustive as is possible to expert scientists, was made apparent yesterday. Although Richeson was subjected to an all-day examination Saturday the three State alienists, Dr. Henry R. Stedman, George T. Tuttle, and Henry P. Frost, again visited the jail yesterday and for five and one-half hours probed into the prisoner's mental and physical condition. They would not say what had transpired during the afternoon, but Dr. Stedman admitted that they might return to-day.

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 86c, and well worth it, too. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 86c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 306 George St. directly opposite Creeman's store.

WHILE YOU WORK AND WHILE YOU sleep.—Wage earners make money only while they work. My lot buyers make money while they sleep. Those who have bought from me during the past four years have made by increasing value of lots, more than $4 per cent per annum on the amount invested. And they are worth from $300 to $1200 to-day, because of having wisely imposed a "must" upon themselves to save a little of what they earned. Come in and let me show you a very easy way to do the same. Gardens: I know one man who planted 1 acre of onions, and sold his crop for $800 cash. Was that not making money while he slept? We can supply a few acres ploughed to men who would wish to do likewise. Also a larger place with good buildings and a large poultry plant. Immediate possession. Decide at once, and call for particulars. T. Hurley, corner Stewart and Hunter streets.

WE CAN GIVE YOU ABSOLUTE PROOF that the lots we offer inside the town limits of Edson at $40 each, on easy terms, are a money-making investment, offered below their real value; Edson is a divisional point on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific with a monthly pay roll of $40,000; Edson is the actual distributing point for the Peace River country, the Brazeau coal fields, and for two hundred miles west on the Canadian Northern; Edson is little more than a year old, and already has more than twelve hundred permanent residents; it costs you one cent to obtain illustrated booklet, and the above mentioned proof: mail us a postcard to-day. CATCHING THE NOVICE

BRITISH COMMONS IS FULL OF QUEER OLD CUSTOMS.

Pitfalls and Embarrassments Await the New Member Who Is Learning the Rules—When to Wear and When to Doff One's Hat Is a Study in Itself—King's Assent Given In Norman French—The Sacred Bar.

Centuries come and centuries go, but the British Parliament remains as youthful and virile as in the far-away days when Abbott and Prior answered the summons to Westminster to help in the making of our laws; and it still observes forms and ceremonies which had their birth when Knights of the Shire rode, with escort of squire and page, to join in its deliberations.

The very language it uses recalls the time when Norman-French was the tongue of Court and Castle. To-day the King's Assent, which transforms a Parliamentary Bill into a law of the land, is announced in words familiar to our earliest Edwards: "Le Roy le veult"; and "Soit fait comme il est desire"; and, if by any chance the King should think fit to refuse his assent, the fact would be delicately disclosed in the words "Le Roy s-avisera" "The King will consider it.")

.f you should chance to be in the Palace of Westminster when the Commons rise after their day's labors, your ears would be assailed with the quaint cry, "Who goes home?" shouted in stentorian tones in lobbies and corridors, just as in past centuries, when the roads leading to Westminster were the haunts of footpads and cut-throats, it was the rallying cry which brought together members whose journey home lay in the same direction, so that they might walk together for mutual safety.

Guy Fawkes has been dust for three centuries, but still, on the first day of a new session, the vaults beneath the Parliament House are explored in every corner by men carrying unlighted lanterns, in broad daylight, to make sure that no powder barrels are there to elevate our legislators to "another place."

The Speaker, too, advances to his chair with low obeisance exactly as his predecessors of centuries ago made reverent bows to the altar of St. Stephen's Chapel, in front of which for three hundreds years the Commons chair stood.

And these are but few of the many customs and traditions of Parliament which have defied time through the ages, and which will probably be observed as carefully a thousand years hence as to-day.

A quaint place, truly, is our Imperial Parliament with its time-crusted rules and regulations which carry the mind back through the centuries; rules, many of which have never been reduced to words, but are none the less binding on that account. No wonder the legislative novice is driven to his wits' end by the perplexities of his new environment, or that he is reduced to despair by shouts of "Order! order!" for the breaking of rules of which he is as ignorant as a new-born infant.

"How can I learn the rules of the House?" a desperate new member once asked Parnell. "Only by breaking them," was the answer. And it is, indeed, only by this painful process that a member can learn his way through the mazes of Parliamentary etiquette. Even such an "old hand" as Mr. Gladstone was called to order more than once during the last year of his life at Westminster; and Mr. W. H. Smith, when leader of the House, actually incurred penalties of $7,500 by breaking the rule that a member, appointed to an office of profit under the crown, must not enter, much less speak, in the House without first being re-elected by his constituents.

There is probably no Chamber in England which has quite the same sacred, exclusive character as that in which the Commons hold their deliberations. Across the entrance to it runs a brass-rod, known as the "bar," raised about half an inch above the level of the floor, and over this line no foot must pass while the House is sitting, unless it be that of a member or one of a small number of officials.

Even a messenger, with a letter or telegram to deliver, may not put foot across this "rubicon." He must hand his missive to some M.P. within reach, and thus it passes from hand to hand to its destination.

It is, too, a grave breach of decorum for any legislator to pass between the Speaker and a member addressing the House. The imaginary line that links Speaker and orator is almost as sacred as the "bar" itself; and if a member, anxious to reach his seat, cannot approach it by a roundabout way, he must either wait until the speech is ended, or, at the expense of his dignity, he must, with bent body and nimble step, cross the sacred "line" with a rush.

There is no rule of Parliament so puzzling to the neophyte as that of the hat. When he enters or leaves the Chamber he must have an uncovered head, though he may sit with hat on head as long as he will. When he addresses the House he is equally uncovered, unless he has occasion to speak while the bells are ringing for a division. At such a time, if he wishes to address the chair on a point of order, he must do so seated, and with his hat on.

It is a serious misdemeanor for one member to address or to refer to another by name during debate, except when the House is in Committee, when it is proper to address the chairman as "Mr. ——"; and no doubt the punctilious courtesy which prescribes such forms of address as "The right honorable" or "Honorable gentleman the member for ——"; adds to the dignity of the greatest legislative assembly in the world.

The Speaker has been addressed by nervous orators by a wide range of appellatives, from "Mr. Mayor" to "your reverence," but the only proper forms are "Mr. Speaker" and "Sir."

Daughters to Decorate Graves.

The Daughters of the Empire wish to arrange for the decoration of the graves of all British officers, non-commissioned officers and men, that are buried in the two cemeteries in Peterborough. Any information that can be given towards locating these graves will be gladly received by the secretary, 616 George street.

PAYING THE DUTY.

Custom House Officials Have Some Queer Experiences.

PASSING A SEALSKIN COAT.

The Way the Matter Was Fixed Up With an Appraiser and the Surprise That Awaited the Owner—A Bride, a Ring, a Husband and a Bluff.

The general impression is that the life of a customs inspector is a very dull routine of hardship, but such is not always the case.

The average person believes there is a little romance about the life and unquestionably the tang of the sea, but it almost never occurs to him that it is one of the funniest businesses in the world. The element of humor never enters into the general appreciation of the customs man, but it exists nevertheless.

There is a deputy collector now in the custom house of New York whose experiences in several years are really humorous. He is a grave, solemn looking man, thus bearing out the traditions, but that does not prevent him from enjoying the odd incidents that bob up in his line of duty. Speaking of them, he said:

"I had an odd experience the other day. A young man from an office in Wall street had gone to Europe to be married. In London he bought his wife a ring. He had put it in his declaration at a value of $1,000. He brought his bride to me, and she held out her pretty little pink hand that I might examine the ring. It flashed and sparkled beautifully, but the flashes and sparkles didn't seem quite right, so I asked to be allowed to examine it more carefully. The bride blushingly pulled the ring off and handed it to me. I showed it to an expert appraiser, who promptly declared that it was a fake piece of jewelry worth about $10.

"I sympathized with the young man, and when I got a chance I told him the truth. 'Oh, yes,' he replied, 'I know. You see, I didn't have much money with me, so I bought this for £1 6s., but I had to ring in a bluff on my wife. Don't give me away.' The poor fellow was willing to pay several times the value of the ring to make his bluff good, but we fixed it up for him without his bride knowing the truth.

"Another laughable experience, but more serious for the passenger, happened not long ago. When I boarded a big steamship from Europe I was approached by a man who introduced himself as one who had formerly been collector of one of the most important western ports. I knew him very well by reputation. He was returning from abroad with his family. He explained that he was very wealthy and did not want to evade paying all the duty necessary, but he confided in me that he had a sealskin coat, bought in Paris for his wife, which he had not included in his declaration, knowing that sealskins could not be imported. Nevertheless, just because we were both members of the same fraternity, he wanted to know if there was not some way in which he could get the coat into the country.

"I would have been glad to help him, but didn't see how it could be done. However, I told him I would put the question up to the appraiser at the pier and if the matter could be arranged I would fix it up. The appraiser looked the coat over and told me to put it on the declaration as an imitation sealskin valued at $75. The western man was delighted.

"'That's what I call clever,' he said.

"A few days later I got a letter from this man asking me to call upon him at one of the most fashionable uptown hotels. I went to see him and had luncheon with him and his family. When luncheon was over he made a little golden cone on the table. It consisted of a twenty dollar gold piece, a ten, a five, a three, a two and a half and a one, all in gold. He shoved the stack over to me.

"'Just a souvenir, a reminder of your cleverness in getting that seal coat through for me,' he said.

"I refused to take it, but he tried to press it on me and told me to give it to the appraiser, but I refused. Later, when his family left us, I asked him how much he had paid for the coat in Paris. He said he had paid, $1,000. He could hardly believe it when I told him that we had not falsified the declaration, that the coat was an imitation and that $75 was its outside value. He called a bellboy then and there and sent the coat to a furrier to have it appraised. The furrier sent back word that he would sell him all he wanted just like it for $65 each."—New York Herald.

Mirror, Crystal and Sword.

The three symbols of the imperial house of Japan are the mirror, the crystal and the sword, and they are carried in front of the emperor on all state occasions. Each has its significance. "Look at the mirror and reflect thyself," or, in other words, "Know thyself," is the message of the mirror. "Be pure and shine" is the crystal's injunction, while the sword is a reminder to "Be sharp."

A Custom of the Tyrol.

In the Tyrol it is the custom for women and children to come out into the open when it is the latter's bedtime and sing. Their husbands, fathers and brothers answer them from the hills on their way home.

The injuries we do and those we suffer are seldom weighed in the same balance.—Simmons.

Sanitary Inspector Busy.

Sanitary Inspector Spence is responsible for the statement that dogs in Peterborough are becoming fewer. Its a good thing the Inspector is attending carefully to his duties in the back yards and about the factories. Let us hope that his alleged remarks about the diminution of dogs is correct.

THE DOUKHOBORS.

Their Religion and Community System of Living.

The Doukhobors, the peculiar Russian religious sect of peasants who emigrated to Canada in such large numbers in 1899, and of whom so much was heard a few years later on account of their conflict with the Dominion Government, form the theme of an article—by N. Syrkin, of New York — in Suddeutsche Monatshefte (Munich).

Mr. Syrkin traces in this article the Doukhobors' stormy history and expatiates upon their strange beliefs. He says, among other things:

"The nucleus of the Doukhobor faith is solely recorded in the reports sent in by the community in the 18th century to the Russian Government, because after Pobirokin's idea their faith should be shown forth in their life alone. We read that the human body is for the soul only a temporary prison where it can have no other aim than the manifestation of God; that the first men had neither customs nor religious institutions but were illumined by the Holy Ghost, and that later by the power of evil creeds and laws arose. Under Catherine II. and Paul the Doukhobors underwent severe persecutions, under Nicholas I. in 1842 they were exiled to Tiflis in the Caucasus in the hope that they would die out. The Doukhobors, however, made friends with the wild hillmen, prospered agriculturally in spite of the desert and rocky foothills, and were strengthened to endure another persecution in 1868. Then Peter Werigin undertook the leadership of the community's practical and mystical life, prohibiting smoking, wine and meat. As a consequence of the schism of the "Small party" Werigin and his disciples were banished to Siberia. In 1895 the Doukhobors burnt their weapons publicly and refused to take part in the Government suppressions and military service. After ordering the maltreating of women and children and massacre of unresisting old men, the Government expulsed four thousand Doukhobors from their villages and drove them into the Grusinian villages where over a thousand died of privation. The men available for military service were sent for 18 years to the criminal battalion in Siberia. In 1898 through the combined efforts of Tolstoi and the Society of Friends in England, funds were raised and the Czar's permission obtained for the emigration of the sect to Cyprus, which being found unsuitable, in 1899 over eight thousand Doukhobors were granted lands by the Canadian Government in the Province of Assiniboia near Yorktown and of Saskatchewan near Thunder Hill and Prince Albert.

Mr. Syrkin notes that on the arrival of Peter Werigin in Canada the return to the traditional Doukhoborism and the introduction of modern agricultural methods began. Werigin disowned the pilgrimages and discarders of clothing and organised the communities into a central union. The patriarchal life is strictly adhered to and work is more the contented occupation of energy than the curse of bread earned in the sweat of the brow. Everything is left to the good will and judgment of the individual, the administration is at a nominal cost, as the elders work. Annually 1,000 adults are sent as day laborers for the railways, and after the deduction of their living expenses they return the greater part of their wage to the common treasury. One of the largest and best brick-making plants in Canada has been founded by the Doukhobors at Yorktown, and the communities have paid their debts, and even eighteen months after their arrival in Canada, wrote to the English Quakers to cease pecuniary gifts and apply them to others more needy.

But even under Werigin the Doukhobors have not found peace. True to their belief in common property they have finally refused to become Canadian subjects and consequently have lost the greater part of their homesteads of about the value of two million dollars, retaining only about fifteen acres for each member of e community.

Stole Money for Sweetheart.

Chicago, May 2.—Mary Reynolds, ticket agent, employed by the Illinois Central Railroad, who told the police a story of being held up and robbed of $150 by two men in the station Tuesday night, confessed yesterday that she had concocted the story of the robbery and had given the money to her sweetheart.

"I took the money and gave it to Charles Duff," she said. "We were soon to be married and neither of us had much money. The money is hidden in a cigar box, buried at the base of a telegraph pole at Fifth avenue and Michigan avenue."

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

REDUCING THE COST OF LIVING.

The House of Representatives of the United States has hit the High Cost of Living a telling blow while it wasn't looking. If one questions, let him listen to the jubilant palans in praise of the Bulkly Bill and the gallant spirits who forced its passage which Washington is singing through her recognized system of megaphones into the ears of the American people.

The Bulkly Bill, in brief, provides for the coinage of half-cent pieces. In itself, the coinage of half-cent pieces, or, of quarter-cent, pieces, would not seem to offer much relief to the hard-pressed consumer who is trying to make an inelastic income cover a steadily expanding domestic budget, but that is just where appearances are deceptive and the Congressman scores heavily on his constituents. As a Washington dispatch suggests, take as an example any of the numerous cuts of meat that are offered at something-and-a-half cents per pound. Until the expedient of the half-cent was thought of, you either had to buy two pounds of meat or surrender half a cent to a grasping dealer because he could not make change.

With the coming of the Bulkly Bill, all this is done away with. It makes no difference whether the steak which used to be 12½ cents a pound is now 25½ cents, you can force the butcher to give you your exact change, and thus strike the first blow for cheaper food, and fairer treatment. It may not be much of a blow but the principle is unexceptionable.

WHAT THE CANAL MEANS.

It is a curious fact that the momentous consequences which will surely follow the opening of the Panama canal less than two years hence are receiving more serious consideration in Europe than here. The U. S. hardly awakened to the manifold possibilities involved in the completion of this new waterway. In the development of the world's commerce, the event which is scheduled to take place Jan. 1, 1915, is every whit as important as Vasco de Gama's discovery of a new route to India. If they are only half alive to their opportunities the new thread across the map of Central America will mean just as much to their commercial supremacy as the completion of the Suez canal meant to that of England. It is probable that future historians will point back to 1915 as one of the great dates of human history.

For the new canal will give them an advantage of several thousand miles over their European competitors in the race for eastern markets. To-day the distance from Boston to Melbourne, and from Hamburg to Melbourne is about the same, or a little over 12,000 miles. The new canal will bring Boston within 10,300 miles of that Australian port. The distance between Hamburg and Yokohama is 12,530 miles. That from Boston will be only about 10,000 miles after 1915.

Do their merchants realize the opportunities for gaining eastern trade that will soon be theirs? Whether merchant marine is favored in the canal tolls or not their merchants are bound to be favored by from four to ten days in reaching the great markets of the east. In Europe, councils and cabinets are already working over plans to gain every possible advantage from the new canal, and they have inspired notable activity in many Caribbean ports. They have been ready to felicitate themselves on the completion of the big ditch, but are they awake to the business opportunities which it will create?

STILL BETTER SAFEGUARDS AT SEA.

A careful examination of American ocean-going steamers at New York, according to the Marine Journal, has shown that only nine of a fleet of several score were not, before the Titanic disaster, equipped with enough boats or life rafts to carry all of their passengers and crew—and four of these nine American ships were in the Transatlantic service, seldom carrying their full complement.

This speaks well for the vigor of American inspection laws, not perfect, but markedly in advance of the rules and practices of other governments. It should, of course, be understood that the American laws relative to ocean-going ships are much more rigid than the bay and river regulations applicable to mere excursion craft. The American ships of ocean-going coastwise fleets are notably well built and carefully navigated, and of late years grave disasters on outside coastwise routes between New England, New York and the gulf of Mexico have been few and far between. Even when ships have been damaged or lost, passengers have been saved by the steady valor of the officers, many of them New England-born and bred, who well maintain the traditions of American seamanship.

One of the largest of the new American steam lines in foreign trade in the Ward line from New York to the West Indies and Mexico. A statement of the port captain shows that on the well known passenger steamer Morro Castle the boats and rafts have a total capacity of 329 persons, while the ship carries no more than 331 persons, passengers and crew. There is a margin of safety also on the other passenger ships of this line, which annually carries such a host of American travellers to the Caribbean. A statement of the Savannah line from New York and Boston shows that the nine passenger steamers of the line have lifeboats sufficient for 2171 persons, while the total number of people carried is limited by law to 1850.

STATUS OF DEMOCRACTIC CANDIDATES.

Governor Foss, of Massachusetts, who is a receptive candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, stated what is true the other day when he said that a man may not feel sure of being the choice of the Baltimore convention because he happens just now to be high in the count of the delegates. The statement is particularly true of the Democratic situation because nearly 600 delegates, or more than a majority of the convention, remain to be chosen during the present month.

At present Champ Clark holds the lead, but Woodrow Wilson keeps close behind and any day may forge to the front. The question uppermost in the minds of many Democrats is whether Speaker Clark can carry Hearst and all that Hearst implies. For example, if the New York delegation of ninety votes, unpledged thus far, should declare for Wilson then the present standing of the two leading candidates would be reversed.

Aside from the fact that Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany boss, who is supposed to control the New York delegation, has no love for Hearst, the belief is growing in political circles that the delegation cannot be handled by any one man as a trading proposition because many of its members are sincere friends of Woodrow Wilson, and among them is Senator O'Gorman.

The uncertainty of the situation which has been increased by the two-thirds rule that governs the National Democratic Convention is causing some men to talk about Bryan as a man on whom all factions might unite with the help of a stampede, but there is no reason to doubt the sincerity of the frequent assertions made by the Nebraskan that he will not be a candidate.

THE DOMINION'S HALF CENTURY

How to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Confederation suitably need not distract the attention of the Government from its present and pressing problems; in fact, there is very little likelihood that it will in spite of the sudden and highly emotional pressure which is likely to be put upon Mr. Borden and his advisors for an immediate decision. Five years is a very considerable period of time to a country moving as rapidly as Canada is at present and there are several matters of more immediate importance which are in some need of solution.

The suggestion itself, however, is a perfectly legitimate one and its consideration can be enthusiastically commended to the Canadian people. In thinking on what has been done in the first half-century of Confederation, it will be impossible not to let our thoughts wander on to the other half of the picture—what we are going to do to round out consistently our hundred years of national life. As is our pride in the past, so should be our confidence in the future, and the best monument with which we can mark the first notable mile-stone of our national career will be the record of a people united in a common purpose and working out their common destiny in a spirit of mutual co-operation and understanding.

Editorial Notes

Information has just become available of the discovery of a most valuable and extensive deposit of graphite in the Province of Quebec. A highly mineralized belt is now known to exist in the County of Ottawa, Que., near St. Remi d'Amherst, and lying between Huberdeau Station, on the Canadian Northern, and Ste. Jovite, on the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Despite its past enlargement, the Canadian Pacific Railroad is still going ahead with its development work and expanding its facilities to keep pace with the growing demands in the West and North-West. The company will increase its rolling stock by $20,000. It is also to establish between twenty and thirty experimental farms throughout the western country to demonstrate the benefits of mixed farming.

It is argued that the Titanic disaster is partly responsible for the failure of the new Indian £3,000,000 loan offered in London. It was offered at 98, but the subscriptions as reported were merely nominal. Ordinarily a government loan at 3½ p. c. of this character, selling at 93, would have been popular. The failure is attributed to the insurance companies, which usually are liberal subscribers, but which are reserving their resources to meet Titanic claims.

The whole continent is interested in dried fruit from Southern California, and it will be good news to many that the peach crop has passed beyond the danger of frost, and that growers are thinning out in expectation of an unusually large yield. Packers are contracting at somewhat lower prices than last year. California has 11,000,000 peach trees, of which 4,000,000 are in Fresno County. The apricot outlook with 3,000,000 trees, is somewhat less promising.

It is reported that a New York brokerage house has purchased from the Grand Trunk Railway $4,000,000 4½ per cent. car trust notes, maturing serially in from six months to ten years. Proceeds of the notes will be used by the railways company to purchase 3,000 steel underframe box cars, 1,000 50-ton all-steel coal cars, 500 automobile cars and 500 refrigerator cars. The banking firm will shortly offer these notes for public sale. The price realized by the G.T.R. has not transpired.

Writers in the United States press, particularly in their effort to get the Irish vote, at the coming election, are penning long articles on Home Rule in Ireland. It is needless to say which way the argument goes. A brief extract reads: "I have tried to show that political differences in Ireland have their origin in class rather than in creed. It is still worth while to consider whether there is ground for the fears of those who honestly believe that home rule would mean government by priests."

Mrs. Lechance, my neighbor, looked well—she told me her health had been made by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I only thought of pills as a physic, but now I know that Dr Hamilton's Pills are more, for they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels—made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks as I never had before. If You Like a Little Quiet Fun

Ask some pompous person if Grape-Nuts Food helps build the brain.

Chances are you get a withering sneer and a hiss of denunciation.

Then sweetly play the learned toad.

Ask him to tell you the analysis of brain material and the analysis of Grape Nuts.

"Don't know? Why, I supposed you based your opinions on exact knowledge instead of pushing out a conclusion like you would a sneeze."

"Well, now your tire is punctured, let's sit down like good friends and repair it."

The bulky materials of brain are WATER AND ALBUMIN, but these things cannot blend without a little worker known as Phosphate of Potash, defined as a "mineral salt."

One authority, Geohegan, shows in his analysis of brain, 5.33 per cent. total of mineral salts, over one-half being Phosphoric Acid and Potash combined, (Phosphate of Potash) 2.91 per cent.

Beaunis, another authority, shows Phosphoric Acid and Potash (Phosphate of Potash) more than one-half the total mineral salts, being 73.44 per cent. in a total of 101.07.

Analysis of Grape-Nuts shows Potassium and Phosphorus (which join and make Phosphate of Potash) is considerable more than one-half of all the mineral salts in the food.

Dr. Geo. W. Carey, an authority on the constituent elements of the body, says: "The gray matter of the brain is controlled entirely by the inorganic cell-salt, Potassium Phosphate (Phosphate of Potash). This salt unites with albumin and by the addition of oxygen creates nerve fluid or the gray matter of the brain. Of course, there is a trace of other salts and other organic matter in nerve fluid, but Potassium Phosphate is the chief factor, and has the power within itself to attract, by its own law of affinity, all things needed to manufacture the elixir of life."

Further on he says: "The beginning and end of the matter is to supply the lacking principle, and in molecular form, exactly as nature furnishes it in vegetables, fruits and grain. To supply deficiencies—this is the only law of cure."

Brain is made of Phosphate of Potash as the principal Mineral Salt, added to albumin and water.

GRAPE-NUTS contains that element as more than one-half of all its mineral salts.

Every day's use of brain wears away a little.

Suppose your kind of food DOES NOT CONTAIN Phosphate of Potash.

How are you going to rebuild to-day the worn-out parts of yesterday?

And if you don't, why shouldn't nervous prostration and brain-fag result.

Remember, Mind does not work well on a brain that is even partly broken down from lack of nourishment.

It is true that other food besides Grape-Nuts contains varying quantities of Brain food.

Plain wheat and barley do. But in Grape-Nuts there is A CERTAINTY.

And if the elements demanded by Nature, are eaten, the life forces have the needed material to build from.

A healthy brain is important, if one would "do things" in this world.

A man who sneers at "Mind" sneers at the best and least understood part of himself. That part which some folks believe links us to the Infinite.

Mind asks for a healthy brain upon which to act, and Nature has defined a way to make a healthy brain and renew it day by day as it is used up from work of the previous day.

Nature's way to rebuild is by the use of food which supplies the things required.

FROM THE EDITOR.
He Forgot That He Had a Stomach

Talking of food, there is probably no professional man subjected to a greater, more wearing mental strain than the responsible editor of a modern newspaper.

To keep his mental faculties constantly in good working order, the editor must keep his physical powers up to the highest rate of efficiency. Nothing will so quickly upset the whole system as badly selected food and a disordered stomach. It therefore follows that he should have right food, which can be readily assimilated, and which furnishes true brain nourishment.

"My personal experience in the use of Grape-Nuts and Postum," writes a Philadelphia editor, "so exactly agrees with your advertised claim as to their merits that any further exposition in that direction would seem to be superfluous. They have benefited me so much, however, during the five years that I have used them, that I do not feel justified in withholding my testimony.

"General 'high living' with all that the expression implies as to a generous table, brought about indigestion, in my case, with restlessness at night, and lassitude in the morning, accompanied by various pains and distressing sensations during working hours.

"The doctor diagnosed the condition as 'catarrh of the stomach,' and prescribed various medicines, which did me no good. I finally 'threw physics to the dogs,' gave up tea and coffee and heavy meat dishes, and adopted Grape-Nuts and Postum as the chief articles of my diet.

"I can conscientiously say, and I wish to say it with all the emphasis possible to the English language, that they have benefited me as medicines never did, and more than any other food that ever came on my table.

"My experience is that Grape-Nuts food has steadied and strengthened both brain and nerves to a most positive degree. How it does it, I cannot say, but I know that after breakfasting on Grape-Nuts food one actually forgets he has a stomach, let alone 'stomach trouble.' It is, in my opinion, the most beneficial as well as the most economical food on the market, and has absolutely no rival." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

KAISER THREATENS TO TEACH LESSON TO ALSACE-LORRAINE

Strassburg, Germany, May 14.—The Kaiser to-day warned State Secretary Von Bulach, of Alsace-Lorraine, and Mayor Schwander, Strassburg, that he would make the territory a mere Prussian province if the hostile sentiment towards Germany is not modified.

Discussing the political situation in Alsace-Lorraine, where strong anti-German and pro-French sentiment is rising, and where the Diet attempted to strike the Kaiser's allowance from the civil list, the Kaiser said to the State Secretary and to the Mayor:—

"YOU NOW KNOW ONLY THE BEST SIDE OF US. YOU MAY ALSO LEARN THE OTHER SIDE OF US. IF THIS CONTINUES WE WILL RECALL YOUR CONSTITUTION AND MAKE YOU SIMPLY A PRUSSIAN PROVINCE."

The Kaiser's warning followed a demonstration and manoeuvres by a squadron of military aeroplanists, under Prince Henry, on the French frontier at Metz, which has aroused a storm of discussion on both sides of the border.

ROOSEVELT MAY WIN NEW JERSEY

Taft's Managers Alarmed At Growing Strength—South Is Breaking

New York, May 14.—In a review of the Presidential outlook, The Herald says: It is in Ohio where the big blows will be struck. Both the President and Mr. Roosevelt have already made campaigns there and stirred up the old home of Presidents from end to end. And so vital is the contest regarded that both will again visit it. Mr. Taft will spend the last week before the primaries in Ohio, and will make eighty five speeches in addition to interpolations from the end of his car. Senator La Follette also will spend several days within the borders of the State directing his shafts at Mr. Roosevelt. Before Mr. Roosevelt entered the conflict, Senator La Follette had a big following in Ohio. Now it has all gone to Mr. Roosevelt. One of the Herald's correspondents wires that the President is stronger in Ohio than he was a month ago. Mr. Roosevelt, he adds is weaker.

President's Fighting Attitude.

Mr. Roosevelt is assurred of the sixteen delegates yet to be elected from West Virginia. He is assured also of the twenty from North Carolina. In Minnesota there is a fight for the twenty four delegates. The President has gained strength there as a result of his new fighting attitude.

In New Jersey, where the third big primary contest takes place on May 18, they will choose twenty-eight delegates. There the Roosevelt movement, according to the Herald's despatches, is growing. The Taft managers did not regard it as formidable a month ago, nor very seriously regard it two weeks ago.

Southern Delegations

From Georgia and Alabama comes word that the delegation will stick to the last for President Taft. From Louisiana comes word that the delegates there will be with the President on the first ballot, and after that with the strongest man. Six of the South Carolina delegates have formally announced that they will vote for Mr. Roosevelt. They say that six more will follow them.

From the strictly political point of view the contest is the most remarkable ever known in the present parties. Republican leaders both here and in Washington are "up in the air." The Roosevelt gains have amazed them. They say that they still regard it as likely that the President will have a majority, but add that in a battle which changes so kaleidoscopically as has the present, they hesitate to make any prediction.

BOARD OF TRADE

bring industries? The speaker then gave a graphic account of the history of Detroit, Chicago, and other American cities. "The City Beautiful" promotes health and wealth. If the city exercised its rights it would do away with a lot of ramshackle buildings. The cost of grading the streets, and railways, should be studied. The speaker next showed an enlarged map of the city. Peterborough, in his opinion, has one of the finest opportunities of improving itself of any city in Canada. It may be thought Peterborough's growth is all going South, but that is a question. Some of those present might live to see Peterborough with half a million of population. He instanced Pittsburg, Pa. The growth of several American cities be mentioned, was due to their Board of Trade. Canada is attracting the attention of the world, and Peterborough may become a great centre. Here the environments of the coming children are made. It is the class of people present at the meeting of the evening who will help Peterborough to grow. If Peterborough could be known as the most attractive city in Canada, in an artistic point of view people would come here. A Board of Trade is as necessary to a City's progress as a board of Aldermen. There is an army of knockers in the City of Peterborough. Too many people have little faith in the city's growth. The speaker then found fault with the people of the city for their conservatism. Still, results for Peterborough are sure if the people and Board of Trade stick together.

The speaker said a most instructive lecture had been given. Dr. Morrison said the address just heard was one of the most instructive he had ever heard. The doctor moved a vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening. This was seconded by Mr. Gillespie.

Mr. Morris asked that the co-operation of the Board be given to the Canadian Club towards a grand celebration on Dominion Day. A Committee was appointed to act in conjunction with the Canadian Club.

IMPROVEMENTS ON TRENT CANAL

Question You have had some trouble with one corner of the pier there, have you not?

Answer—Yes, there was a settlement.

Question—Are you having it repaired?

Answer—Yes.

Question—What will be the cost of repairing it?

Answer—Between $100 and $200.

Question—Do you consider the thing serious?

Answer—Not at all.

Question—Is that dock so constructed that piers can be extended and slips built?

Answer—Certainly.

Question—Is it the intention of the Government to extend it?

Answer—I cannot answer that question. If business warrants it, no doubt the Government will add the slips to the present dock when they are required.

Question—Is that all the information you have for me?

Answer—That is all I have for you, and I do not propose to enter into any more newspaper controversy.

Question—Well, I might ask you if you consider all the work that is done on this canal at different places, that you hold yourself responsible?

Answer—Certainly I do, and all the work that has been done on this canal on the Maintenance I am responsible for the way it has been carried out.

On Monday night there was quite a severe frost. The grass yesterday morning made that swishing sound that is usually heard in the early fall under ones feet. Will there be skating on the 1st of July?

ANOTHER BRAVE AIR-FLIGHT

Commander Sampson Starts in Fog, But Has to Descend.

London, May 14.

THE battleship Hibernia yesterday conveyed Commander Sampson with his Short hydro-aeroplane in which to fly to Burntuck Island, near Sheerness, but owing to fog had to descend on the Kent coast near Westgate.

A torpedo-boat went to the rescue, and towed the hydro-aeroplane into Sheerness harbor, Commander Sampson and a brother officer being seated on the machine.

Nardini, who has been expelled from France reached Dover yesterday after a flight from Calais.

The first hydro-aeroplane flight was seen in Deal Harbor yesterday morning. Just as the mackerel boats were landing their night's catch a few persons about the shore and Sandwich Downs were surprised to see a strange machine rising from one of the battleships in the harbor. Soon all Deal knew of the happening, and the populace turned out by hundreds.

It was a beautiful sight in the early morning. After a circular flight of the harbor and the Downs, the machine took to water, which was as calm as a mill pond, with no wind.

After skimming over the surface for a considerable distance, it arose gracefully into the air, and disappeared in the haze toward Ramsgate, the warship following shortly afterward.

There was a forty-mile-an-hour wind at the Hendon aerodrome yesterday afternoon, but despite this the crowd saw thrilling flights by Hucks and Hamel.

Hucks had great difficulty in balancing his monoplane in the second flight. Amid lightning and thunder he rose 1,000 feet, when he had to volplane abruptly to escape disaster.

Hamel also narrowly escaped a serious accident as his aeroplane swung round and round in a thirty-six-mile gale. When he landed safely, the relief of the spectators was voiced in cheers.

THE TIMES "Want" Page has passed the experimental stage; its success is now assured. A word to the wise is sufficient.

A GOOD EXCUSE

Once, when Ned Hamilton was managing editor of the San Francisco "Examiner," the other morning papers came out with a sensational story of a shooting affair in an up-State California city. It was a good story. The circumstances were exciting, the persons involved had a social position and there was a neat little scandal in it. The other papers had columns and the "Examiner" hadn't a line.

Hamilton called the news editor.

"Fire that correspondent!" he shouted. "Fire him by wire! Fire him by airship or carrier-pigeon, or any other way—but fire him! Imagine him getting left on a story like that! Fire him—and do it quick!"

The news editor went out. Presently he came back and said:—

"Mr. Hamilton, I think you'll have to excuse our correspondent this time."

"Excuse him!" roared Hamilton "Excuse him for getting us beaten on such a story! I shall not! Fire him, I say—and do it now!"

"But, Mr. Hamilton," protested the news editor "there are circumstances——"

"There can't be circumstances that will excuse him!" said Hamilton. "Fire him, I say!"

"Really, Mr Hamilton, I can't do it."

"Why not?"

"Well, you see, the 'Examiner' correspondent has a good excuse for not sending the story. He is the man who was killed!"

WORKING WITH TEASPOONS

A steam "navvy" at work had attracted a large number of spectators, including two Irishmen, who, judging by their appearance, were toilers temporarily out of employment. As the big shovel at a single lick scooped up half a ton of earth and dumped it upon a cart, one of the Irishmen remarked:—

"What a shame, to think of them digging up earth in that way!"

"What do ye mane?" asked his companion.

"Well," said the other, "that machine is taking the bread out of the mouths of hundreds of laborers who could do their work with their picks and shovels."

"Right you are, Barney," said the other fellow.

Just then a man who had been looking on remarked:—

"Look here, you fellows, if that digging would give work to a hundred men with shovels and picks, why not get a thousand men and give them teaspoons to do the job?"

The Irishmen, to their credit, saw the force of the remark, and joined heartily in the laugh that followed.

Send us your order for Antignol

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other non-combustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold tement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

A STORY OF KITCHENER.

The Disheveled Dervish Who Was Captured in the Desert.

The following incident, involving Kitchener's ability to disguise himself, was described by one who served with the Essex regiment in a campaign against the dervishes:

"I was acting corporal of the guard over a large number of 'gentlemen of the desert' whom we had taken prisoners. In the course of my rounds a captive within the tent drew my attention, and I was surprised to hear in good English the request:

"'Corporal I wish to get out of this.'

"I of course reported the occurrence to the sergeant of the guard, only to be met with the curt reply:

"'Let the fool stay where he is!'

"I continued my rounds and was again met with the request. Again I reported the matter, and this time the reply was as curt, but a bit stronger, so I went on my rounds again. As I passed the spot this time the voice from within said:

"'Say, corporal, you are of the Essex regiment?'

"I answered that I was, and the prisoner said:

"'Well, tell Mr. B. that I want to speak to him.'

"'What name?' I asked.

"'Kitchener,' came the reply, and I at once reported accordingly to the sergeant.

"He immediately made for the prisoners' quarters, and I shall never forget that meeting. The disheveled 'dervish' was in reality the Lord Kitchener that was to be, who had been out spying among the enemy and had apparently been taken prisoner by his own troops."—London Globe.

FAMOUS FEEDERS.

Peter the Great and Louis XIV. Had Fairly Good Appetites.

Louis XIV., le Grand Monarque, could wield a lusty knife at the banqueting board. It is related of this French ruler that "he would eat at a meal four platefuls of soup, a whole pheasant, a partridge, a plateful of salad, mutton hashed with garlic, two good sized slices of ham and a dish of pastry, finishing the repast with fruits and sweetmeats"—pretty fair for a king who, we are informed by one historian, dined in public, "and the privilege of seeing him eat was eagerly sought after." No admission was charged, as far as can be learned.

In the Bodleian library at Oxford there is preserved an innkeeper's bill for breakfast eaten at Godalming, Surrey, by Peter the Great. The czar and twenty companions managed to dispose of half a sheep, a quarter of a lamb, ten pullets, three ducks, twelve chickens, eighty-four eggs, three quarts of brandy and six quarts of mulled wine, with salad in proportion. For a little snack picked up at noon Peter and his merry crew got away with a sheep, five ribs of beef, three-quarters of a lamb, fourteen pullets, fourteen rabbits and a great quantity of brandy and wine. Peter's taste in tipple ran to brandy and hot pepper, a harmless decoction for a copper riveted throat and armor plate stomach.

BLACK'S SCHOOL

A certain professor was one day, with some friends, waiting for a train at a wayside station. He thought he would beguile the tedium of waiting and show off his smartness at the expense of a half-witted "natural" who did odd jobs about the place. Hailing the poor creature somewhat ostentatiously while he gingerly held his cigar at the tips of his fingers, he said:

"I say, Jamie, were you ever at college?"

"No, sir," said Jamie, "but I've been at the schule" (school).

"Indeed," replied the would-be wit, "and who had the honor of being your schoolmaster?"

"Maister Black," replied Jamie.

"Why," said the pompous gentleman with a twinkle in his eyes, "that was my schoolmaster, too."

"D'ye tell me," said Jamie, with a glance rather at the professor's friends than himself; "man, who wad hae thocht that auld Black could hae turned out two like us."

MERCHANT KILLED BY NEGRO WIFE BEATER

Shreveport, La., May 13.—Considerable feeling has been caused by the tragedy of which Ike Silverstein, a merchant and fisherman, Tuesday night was the victim, when the old man fell, his abdomen pierced by a bullet from his own pistol, fired by Tommy Fields, or Whitelaw, a brutal negro. Fields had been beating his wife, and Silverstein was going up the steps to interfere in her behalf when the negro fired. Two bullets lodged in the old man's body, causing almost instant death.

Detectives and police later hauled Fields from beneath the house.

Silverstein, about sixty years old, resided here many years. Before becoming a fisherman and small merchant he was in the tiemaking business.

You Can't Cure Catarrh by Swallowing Drugs

Cough Syrup, Tablets and Sprays Sicken the Stomach But Don't Reach the Germs of Catarrh—Hence Their Failure to Help.

To cure an ailment in the throat or chest, to rout out Catarrh or Asthma, it is essential that the medicine be conveyed direct to the affected parts. This is why no other remedy has achieved such world-wide success as Catarrhozone, which alone can be breathed in one second to every air cell in the breathing organs. The healing vapors of Catarrhozone mix with the breath and descend through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, to the deepest air cells in the lungs—all parts are saturated with the rich, piney essences that ease, heal and cure.

Catarrhozone has entirely displaced the old-fashioned remedies, such as cough syrups, sprays, tablets, and sedative powders. It contains none of the opium, chloral and drowsy narcotics so commonly found in liquid cough and catarrhal remedies.

Couldn't Breathe—"Catarrhozone Cured.

"No one ever contracted a more obstinate attack of nasal catarrh than I suffered a month ago," writes Mr. G. E. Root, a well-known resident of Bridgetown, W.I. "My head ached terrifically, I sneezed about every three minutes, but still my nostrils were entirely closed and I couldn't breathe through them. Ten minutes inhaling Catarrhozone gave me a little relief, so I continued to use Catarrhozone every hour, and before the day was out I had improved. Catarrhozone quickly cured me. I am well ever since."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhozone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhozone lasts two months, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c and 50c. All reliable dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Saleman Wanted.

Salesman wanted for Peterborough by a large concern with offices throughout Canada. Rapid promotion to position of responsibility for the right man. State age, and qualifications. Address Box 21, Times Office.

Lou Brooks Makes Good.

Mr. Louis M. Brooks, son of Mr. J. M. Brooks, of this city, judging by a local article in the Napanee Express, is making a big success of his new business in that town. Lou is having his store painted and decorated and hardwood floors laid down. Peterborough boys seem to succeed wherever they go.

Lindsay for Dry Methods.

The Lindsay local option campaign opens there two weeks from now. Prominent outside clergymen will occupy the pulpits of the Cambridge-st Methodist and St. Andrew's Presbyterian churches of that town. A boy soprano will assist in the cause by singing in the Academy of Music there.

Peterborough Timber Is Shipped.

The Mann Lumber Co. exported a fine consignment of timber to the old country yesterday morning. The goods were loaded on to trucks at the east end of Sherbrooke street, and comprises six square pieces of rock elm 50 ft. x 16-18 in. square and eighty logs of rock elm and pine. One of the pine logs contained 1640 ft. of lumber.

Lindsay Shows Good Ambition.

Lindsay seems to have ambition as well as a broad main street. On Monday the two brick yards there pulled the strings attached to their whistles and blew a blast to proclaim that each intended to break all past records. The means of showing their ambition may seem childish to some; nevertheless, the right spirit is there.

Prominent S.O.E. Member Goes West

Mr. Fred Smith, who has been a valued employee of the Canadian General Electric Co., has gone to Vancouver, B. C., where he has secured a good position. Mr. Smith was a prominent member of Peterborough Lansdowne Lodge, S.O.E. The society has lost one of its loyal members in Brother Fred Smith, but what is Peterborough's loss is Vancouver's gain.

FORMER LOCAL MAN IN B. C. POLITICS.

Mr. R. F. Green, a former Peterborough boy, is the probable choice of the Conservative party in the Kootenay bye-election. Mr. Green left here for the west in 1885. He has from time to time entertained many of our citizens who went west. Mr. Green is a former member of the McBride administration and has more than once represented his constituency at Ottawa.

Local People to Visit the West.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Belleghem leave next month for Edmonton, Alberta, where they will be the guests of their daughter Mrs. (Dr.) Prust. Dr. Prust, since going to that city, has not only done a lucrative practice, but has made some good real estate transactions. As an instance, the doctor a short time ago, purchased three lots in Edmonton for $1600, that he recently disposed of for $6,000.

A Lakefield Social Event.

This evening at 7.30 a bus and a number of automobiles, and incidentally some thirty-five or forty of the younger generation of Peterborough's "400" leave the corner of Brock and Water streets for Lakefield. The occasion is a surprise party organized by Mrs. Hon. Lawrence Graham, to be held at "Harbourne," the residence of Mrs. Harry Fitzgerald, of that village. Mrs. Hewitt will act as chaperon of the party.

Water Commissioners May Travel.

At the regular meeting of the Peterborough Water Commissioners, there were present Mr. T. F. Matthews (chairman), Mr. W. H. Hill, and Mr. W. H. Moore.

Moved by W. H. Hill, seconded by W. H. Moore, that the annual subscription to the American Water Works Association be forwarded and that the acting superintendent and any of the Water Commissioners who desired to attend the convention, be given permission to do so.—Carried.

Local Man Pleased With the West.

Lindsay Warder: Mr. G. L. Hay of Peterborough, was in town Saturday and in conversation with a Warder reporter, stated that he had just returned from a trip through the Canadian west. He was greatly taken up with the entire country, but singled out the city of Saskatoon as the best in the west, and one that is bound to boom, having a great future before it. In fact, Mr. Hay is so much taken up with the busy western city that he has decided to take his wife and family back west in the fall. There Mr. Hay will enter the real estate business.

Children Get a Mud Bath.

Yesterday morning at about 8.30 a load of wood was proceeding westward on Hunter street. On the tail board were seated two children, a boy and a girl, about the size of well nourished grasshoppers. As the big rig reached Water street, where the mud was deep and sticky, there was a slight hole. The waggon gave a jump, and the two kids fell from their perch into the black mud. They rolled over and over, and then, looking at one another, with fingers to their eyes, bawled loudly. The driver, owing to the rattle of his rig, did not even know of the children's presence on his waggon, nor of the little ones' fall. Besides gathering a few pounds of sticky mud on their raiment, and having their cheeks lined with tear marks, the children sustained no damage.

MRS. WHITTON'S CASE BEFORE NEW YORK PRESS

The New York Herald of recent date, referring to a verdict given a local woman, regarding a horse, says

An unusual incident occurred when a woman appeared as a witness before the Board. She was Mrs. W. J. Whitton, of Peterborough, Ont., Canada. About a year ago Mrs. Whitton's husband purchased a mare, Lady of the Lake, known then as Sume Hal, of Waterloo, N. Y. He bought her in good faith, and intended to race her in Canada. After arriving there he found that the mare had been suspended as a "ringer" in 1910. Despite the fact that he could have raced the mare on numerous non-association tracks in Canada, Mr. Whitton believed there could be no trouble about getting her reinstated.

Accordingly last December, Mr. Whitton sent a friend to plead for the reinstatement and the application was turned down. Mr. Whitton appeared yesterday morning with a second application and pleaded his own case, only to have it again denied. He had the case reconsidered at the afternoon session and again was the victim of the iron-clad rule of the association to the effect that a "ringer" shall ever be valueless. Mr. Whitton pleaded again this morning and the result was that the Board consented to hear Mrs. Whitton.

BODY OF KING FREDERICK LAY FOR HOURS DEAD AND UNRECOGNIZED IN SAILORS' HOSPITAL

DENMARK'S KING IS DEAD QUEEN ALEXANDRA'S BROTHER

His Majesty, With the Queen and Three Children were in Hamburg Incognitu, and Died Suddenly.

Hamburg, Germany, May 15.—King Frederick VIII of Denmark, died alone, unrecognized, and unattended, on the streets of Hamburg, and his body lay in a public hospital for hours before anyone identified it. The King was a brother of Queen Alexander, the Queen-mother of Britain, and uncle of King George.

The King, travelling incognito, arrived here Monday on his return from a long trip to the South, where he had been convalescing from a serious attack of inflammation of the lungs. With the Queen and Royal suite, he took quarters at the Hamburger Hof Hotel.

At ten o'clock last night the King left the hotel unaccompanied for his usual stroll before retiring. He had gone only a short distance when he was overcome on the street by a sudden attack of apoplexy. He fell unconscious to the pavement and not being recognized as a person of so great prominence, was rushed to the nearest hospital in an automobile. He died there a few minutes later, still unrecognized

The members of the King's suite became alarmed over his failure to return to the hotel after a reasonable time. They called in the proprietor and a search was begun. The searchers found His Majesty dead at the hospital, and brought his body back to the hotel with them.

Felt Fine Yesterday.

The King was regarded by his physicians as completely restored to health by his trip to the south. Yesterday he felt particularly well and during the day expressed joy at his expected return to Copenhagen today. He remarked that he felt refreshed and completely restored to health.

It was announced this morning that arrangements for taking the body to Denmark would be completed during the day. His Majesty's relatives, and Royalties throughout Europe were notified of his death before daybreak.

The flags on all the public buildings here, where he had repeatedly been a welcome guest were half-masted to-day.

Children Were With Them.

King Frederick and Queen Louisa who had travelled here from Nice under the incognito of the Count and Countess of Kronberg had their three youngest children, Princess Thyra, Prince Gustav and Princess Dagmar with them.

King Frederick had been undergoing a course of treatment for arterio sclerosis, with which he had been troubled for a considerable time. He had also suffered from an attack of inflammation of the lungs, but this had been completely overcome.

Dropped in a Heap.

When he left the Hamburger Hof last night after eating a hearty dinner the King strolled toward the "Goose Market," one of the principal squares in the business section of the city, and which is just around the corner from the hotel. A few minutes later some pedestrians on the 'Goose Market' noticed an elderly gentleman fall in a heap on the sidewalk. He was dressed in an ordinary business suit and appeared to be a well-to-do tradesman.

The passersby ran to the spot to assist the old gentleman, but found that he was already dead.

A policeman was called, who had the body conveyed in an automobile to the Sailor's Hospital. The physicians on duty there on examination, expressed the opinion that death had been instantaneous.

There was nothing on the body which afforded a clue to its identity, and it was placed in the mortuary of the hospital.

TWO SONS ARE ACCUSED OF NOT SUPPORTING MOTHER

Toronto, May 15.—A case interesting from the legal standpoint as to whether or not sons may be compelled to support their mother, and in testing which the prosecuting Crown Attorney has gone back to the reign of Elizabeth to the English Criminal Code enacted in 1601, came up in this morning's police court, when Charles and William Hardy were charged with leaving their aged mother, Mary Hardy, in want.

The Crown stated it was the first case of the kind which had ever been laid in an Ontario court, and Magistrate Kingsford was somewhat puzzled to know why the charge had been laid at all.

"Under section 10 of the Criminal Code" the Crown Attorney explained "it is enacted that any law which was in operation in England up to 1791 should become law in this country unless there was something in the code to expressly repeal. So far as we can see there is nothing in the Criminal Code to provide a remedy for the same offence. We contend that the English law of Elizabeth's tiffle, covering this point, holds good now."

Magistrate Kingsford smiled, and said it was something which he must have time to look up. For that reason the case was adjourned a week.

ROYALTY MAY NOT BE ABLE TO BE AT WOODBINE MEETING

Ottawa, May 15.—It is impossible yet to state what effect the death of King Frederick of Denmark, uncle of King George, and brother-in-law of the Duke of Connaught, will have upon the social programme of H. R. H. the Governor-General and Duchess of Connaught, who are scheduled to arrive in Toronto to-morrow.

As a matter of fact, Government House has no official knowledge that the King of Denmark is dead. Government House takes no cognizance of what appears in the newspapers. A monarch is not dead to Government House until an official message is received announcing his death. Thus it happens that this morning the Royal standard was flying mast head over Rideau Hall, instead of being half-masted. The Duke of Connaught went out to the Horse Show, and there was no outward indication that death had visited one of the Royal families allied to the reigning monarch of Britain.

But just as soon as King George notifies his uncle as to the death of King Frederick then plans will be changed. How far that change will affect the programme laid out for their Royal Highnesses' visit to Toronto cannot yet be stated. But it is almost certain that it will have the effect of at least preventing the attendance of their Royal Highnesses at the races of the Ontario Jockey Club on Saturday next.

A period of official mourning will be proclaimed, but for how long a period will not be known until King George signifies his wishes.

OFFERS $100 REWARD FOR BIBBER SLAYER

Lewiston, Me., May 15—That the local authorities as well as the private detectives who have been working on the Bibber murder case for the past 12 days are as much at sea as they were when Bibber's body was found in front of his home on Oak street, seems to be evident to-night. Detective Adams of the Pinkerton force has been joined by Detective Green, but if they have made any progress they have not made it public.

At a meeting of the Lewiston board of trade this evening a reward of $100 was offered for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of Bibber. This is the first reward to be offered.

Important Ruling Concerning a Bank That Failed

THE DEPOSITORS LOSE

It is Generally Thought that Depositors of Big Louisiana Bank That Smashed will Not Get Their Money.

New Orleans, La., May 15

THE ruling has been handed down by Judge Theard, in the civil court, in the matter of the rules taken by several depositors in the wrecked Teutonia Bank and Trust Company to compel the liquidator, T. Walter Danziger to return to them certain checks, notes and cash deposited in the institution on the day before the crash came and when the bank was already in an insolvent condition to the knowledge of those of its officials who accepted the deposits. The State Board of Health, Frank Beck, E. Wernberg, and numerous others took out the rules.

Judge Theard declared that the court would order the liquidator to return the checks or the amount which they represented and which the liquidator had collected in cashing them.

Probable Money Won't Be Returned.

In the matter of the rules taken by depositors to compel the return of cash deposited since the bank fell into insolvency though such insolvency was concealed, Judge Theard declared that he would reserve final judicial finding for a later day. Yet he was free to venture the opinion that on the face of the facts and in the light of the law the return of such amounts can not be forced, for the reason that, unlike the checks deposited, there is no way in which to establish the identity of the cash deposited.

In deciding that the checks must be returned to the owners and depositors thereof, Judge Theard settled a question which the entire bar of New Orleans has been discussing at much length since the filing of the first rule taken against the liquidator.

Judge Theard's Opinion.

The court stated that it had been guided in this judgment by a decision rendered by Judge Dufour in the State Court of Appeal in the case of N. St Amant vs. Bank of Commerce, on the rule of Gideon Townsend & Co. to compel the liquidators to return to that company several checks which it had deposited in the bank for collection.

THE LOCKS DAM SLIDE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was yesterday asked to sign a petition to the Dominion Government, asking that they make arrangements for easy carrying over of small craft at the locks. This is an important matter, for a great many canoe and skiff owners. It would not cost the government much and would be a great convenience to Peterborough. There is, however, a deeper meaning in the improvements asked for. Should they be done, hundreds of people would be saved from danger of drowning. At least two valuable lives would have been saved in the past few years, had proper, and easy facilities existed for handling small boats at that spot.

THE SANITARY INSPECTOR.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—There is no doubt but what Mr. Spence, the new Sanitary Inspector is doing good work, as good work as his present environments allow. He has, however, a driver on his staff, whose manners and language are open to a big improvement. This driver on Tuesday went to a private residence yard. Here he told the lady of the house, in language more strong than polite, that some ashes or material she had on hand, he knew, belonged to last winter's supply. The lady assured him that the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co. had cleaned out everything in the way of ashes, etc., within the past ten days or two weeks, and that as she or her husband paid heavy taxes, she had a right to have the ashes taken away. The driver turned, in a threatening way, and replied, "If you pay so much taxes you had better sell your property and get out of town. Fortunately, Mr. Spence happened along, just at the critical moment and poured oil on the troubled waters, telling the driver to remove the stuff. I think, Mr. Editor, that city employes like this driver might show common courtesy in dealing with those whose taxes pay their wages.

FOUR MEN ARE DRIFTING ON WATERS OF GEORGIAN BAY

Wiarton, Ont., May 15.—For 68 hours, practically without food, and drifting about in a launch on the roughest sea ever known on the Georgian Bay, Philip Clarke, Jack Pyett, Thomas Ellis, Ronald McIntyre, all natives of the Manitoulin Islands, were picked up by the barge Tempest of Toledo, 30 miles from Cove Island and brought to this port safely this morning. It was a sight to make strong men week to see them being carried in the arms of others to the shore.

Their story is as follows: At 8.30 Saturday evening they left Providence Bay for their homes at Michael's Bay, a distance of ten miles. After they had gone about five miles their engine played out—the gasoline was done. They had a five gallon can full on board, but to their dismay they found that the rocking of the launch had knocked the spout off, that the water which had come into the boat had gone into the can, and consequently they were without power.

Blew 60 Miles an Hour.

A strong northeast wind blew them directly out into the lake. All that

ADMIT PLOT TO KILL MOTHER

New Jersey Boy Thought He Would Get $25,000 by Her Death

Patterson, N. J., May 15—Admitting that for weeks he had daily planned to murder his mother, only to lose heart when the time came, Lester F. Snyder, 18, was committed to-day to wait the outcome of wounds he inflicted on his mother and his aged grandmother as they lay in bed. After shooting them, the boy tried to beat them to death with the butt end of the revolver. Both will recover.

Young Snyder lived with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Snyder, and the latter's mother, Mrs. Margaret Devoe, on Park avenue, this city. The two women slept on the second floor and the boy on the floor above. Early today Mrs. Devoe was awakened by footsteps outside her room. She awakened her daughter. As she did the door was thrust open and a male figure in the doorway began firing. Four shots were fired, the last striking Mrs. Devoe in the left breast.

Then the figure at the door rushed over and began beating the women about the head. They jumped up and ran outside, alarming the neighborhood. The wounded women were rushed to the general hospital and police called.

Detectives arrested Lester, whom they found rambling about the house. He insisted at first he had walked in his sleep and awoke to find himself in his mother's bedroom with the revolver in his hand. Cross examined in court by Recorder Carroll, he broke down and admitted he had tried murder.

He said he had planned the crime for weeks, because he believed if his mother died he would receive a bequest of $25,000. He insisted he had no intention of harming his grandmother.

ELEVEN WERE DROWNED

Recovery of Woman's Body Near Wauregan, Ill., Shows How Party Perished.

Wauregan, Ill., May 15—The body of Mrs. Louis Hansen was found floating in Fox Lake to-day, confirming fears that all of a boating party of seven went to death in the storm that swept the lake last night.

The bodies of the other six have not been found, and as the boat is also missing it is believed the bodies went down with the boat and are with it at the bottom of the lake. Dynamite will be used in an effort to bring the bodies to the surface.

The party had started in a small launch to the Bay View Hotel, for an evening party. Screams and cries of help were heard shortly after the boat set out in the storm.

The party included Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hansen, Jack Hoefer, Louis Truschke and Mr. and Mrs. J. Hume, all of Chicago, and George Russell, of Englewide, Ill.

Boatmen say the little boat had a capacity of but four and when the storm came up it quickly filled.

TRAVERS TELLS HOW NESBITT FINANCED THE FARMERS BANK

Former General Manager, Still in Toronto, Throws More Light on the Proceedings.

Toronto, May 15.—A man from the jail brought W. R. Travers to Osgoode Hall this afternoon to testify at the Government investigation into the circumstances which caused the wreck of the Farmers' Bank. The inquiry was resumed before Chief Justice Sir William Meredith this afternoon.

W. R. Travers told of his part in the organization of the bank. He had an agreement, he said, with the provisional board that he should take over the charter and become manager. His relations with Mr. W. J. Lindsay were also explained. He admitted that prior to the Laidlaw suit, various complaints had been received concerning subscriptions, some on the grounds that the subscribers had been guaranteed large dividends, others claiming that the subscriptions had been taken under misrepresentation.

Not Asked to Return Charter.

Travers said that he had gone to see the Minister of Finance three times, and that at the end of the third interview, which lasted about twenty minutes, he received a charter. He emphatically denied that he had ever been asked to return it.

The witness hesitated to explain the real transaction which centred around a cheque for $10,000 dated December 6. The cheque was made out to Travers on account of commissions for subscriptions. It was cashed by Mr. Lindsay.

Travers said he would prefer not to say to whom the money had been paid, as there might be some doubt on this point. Mr. Hodgins believed that the question was relevant to the inquiry and Chief Justice Keredith upheld him.

"Five thousand dollars of that cheque was paid to Dr. Nesbitt," admitted the witness.

The $5,000 was paid by Nesbitt to Travers, who gave the latter a cheque of the Farmers Bank for $5,000 also charged to Travers' commissions. This cheque was used to pay for Dr. Nesbitt's stock and Travers had employed the $5,000 cash for some other purpose.

"Dr. Nesbitt had an arrangement with Mr. Lindsay by which the first $5,000 on his stock should be paid by Mr. Lindsay," Mr. Travers said.

The witness admitted that there was some reason for dealing with the cheque in this roundabout way. "There was a reason for hiding the transaction," he said, but could not remember what that reason was.

"My memory was not so good then as now," he said. "It has been contradicted so many times."

Travers and Major Beattie.

Mr. Hodgins wanted to know if the names of certain men had not been used as members of the Board after they had refused to have their names appear. He instanced the case of Major Beattie.

"So far as Major Beattie is concerned, I think he has a poor memory. Mr. Lindsay called him up by long distance phone and let me speak with him," Mr. Travers replied "He said, 'I have no objections.' He did not give his direct consent, but I inferred that he would be a member of the Board. I understood that Major Beattie, when his name was placed on the original prospectus, to have consented to have it there."

"You knew that Major Beattie had refused to act by his failure to subscribe for stock."

"Yes."

"Does that apply also to the names of John D. Ivey, W. S. Calvert Hon A. G. MacKay and Thomas Urquhart?"

"Yes."

"Was there anything said when you were in Ottawa about the untruthfulness of the subscription lists?" Mr. Hodgins asked.

"I did not think they were untruthful at that time," replied Travers.

His Lordship remarked that the list was already in the hands of the Minister of Finance, and Mr. Travers could not change it.

TRAIN HELD UP AND LARGE AMOUNT OF MONEY STOLEN

New Orleans, La., May 15. — Two masked men held up the New Orleans-New York Limited train No. 2, and Northeastern Railroad 8 miles north bound on the New Orleans south of Hattiesburg, Miss., shortly after midnight this morning and after dynamiting the safe in the express car, escaped on horses with a bundle containing $140,000. The passengers were not molested and no one was hurt. The train proceeded to Hattiesburg where the city and county officials were notified. Posses formed and mounted on horses started in pursuit of the robbers who it is said, took a northeasterly direction, evidently heading for the Alabama State line.

Express Car Demolished.

Five charges of dynamite were exploded in the express car, nearly demolishing it. A through safe destined from New Orleans to eastern points said to contain possibly $150,000.00, most of which was Government funds was blown open. The contents were taken.

The train had stopped at a water tank just north of Richburg when the men boarded the express car. At the time nearly all the passengers except a few who were to leave the train at Hattiesburg, were asleep in their berths.

BIG LINER STOOD NEARBY AS LIGHTS OF TITANIC WENT OUT

London, May 15.—A dramatic turn was given to the Titanic inquiry today by new evidence concerning the "mystery ship," and it caused the court to be crowded this morning the majority of spectators being well dressed women, many of whom were Americans.

The tale was taken up by the third officer of the steamer Californian. He was on the bridge of the Californian from 8 to 12, and at 11.15 he saw one light. At 11.25 he made out two white masthead lights. The captain then came on the birdge and said "It does not look like a passenger steamer." Groves replied: "It is. She put her lights out at 11.40."

Captain Knew Titanic Was Near.

The following dialogue ensued:

Lord Mersey: "Did she put her lights out before the captain appeared on the bridge?"

"Yes."

"You told the captain that?"

"Yes."

"What did he say?"

"He said the only passenger steamer near us was the Titanic."

"He said that, did he?" asked Lord Mersey, with brows raised.

"Yes, my lord."

The witness continued: "After leaving the bridge I went to the Marconi operator, Evans, whom I found asleep in his berth, I woke him up and said 'What ships have we passed?' and he replied. 'Only the Titanic.'"

WILL G. P. GRAHAM SUCCEED MR. HAYS AS GENERAL MANAGER

Ottawa, Ont., May 15.—Full credence is not given here to the report that Hon. Geo. P. Graham is to be appointed President and General Manager of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific, although it is admitted that the appointment is possible.

In the first place, Mr. Graham is not an old, experienced, practical railway man; in the second place, it is doubted by many that his appointment would be agreeable to the present Federal Government.

Mr. Graham is not in the city, but few of his party friends can credit the report.

No appointment will be made until President A. W. Smithers, of the Grand Trunk, has reached Montreal and looked over the ground.

Montreal Offices in Dark.

Montreal, May 16.—Inquiries at the offices of the Grand Trunk here this morning elicited the statement that nothing is known about the alleged offer of the Presidency of the system to Hon. George P. Graham, formerly Dominion Minister of Railways.

It is pointed out that Alfred H. Smithers, Chairman of the Board of Directors, has announced that nothing will be given out in regard to the appointment until he reaches Montreal at the end of this week.

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. PORT MANN, B.C., CANADIAN NORTHern Pacific Coast terminus, attracting millions eastern and British capital. Property adjoining railway's holdings becoming very valuable. Quarter acre lots touching townsite five hundred to six hundred each, quarter cash. Island Investment Company, Limited, Vancouver.

WHILE YOU WORK AND WHILE YOU sleep.—Wage earners make money only while they work. My lot buyers make money while they sleep. Those who have bought from me during the past four years have made by increasing value of lots, more than 50 per cent per annum on the amount invested. And they are worth from $200 to $1200 to-day, because of having wisely imposed a "must" upon themselves to save a little of what they earned. Come in and let us show you a very easy way to do the same. Gardens: I knew one man who planted 1 acre of onions, and sold his crop for $800 cash. Was that not making money while he slept? We can supply a few acres ploughed to men who would wish to do likewise. Also a larger place with good buildings and a large poultry plant. Immediate possession. Decide at once, and call for particulars. T. Hurley, corner Stewart and Hunter streets.

WE CAN GIVE YOU ABSOLUTE PROOF that the lots we offer inside the town limits of Edson at $40 each, on easy terms, are a money-making investment, offered below their real value. Edson is a divisional point on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific with a monthly pay roll of $40,000; Edson is the actual distributing point for the Peace River country, the Brazeau coal fields, and for two hundred miles west on the Canadian Northern. Edson is little more than a year old, and already has more than twelve hundred permanent residents; it costs you one cent to obtain illustrated booklet, and the above mentioned proof; mail us a postcard to-day. The Edson Point Company, 608 McIntyre Block, Winnipeg.

Frost Pictures.

The other children like to write
Their names upon the pane
That's frosted over in the night,
Where you can see them plain.

They draw all sorts of awkward things,
But I would rather see
The pictures that the white frost kings
Have painted there for me.

I am afraid the fairy folk
That in these woods might play
By these ungainly crooked strokes
Will all be scared away.

TROUBLE IN SIGHT.

Steam Trawlers Cause Commotion In Fisheries.

A condition is rapidly developing in connection with the Atlantic fisheries fraught with possibilities of serious international complications. In the last few years steam vessels using the Otter or beam trawl have been invading the waters used by the fishermen of Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and the New England States. At first these craft caught few fish in Western waters, and were regarded with amused tolerance, it being the opinion of our fishermen that the methods of fishing used so extensively in the North Sea were not adapted to the conditions of the banks of the Western Atlantic. But the beam trawlers have come over in increasing numbers, and have already proved their ability to adapt themselves to conditions over here and make large catches. Now it is contended that their operations are ruining the fishing grounds, and a vigorous agitation has been started in the fishing ports of Nova Scotia. New England and Newfoundland with a view to inducing the Governments interested to take action looking to the consummation of an international agreement prohibiting the employment of this type of fishing craft on the banks of the Western Atlantic. The Canadian Government has already prohibited the use of the Ottar trawl in our territorial waters, and the Nova Scotia fishermen are now asking that a regulation be adopted preventing the Otter trawlers purchasing coal or supplies in Canadian ports. That would be a rather large order for the Government to undertake; some of the beam trawlers hail from England and others from France, and it would be a serious matter, indeed, to deny the vessels of the Mother Country and France the ordinary privilege of buying coal and supplies. And in any case such a drastic measure would not achieve its purpose so far as the French trawlers are concerned, for they can use St. Pierre and Miquelon as a base of operations without any serious inconvenience.

In Gloucester, it is said owners of fishing vessels have pledged themselves to raise $100,000 to fight the invasion of beam trawlers, and in Lunenburg and other Canadian fishing ports feeling runs high and resolutions have been adopted at large public meetings, promising the Minister of Marine all sorts of trouble if he does not succeed in getting the other nations to agree to prohibit beam trawling.

And whether our fishermen following the old methods of fishing are right or not in their fear that the beam trawler will deplete our fisheries, they have good reason to fear the results of the extensive employment of the new methods. The beam trawlers are labor saving machines.

Their competition will drive the fishing schooner out of business. The building of wooden fishing vessels will cease, and ruin will fall upon a number of prosperous towns, dependent upon the vessel building industry. The business of handling fish will be centralized in a few ports, and the existence of hundreds of hamlets along the coast, now people by independent and prosperous fishermen and their families, will be menaced. A certain proportion of fishermen will find employment on the beam trawlers, but they will be mere wage earners—without as now a half interest in the adventure. A few big companies may make fortunes, but the fishing industry will support only a small proportion of the people who now derive a good livelihood from it. And with the passing of the fishing schooner will disappear the finest class of sailormen in the world, a hardy, vigorous race, self-reliant, inured to danger—a class from which an empire in its time of trouble might be glad to draw men to man its fighting ships. —Colin McKay in Montreal Standard.

Mail Can't Wait.

His Majesty's mail has quite astonishing privileges. Its drivers have power to requisition aid of any kind to avoid delay in deliveries, and City Solicitor Johnston of Toronto tells an interesting experience to show how this is sometimes done.

As a member of a hunting party he was being driven one day over one of the indescribably bad roads of Northern Ontario. The driver had the mail on board; he was taking it to a place called South River. Mr. Johnston is a big man, and as a heavy passenger he may have been the cause of the trouble which occurred. Anyway, one of the horses gave out, and it looked to the Toronto hunters as if they were going to be stranded for days in the wilds.

The mail driver didn't take that view at all. Happening to be near the home of a settler, he simply went to that worthy's stable, picked the best horse he found there, led it out, and put in its place the worn-out animal. The settler came out on the jump. "Here," he shouted, "what in blazes are you doing? Put that horse of mine back quick or there'll be trouble."

"No," said the driver coolly, "I won't put it back and there won't be any trouble. I've got to get the mail to South River to-night. I need your horse to make the trip and I've full power to take it. I'll bring it back in the morning."

And to South River the mail went, with the settler's best horse making one of the team which took it. The driver was quite within his rights.

Highly Unnecessary.

No man is more methodical in following the regular forms of Parliamentary expression and procedure than Hon. T. S. Sproule, the present Speaker of the House of Commons. When the House adjourned the other morning shortly after one o'clock, Mr. Speaker caused a smile by seizing his three-cornered hat and gravely declaring: "This House stands adjourned until this morning at eleven o'clock in the forenoon." It does not appear to be the Speaker's fault if certain members forget or neglect the morning sittings.

SWORDS OF SPAIN.

The Blades of Toledo and the Way They Were Tempered.

The swords of Spain have always been celebrated. Numerous authorities might be quoted in testimony of their unsurpassed excellence, even as long ago as the time of Cicero, who makes honorable mention of the little Spanish sword.

It is probable that the manufacture of swords continued at Toledo until the epoch of the Gothic kings, and it is certain that it was in full sway in the ninth century. These swords served beyond doubt as a pattern for the weapons used by the Moors of Spain in the middle ages, still to be seen represented in the pictures at the Alhambra.

The making of swords was not formerly confined to one establishment. The espaderos, or sword-makers, worked at their own homes alone or with a certain number of apprentices. Like all craftsmen, they were bound together in guilds

Many of the kings of Castile accorded to the finest swordmakers of Toledo certain privileges, such as exemption from certain imposts and duties appertaining to the sale of swords, the purchase of iron and steel and other primary material.

The steel used by the espaderos of Madrid was obtained in an iron mine situated about three miles from Mandragon, in the Basque provinces.

According to Palomeus, a Toledo swordmaker of the eighteenth century, it is an error to suppose that the Toledans preserved particular secrets for the tempering of their arms. They were compelled to use the water of the Tagus, as well as the fine white sand that the river contains in its bed. This sand served for the operation of what they termed refrescar la calda, or cooling, for when the metal became red and commenced to throw off sparks the espaderos instantly sprinkled it with sand.

The blade having become cherry red, they plunged the point into a wooden reservoir full of the water of the Tagus and, having once cooled it, they straightened it as much as was desirable.

They then subjected such of the blades as had not hitherto been exposed to the fire, and when it began to redden they took it by the tongue with red hot pincers and plunged it into sheep suet until it cooled, an operation that imparted temper to it.

One famous Toledan swordmaker of whom mention is made was Julian, surnamed El Moro, or the Moor, by reason of his coming from Granada, where he worked until toward the end of the fifteenth century for King Boabdil.

Woman's Aim.

A woman carrying ten stones in a bag took up her stand in front of a window.

She threw one stone, she threw two stones, she threw three stones,
And didn't hit the window.
She threw four stones, she threw five stones, she threw six stones,
And the window still was whole.
She threw seven stones, she threw eight stones, she threw nine stones,
And then a man laughed.
She threw the tenth stone at the man,
And broke the window.

She Was a Boy.

Dorothy was the sister and Freddie was the brother, but the order should have been reversed to have satisfied the characters of the two children, for Dorothy was a scream, while Freddie was only a whisper.

"Gracious, Dorothy!" exclaimed a visitor after one of her audacious athletic stunts. "You ought to be a boy!"

"I am a boy," she replied proudly, "a regular tomboy! Mamma says so."

"But Freddie is the boy of the family."

"Well," she sniffed in scorn, "if he is he's only a pussy boy."

Siberia.

Great light has been thrown upon Siberia in recent years. A generation ago the vast region was understood to be practically barren, a sort of adjunct of the north pole, which would never be of any particular use to the human race apart from furnishing furs. To-day it is known that Siberia is rich in everything that goes to make for civilization—healthful air, rich fields, mountains full of the precious metals—in a word, all that is required to make a great state. The future of Siberia is full of richest promise.

Opposition.

The effects of opposition are wonderful. There are men who rise refreshed on hearing of a threat—men to whom a crisis which intimidates and paralyses the majority—demanding, not the faculties of prudence and thrift, but comprehension, immovableness, the readiness of sacrifice—comes graceful and beloved as a bride.—Emerson.

An Architectural Point.

"Now," said the architect, "we come to the plans for your chicken coop, Mrs. De Noo. I supposed you want the nests arranged in tiers."

"Why, really," said Mrs. De Noo, "I never thought much about that, but I should think for eggs they ought to come in layers, oughtn't they?"

They Rue Their Haste.

Six million pounds have been spent by the Government of New Zealand during the last twenty years in buying back the 1,400,000 acres of land which were formerly sold at from five shillings to two pounds per acre.

A War Game Maybe.

A returned explorer was giving a parlor lecture.

"What is the gentleman talking about?" demanded a languid lady.

"Progressive Peru."

"And how do you play it?"

FORMER LOCAL MAN IN B. C. POLITICS.

Mr. R. F. Green, a former Peterborough boy, is the probable choice of the Conservative party in the Kootenay bye-election. Mr. Green left here for the west in 1886. He has from time to time entertained many of our citizens who went west. Mr. Green is a former member of the McBride administration and has more than once represented his constituency at Ottawa.

THE DOUKHOBORS.

Their Religion and Community System of Living.

The Doukhobors, the peculiar Russian religious sect of peasants who emigrated to Canada in such large numbers in 1899, and of whom so much was heard a few years later on account of their conflict with the Dominion Government, form the theme of an article—by N. Syrkin, of New York — in Suddeutsche Monatshefte (Munich).

Mr. Syrkin traces in this article the Doukhobors' stormy history and expatiates upon their strange beliefs. He says, among other things:

"The nucleus of the Doukhobor faith is solely recorded in the reports sent in by the community in the 18th century to the Russian Government, because after Pobirokin's idea their faith should be shown forth in their life alone. We read that the human body is for the soul only a temporary prison where it can have no other aim than the manifestation of God; that the first men had neither customs nor religious institutions but were illumined by the Holy Ghost, and that later by the power of evil creeds and laws arose. Under Catherine II. and Paul the Doukhobors underwent severe persecutions, under Nicholas I. in 1842 they were exiled to Tiflis in the Caucasus in the hope that they would die out. The Doukhobors, however, made friends with the wild hillmen, prospered agriculturally in spite of the desert and rocky foothills, and were strengthened to endure another persecution in 1888. Then Peter Werigin undertook the leadership of the community's practical and mystical life, prohibiting smoking, wine and meat. As a consequence of the schism of the "Small party" Werigin and his disciples were banished to Siberia. In 1895 the Doukhobors burnt their weapons publicly and refused to take part in the Government suppressions and military service. After ordering the maltreating of women and children and massacre of unresisting old men, the Government expulsed four thousand Doukhobors from their villages and drove them into the Grusinian villages where over a thousand died of privation. The men available for military service were sent for 18 years to the criminal battalion in Siberia. In 1898 through the combined efforts of Tolstoi and the Society of Friends in England, funds were raised and the Czar's permission obtained for the emigration of the sect to Cyprus, which being found unsuitable, in 1899 over eight thousand Doukhobors were granted lands by the Canadian Government in the Province of Assiniboia near Yorktown and of Saskatchewan near Thunder Hill and Prince Albert.

Mr. Syrkin notes that on the arrival of Peter Werigin in Canada the return to the traditional Doukhoborism and the introduction of modern agricultural methods began. Werigin disowned the pilgrimages and discarders of clothing and organized the communities into a central union. The patriarchal life is strictly adhered to and work is more the contented occupation of energy than the curse of bread earned in the sweat of the brow. Everything is left to the good will and judgment of the individual, the administration is at a nominal cost, as the elders work. Annually 1,000 adults are sent as day laborers for the railways, and after the deduction of their living expenses they return the greater part of their wage to the common treasury. One of the largest and best brick-making plants in Canada has been founded by the Doukhobors at Yorktown, and the communities have paid their debts, and even eighteen months after their arrival in Canada, wrote to the English Quakers to cease pecuniary gifts and apply them to others more needy.

But even under Werigin the Doukhobors have not found peace. True to their belief in common property they have finally refused to become Canadian subjects and consequently have lost the greater part of their homesteads of about the value of two million dollars, retaining only about fifteen acres for each member of a community.

Stole Money for Sweetheart.

Chicago, May 2.—Mary Reynolds, ticket agent, employed by the Illinois Central Railroad, who told the police a story of being held up and robbed of $150 by two men in the station Tuesday night, confessed yesterday that she had concocted the story of the robbery and had given the money to her sweetheart.

"I took the money and gave it to Charles Duff," she said. "We were soon to be married and neither of us had much money. The money is hidden in a cigar box, buried at the base of a telegraph pole at Fifth avenue and Michigan avenue."

In offering these shares for investment, we feel that we are inviting the public to purchase stock in an industry in which the profits are very large, and the demand for the product is ever increasing.

It is a well known fact that the shares of our Canadian Tanneries are very closely held, and the public seldom have an opportunity of procuring any.

On March 11th, 1912, the Burgesses of the Town of Aurora voted in favor of granting The Collis Leather Company, Limited, a cash bonus of Ten Thousand Dollars, the Company's property is exempt from Taxation for Ten Years (except school tax) and it has also been granted water from the Town free for all time.

The factory is now under construction, to be completed on or before the 1st Day of July, 1912, and will be 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, and four storys high.

The Company's specialty will be the manufacture of calf leather.

Mr. Walter Collis has had over Thirty Years' experience as a tanner, and thoroughly understands all departments of the business. Mr. Collis will have direct charge of the Tannery.

The capacity of the factory will be Eighteen Hundred calfskins per day, or an average of Eighteen Thousand Feet per day. A most conservative estimate of the net profit is one-half cents per foot

Estimated Net Profits:

18,000 ft. per day, one-half cent per foot, $90.00, with 300 working days per year ...	$27,000.00
Less business insurance and depreciation per year	7,000.00
Or approximately 20 per cent on entire issued capital.	$20,000.00

Of the total amount of shares offered for sale, the Directors have subscribed for more than one-third.

THE SIMPLE FUNERAL

The sentiment of the old man among whose papers was found after his death a request for "a simple funeral, and no remarks by any minister about my (his) good qualities," is echoed by the Rev. Dr. Schaufarber, of Chicago, who says: "There can be no question but that the officiating minister is often put in an embarrassing position when he is called upon to speak the parting words at a funeral. In all instances it would be best if only a simple prayer were given, with a few words of consolation to the bereaved. I believe that the day is not far distant when clergymen will come to the conclusion that the funeral oration is obsolete and should be dispensed with."

NO "CACKLING" FOR KING

At all stages in his career King George has made a point of composing his own speeches. His first speech, made at the age of 16, was a failure. It was in the form of a reply to an imaginary toast of welcome proposed by a foreign host. The part of host was taken by the prince's tutor and was proposed in German, and the royal lad, of course, had to respond in the same tongue. For a long time he could not find his tongue, but when he found it he blurted out, in plump and plain English: "Ladies and gentlemen,—I—er——" The tutor brought his speech to an abrupt end by a none too complimentary remark, and this somewhat angered the prince. He flung down a book he was holding, shouted that he had "done with such cackle," and, striding from the room, slammed the door behind him.

THE GUAGE OF BUSINESS

It is somewhat amusing, in view of the enormous sums being spent by both the C.P.R., and G.T.P., to read the editorials regarding business conditions, as shown by railway expenditure, in the American press. The following is taken from one of the largest and oldest journals of the United States:

"That business is not in the bad way that the pessimists of the New York financial district would have the country believe is shown by the order which the Baldwin Locomotive Works recently received for 115 engines for the Harriman lines. The statement that the Baldwins are steadily increasing their force of men is encouraging, for it indicates a revival of railroad business throughout the country, and refutes the assertions of the pessimists that conditions in the industrial world are growing worse instead of better. The truth is business is improving in spite of the fact that this is a presidential year, but it will matter little with the class of men who are making gloomy prophecies for political effect or for the promotion of selfish schemes. Fortunate, however, the revival of business when once it begins cannot be halted by calamity talk, and the best barometer of better times is the demand of the railroads for locomotives and other equipment."

THE DUELING CUSTOM IN GERMANY.

The echoes of the debate in the Reichstag over the custom of dueling in the German army had not died out before another fatal encounter occurred between a staff surgeon and a first lieutenant in which the latter was killed. The debate in the Reichstag followed the action of the Emperor in requesting an army doctor who refused to fight a duel, because of religious convictions, to ask for his retirement, and the fact was disclosed that the leaders of all parties are opposed to dueling, only the War Minister appearing as a champion of the Emperor's attitude.

Subsequently the War Minister, addressing the Reichstag, modified his previous utterance to the extent of saying that personally he was opposed to-dueling, but maintaining that in the army, an officer who refused to fight a duel when challenged was not wanted. The leaders of German thought realize, however, that the survival of the barbarous custom is a reproach to the civilization of their nation.

Time was when dueling was as much in vogue in England and the United States as it is in Germany, but enlightened public opinion stamped it out, and now that German public opinion has spoken in plain terms both in the Reichstag and the press there is reason to believe that the Emperor's court and army will learn to frown upon the duel as something that has no place in this humanitarian age.

BEATING THE BOSSES.

One of the encouraging features of the successive "primary" elections in the United States—which is pretty well hidden from view by the dust kicked up by the personal scrambles for the Presidential nominations—is the revolt of the people against the "bosses." In a number of states, the "machine" has been derailed—sometimes on both sides. In Pennsylvania, for example, both the Republican and the Democratic "bosses" have been decisively overthrown. In Massachusetts, Senator Crane was beaten. In Illinois, Senator Lorimer was routed. In fact, one of the most popular cries of Roosevelt is that he is against the "bosses" and the "bosses" are against him; and President Taft gives a practical proof of its popularity by making it a prominent part of his Ohio campaign to insist that many of the "bosses" are not for him at all, but for Roosevelt.

The "boss" is an individual whom few public men are daring enough to defend openly, and just about as few are daring enough to defy in reality. He is theoretically unpopular but actually powerful. It does not wound his sensibilities when his most faithful henchmen deny him in public. Sensibilities are no part of his make-up. He may even prefer that some of his emissaries make a virtue of attacking him and so gain popularity to be employed in forwarding his schemes. Thus it is entirely usual to hear the "bosses" attacked—especially as a class—but it is quite as unusual to see them unhorsed. That is where they can be hurt. They do not mind at all if their friends dissemble their love, but they do not like to be kicked down the back-stairs by anybody and it is on the back-stairs that they are commonly to be found.

WHAT ABOUT RUSSIA?

The Root amendment to the Senate immigration bill, now under discussion before the House committee on immigration and naturalization, would enact that "any alien who shall take advantage of his residence in the United States to conspire with others for the violent overthrow of a foreign government recognized by the United States" shall be deported. The spirit of the provision is excellent. It aims to prevent foreigners from using that country for the hatching of plots against powers with which they are on friendly terms. Conditions in Central and South America would alone justify such a precaution. The amendment has the further urgency of application to the situation in Mexico, and is shown by a letter from the Governor of Texas to Senator Root, already printed in the Congressional Record, to be at least ostensibly directed to the case of the Mexican revolutionists.

But should the amendment pass without adequate safeguards, it may very well raise questions which will have little to do with actual plotting for the "violent overthrow" of any government. Russia is an instance in point. Here is a power which is still engaged in "keeping order" within its confines by resort to administrative procedures, military tribunals, and other medieval methods of repression. Many of the men and women who have escaped Siberia, the gallows, or the firing squad are now in our midst, and more are coming. If the Root amendment should be accepted by the House, Russian agents in this country will be only too ready to obtain, through the deportation law, the power of seizure denied to them by our extradition treaty. In the latter case publicity would defeat, as it has frequently defeated, the efforts of the Russian government to use the laws of the United States for bolstering up a decadent autocracy; in the former, this powerful agent of American public opinion and justice would be nullified by a star chamber hearing before immigration officials, and a sentence of deportation pronounced by their executive officer.

Editorial Notes

The Prussian Landtag may throw Socialists out the door, but they will probably be voted back through the window.

It begins to look as if Mr. Roosevelt could not only rock the Republican boat, but also change seats in his own canoe.

The amenities now passing between Bryan and Harmon might give the idea that they were running for a Republican nomination.

In view of the fact that the United States has an abundant supply of hostilities of its own just now it will be impossible for us to give any attention to the Italian and Mexican wars until about the middle of next November.

The bath department of the city of Boston has recommended to the public school board that every boy and girl attending the schools be compelled to learn how to swim before being eligible for diplomas. In Princeton University this rule is already in force.

The Lady Grey hospital, of Ottawa, was without water on Saturday, much to Auditor Cluff's disgust. But if all stories are true the Isolation hospital has been in the habit of dispensing hypochlorated tap water to patients in that institution. Presumably this was also the case during the typhoid epidemic.

In Boston, Mass., chiefly through the effects of the Milk and Baby Hygiene Association, the death rate of infants under a year old from intestinal disease has been practically cut in half. During last year the association cared for 2,927 infants at a cost of only $15,121. The lesson holds good everywhere.

After reading Mr. Bonar Law's speech before the Primrose League, in which he accused the British government of conspiring with the United States to make Canada an adjunct to the American portion of the continent, it becomes much easier to understand why Mr. Law isn't exactly a shining success as a leader.

It is quite clear to all of us that the Hon. Bill Taft is being badly served by his adversary and is getting angry about it. He is now addressing Ohio voters in the language of the prize ring, and it is expected that he will promise them to give the Hon Ted a "smash on the smeller" before the fight is over.

The United States is alive to the fact that a desperate effort is on foot to control the Democratic party in the interests of those who want to "do business" with the next administration. The Texas Democrats understood the game that is being played and blocked it in their State by administering to the Hon. "Kerosene Joe" Bailey what the French term the coup de grace.

GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM NEWS

Friday May 10th, 1912.

A new gold camp that promises to be a genuine find has been discovered on the National Transcontinental route in the district immediately south of Hurricana, a rapidly growing town 140 miles east of Cochrane, in Ontario. This district is in the immediate vicinity of Kionawisik Lake, 45 miles southeast of the town, and a large number of prospectors are only waiting for the ice to go out o the Hurricana River before making a tork for the scene of action by canoe. Many mining men whose names are well known throughout the north have already acquired interests in Kinnawisik. Among them might be mentioned Bill Campbell, the old Lake of the Woods prospector La Palma, well known throughout the Porcupine district; Derby, of Maple Mountain fame; Gore Bruce, of Gowganda and Porcupine; Morris Bonard, of Osterville; and Sam Smith, who has resigned his position in the G.T.P. to devote his whole attention to his interests there. Big preparations are being made for staking and developing this spring. The most prominent holding in the district is the Sullivan group of properties which are to be actively developed. The owners have arranged to have 30 men go into the district and erect camp buildings and docks on the river bank. A three stamp mill will be taken in by the water route and used to test the ore values. Several prospectors announce that they intend to penetrate into the Boll River and prospect the country in that district, which has hitherto been considerable inaccessible. A Crown Landr Office has been started at Hurricana, and a large store with a complete stock of prospector's supplies has been opened, so that the spring rush will probably bring this new Grand Trunk Pacific town well into the lime light. Five gasoline boats have been brought to the town and tickets are being sold direct from Cochrane to Kienawisik by rail and water.

If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

A despatch from Lindsay, Ont., states that the amount of freight and passenger traffic on the Grand Trunk Railway has increased so rapidly that, to meet the consequent demand, 10 new engines are being sent to that point from Stratford and Allandale, while another new engine specially built for the Peterborough Belleville line is soon to be on the rails.

To Keep the Face Fresh, Clear, Youthful

(National Hygienic Review)

More important than the cosmetic care of the complexion is its physical care. To keep the face clean, fresh, youthful, there's nothing better than common mercolized wax. It absorbs the soiled or faded worn-out skin particles. Using cosmetics simply adds unwholesomeness to the complexion. That's the difference. By all means, acquire the mercolized wax habit. It's so easy to get an ounce of the wax at the druggist's, apply at night like cold cream, and wash it off next mornings. There's no detention indoors, the old skin coming off so gradually no one suspects you're using anything. When in a week or two the alluringly youthful, roselike underskin is fully in view—well, you won't want, or need, a make-up complexion after that.

For obstinate wrinkles, a face bath made by dissolving an ounce of saxolite in a half pint witch hazel, surpasses massage cream for results.

EVELYN THAW'S SON.

She Startles New York by Appearing With a Twenty-one Month Old Baby.

New York, May 13.—Although the announcement that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is here with a son twenty-one months old, came from friends, it was impossible early to-day to get direct confirmation from Mrs. Evelyn Thaw herself. Her whereabouts were not made known, though it was asserted that she was here.

FOR MURDER OF GIRL

Arthur Bosworth Ordered By Vermont Court to Be Hanged January 24.

Montpelier, Vt., May 14—Arthur Bosworth, who was found guilty of the murder of Miss May Labell at Essex Junction, last June, by a jury in the Chittenden County superior criminal court, was sentenced to be hanged at the state prison on Jan. 24, 1913, by Judge Loveland Munson in the supreme court here to-day.

Bosworth shot and killed Miss Labell near the depot at Essex Junction on June 7, 1911. His attentions to the young woman had been repulsed. At the trial counsel for the defendant attempted to prove that he was of unsound mind.

WOMEN'S AILMENTS CAUSED BY NEGLECT

Are Quickly Cured and Robust Sound Health Restored by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Women are on the whole more sickly than men. One reason is that their system is more complicated; another and more important reason is that they put off meausres of relief too long. At the beginning, constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of women's ailments. The blood becomes weakened and polluted — the nerves suffer, and a run-down condition takes root.

Because of their mildness of action as a system regulator, because of their undoubted power to remove constipation, irregularities, no medicine for women can compare with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The kindeys quickly respond to the remedial action of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the result is as you would expect—pain in the back and side, shortness of breath and bad color disappear—the functions of the body then operate naturally, congestion and pain are prevented and perfect health returns

Thousands of happy women say Dr Hamilton's Pills are the greatest and best blood-purifier, the finest complexion renewer; the most certain regulating medicine known. All dealers, in 25c boxes, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

BIG LINER STOOD BY THE TITANIC

he saw had two masthead lights, gave further evidence that she was a passing steamer. He tried to signal with a Morse lamp, but failed.

Told Second Officer About It.

Groves also testified that he told the second officer, Herbert Stone who relieved him, that the vessel was a passenger steamer and that she had shut off her lights at 11.40. At that time his impression was that the lights had been put out, as is generally done about that time at night. After reflection he concluded that the lights had been cut off by the steamer changing her course.

When he was called next morning, and told that the Titanic had sunk, he went to Stone's room. Stone told him that he had seen rockets during his watch.

Lord Mersey: "My impression is that Stone said he believed the rockets were from the Titanic. Do you believe the steamer you saw was the Titanic?"

Sure It Was the Titanic.

Groves: "After what I have heard since I am decidedly of that opinion."

To the attorney for the Leyland Line, Groves said that if the latitude of the Californian and of the Titanic, as given, was correct, then his impression was wrong.

Witness could not say what had become of the rough log book, in which should be entered the fact that rockets were seen on the night of April 14.

HIS LONG LOST SPOUSE

Returns Seeking Her on Silver Wedding Day, to Find Her Married Again.

New York, May 15.—Theodore Gifford who left his wife in Yonkers almost 25 years ago, returned on his silver wedding anniversary yesterday and learned that she had been married to another man.

He could not locate her nor her 17-year-old daughter by the second marriage, but it is known that the woman, now Mrs. William Smith, is still in Yonkers, and it is believed that there will be a meeting between her and her former husband to-day.

Gifford had been married only a few months when the call of the sea became too strong. His ship was wrecked while trying to round the Horn and after waiting seven years his wife gave him up for dead. Then she met and married William Smith. They had a daughter and lived together until a short time ago when they separated.

Gifford, meanwhile, after many adventures had reached Galveston, and went into business. A few days ago business brought him to New York and he immediately began search for his wife. He had learned she needed financial aid and wants to help her.

KILL THE FLY TRAPS

Prof. Hodge Claims Thousands of Lives Saved by Early Use.

Boston, Mass., May 15.—Kill the deadly fly, says Professor Hodge, of Worcester. The first way is to swat his progenitors.

The next is to deprive him of breeding places.

The third is to catch and kill him.

"It is the simplest thing in the world," says Prof. C. F. Hodge. "It would be the easiest thing in the world if people would only co-operate. Two or three turns of the hand and the fly would be absolutely exterminated - wiped off the map. The whole point is to begin early and to get them all while there are only a few to get. After they have begun to breed it is not so simple."

The trap evolved by Prof. Hodge is so simple, as he says, and so practicable in its application, that it seems almost a wonder it was not thought of before. It is known that flies love to feed on garbage, also that, if they are in a dark place, they fly naturally toward the light. On these two principles is based the successful device of the Worcester expert. The cover of the garbage pail is slightly raised, by means of a simple fixture, so that the flies can have easy access to the contents.

Trapping the Pest.

A round hole, exactly the size of the bottom of the trap, is cut in the cover of the pail, and the trap is securely attached over the hole. The trap itself is in two sections; the lower nearest the pail, has a small opening to admit the flies; the outer is a round balloon shape. The fly, attracted by the scent of the contents of the pail, and always ready to crawl through any crevice toward food that tempts him, gets into the pail easily enough, feeds until he is sated, and then, instead of going out the way he came flies upward and goes through the little opening into the trap.

Why does he do this? How can we be sure that he will do this? Because it is his natural tendency to fly toward the light. The opening about the edge of the pail through which he entered is dark, but the wire net trap admits light freely and he seeks it. Once inside the trap he is ours, for he is a foolish creature, and never discovers that he could escape the way he came. That way is toward the darkness, and he does not consider it. The trap is easily removed, and the flies disposed of by plunging trap and all into hot water. One of these traps caught 2300 flies in 55 minutes.

It has been estimated that it costs the people of this country $10,000,000 a year to keep fly screens repaired. The efficacy of the screen is doubtful, for it keeps flies in as well as out.

During the past week 2,225 steamship passengers from Halifax, St. John and Quebec have passed through the G.T.R. Bonaventure station at Montreal on 9 special trains, bound for points in Ontario and Western Canada.

night, [illegible] day and Sunday night, in the rain and snow, with the wind blowing a gale of 60 miles per hour, with the worst sea ever known on the Georgian Bay, they were tossed about and exposed to the weather. All the food they had was some raw potatoes and raw prunes. Still they never lost hope. One day they thought they saw land, but afterwards it proved to be a cloud, but at last Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock they were sighted by the barge Tempest, Capt. Johnson from Toledo, and brought to this port. Their hands and feet are badly frozen and in some cases probably amputation will be necessary. The fact that they are alive is proof of their strong physique and their courageous spirit. Ronald McIntyre suffered the least.

ASK FOR THE OLD JOBS

Stereotypers Ask To Be Taken Back Because Their Charter is Cancelled.

Chicago, May 15. On the strength of the cancellation of the Chicago Stereotypers' charter Thursday night, several of the striking mechanics applied for their former positions Friday. A few of the old men were taken back, but it is said most of the newspapers have full crews.

On many downtown streets Friday boys unguarded by the police sold newspapers. The zone of city distribution is widening.

Every stereotyper employed in Chicago was put outside the ranks of union labor by the action of President Jas. J. Freel, of the International Stereotypers' and Electrotypers' Union, who, Thursday, cancelled the charter of the local union. This drastic action followed the men's refusal to return to work after having been ordered to do so by President Freel. The stereotypers quit work in sympathy with the newspaper pressmen. In anticipation of this action officers of the local union several days ago made preparations to issue "traveling cards" to members, giving the men standing in any office. President Freel's order also cancels these "traveling cards."

Mr. Freel will attempt to organize another local union, it is understood.

PRISONERS ARE COSTLY

Great Britain Pays Thousands of Pounds Annually to House Convicts.

London, May 14. In reply to a question recently asked in parliament, the British home secretary said that the average yearly cost to the state of each convict kept in penal servitude was eighteen pounds three shillings, which works out at almost exactly a shilling a day.

There are nowadays only four prisons in Great Britain for convicts at penal servitude. First, Dartmoor, the largest, where are kept "old lags"—that is, men who have already served at least one previous sentence, and also a certain proportion of J. A.'s—or juvenile adults—who are young prisoners kept entirely separate from the old lags. Secondly, Portland, where are sent all the star class who are capable of really hard labor. These are men who are undergoing their first sentence. Thirdly, Pankhurst, in the Isle of Wight, which is reserved principally for invalids and mentally weak prisoners. Lastly, there is Aylesbury, for women at penal servitude.

The cost of the keep of the inmates of these various convict prisons varies a good deal. All have to be housed and fed, all have to be guarded by a considerable body of trained warders and civil guards; and governors, doctors, chaplains, schoolmasters, and instructors have to be provided for each prison. These expenses are fairly uniform in all the large convict establishments.

GRAND TRUNK RY. NOTES.

Monday, May 13th, 1912.

A resolution in favor of granting the Grand Trunk Railway the right to cross the State of New Hampshire in its extension to Boston was unanimously adopted by the Board of Trade of that State at its annual spring meeting held in Exeter. In discussing the resolution members of the Board declared that the coming of the road should be expedited by New Hampshire as well as by Massachusetts. They declared that the greatest benefits would come to the State from the G.T.R. and that the work of extending its lines should be started as quickly as possible. The resolution is as follows: "Resolved, that the New Hampshire Board of Trade is in favor of granting authority to the Southern New England Railroad Corporation to build across this State, so that the transcontinental system of the Grand Trunk Railway may be completed and New Hampshire share in the benefits that shall accrue from this new force in the industrial development of New England."

• • • • • •

A Grand Trunk Railway line running between London and Port Stanley, and passing through St. Thomas, is rumored in transportation circles in that district. It is claimed that the road could be built for $500,000 and that it would give to the G.T.R. a valuable connection with the lake port as well as access to a rich section of Ontario.

The Company, says this report, has already surveyed a portion of the proposed route and their engineers, after having gone carefully over the whole situation, have reported in favor of the building of the line. The major portion of the Grand Trunk's supply of soft coal, it is pointed out, is taken to London over the London and Port Stanley Ry., and this short route would answer its purposes much better than bringing the coal in over the present lines via Buffalo. Another factor is the connection between the two chief cities of western Ontario, London and St. Thomas; and between the two main lines of the Grand Trunk, running through western Ontario, Niagara Falls, and Buffalo and Sarnia and Detroit. The only connection between these two lines is at Kingscourt and Glencoe, and by the Buffalo and Goderich line.

Teaching Europe.

Canada is spreading out. It was not long ago that we stood open-mouthed at the luxury of Europe, and now we are teaching it things. The C.P.R. has invaded Austria. The company has made a contract with the Austrian Government to supply and operate a system of observation cars on the most picturesque sections of the Austrian State Railways, including the main route to Vienna via Zurich. The Swiss Government is also interested in the project. Concession has been obtained from Austria that Zurich shall be the eastern terminus. Great interest is shown in the innovation throughout the dual monarchy. Hungarian politicians are already demanding that the service be extended to Budapest.

Canadian Pacific engineers have been selected as being the most experienced in similar conditions prevailing in the Rocky Mountains of North America. The cars are already under construction and will be especially adapted to meet local conditions. They will have a length of 22 1-2 metres and will be the longest four-axle cars in Europe. The seating capacity of each car will be 32 passengers. Seats in these cars will cost a supplementary fare of only $1 and will be available for second-class as well as first-class passengers. This provision was adopted at the request of the Austrian Government, which desires to make the service a popular one.

B. C.'s Big Game.

With the exception of antelope and musk-ox, British Columbia has every species of big game that exists on the continent; even the rarest of them being found in fair quantities. In addition, there are wild fowl and game birds of various species, some native and others acclimatised, that furnish sport; while the waters afford the finest trout and salmon fishing in the world. It is probable that there are more moose to the square mile in the Canadian Rockies than in any other part of the continent, and every year their numbers seem to increase. So far, the country has never been hunted except by a few prospectors. Whether the horns attain the large size of the Cassier moose has yet to be determined, but some very fine heads have been seen. In this district, cariboo are very plentiful on the higher plateau, and in places both grizzly and black bear are numerous.

A Profitable Deal.

Twenty years ago Dr. Coleridge of Ingersoll gave a gold watch, an inexpensive one at that, for 1,600 feet of land on Soudan avenue, Toronto. The owner got tired carrying them and was quite willing to take $25 for the bunch, but as the doctor's watch was just what he wanted, the doctor got the lots.

Recently Dr. Coleridge sold the property for $11 a foot, or nearly $18,000. And the man who bought them, a local operator, has had a half dozen chances to sell them again at $15 a foot.

A CONSIDERATE JUDGE

Judges were very considerate in the old days. Lord Brampton, in his reminiscences, relates a story illustrating this.

Baron Martin, a famous English jurist of the old school, whose native leniency and sense of fun often placed him at the mercy of the very man he was trying, was once about to sentence an old offender charged with a petty theft.

"Look," said the Baron, with an assumption of severity. "I hardly know what to do; but you can take six months."

"I can't take that, my lord; it's too much," said the prisoner, respectfully but firmly. "I can't take it. Your lordship sees I didn't steal very much, after all."

The Baron indulged in one of his low, chuckling laughs before replying.

"Well, that's vera true; ye didn't steal much," he said. "Well, then, ye can tak' four months. Will that do—four months?"

"Nay, my lord, but I can't take that, neither," was the reply.

"Then tak' three."

"That's nearer the mark, my lord," the prisoner said, approvingly. "But I'd rather you made it two, if you will be so kind."

"Vera well, then, tak' two," said the judge, with an air of one who is pleased to have done the right thing at last. "And mind, don't come again. If you do I'll give ye—well, it all depends!"

And Silas sipped.

"Well, what do you think of it?" Joel inquired.

Silas shook his head dubiously.

"Don't you like it, Silas?" was the anxious query.

Send us your order for Antignol today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement. But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

A STORY OF KITCHENER.

The Disheveled Dervish Who Was Captured in the Desert.

The following incident, involving Kitchener's ability to disguise himself, was described by one who served with the Essex regiment in a campaign against the dervishes:

"I was acting corporal of the guard over a large number of 'gentlemen of the desert' whom we had taken prisoners. In the course of my rounds a captive within the tent drew my attention, and I was surprised to hear in good English the request:

"'Corporal I wish to get out of this.'

"I of course reported the occurrence to the sergeant of the guard, only to be met with the curt reply:

"'Let the fool stay where he is!'

"I continued my rounds and was again met with the request. Again I reported the matter, and this time the reply was as curt, but a bit stronger, so I went on my rounds again. As I passed the spot this time the voice from within said:

"'Say, corporal, you are of the Essex regiment?'

"I answered that I was, and the prisoner said:

"'Well, tell Mr. B. that I want to speak to him.'

"'What name?' I asked.

"'Kitchener,' came the reply, and I at once reported accordingly to the sergeant.

"He immediately made for the prisoners' quarters, and I shall never forget that meeting. The disheveled 'dervish' was in reality the Lord Kitchener that was to be, who had been out spying among the enemy and had apparently been taken prisoner by his own troops."—London Globe.

FAMOUS FEEDERS.

Peter the Great and Louis XIV. Had Fairly Good Appetites.

Louis XIV., le Grand Monarque, could wield a lusty knife at the banqueting board. It is related of this French ruler that "he would eat at a meal four platefuls of soup, a whole pheasant, a partridge, a plateful of salad, mutton hashed with garlic, two good sized slices of ham and a dish of pastry, finishing the repast with fruits and sweetmeats"—pretty fair for a king who, we are informed by one historian, dined in public, "and the privilege of seeing him eat was eagerly sought after." No admission was charged, as far as can be learned.

In the Bodleian library at Oxford there is preserved an innkeeper's bill for breakfast eaten at Godalming, Surrey, by Peter the Great. The czar and twenty companions managed to dispose of half a sheep, a quarter of a lamb, ten pullets, three ducks, twelve chickens, eighty-four eggs, three quarts of brandy and six quarts of mulled wine, with salad in proportion. For a little snack picked up at noon Peter and his merry crew got away with a sheep, five ribs of beef, three-quarters of a lamb, fourteen pullets, fourteen rabbits and a great quantity of brandy and wine. Peter's taste in tipple ran to brandy and hot pepper, a harmless decoction for a copper riveted throat and armor plate stomach.

DREAMSTICKS
THERE APPEARED TO BE SOMETHING OF GREAT WEIGHT ON BERT'S MIND WHEN HE REACHED HOME, HE SPOKE TO NO ONE AND SEEMED VERY NERVOUS, WHEN ASKED THE TROUBLE, HE ONLY ANSWERED; "IF THE WOODCHOPPER WAS TIRED, WOULD THE FOREST?"
LOOK HE'S GOING AWAY AGAIN.

THAT CLEVER ELEPHANT

"That's a very knowing animal of yours," said a gentleman to the keeper of an elephant.

"Very," was the cold rejoinder.

"He performs strange tricks and antics, does he?" queried the gentleman.

"Surprisin'," retorted the keeper. "We've taught him to put money in that box you see up there. Try him with fifty cents."

The gentleman handed the elephant fifty cents and, sure enough, he took it in his trunk and placed it in the box high out of reach.

"Well, that is very extraordinary, astonishing, truly," said the green one, opening his eyes. "Now let's see him take it out and hand it back."

"We never taught him that trick," retorted the keeper, who then turned away to stir up the monkeys and punch the hyenas.

THE GREAT LAWYER SAT AT HIS DESK IN DEEP STUDY WHEN A STRANGER RUSHED IN DEMANDING THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION; "IF THE ELECTRIC SIGNS, WHAT WILL THE PIG-PEN?"
ATTORNEY'S FEE $100.00!

Brokes: Bilkins says no. And he's a lawyer and ought to know more about lying than doc.

HIS DEFINITION

Twins came to young Jacky's house when he was three years old. In due time Mr. Bloggs, an old and respected friend of the family, came to view the twins, and, thinking he would have some fun with Jacky, remarked.

"I say, old chap, who are those two little babies over there on the sofa?"

"Don't you know?" said Jacky. "Why, they're May and Edith. Then he added, after a thoughtful pause, "You see, they're just one children!"

Local Man Pleased With the West.

Lindsay Warder: Mr. G. L. Hay of Peterborough, was in town Saturday and in conversation with a Warder reporter, stated that he had just returned from a trip through the Canadian west. He was greatly taken up with the entire country, but singled out the city of Saskatoon as the best in the west, and one that is bound to boom, having a great future before it. In fact, Mr. Hay is so much taken up with the busy western city that he has decided to take his wife and family back west in the fall. There Mr. Hay will enter the real estate business.

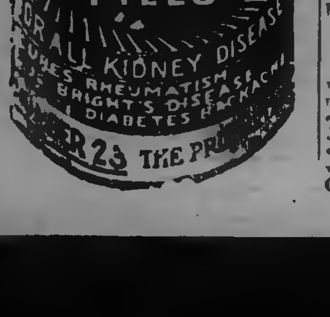
A Premium on Long Residence

It seems that permanent residents or old settlers in Port Hope must pay more for the privilege of indulging in the stimulating bowl than strangers. A Port Hope paper of May 14th, in its police court news, says, "He (the accused) had only been in town two weeks, and the Magistrate allowed him to go."



Greatest Invention of Age for Hoarseness, Weak Throat

Nothing So Far Discovered Is So Beneficial to Public Speakers, Ministers, Singers and Teachers as Catarrhozone.

Because of its strengthening influence upon the vocal cords, Catarrhozone cannot be too highly recommended as a wonderful voice improver. It almost instantly removes huskiness or hoarseness, thus insuring clearness and brilliancy of tone. Catarrhozone keeps the mucous surfaces in perfect condition, and its regular use absolutely prevents colds and throat irritation, thereby removing the singer's greatest source of anxiety—unfitness of voice. The most eminent speakers and prima donnas are seldom without Catarrhozone, and credit is no small degree their uniform strength and brilliancy of tone to its influence.

Singer Recommends Catarrhozone

"For many years I have been a sufferer from that terrible disease known as CATARRH.

"Being a professional singer, you can readily understand that Catarrh would be a serious hindrance to my professional skill.

"One year ago I read in the Progress' a convincing testimonial from one who had been cured of the disease through your God-sent invention, Catarrhozone.

"Believing in the merits of Catarrhozone, I tried it.

"Catarrhozone cured me and has been the means of my success.

"You are at liberty to use my name, if it will help relieve some from suffering, and I will always remain,

"Bob Bixley, New Glasgow, N.S."

Mr. Bixley is one of the best known singers and entertainers in the Maritime Provinces. Everyone knows him, and his testimonial for Catarrhozone is the best sort of evidence of what great benefit Catarrhozone is to those suffering with throat weakness or catarrh.

Complete outfit, consisting of a beautifully polished hard rubber inhaler, and sufficient liquid for recharging to last two months, costs one dollar. Sold by all druggists, or sent safely to your address by mail if price is forwarded to the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., or Kingston, Ont.

New Hospital for Port Hope.

Port Hope Hospital trustees have decided to purchase the lot of Mr. James Janes for the hospital at $5,000. Mr. Janes to make a grant of $1,000 towards the building fund. The Secretary was instructed to have the architect, Mr. George Curry visit town and look over the lot and prepare plans.

Board of Health Meeting Off

The Board of Health meeting that was called for yesterday afternoon failed to materialize. Mr. Kerneghan and Dr. McPherson were present and waited half an hour for the other members. Sanitary Inspector Spence was also present, it being the first meeting of the Board since he commenced his duties.

A PRODUCTIVE NEIGHBORHOOD

Peterborough is evidently not a "race suicide" centre. On Union St. are three adjoining houses in which, by actual count, are exactly thirty-one children. Neighbors near these houses say that when Napoleon Augustus Smith gets wrangling with Maria Theresa Jones, or little Bobby Barnabas Robinson (all names are fictitious) has the colic, Barnum's menagerie during a thunderstorm is a haven of rest and quietude.

LOCAL THEATRE'S NEW LEASE.

It was understood yesterday that Mr. Clayton, proprietor of the Red Mill theatre, has secured a ten year extension of the lease on his premises. Mr. Clayton is to be congratulated. If he confines his attention to business and adheres to the very strict laws governing such places, he will undoubtedly "make good." If he will keep his aisles and lobby clear, so that the lives of Peterborough citizens will not be endangered his business will increase.

A Local Horse Story.

A Times representative was on the Market Square yesterday morning when a farmer from South Monaghan was trying to sell a horse to a local citizen. That horse looked like a cross between iron structural work of a building and the used up "subject" from a dissecting room. The farmer assured the citizen that the horse was only six years old. The Peterborough man took a long, lingering look at that venerable quadruped, and asserted, "Six years! Say Mr. ——, that's the horse that Noah rode on when he let the animals out of the ark!" The deal did not go through.

Are Your Nerves Tired?

This is a question that many a local merchant might be asked, and have trouble, unless he knew the true solution, to answer. Right here is the recipe. One big advertisement in the Daily and Weekly Times. Then, as convalescence advances, put a card or two, with proper selection, in the Classified Ads. of this Great Family Journal. Remember Mr. Merchant or Peterborough citizen, with the opening of the rural mail routes, such, for instance, as noted in this issue, The Times reaches people that no other paper gets to until the news is stale. These people have the money buy your goods.

An Important Real Estate Deal.

Yesterday arrangements were finally completed whereby Mr. S. M. Medd, of the well known law firm of Hall, Medd and Davidson, purchased a beautiful home. The property acquired by Mr. Medd is that handsome solid brick house, surrounded by trees, and with a large lawn to the north, at the corner of Park and Charlotte streets. This property was sold by Mr. C. H. Clemente, who built the house some eighteen years ago. There are some seven handsome marble mantle pieces in the house, and over $350 worth of stained glass. Mr. Medd, one of the rising citizens of the younger generations has secured one of the handsomest homes in the city.

Young Shearer Is Released.

Mr. G. N. Gordon has received word from Mr. Thomas Mulvey, G.C., under secretary of States, that his efforts to secure the release of young Joseph Shearer from the Central Prison, Toronto, have resulted in the young man being let out on parole. On the 16th day of April, 1911 Shearer was committed to the Central Prison for two years, less one day, for his part in the stealing of grain from the Quaker Oats Co. Mr. Gordon wrote in July last, and several times since then to secure the release of Shearer, and Chief Thompson had received communications from the department regarding the young man. Mr. Gordon received notification of the success of his efforts yesterday, and Shearer will be given his release at once.

Drainage Demonstration.

The Ontario Agricultural College is emphasizing the value of drainage again this summer, for which purpose drainage demonstrations are being held in many parts of the province. On Thursday, May 23rd, at the hour of 2 o'clock, one of these demonstrations will be held on the farm of Mr. C. F. Dawson, concession 1, lot 6, South Monaghan. This meeting should be of special interest as some difficult places to drain are involved. Besides the discussion of the particular problems of Mr. Dawson's farm, there will be a demonstration of methods of finding the fall over a ditch, determining the grade, digging true to grade, etc. Those of our readers interested in drainage, should not miss this meeting. Anyone wishing information about the drainage work should write Prof. W. H. Day, O. A. C., Guelph

SAYS SPANIARDS ARE CORDIAL TO AMERICANS

—Says Spaniards Are Cordial to Ame

Boston, Mass., May 15.— The new spirit of cordiality and welcome on the part of Spaniards toward Americans was emphasized at a meeting in the College Club, Commonwealth avenue, to welcome the Rev. W. H. Gulick, Miss C. Warren, Prof. Katharine Coman, Miss A. F. Rowland and F. H. Wiggin on the occasion of their return from a trip to Madrid. The invitations had been issued by the directors of the International Institute for Girls in Spain.

The Rev. W. H. Gulick, whose wife founded the institute, told of the political, intellectual and ethical awakening of Spain. "This," he said, "has been going on for 40 years past, but has been especially manifest during the past 10 years. Spain is getting good government, and its administration is more serious than ever in looking after the interests of the people. Those most instrumental in making the laws and forming public opinion are turning toward the United States with more and more cordiality."

FORMER TREASURER IS PARDONED FROM JAIL

Augusta, Me., May 15.—A pardon was granted Richmond H. Ingersoll, former treasurer of the York county savings bank at Biddeford, who is serving a two-year term in the York county jail at Alfred, for embezzlement of certain funds of the bank, by the Governor and council to-day.

Mr. Ingersoll, who was one of the pioneer bankers of Maine and treasurer of the bank for half a century, was arrested when a deficiency of more than $300,000 was discovered and the bank was closed on Aug. 12, 1910. He was indicted on four counts, alleging embezzlement of small amounts, two of which were dropped, one placed on the file and the other, charging embezzlement of $300, was not contested. He was sentenced on Jan. 13, 1911, to two years' imprisonment.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT AND PARTY WERE IN TORONTO

No Formal Reception, But Premier Borden, Sir John and Lady Gibson and Others Meet Him

TORONTO, May 16.—Little ceremony marked the arrival in Toronto this morning of Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia. There was no official welcome, reading of addresses, or that sort of thing, but just the warm greetings extended to distinguished friends. Sir John and Lady Gibson and Right Hon. R. L. Borden were at the North Toronto station where the special train came in, and on the platform with them were a number of prominent men, including Col. Grassett, chief of police, Sir Edmund Osler, Sir Edmund Walker, Sir Henry Pellatt, D. R. Wilkie, and Col. Williams. The Ontario Jockey Club was represented by D. W. Alexander, R. J. Christie, A. E. Dyment, W. D. Matthews and W. P. Fraser.

Train Ahead of Time.

The train arrived five minutes before the time set, and at that it had been held outside of the city for a little while to give those who were to receive the royal party a chance to get to the station. When the train pulled in it was raining hard. On the covered platform stood the group of prominent people who had gathered to welcome the visitors. At either end of the platform were about two score of spectators huddled together in the rain and kept at a respectful distance by ten policemen, under Inspector Dilworth. The station yard was filled with a long line of motor cars and carriages.

Greeted By Sir John.

His Royal Highness stepped off the train first, followed by the Duchess, and Princess Patricia, after whom came Miss Pelly and Col. Lowther. They were first greeted by the Lieutenant-Governor and by Lady Gibson, who curtsied gracefully. After a moment's conversation with them, the Duke shook hands all round, while the Duchess and Princess Patricia chatted with Lady Gibson. A move was then made towards the motor cars, which, as they were filled, were hurried along Cottingham street towards Benvenuto, Sir William Mackenzie's house, which the party will occupy during its visit here. After the party had got away a dozen men and women servants got out of the train and followed in carriages.

The train was made up of a baggage car, a sleeping car, the Government car, Canada, and the Governor-General's two cars, York and Cornwall. The baggage car was well filled with trunk and hat boxes.

No Change In Programme.

Soon after the Duke of Connaught arrived to-day his aide-de-camp, Col. Lowther, telephoned Mayor Geary that King George had cabled the Duke to go on with his program as outlined, notwithstanding the death of the King of Denmark. The Mayor called at Benvenuto this morning and left his card.

The Royal Standard flew mast high this morning at Benvenuto, the Avenue Road castle of Sir William Mackenzie, where the Governor-General and his retinue have taken up temporary residence.

"Benvenuto" will be "Rideau Hall" for a week. City policemen now guard the approaches to the big stone castle, being stationed at the carriage entrance, in Avenue road. Sentinels from the Royal Canadian Regiment, regulars from Stanley Barracks, are on duty at the main doorway.

THE LIBERALS SWEEP PROVINCE OF QUEBEC

Montreal, May 16.—With the aid of mier Gouin yesterday swept the Province and administered a decisive de- the English vote and the temperance vote, the Liberal Government of Pre- feat to the combined Nationalist and Conservative forces. The result is a sad blow to Lavergne, Bourassa and the ultramontanes.

In the last House of seventy-four members, the Opposition held sixteen seats, while in the new House of eighty-one they will hold seventeen. Two counties—Gaspe and Magdalen islands—hold their elections later, but they are sure to go with the Government. Sir Lomer is elected in the two ridings of Portneuf and St. John's. In the former he was re-elected by over 1,200 majority. With the exception of Hon. Mr. Caron, all of his Cabinet Ministers were re-elected, many of them with increased majorities. Mr. Caron is reported defeated by two votes. Five of the seven new seats went Liberal. The Government majority will be 47.

T.V. CANAL'S FIRST DISCOVERER RECALLED WELL BY F. D. KERR

Yesterday afternoon a good meeting of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, was held in the reception room at the Armouries. The feature of the evening was an eloquent address by Mr. F. D. Kerr, local barrister, on "Champlain." Mr. Kerr said, in part, after congratulating the Daughters of the Empire on their work, as follows:

Mr. Kerr pointed out that Canada was indeed a historic country. That in 1506 Denis o Honfleur had explored the Gulf of St. Lawrence, that was three years before Henry VIII of England commenced to reign. In 1534-35 Canada had been visited by Jacques Cartier, who penetrated the St. Lawrence as far as Montreal, but it remained for Samuel Champlain to be the first successful and actual colonizer of Canada. In 1603, Champlain arrived in Canada for the first time, and in 1608 he proceeded to Quebec and commenced to lay the foundations of the Canadian settlement. He was born in 1570 at Brouge on the Bay of Biscay. Champlain, accompanied by thirty men, arrived at Quebec in July, 1608, and immediately erected a few dwellings. Thus commenced the "Habitation de Quebec," and within this small stockade twenty-eight men, including Champlain, were left to spend the winter, the only white men on that portion of the Continent. The story of Quebec is the story of French Canada, and from Quebec was sent forth the laws that were obeyed through the trackless forests. In 1615 Champlain having proceeded up the Ottawa, via Lake Nipissing to Georgian Bay, returned via the River Severn, Lake Simcoe and the Kawartha Lakes ito Chemong, and thence through the present location of the City of Peterborough, being the first whiteman to visit this portion of Canada, and the first white man to make use of the Trent Valley system.

Champlain, the soldiers and clergy met the Indians with great dignity, and the Indians were feasted and the pipe of peace was smoked. In 1636 at Quebec, in his sixty-ninth year, Champlain, the founder of Canada, passed away, and was buried in what is to-day an unknown tomb, and thus passed to the great beyond the historic founder of Canada, whose character was great, unselfish — a man who was often mistaken, but apparently actuated by the highest motives, a romantic explorer with a life of enterprise. The lecturer concluded by pointing out that Champlain's life work was well done, and that it must surely remain as a common heritage of the two great races of Canada.

COLONIAL SQUADRON IS IN BRITAIN'S NAVAL FORCE

London, May 16.—Speaking last night at the banquet of the Shipwrights Company, Right Hon. Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, said, events had lately led to a greater concentration of the fleet in home waters, which meant a relative reduction of its mobility. "In this, I think," Mr. Churchill continued, "is the great opportunity, the great chance of the self-governing dominions, those strong young nations which have grown up all over the world under the shelter of the British flag, and by the stimulus of its protection they have already begun to seize it. Already we have seen the development in Australia of a strong, modern fleet unit. New Zealand has contributed a noble ship to the British navy. In Canada, men of all parties and both races are deeply stirred upon the problem of the share which the Dominion should contribute to the means by which and all other parts of the British Empire are kept free from harm.

Maintain Sea Supremacy.

We are soon to receive a representative of the new Canadian administration, who is coming here to consult with the Admiralty upon the course or policy which shall be adopted in the future. If the main naval developments of the last ten years have been the concentration of the British fleets in decisive theatres it seems to me not unlikely that the main naval developments of the next years' will be the growth of effective naval forces in the great dominions overseas. Then we shall be able to make what will, I think, be found a status, which is, we should maintain sea supremacy against all comers at decisive points. That, while they should guard and patrol all the rest of the British Empire.

PRINCIPAL BENEFICIARIES IN COLONEL ASTOR'S $100,000,000 WILL

MR. WILLIAM VINCENT ASTOR
MISS ALICE MURIEL ASTOR.
MRS JOHN JACOB ASTOR

Vincent Astor - the principal beneficiary under the will of his father, Colonel John Jacob Astor, whose estate of approximately $1[illegible]000,000 is divided under the will which has just been made public.

Under its provisions his own son, William Vincent Astor, generally referred to by his second name, becomes the head of the great house of Astor, and upon the shoulders of a slender youth of twenty is placed the mantle of his fathers.

The young widow, Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, will receive the city house, at No. 840 Fifth avenue, and its contents, with the exception of a few objects, and she will have the use of $5,000,000 until her death or remarriage. Provision also is made for Ava Alice Muriel Astor, ten years old, daughter of the first wife, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, and for any other children who may be born, thus providing for a posthumous heir by the second wife.

When Colonel Astor and Mrs. Ava Willing Astor were divorced a substantial settlement was made upon her. She is not mentioned in the will.

LIFE PRISONER GETS CHANCE

Langner Accused of Killing Miss Emmerson May Get a Pardon.

New Orleans, La., May 15.—August Langner, who has been a life prisoner at Charlestown since 1892, is to have another chance to show that he was wrongfully convicted of the murder of Miss Mary Emerson, of West Dedham in 1891. His application for a pardon will be referred to the Council by Gov. Foss, probably at a meeting to-morrow.

Repeated efforts have been made to get a pardon for Langner. Two years ago an application was referred to the council by Gov. Draper, and the pardon committees refused to recommend a pardon. Previous to that an application was made in 1897, when Gov. Wolcott refused to refer a petition. Another attempt was made in 1902. Last year Langner wrote a long letter to Gov. Foss in which he declared that his conviction was due to his inability to understand what was said at the trial because of his unfamiliarity with the English language.

Langner's application for a pardon is backed by a large number of German residents. For years Mrs. Angelica Post worked to secure his release.

Efforts in Langner's behalf have been renewed this year. The various German societies have collected enough money to send him to the West or to Canada, so that he may get a fresh start, if he is pardoned. He says that he shall certainly leave the state.

The murder of Miss Mary Emerson an elderly woman of some means furnished a mystery over which the state was puzzled until the arrest of Langner in New York and his subsequent conviction after a delay of one year. Miss Emerson had as a boarder at her home in West Dedham, Philip Hoffman, who worked in a hospital in Boston. May 29, 1891, four days before the murder, Hoffman secured Langner from a German employment agency in Boston to work for Miss Emerson. Langner had been in the country four weeks and knew nothing of the language. On the morning of June 2, when Hoffman went to Boston, he left Langner at work digging postholes. When he returned at four o'clock that afternoon the workman was not to be found, but he discovered the body of Miss Emerson in a closet. Hoffman was arrested, but was realeased after two weeks in jail because there was no evidence against him.

Langner says in his letter to Gov. Foss that the two detectives who caused his arrest in New York knew all the details of the case before he met them, and that they testified as they did, that they might get the $500 reward which was subsequently paid them.

The late Henry S. Russell, fire commissioner of Boston at the time of his death, was foreman of the jury that convicted Langner. When one of the early applications to free the prisoner was made, Col. Russell was quoted as saying that he was absolutely convinced of the guilt of the man.

SUPREME COURT MUST ACT

Yesterday's cables contained some important news for the people of Canada. There now starts fairly on its way the contention of the Borden Government that the Federal Parliament has power to pass Acts (viz., the Lancaster Bill and a still more general measure) controlling and regulating marriage. A few weeks ago the Borden Government asked the Supreme Court of Canada to settle this much disputed question. The Supreme Court, however, said that it doubted if it had the power. The Privy Council of England now says that it has the power. The contention of the Borden Government will now be heard. If the answer of the Supreme Court is that the Parliament of Canada has power to pass those bills, they will be passed at the next session. If not, then the Government will ask Great Britain to give it the power to do so—a power which Sir Wilfrid Laurier denied that Canada had, and concerning which he refused to submit any case to the Courts. It will not be long now before we shall see who is running this country, and making its laws.

TO TRANSFER LEPROUS MAN

New Orleans, La., May 15.—Transfer of Elias Applebaum of Wayland street, Roxbury, from the quarantine station at Gallup's Island to Penikes Island, the Massachusetts leper colony, may be made to-day if weather conditions are favorable.

Dr. J. W. Practor, of the State board of health, however, feels that it is probable that the transfer will not be made for a day or two yet. He had received no word from Penikese last night that the colony's launch was prepared to make the run around the coast to-day.

MRS. DENNIS TELLS VERY STRANGE STORY

Toronto, May 16.—There is now in a private charitable institution in this city a woman, Mrs. Dennis, who tells a story almost unique in the annals of Toronto. She and her child Marjorie Dennis, the "Wonder Child of Song," were removed to the institution from 331 Jarvis street by a woman, prominent in philanthropic circles in the city, and two eminent musicians.

According to the story told by Mrs Dennis, Toronto almost achieved the distinction of being the scene of another Trilby and Svengali phenomenon in the musical world. It did not eventuate because little Marjorie Dennis, through her mother, woke out of the spell which her manager has for some time had over her.

Appeal to Duke of Connaught.

Since coming to Toronto - short time ago the mother and child, who is a remarkably promising vocalist, have been living on Jarvis street, and the woman claims that they have been confined to a single room. She further alleges that the man allowed them but ten cents a day, and forced them to procure their own meals from a pittance which he allowed them from the proceeds of the concerts which the child has given within the past few days in the city.

MEXICO REBELS RETREAT

Lack of Water Impels Insurgents to Give Up Their Position Near Conejos.

Jiminez, Mex., May 15.—Lack of water caused by a train wreck forced Gen. Orozco to retreat from Conejos to Rellano after a severe fight with the federals under Gen. Huerta. The rebel troops are now strongly posted in the same trenches where they defeated the federals under Gen. Sales several weeks ago.

Rebel officers admit their losses in Sunday's and Saturday's engagements were heavy, but maintain the losses of the federals must have been fully as great. Details of the number killed are hard to obtain, but figured from the stories of the wounded brought here the rebel loss is estimated at 500 to 600.

When the fight around Conejos opened Orozco had 20 cars of water at Relano. There was only one well at Conejos which the rebels could reach

WHEN WILL IT FALL ?

PRIVY COUNCIL DECIDES THAT CANADA HAS JURISDICTION

Marriage Case is Carried to the Supreme Court and the Provincial Appeal is Lost

LONDON, May 16.—Judgement was handed down by the Privy Council to-day in the Provincial rights case, dismissing the appeal. The action was instituted by the Attorney-General of the Province of Ontario, against the Attorney-General of the Dominion, to decide whether the Supreme Court of Canada has jurisdiction to entertain a reference under section 60 of the Supreme Court Act, raising objections as to the constitutional powers of the Provinces, and as to the effect of Provincial statutes. There were also questions pertaining to the Supreme Court Act and of the the British North America Act.

Marriage Case Will Come Up.

Ottawa, May 16.—The news that the Privy Council had upheld the right of the Federal authority to submit a stated case to the Supreme Court on legal or academic questions was received with a great deal of interest in Ottawa. This decision establishes the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court to pass upon such a reference.

The decision of the Privy Council means that now that there is no obstacle in the way of arguing the marriage question at this session of the Supreme Court. Sir Charles Fitzpatrick stated that the Court had decided to await the decision in the companies case. Now that the Council has established the competency of the court to decide, it will mean that argument will be heard at this session of the court, and probably this month.

Hon. C. J. Doherty stated to-day that the decision removed obstacles to the hearing of the marriage law and companies case, both of which are of vital importance to the Provinces and Dominion, and there were no obstacles to prevent their immediate hearing.

Toronto, May 16.—The Privy Council in England has decided that the Supreme Court of Canada has power to hear stated cases submitted to it by the Federal Parliament. This means that the argument in the famous marriage case will proceed, and the opinion of the Privy Council itself be secured.

The case which decided the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court was one of Ontario versus the Dominion in regard to the control and incorporation of companies. Ontario denied the right of the Supreme Court to hear any references by the Dominion Government in such cases. Ever since the Supreme Court was organized in 1875 it has been hearing such references, and the Privy Council has heard a few score appeals from such references. In view of this it was thought probable that judgment would be in favor of the Dominion, though the Provincial legal department was hopeful. Precedent counts for a lot, however, with English courts.

The Dominion having won, the ne temere argument will probably be heard soon by the Supreme Court.

If the Province had won, the Supreme Court could not have heard the argument, and Parliament would have had to ask the British House of Commons to have the Privy Council bear it, or else have the British North America Act amended.

The judges of the Supreme Court who decided on May 7 that they wouldn't hear the ne temere stated case until the question of jurisdiction was decided, will now probably order the argument to proceed.

FRUIT THREATENED.

St. Catharines, Ont., May 16.—The present damp weather is causing more concern among fruit growers than Monday's frost. When the blossoms are out in full and the pollen is wet for a day or two it dies and no fruit will form.

FOUR SHIPS GOING TO ST. JOHN'S ARE MISSING

London, May 16.—In view of the loss of the Titanic and the reports of an exceptionally large amount of ice adrift in the north Atlantic, it is noteworthy that four little ships bound to Newfoundland, have been posted at Lloyd's as very much overdue. These are the Dorothy Louise, Grace, Beatrice and Reliance.

Posting means that if nothing be heard of the vessels in the interval the four vessels will next Wednesday be regarded as missing, and total loss claims will be settled on them.

The schooner Dorothy Louise, it is reported, left Leixoes, Portugal, for the Grand Bank, November 23, since when nothing has been heard of her. The brigantine Grace left St. Michael's, Azores, on January 1 for St. John's. The brigantine Beatrice left Cadiz on December 23 for Carbonear. The schooner Reliance sailed from Naples for Catalina, Newfoundland, on November 11. Each of the three last named vessels is owned at St. John's, Newfoundland.

TRAVERS DECLINES TO SAY WHO GOT MYSTERIOUS CHEQUE

W. R. Travers was put through a searching cross-examination at the resumption of the Farmers' Bank enquiry before the Royal Commission yesterday afternoon on the three cheques missing at previous investigations.

Stoutly refusing to split on those who had rendered him assistance Mr. Travers refused to divulge the name of the person to whom he made out a cheque for $3,000, mysteriously marked with a "C" He denied that any person in the Finance Department received any portion of the money.

"This list will show the notes in the possession of the Farmers Bank and that they were extant at the time when the list was prepared for the Minister of Finance?"

"Yes, I think I may say that Mr. Clarkson's list is quite correct," answered Travers.

"In going over the list sent to the Minister of Finance, quite an amount of cash is credited to almost every subscriber. Some of them gave notes. How did you treat them? Some showed a certain percentage of the subscription paid in cash. In some cases full face value is credited in cash and in others only a small amount. How do you account for that?"

"We tried to put on 10 per cent."

"Now, here are five subscriptions for $5,000 a piece which are known to be worthless. What do you say to that?"

"It is a fact."

Known to Be Worthless.

"Were they known to be worthless at the time?"

"Not before the subscriptions were taken, but it was known they were worthless before the list was sent to the Government."

"Here are a number of subscriptions afterwards cancelled. Was this the result of previous arrangement? That is, did these people subscribe with the understanding that the subscription would be cancelled, and they would not be called upon to pay them?"

"All I can say to that is that we found certain ones difficult to collect. Notes were given but we found it impossible to collect. I cancelled them because I wanted to get them out of the road of a deal with some people in Winnipeg."

Mr Travers then identified Mr. Fitzgibbon's special return list prepared in May, 1907.

CONTEMPT OF COURT PARDONED APOLOGY DEEMED SUFFICIENT

Toronto, May 16.—After weeks of consideration on the part of Crown officers, considerable expense in procuring evidence, and after two Grand Juries had found "true bills" against Mr. J. W. Curry, K.C., Mr. James H. Forrest, of the Toronto Railway Company, and two private detectives, admittedly in the employ of the company, charged with contempt of court in the recent "fake" street railway case, Mr. Justice Latchford presiding in the Criminal Assize Court this morning decided in view of the full apology which was tendered on behalf of the four defendants, that the case need proceed no further.

The defendants admitted indiscretion, and his lordship expressed the positive opinion that they had been guilty of serious contempt.

When court convened this morning Mr. George Tate Blackstock, K. C., the Crown Prosecutor, intimated to Mr. Curry that if sufficient explanation and apology were tendered the case might be dropped.

Mr. Curry and his co-defendants immediately retired to a room off the court, and after a long consultation resigned and pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Curry's Explanation.

Mr. Curry then asked permission to address the court and made the following statement:

"Some time about the 14th of December last I was telephoned to by Mr. Forest to meet Mr. D. L. McCarthy and himself at his office. Mr. Forest being unable to leave his office owing to his recent injury, I attended at the office and met Mr. McCarthy and Mr. Forest and they laid before me certain information which they had obtained from their special officer, whom I learned afterwards was Mr. Burnet and I was asked for an opinion. I was unable to come to a conclusion, and they said they would forward the papers to me and the subsequent reports would be forwarded to me."
